The Government of India have had under their consideration the question of abolishing or modifying the rule contained in article 99 of the Civil Service Regulations which lays down that, subject to certain provisos, no acting allowance is to be given to an officer acting in a higher appointment or grade in consequence of the absence of another officer on privilege leave for the first thirty days of such acting appointment, unless the acting officer is transferred from another station, in which case he may draw three-fourths of the acting allowance otherwise admissible. The rule has been in operation for twenty-five years, having been adopted in 1881 at the instance of the Secretary of State for India primarily as a measure of economy, though it was also anticipated that its effect would be of benefit as tending to prevent the withdrawal for short periods of many officers from the duties of their substantive appointments.

2. The Government of India have long been aware that the rule is regarded by officers generally as both illogical and illiberal and they think it probable that the economies which it has effected are incommensurate with the irritation which its application has aroused. Up to the present time they have not felt able to ask the Secretary of State to reconsider a decision of such authority and long standing: but it appears to them that the important change in the leave rules introduced in January 1901 has altered the position sufficiently to justify a reconsideration of the matter. The theory underlying the decision of 1881 was that privilege leave is intended to be an annual holiday, and that, as is the practice in England, the duties of an officer absent for a few weeks should be carried on by an officer on the spot without extra expense to the State. Now that the regulations permit the combination of privilege leave with other kinds of leave, privilege leave is much less frequently taken by itself for short periods and the acting appointments made in consequence of an officer going on combined leave last for periods of from six months to two years. The rules as they stand present the anomaly that when an officer takes combined leave for any period from six months to two years, his locum tenens draws no acting allowance for the first thirty days, although his duties being new to him are for the first month usually more arduous than in the later period for which he receives an allowance. Another illustration of the anomalous manner in which the rule operates is to be found in the case of an officer acting for another deputed on special duty who on the completion of his special work proceeds on privilege leave combined with other leave. In this instance the acting officer is with no interruption or change of duties deprived of the acting allowance which he was drawing before the commencement of the privilege leave and which he draws again after the first thirty days of the leave.

3. The Governor General in Council is pleased to announce that the Secretary of State to whom the matter was represented has now sanctioned the abolition of the rule in article 99 of the Civil Service Regulations. His Excellency in Council further directs that while the total abolition of the rule will have effect from the 15th July 1906, the date on which the Secretary of State's last despatch on the subject was received, the restriction hitherto imposed by article 99 should be inapplicable—

(i) in the case of ministerial officers;

(ii) in the case of non-ministerial officers, who were promoted in privilege leave vacancies to act in appointments which entailed increased work or responsibility, that is to say, officers who were promoted to act in a class as distinguished from a grade within a class, as for instance, a Deputy Commissioner acting as a Commissioner, or an Assistant District Superintendent of Police acting as a District Superintendent of Police; and with effect from the 19th February 1905, the date on which a former despatch sanctioning these concessions was received. The necessary amendments in the Civil Service Regulations will be made by the Finance Department.

(iii) in the case of officers transferred in consequence of privilege leave vacancies to act in another station;

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Finance Department for information and necessary action, to the other Departments of the Government of India, the heads of Departments subordinate to this Department, the Private Secretary to His Excellency the Viceroy, the Military Secretary to His Excellency the Viceroy, and to the local Governments and Administrations for information; and also that the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

H. H. RISLEY,

Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs., on Thursday, the 9th August 1906, based on the India Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The rainfall during the week has been chiefly determined by the pressure distribution. The trough of low pressure remained close to the hills during the first four days and then its eastern end shifted southward a little but did not extend into the Bay. There was also an area of relatively high pressure which covered the head of the Bay, Orissa and the Central Provinces during the greater part of the week, and on the 9th a ridge of high pressure extending from central Burma to the north Circars coast appeared. This distribution confined the rainfall due to the Bombay current chiefly to the Gangetic plain and the submontane Punjab, while the Bay current gave abundant rain in northeast India.

Burma.—Rainfall was not heavy on the coast but it was widespread and of daily occurrence. In the interior over a third of the stations reported rain every day and all received more than an inch of rain except Yamethin and Monywa. Weather was slightly warmer than usual and skies were moderately overcast.

Northeast India and Orissa.—The monsoon gave daily fairly general rain and the fall during the week has been in large excess except in Chota Nagpur and Orissa: in these two areas the precipitation has been generally light and below the usual amount for this time of year. Skies were completely overcast during the greater part of the week, while temperature was in defect throughout the period.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—There was a break in the rains in Central India and the Central Provinces throughout the period and weather was dry except for occasional light falls. In the United Provinces owing to the trough of low pressure being against the hills most of the rain, that was received during the week, fell in the eastern and submontane districts: in the latter the rainfall was at times heavy. Temperature was below normal in the United Provinces and practically normal in Central India and the Central Provinces. In the latter area skies were generally lightly to moderately overcast, but in the other two areas they were moderately to thickly clouded.

Northwest India.—There was very heavy rain in the Simla hills during the week, the total fall at Simla amounting to 20 inches. The Ambala and Ludhiana districts also received good rain, and on the last two days of the week the monsoon gave rain in all the submontane districts of the Punjab, but in the remainder of the province the weather was practically dry. Light rain fell daily at Mount Abu and on the last two days of the week light precipitation occurred locally in the southeastern half of Rajputana, but elsewhere the rainfall was insignificant. In Gujarat the total fall was also extremely light but all stations reported rain, the amounts of which lie between 9 cents and 210 cents. Skies were usually clear in the southwest Punjab and upper Sind and were moderately to heavily overcast in the east Punjab, Rajputana and Gujarat. Temperature was in excess except in the east Punjab.

The Peninsula.—In this area the monsoon was very weak throughout the period. Very light rain fell at one time or another at most stations except in the Bombay Deccan where the weather was practically rainless. Skies were moderately overcast and temperature in excess.

The rainfall of the whole period from the 4th May to the 9th August has been normal in Burma and northeast India, except in Chota Nagpur, and normal or in slight excess in the United Provinces and the Peninsula, except in Orissa. It has been in defect in Chota Nagpur, Orissa, the east of Central India, Rajputana, the western half of Gujarat, Sind, the North-West Frontier Province and the Punjab, except the Simla, Ambala and Delhi districts.

The following list summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

August 3rd. Chittagong 9·71", Cherra Poonjee 5·62", Mymensingh 3·74" and Simla 6·63".

" 4th. Cherra Poonjee 12·18" and Jalpaiguri 4·47".

" 5th. Silchar 2·26" and Amballa 2·15".

" 6th. Bogra 3·61" and Darbhanga 2·56".

" 7th. Sibsagar 2·98", Burdwan 3·76", Trichinopoly 1·69" and Vizagapatam 3·88".

" 8th. Ranchi 1·72", Dehra Dun 3·34" and Murree 2·23".

" 9th. Akyab 5·79", Darjeeling 3·33", Gaya 3·26", Bareilly 3·55", Roorkee 3·52", Chakrata 4·66" and Cocanada 2·26".

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 4th August 1906.

Burma.—The rainfall was heavy in Sandoway, otherwise it was mostly scanty with none in Mandalay, Shwebo, Sagaing and Lower Chindwin. Transplanting of wet-weather paddy has commenced in Kyaukpyu, Thayetmyo, and Upper Chindwin. Sowing is in progress and ploughing is completed in Kyaukpyu and Mergui. Sowing of hill side paddy is completed in Bhamo. Sowing of millet has commenced in parts of Myingyan. Agricultural operations are retarded in Bassein and Sagaing for want of rain, which is also required in Yamethin, Myingyan, and the central tracts of Myelat in the Southern Shan States. The standing crops are generally in good condition. The price of paddy has risen considerably in Toungoo and slightly in Pakokku; it has fallen slightly in Amherst; elsewhere it is stationary.

Eastern-Bengal and Assam.—The weather is rainy. There was heavy rain in Eastern Bengal, the Surma Valley and the Garo Hills and moderate rain in other districts. Heavy rain has retarded agricultural operations and damaged crops in low-lying areas in some districts. Prospects of tea are good in Nowgorg and fair in other districts. Some damage has been done by heavy rain to low-lying tea in Cachar. Harvesting of early rice and jute is in progress. Cultivation of late transplanted rice continues. Prospects of crops are generally good in most of the Eastern Bengal districts and Nowgong and fair in other districts. Prices of common rice:—Manipur 15; Kohima 11; Tezpur 9; Noakhali 8 to 9; Chittagong and Gauhati 8½; Comilla 8 7/16; Dacca 8¼; Dibrugarh 8⅜; Bogra, Faridpur, Sylhet, Silchar, Dhubri, Nowgong and Sibsagar 8; Barisal 7⅞; Jalpaiguri and Pabna 7½; Rangpur, Dinajpur, Rampur Boalia, Malda, and Mymensingh 7; Rangamati and Tura 6½; Aijal 6; and Shillong 5½ seers per rupee. Prices have risen in twelve; fallen in one; and remain stationary in the remaining districts.

Scarcity continues in Bakarganj. 2,031 men, 14 women, and 658 children are employed on test works, and 723 men, 1,553 women, and 1,305 children are receiving gratuitous relief in Bakarganj. Scarcity also prevails in Mymensingh, Faridpur, Comilla, and Noakhali; 712 persons are on gratuitous relief in Mymensingh; 1,027 persons received gratuitous relief in Faridpur where the condition of the people is improving. 749 persons are receiving gratuitous relief and 1,110 persons are on test works in Tipperah. 946 men and 215 children are employed on relief works and 4,255 persons are on gratuitous relief in Noakhali.

Bengal.—Rain is reported from every district of the Province, the fall having been heavy in Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Purnea and Darjeeling, but light in most of the districts of the Burdwan, Orissa, and Chota Nagpur Divisions where more rain is needed for transplantation of winter paddy. Some damage to the standing crops by floods is reported from Shahabad, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr and Purnea and some damage by insects continues in the 24-Parganas, Jessore and Khulna. Slight distress on account of high prices of food-grains is reported from Jessore. Prospects on the whole are fair. Fodder and water are generally sufficient. The price of common rice has risen in six and fallen in two districts.

United Provinces.—There was heavy rain during the week and a break is now needed in some districts. The rice and standing crops have been slightly damaged by floods and excessive rain in Sitapur and Bahraich but are doing well elsewhere. Weeding continues. Fields are being prepared for spring cultivation. Cholera is bad in Hamirpur and is still prevalent in Almora. Cattle are healthy except in four districts. Prices of food-grains have fallen in seven and risen in four districts.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows: —There was good rain in all districts; a break is needed in Jalaun. The standing crops are flourishing and weeding continues. Fields are being prepared for spring cultivation. Gratuitous relief is being extended. Cholera is still bad in the Kulpahar and Rath tahsils of the Hamirpur district, average 40 deaths daily. Fodder and supplies are generally sufficient. Cattle are healthy and their condition is improving. Prices of food-grains have risen somewhat in Hamirpur owing to transport difficulties; they are falling in Muttra and Etawah. The numbers on relief are:—Allahabad Division:—workers 4,000, on gratuitous relief 82,000; Agra Division:—workers nil, on gratuitous relief 9,000; total 95,000.

Punjab.—Sufficient rain has fallen in Ambala, Rohtak, Gurgaon, Jullundur, and in parts of Hissar, except Shahpur, Lyallpur and Multan: the other reporting districts also received light rain. The rainfall over the greater portion of the Province is still in considerable defect. There is very little fluctuation in the prices of food-grains; wheat is rising in Hissar, Rohtak, Ferozepore, Lyallpur, Lahore, and Amritsar; and falling in Ambala, Jullundur, Rawalpindi and Multan. Harvesting of tobacco is still in progress in [illegible] retarded in Amritsar for want of rain. Ploughings for the coming spring crops are in progress in Gurgaon and Delhi. The condition of the standing autumn crops is good to average, but is poor on unirrigated areas in Ferozepore. The standing crops have benefited by the recent rain but more rain is urgently wanted in several districts. Insect and grasshoppers are damaging young crops slightly in Sialkot, Rawalpindi, Lyallpur and Multan. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of Mianwali. There are no complaints regarding the water-supply.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Rohtak—on works 2,988, on gratuitous relief 5,038; total 8,026. Decrease due to closure of works owing to good rains. The physical condition of the labourers is good. All works have been closed since end of week.

North-West Frontier Province.—There was no rain during the week. Rain is badly needed for autumn sowings and the standing crops. The condition of the standing crops on irrigated and unirrigated areas is average. Harvest prospects and outturn of crops are fair. Canal water is sufficient except in Swabi where water is insufficient in Maira; floods have occurred in the river Indus; the Kilapani supply is below average; there is no irrigation from hill torrents in Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of cattle is good but poor in the Daman tract of Dera Ismail Khan. The stocks of food-grains are sufficient. Fodder is procurable. Prices are fluctuating. Prices—wheat $13\frac{3}{4}$ to $17\frac{3}{4}$; gram $15\frac{9}{16}$ to 19; bajra 13 to $13\frac{3}{4}$; maize $14\frac{11}{16}$ to 20 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was good rain during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Prices:—wheat 14 to 24 and maize 16 to 36 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is fair. Fodder is sufficient. More rain is badly wanted in the Khishtwar, Ramban and Mirpur tehsils.

Kashmir.—The weather is bright and hot. Rain is badly wanted for the maize crop. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—Fairly good rain fell during the week in North East Rajputana; Alwar received 149 cents, Karauli 177, Bharatpur 130, Dholpur 191; good rainfall also occurred in the south about Mount Abu; the falls were light at Jaipur, Udaipur, Partabgarh, Shahpura, Tonk, Bundi, Jhalawar, Kotah, and Kishangarh, but five districts of Kotah received from 120 to 400 cents and one district of Kishangarh from 70 to 162; there was no rain in Merwara and the greater part of Marwar and Jaisalmer and practically none in Ajmer; in four districts of Bikaner the fall ranged from 16 to 86 cents. Prospects are on the whole favourable but more rain is needed in Jaisalmer, Marwar, Shahpura, Tonk, Bundi, Jaipur, Kishangarh, parts of Dholpur and Ajmer-Merwara. Weeding of autumn crops and in some places sowings are in progress. The condition of cattle has improved and pasturage is available. Prices have fallen considerably in Kotah and slightly in Mewar, Jhalawar, Jaipur, Kishangarh, Karauli and Bharatpur.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Ajmer—on works 468, on gratuitous relief 935, total 1,403; Merwara—on works 8,197, on gratuitous relief 4,032, total 12,229, total of district 13,632. Native States:—Marwar—on works nil, on gratuitous relief 874; Mewar—on works 427, on gratuitous relief 9, total 436; Shahpura—nil, Tonk—on works 1,596, on gratuitous relief 68[illegible], total 2,278; Jaipur—on works 7,091, on gratuitous relief 246, total 7,337; Kishangarh—on works 1,162, on gratuitous relief 2,590, total 3,752; Alwar—on works 824, on gratuitous relief 1,371, total 2,195; Eastern States—on works 4,561, on gratuitous relief 2,382, total 6,943; total Native States 23,815. Prices vary between $12\frac{3}{4}$ seers in Karauli and $15\frac{1}{4}$ seers per rupee in Alwar. Cholera continues in Bari and Dholpur but has subsided in Karauli and is decreasing in Bharatpur; a few cases are reported from Ajmer city.

Central India.—Rainfall general. The preparation of land for spring crops has begun. The condition of the standing crops is good except in parts of Dhar where the rainfall has been excessive. Pasturage is sufficient. Prices are high in Gwalior and Baghelkhand; rising in Bundelkhand; and falling in Bhopawar.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The numbers on relief are:—on works—Gwalior—6,000, on gratuitous relief 2,000, total 8,000; in Bundelkhand—on works 6,000, on gratuitous relief 4,000, total 10,000; grand total 18,000. Prices in Bundelkhand 12 to 13 seers per rupee.

Central Provinces.—The weather is warm and occasionally cloudy. Light rain fell in all districts except Hoshangabad, Wardha, Chanda, Akola, Amraoti and Yeotmal; Mandla received $2\frac{3}{8}$, Balaghat $1\frac{1}{4}$ and Damoh 1 inch; elsewhere the rainfall ranged from 22 cents in Chhindwara to 85 in Bilaspur. A break which seems to have set in will benefit all crops. Weeding of autumn crops and transplantation of rice have been resumed in most districts. Thinning is nearing completion in Chhattisgarh. Land is being prepared for spring sowings in some northern districts and also in Akola and Amraoti. The area under rice in Damoh has increased by 10 to 20 per cent. The autumn crop area sown in Raipur is larger than last year. Til and cotton crops have been slightly damaged in parts of Mandla, Chhindwara, Chanda, and Wardha, by heavy rain. Some resowings of rice are necessary in the Paraswara tract of Balaghat and of juar in parts of Akola after recent floods. The borer insect has appeared in juar in Akola; in Bhandara sowings of juar have been retarded by excessive rain during last week. Sugarcane is thriving in Betul. The condition of agriculturists in Bilaspur is satisfactory. Prospects are so far good. The price of rice has slightly fallen in Seoni and Bilaspur and that of wheat in Betul; juar is again dearer by 3 seers per rupee in Buldana and is still scarce in Narsinghpur and Hoshangabad; elsewhere prices of food-grains are steady and still continue equal to the scarcity level in Wardha, Chanda, Balaghat, Drug and Bilaspur; and are generally higher than prices ruling at this time last year.

Baroda.—For week ending 28th July 1906. The numbers on relief are:—on works 1,320, on gratuitous relief 148, total 1,468.

Bombay.—There was good rain during the week in Ratnagiri, Kanara, Poona, Kathiawar, Kolhapur, and Sawantwadi; moderate in Thana, Kolaba, Kandesh, Satara, Belgaum, Dharwar, Mahi Kantha, and Rewa Kantha; and slight in Gujarat, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Bijapur, Baroda, Palanpur, and Cutch. Inundation in Sind is generally satisfactory. Sowing is nearing completion and transplantation continues. The area sown is above the normal in the Deccan and nearly normal in Hyderabad, Upper Sind Frontier, Ahmedabad, Kaira, the Konkan, the Karnatak and Palanpur. The standing crops are generally in good condition except for slight damage by locusts in parts of Larkana and Hyderabad, but require more rain in parts of the Deccan, the Karnatak, Kolhapur, and Rewa Kantha. The supply of drinking water is generally adequate. Water in irrigation channels, tanks, and wells is sufficient in affected tracts. Agricultural stock is still deficient. Kadbi (juar stalks) is still scarce and dear, but green grass is coming up and the condition of cattle is improving. Stocks of grain with merchants are sufficient and trade is active. The quantity of grain purchasable per rupee is in the Deccan 28 to 55 per cent; in the Karnatak 25 to 45 per cent; and elsewhere 10 to 30 per cent less than the normal. The numbers on test works on the last day of the week ending 28th ultimo were:—Phaltan 130, Miraj (Junior) 182, total 312. The condition of agricultural labourers is generally good. The demand for labour in the fields is increasing. The public health is generally good. Cholera is still prevalent in parts of the Deccan and the Karnatak. The numbers on relief are falling. Works have been closed in Kolhâpur. The numbers are:—British districts—Deccan—on works 14,807, on gratuitous relief 30,353, total 45,160; Karnatak—on works 14,564, on gratuitous relief 14,829, total 29,393; Native States—on works 3,553, on gratuitous relief 2,290, total 5,843.

Hyderabad.—Rainfall—22 cents. Autumn sowings are suspended in two taluks and crops are withering in one taluk of the Raichur district, elsewhere the crops are fair to good. Sowings of autumn crops and early rice continue. Fodder scarcity exists in two taluks. Prices:—wheat 8½; coarse rice 7¼; and juar 15½ seers per rupee.

Mysore.—Rain fair in Bangalore, Kadur and Shimoga and slight elsewhere. Markets are well supplied. Prospects of the season are improving but more rain is needed in Tumkur, Mysore and Hassan. Cattle are healthy except in parts of Tumkur and Mysore. Water is sufficient except in parts of Bangalore. Fodder is available except in parts of Tumkur and Chitaldroog.

Coorg.—Rainfall—1 inch 93 cents. Transplanting of rice continues. Prices of food-grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall of the week was heavy in South Canara and Malabar; good in Madras, South Arcot, Nilgiris, Tanjore, Chingleput, Trichinopoly, North Arcot, and Salem; and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of Bellary, Anantapur, South Arcot, and the Central and Southern districts. Ploughing, manuring, sowing, weeding, and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair, but some in parts of Coimbatore, Tanjore, Madura, and Tinnevelly require more rain. There are no harvests in parts of the Circars, Kurnool, Bellary, Nellore, Trichinopoly, Tinnevelly, Malabar, and South Canara; they continue in parts elsewhere with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of Nellore, Coimbatore, Trichinopoly and the Southern districts. Fodder is scanty in parts of the Circars, Bellary, Anantapur, and Coimbatore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in fourteen districts; has fallen in three; and has slightly risen in six. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in five districts; has fallen in nine; and has slightly risen in seven. Cholam is stationary in three districts; has fallen in three; and has slightly risen in eight. Cumbu is stationary in eight districts; has fallen in four; and has slightly risen in three.

Nepal.—Report for the quarter ending 15th July 1906—The rainfall for the period was 16·31 against 20·49 for the corresponding period last year.

April.—Indian-corn, early rice and pepper were sown.

May.—Wheat and barley were harvested both in the hills and valleys. The outturn was good.

June.—In the hills millet was sown. Plums began to ripen and towards the end of the month the transplanting of rice was commenced.

July.—The plum crop was gathered in and the outturn was good. Peaches and apples began to ripen. The standing crops of Indian-corn and early rice are doing well.

The prices of food-grains continue normal, and the market is well stocked. The health of livestock is reported to be good throughout the country. The local rain which is usual in Nepal during April and May was deficient but the regular monsoon was punctual and has made amends for the earlier drought. The transplanting of rice has been delayed owing to the lack of sufficient accumulation of water to saturate the fields. Rice transplanted after July 20th is not expected to yield a good harvest and the character of the monsoon is therefore considered unsatisfactory.

In the hills the maize crop is unusually strong and flourishing. A flight of locusts passed over the Nepal valley from the south-east on the 2nd July but no damage to standing crops has been reported.

Summary of the rainfall conditions of India during June and July, 1906, with a forecast for August and September.

Weather in India during June and July.

1. June.—The chief features of the meteorology of India in this month were :

(a) Delay in the setting in of the rains over by far the greater part of the country, ranging from three or four days in Bengal, Bihar and Chota Nagpur, and six or seven days in the Konkan, Rajputana, Gujarat and Central India, to ten days in Malabar and the Central Provinces, and twelve days in the east of the United Provinces. The standards of comparison have been the average dates of the past 25 years. Notwithstanding their late arrival in the coast districts the monsoon currents extended into the interior with about their usual rapidity.

(b) The occurrence in the Punjab of fairly numerous duststorms and thunderstorms accompanied by light to moderate rain on the 12th and 13th, and again on the 18th and 19th. Similar local disturbances caused heavy rain at Ajmer on the 11th and at Indore on the 17th. The premonsoon rains contributed in Rajputana approximately 50 per cent. of the rainfall of the month, and in the Punjab and Central India west 40 per cent.

(c) The formation of a cyclonic storm in the Bay in front of the advancing monsoon. The depression crossed the coast on the 18th and after travelling along a northwesterly to westerly track through the Central Provinces, the west of Central India, south Rajputana and lower Sind had passed out into the Arabian Sea by the morning of the 23rd. As might be expected it was instrumental in determining a heavy and prolonged burst of rain to the Central Provinces and moderate rain to Gujarat, Sind and the Deccan.

The path followed by the depression was extremely unusual as the direction of advance of storms formed in the Bay in June nearly always lies between northwest and northeast. The only other instance on record of a storm with a similar track occurred in the last week of June 1883, a year in which heavy snowfall occurred in May and the Bombay current was during the existence of the depression stronger than the Bay current.

(d) The rainfall of the month was above the normal in the regions affected by the depression already alluded to—including the Central Provinces, Central India, the Deccan and Sind—and also in Burma, the United Provinces and Mysore. Relatively to the normal the excess was most marked in Hyderabad (71 per cent.), Sind (64 per cent.) and the Central Provinces (31 per cent.), and was least in Central India and Burma (4 per cent.). There was on the other hand a defect of 46 per cent. in Rajputana, 28 per cent. in Bengal, 17 per cent. in the Punjab and 15 per cent. on the Konkan and in Eastern Bengal and Assam.

(e) The Bay monsoon as a rain-giving current was appreciably weaker than usual; while the Arabian Sea monsoon was above its normal strength in the Peninsula and gave decidedly less rain than usual in its northern margin.

(f) On the average of the whole of the Indian area there was a defect of 3 per cent. in the rainfall of the month.

2. July.—The more important characteristics of the weather were :

(a) The Arabian Sea monsoon as a rain-giving current was on the whole of about normal intensity, but was determined more largely than usual to Mysore and Madras, where the excesses above normal amounted to 33 and 23 per cent. respectively, at the expense of the Punjab, Sind, Gujarat and Hyderabad, where the percentage deficiencies were 31, 69, 18 and 27.

(b) In the area of rainfall provided by the Bay current deficiency was almost universal and as this area was more restricted than usual, the current but seldom extending westwards beyond Bihar, it is clear that the rain-producing capacity of this current was less than usual. The largest deficiency, 15 per cent., occurred in Bengal.

(c) The number of depressions which formed in the Bay was two, which is approximately normal. These appeared during the second half of the month and failed to advance westwards beyond the meridian of 78° E.; in this respect they differed materially from the depressions of the previous month.

(d) The distribution of rainfall was roughly similar to that of June. Precipitation was on the whole in slight excess in the Peninsula, in moderate deficiency in the north-west and in slight deficiency in the province of Bengal. Of the rain which fell in the Punjab a large proportion appeared to be due to local disturbances rather than to the monsoon currents.

(e) As in June, there was on the average of the whole of the country a defect of 3 per cent. in the rainfall of the month.

3. The following table gives for June, July, and the total period the actual rainfall, the departure from normal and the percentage departure from normal for India in fifteen divisions.

The total rainfall of the period June and July was distributed with about the usual uniformity over the greater part of the country; the only areas of large defect were Sind (52 per cent.), the Punjab (27 per cent.) and Bengal (21 per cent.)

Forecast for August and September, 1906.

Conditions affecting the monsoon rainfall of India.

A number of data have already been published in the memorandum of the 9th June : the information given below has been obtained since that time.

4. Australia.—June pressure was in defect at Adelaide and Melbourne by ·035″ and ·033″ and in excess at Sydney by ·129″, while temperature was in excess at these places by 3·8°, 2·1° and 1·7°.

5. The Indian Ocean.

Mauritius.—Pressure was below normal in June by ·045″ and in July by ·020.″ Temperature on the other hand was higher than usual throughout the period by amounts averaging 1°. The air movement was on the whole of the ordinary character except during the last three weeks of June when its direction was decidedly more southerly than usual. The rainfall for the period was in moderate excess.

Zanzibar.—The pressure changes here were similar in general character to those which occurred at Mauritius: there was a defect of ·04″ in June and of ·02″ in July. Temperature averaged about 1° in excess. Winds varied considerably in intensity but were on the whole of about the usual strength : their direction was persistently more westerly than usual. Rainfall was greatly above the normal in June when its total of 5·9″ was nearly four times as much as the monthly average of 1·6″: it was on the other hand 75 per cent. below normal in July, its amount being 0·6″ and the average being 2·6″.

Seychelles.—Pressure averaged ·04″ in defect throughout the period. Temperature was 2° in excess in June and 2½° in July. Winds were more easterly during the first half of June and the first three weeks of July and more southerly than usual during the rest of the period. In June the rainfall amounted to 4·9″ which is 0·7″ below normal. During July the amount was 2·7″, the normal being 2·4″.

Logs of vessels.—The more noteworthy features of the air circulation in the Indian seas and the equatorial region have been :

(a) The establishment of monsoon conditions about a week later than usual in the Arabian Sea and about the usual date in the Bay of Bengal.

(b) The existence during the greater part of June and the first three weeks of July, after which no data are available, of an area of light irregular breezes and calms over the centre and east of the equatorial belt. Apparently this area shifted somewhat erratically in position.

(c) The prevalence of abnormal north-westerly winds in the south-east of the Arabian Sea and along the west coast of Ceylon during the greater part of the period.

6. Egypt and Soudan.—In June the Blue Nile was below normal throughout the month at Khartoum and Wadi Halfa, and also at Roseires except for a short period : further the rise occurred more slowly than usual. During July the rains improved slightly, the Blue Nile rising at a little more than the normal rate at Roseires and at the normal rate at Khartoum. The general prospect was stated on the 31st July to be about the average and possibly improving.

7. Siberia.—The average for the six stations, Orenburg, Tashkent, Omsk, Barnaul, Tomsk and Irkutsk of June pressure was 1·2 mm. or ·05″ below normal; for July it was normal.

8. South America.—Pressure at Santiago (Chili) was in excess during June by 1·59 mm. or ·062″ and during July by 0·40 mm. or ·016″. At Cordoba (Argentine Republic) the corresponding departures were —1·49 mm. and +0·79 mm. At Buenos Aires the departures were in March +0·36 mm., April —0·29 mm., May —1·84 mm., June —0·43 mm., and July +0·66 mm.

9. Snowfall in the mountain regions north and west of India.—The information received since the publication of the June forecast shows that in north-east Persia and the mountainous region of eastern Turkistan the past winter was not only severe but ended abnormally late and that at the beginning of June snow lay 6 feet deep on the summit of the Terek-Diwan (between Kashgar and Osh).

The reports for June indicate that there were several falls of snow in parts of the western Himalayas, but the total quantity received was not large except on the Nuwe pass in Almora where the depth was reported as 17¾ feet.

On the 9th June snowfall near Gulmarg extended as far down as Killam Marg which is about 9,300 feet above sea level.

At the end of June snow was stated to be 25 feet deep on the Nuwe pass and 18 feet on the Untadhura, as compared with 15 feet and 13½ feet respectively on the same date last year.

In July there were a few falls in the Chitral, Kashmir and Chamba hills but they were light and restricted to elevations above 14,000 feet. Weather was generally hot in Ladak and the snow line on the hills surrounding Leh retreated to 18,000 feet. The passes to the north were however difficult to cross about the middle of the month owing to great accumulations of snow. In Kashmir snow lay down to about 10,000 feet in the deeper valleys of the Pir Panjal range at the end of the month. There were frequent falls on the higher ranges of Kumaon and Garhwal. The total fall received from the first to 19th July varied from 5 to 10 feet in depth on some of the peaks.

The available information thus appears to show that although there have been few heavy or extensive falls during the past two months, the accumulation on the middle and higher ranges is still unusually large.

10. The diagram of Indian pressure for July shows that pressure averaged ·030" below normal. Relative to this geographical mean it was in defect along the base of the Himalayas and the Suleiman range by amounts increasing up to ·015" in the extreme north and ·025" in upper Assam : it was also in defect by small amounts in the western half of the Peninsula and in upper Burma. Elsewhere relative to the geographical mean pressure was in excess.

Discussion of the preceding data.

11. Influence of pressure in India in July.—It is a natural supposition that if pressure were low in India in July the monsoon currents would flow in with greater freedom and that August rainfall would be increased. Numerical analysis of past records shows however that any effect of the kind is inappreciable.

12. Influence of Indian rainfall in June and July.—It might also be supposed that some relation existed between the total amount of Indian rainfall in June and July and the total for August and September, and that some inference might be drawn in the present year. Here again numerical analysis shows that this is not the case.

13. Effect of the general pressure distribution outside India.—Apparently the most powerful factor affecting Indian rainfall as a whole during August and September is the pressure in the southern Indian Ocean. In illustration of this may be given the following table containing all years since 1875 in which pressure at Mauritius in July has differed from the normal by more than ·024", together with the rainfall of Bombay and Bay currents in the ensuing August and September :

Year.	PRESSURE DEPARTURE	RAINFALL DEPARTURE.
	MAURITIUS.	BOMBAY CURRENT.		BAY CURRENT.
	July.	August.	September.	August.	September.

1898	−·035	−2·44	+1·23	+2·80	+1·35
1899	+·063	−5·64	−3·12	−0·56	−2·04
1902	−·051	−1·65	+2·79	−1·35	+1·63

14. It will be seen there is a marked tendency for high pressure to be followed by deficient rainfall and vice versâ, and that out of the fifteen years this relationship held good as regards August rainfall for both the Bombay and the Bay currents in eight years, it held for one of the currents and failed for the other in six years, and failed for both currents in one year ; as regards September rainfall the corresponding numbers are seven, seven and one. The 'correlation coefficients'* of Mauritius July pressure with subsequent Indian rainfall, as approximately given by the data of the past 30 years are :

BOMBAY CURRENT.		BAY CURRENT.
August.	September.	August.	September.
−·4	·4	−·25	−·5

* If the variations of two quantities are connected by a relation of cause and effect the variations of one of them will to a certain extent be determined by the variations of the other ; the average ratio of the amount so determined in either quantity to its total variation is called the "correlation coefficient." In other words it is the proportionate extent to which the variations of one quantity are determined by those of the other. The sign prefixed is + or − according as the two quantities vary in the same or in opposite directions.

In this table and in the statements which follow it should be remembered that owing to the small number of cases for which data are available and the large number of disturbing influences the probable error in any coefficient is about ·12. Any relationship whose coefficient is not appreciably larger than this must be regarded as doubtful.

In the case of Mauritius pressure in June the correlation coefficients with the total rainfall of India in August and September are approximately —·2 and —·4 respectively.

The fact that the pressure in question has been ·045" and ·020" below normal in the past two months is thus decidedly favourable.

15. In view, however, of the extreme rapidity with which pressure in the south Indian Ocean has changed during the past three months it is more than usually desirable to attempt to ascertain what is likely to be its future character, and with this end in view to consider the pressure distribution in more distant areas.

16. Attention has previously been drawn to the oscillations of pressure, some of which were pointed out by the Lockyers, affecting the greater part of the earth's surface. The correlation coefficient between the mean of the annual pressures of Santiago and Cordoba and that of India proves to be —·5, that between India and the mean of six representative stations in Siberia being + ·15.

We should accordingly expect that high pressure in South America and low pressure in Siberia would correspond with low pressure at Mauritius and be favourable to Indian rainfall. The correlation coefficient of July pressure in South America as represented by Santiago and Cordoba, with Mauritius pressure is —·4 in July, —·5 in August, and—·3 in September: thus South American July pressure may be used for forecasting that in Mauritius. Similarly with Indian rainfall; the coefficients of June and July pressure in South America with Indian rainfall in August and September are given in the following table:

Pressure in South America.	Indian rainfall.
	August.	September.
June	+·3	—·15
July	+·3	+·25

It will be noticed that high pressure in South America is rather more closely related with low pressure at Mauritius in the succeeding month than with Indian rainfall.

The mean departures given by the data available from the three stations in South America for the recent months have been, expressed in inches:

March.	April.	May.	June.	July.
+ ·023	— ·004	— ·027	— ·006	+ ·025

The corresponding departures for Mauritius have been—

— ·026	— ·064	+ ·008	— ·045	— ·020

It would appear that the fall of ·050 in South America from March to May has probably corresponded roughly with the relative rise at Mauritius from —·064" in April to —·020" in July: there is accordingly some ground for hoping that the rise in South America from May to July may tend to keep pressure low at Mauritius and prove favourable for Indian rainfall.

17. In the case of Siberia it has been pointed out that we should expect low pressure to be favourable for India. The correlation coefficients of pressure in June and July with Indian rainfall of June to September work out as:

Pressure in Siberia.	INDIAN RAINFALL.
	June.	July.	August.	September.
June	—·55	—·2	—·05	+ ·1
July	—·15	—·25	—·15	+ ·25

The relation between June pressure in Siberia and June rainfall in India is decidedly close: out of 29 years for which we have records the pressure is in excess when the rainfall is in defect or vice versâ in 21 cases.

18. The question of the temperature distribution over the earth has been examined by Bigelow, and he came to the general conclusion that temperature in the tropical and southern temperate zones oscillated in one direction while that in the northern temperate zone moved in the opposite manner. It seems natural to attribute the widespread pressure oscillations partially, at any rate, to changes in temperature: and there are grounds for thinking that pressure oscillations favourable to the monsoon tend to be associated with high temperatures in the Indian Ocean. The correlation coefficient of Mauritius mean temperature during June and July with Indian August rainfall is +·35, and the excess of temperature this year at Mauritius in June and July (shown also at Zanzibar, Seychelles and in Australia) is what the analysis proves to be, on the average, associated with favourable pressure conditions in the Indian Ocean.

19. The prejudicial influence of the excessive rainfall at Zanzibar in April, May and June upon the Bombay current in August may be regarded as to a certain extent counteracted by the deficiency in July, but, as has been pointed out in previous memoranda, the abnormal conditions at the equator frequently travel eastwards and affect the Bay current. This year the information from logs of vessels shows that in June and the greater part of July there was an abnormal area, probably of ascensional movement, to the northeast and east of Seychelles and it seems not unlikely that this may be identified with the area of heavy rainfall which included both Zanzibar and Seychelles in April: it is in any case probably responsible for the comparative weakness of the Bay current in June and July.

On the whole the data from the equatorial region taken by themselves do not suggest any strong influence upon the Bombay current but a somewhat unfavourable effect upon the Bay current at any rate in August.

20 Local pressure distribution.—The most marked peculiarities of the pressure distribution in July may be summed up as consisting of low pressure in Burma, Assam, the Gangetic plain excluding Bengal, and the extreme north. Of these probably the last two are the most important.

21. In order to obtain information as to the effect of low pressure in the Gangetic plain relative to Rajputana and the Central Provinces, an analysis has been effected of the relationship between the rainfall in different parts of India and the excess of pressure in Rajputana and the Central Provinces on the one hand over that in the United Provinces and Bihar on the other. When this excess is large the trough is close against the hills and experience shows that the rainfall in northern India due to the Bombay current tends towards Bihar at the expense of Gujarat and Rajputana. The tabulation gives as the correlation coefficient between the excess of pressure in July and the percentage excess of July rainfall in Rajputana over that of India the value —·4 which is of about the magnitude that might be expected. The following are the correlation coefficients between the July pressure excess and August rainfall in the different areas of the table:

Bihar.	Chota Nagpur.	United Provinces.	Rajputana.	Gujarat.	Central Provinces.
+ ·25	+ ·3	— ·25	— ·5	— ·3	+ ·2

22. The largeness of some of these numbers and the permanence of the influence suggests that the Indian pressure distribution may be connected with conditions outside India; and the measure of the relationship with Mauritius pressure in July proves to be +·5, that with Siberia being +·1, while with Mauritius pressure in June it is +·15 and in August +·4. These figures are in agreement with the fact that in breaks of the monsoon, which are related on the average with high pressure at Mauritius, the trough of low pressure certainly tends to move up to the Himalayas, and that the break usually does not cease until the trough has returned to something like its normal position.

It is accordingly interesting to notice that this year the chief periods of proximity of the trough to the hills (from the 6th July to the 16th and from the 25th to the present time) have occurred shortly after the only big rises of pressure at Mauritius as deduced from the weekly averages (occurring within a few days of the 1st and the 21st July respectively).

23. The relationship of high pressure in the Punjab and North-West Frontier Province with rainfall in August in certain areas is contained in the following table:

Punjab and North-West Frontier Province.	Rajputana	United Provinces.	Gujarat.
— ·2	+ ·05	— ·25	— ·05

Thus the influence of low pressure in the extreme north on rainfall in the succeeding month appears to be negligible in the case of Gujarat and Rajputana, and favourable in the case of the Punjab and the United Provinces.

The lowness of pressure in the Punjab in July may perhaps be connected with the number of local disturbances which have affected weather in that area; it is doubtful whether true monsoon rainfall reached the north-west of the Punjab except on the 3rd, 4th, 13th and 20th, and from the 28th to the 31st; shortly after that date the pressure distribution became unfavourable for monsoon rainfall in the extreme north.

SUMMARY.

24. The peculiarities of the local pressure distribution in India during July are not strongly marked: as already pointed out one of the two chief features is somewhat favourable to the Punjab and the other, the northward displacement of the trough of low pressure, is not likely to produce any marked result if, as is anticipated, the extra Indian pressure conditions prove favourable.

Although the amount of snow that has fallen in July appears to have been less than usual there is evidence that the accumulations, at any rate locally, are larger than the average. It appears that the influence due to this is enough to counteract the effect, favourable to the Punjab, which has just been deduced from the July pressure distribution of India.

In face of these contradictory indications it does not appear possible to draw any reliable conclusions as to the local distribution of the rainfall of August or September.

25. The pressure conditions in the Indian Ocean south of the equatorial region have been exceptionally unsteady this year, but the data appear to indicate that pressure is more likely to be favourable than the opposite.

On the other hand, there is definite evidence of the existence during the greater part of June and July of an area of calms to the northeast and east of Seychelles to which the relative weakness of the Bay current during the past two months has probably been due: in the case of the Bombay current, it is a probable supposition that a similar area of ascensional movement has formed quite recently. Although, therefore, rainfall at Zanzibar and Seychelles is no longer in large excess conditions in the equatorial region appear to be somewhat unfavourable.

26. The most probable anticipations appear to be:

(a) The tendency, which showed itself during the past week, for rainfall due to the Bombay current to be scanty and to occur unusually far to the east appears already to be passing away. An early improvement both in quantity and uniformity of distribution of rainfall due to this current is to be expected.

(b) There appears on the whole to be no reason for anticipating either a large excess or a large defect in the rainfall of August or September. In August, however, a slight deficiency seems rather more likely than an excess.

CHAPTER I.—OF POSSESSION OF PETROLEUM.

CHAPTER II.—TRANSPORT OF PETROLEUM.

DRAFT RULES UNDER SECTION 9 OF THE INDIAN PETROLEUM ACT, 1899, FOR THE IMPORTATION, POSSESSION AND TRANSPORT OF PETROLEUM IN THE NORTH-WEST FRONTIER PROVINCE.

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

Definitions.

1. In these rules,—

(a) "Part" means a Part of these rules;

(b) "Certificated petroleum" means petroleum certified to be non-dangerous petroleum by a certificate of such description as the Local Government may, from time to time, by written order, prescribe, granted at the port of shipment;

(c) "petroleum in bulk" means petroleum in quantities exceeding five hundred gallons, contained in any one receptacle;

(d) "installation" means a place specially prepared for the storage of petroleum,

(e) "major installation" means an installation—

(1) capable of containing an amount of oil, whether in bulk only or in combined bulk and non-bulk storage, exceeding fifty thousand gallons, or

(2) in which tin-making operations are carried on,

(f) "minor installation" means an installation—

(1) capable of containing an amount of oil, whether in bulk only or in combined bulk and non-bulk storage, not exceeding fifty thousand gallons, and

(2) in which no tin-making operations are carried on;

(g) "protected works" includes buildings in which persons dwell or assemble, docks, wharves, timber yards, other petroleum stores, and any other place which the Local Government may declare as such by notification;

(h) "testing officer" means the testing officer appointed by the Local Government under section 10 of the Act for any port at which petroleum may be imported under these rules;

(i) "motor-vehicle" includes a motor-bicycle, a motor-tricycle, a motor-boat and a motor-launch; and

(j) "owner," as applied to a motor-vehicle, includes a person who hires, or is otherwise entitled for the time being to use or work, a motor-vehicle.

Part II.

POSSESSION AND TRANSPORT OF PETROLEUM.

CHAPTER I.—POSSESSION OF PETROLEUM.

Smoking prohibited.

1. No smoking shall be permitted inside any installation.

Supervision of operations within installation.

2. All operations within any installation shall be conducted under the supervision of a responsible agent or supervisor.

Cleanliness of installation.

3. The ground in the interior of an installation shall be kept clean and free from goods of a combustible nature, vegetation and rubbish.

Supply of sand in installation.

4. A sufficient supply of sand shall always be kept in an installation for the purpose of extinguishing fire.

Enclosure walls and embankments.

5. All enclosure walls and embankments required to be constructed by or under these rules shall be certified as being sufficient to ensure safety by a Railway Engineer in the case of installations constructed on railway premises, and in the case of other installations by an Engineer accepted as qualified for this purpose by the Local Government.

Marking of capacity of tanks.

6. The capacity in gallons of every tank and storage shed or godown in an installation shall be conspicuously marked on it, and shall be calculated as follows:—

for tanks, at the rate of 6·25 gallons per cubic foot;
for sheds and godowns, at the rate of 10 gallons per cubic feet.

7. Every tank or other receptacle for the storage of petroleum in bulk, except a tank or receptacle which is not of sufficient capacity to contain ten thousand gallons of petroleum and which is so situated as not to be liable to cause danger in the event of the petroleum being ignited, shall be protected by an efficient lightning-conductor.

Protection from lightning.

Explanation.—A tank or receptacle shall be deemed to be so situated as not to be liable to cause danger in the event of the petroleum being ignited, if it is not in close proximity to any other tank or receptacle, or to any building and if it is surrounded by a wall, or moat, or combination of both, sufficient to prevent the flow of petroleum beyond certain circumscribed limits in the event of the escape of the whole contents of the tank when full.

8. Not less than once in every year the licensee of an installation shall test or cause to be tested the efficiency of the conductor in such manner as the authority granting the license may, by general or special order, declare to be sufficient, and a certificate showing the date of the last test shall be posted in a conspicuous place within the installation.

Testing of lightning-conductor by licensee.

9. Any officer appointed by a Local Government in this behalf may enter any installation for the purpose of testing the efficiency of the conductor, at any time after sunrise and before sunset.

Official testing of lightning-conductor.

10. No installation shall be open, and no work in any installation shall be permitted, between sunset and sunrise: provided that in cases where electric lighting is exclusively used, night working may be permitted by the Local Government on the recommendation of the Chief Inspector of Explosives.

Time for work in installations.

11. Where there are any pipes or openings for draining out water in any enclosure wall, arrangements shall be made whereby they can be closed, and they shall only be kept open when actually necessary for drainge purposes. The nature of such arrangements shall be shown in the specifications submitted with the application for a license.

Closure of pipes and openings.

12. All sheds or godowns in an installation for the storage of oil in tins, drums or cases shall be built of uninflammable material.

Material for sheds and godowns.

13. There shall be hung up in a conspicuous place in every installation for which a license has been granted copies, in English and the vernacular, of the rules contained in this Part, and of the conditions endorsed on the license.

Posting up of rules and conditions.

CHAPTER II.—TRANSPORT OF PETROLEUM.

1. Petroleum in bulk shall not be carried by water except on a ship certified as suitable for the carriage of petroleum in bulk by an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, and the petroleum shall be stowed in such part of the ship and in such manner as may be approved, by general or special order, by the authority so appointed.

Conditions of carriage of petroleum in bulk by water.

2. Petroleum in bulk shall not be transported on any barge or flat which is not towed by a steamer.

ENDORSEMENT ON FORM B.

Conditions of License.

1. If the licensing officer call upon the holder of a license, by notice in writing, to execute any repairs of the licensed place, which may, in the opinion of such officer, be necessary for the safety of the place, the holder of the license shall execute the repairs within such period, not being less than one week from the date of receipt of the notice, as may be fixed by the notice.

2. The license-holder is prohibited from delivering any quantity of dangerous petroleum exceeding three gallons to any one who has not a license under section 5 or section 6 of Act, or any less quantity of such petroleum, except in accordance with the conditions of the proviso to section 6 of the Act, as to the vessels in which the petroleum must be contained.

3. The petroleum shall be stored in gas-tight tinned or galvanized sheet iron, steel or lead plate receptacles containing each not more than ten gallons and fitted with well-made filling holes and well-fitting screw plugs or fitted with screw cap with metal air-tight under-cap. Such receptacles shall be packed in strong wooden cases, the thickness of the wood to be not less than half an inch ;-provided that wood cases shall not be necessary when the receptacles are made of tinned of galvanized sheet iron or steel, and have the following thickness of metal :—

(1) When the capacity does not exceed two gallons, not less than . . 25 B. W. G.
(2) When the capacity exceeds two gallons but does not exceed four gallons 22 B. W. G.
(3) When the capacity exceeds four gallons . . . . 16 B. W. G.

4. An air space of at least one-tenth of its capacity shall be left in each receptacle at the time of filling.

5. The receptacles shall be so substantially constructed and secured as not to be liable except, under circumstances of grave negligence or extraordinary accident, to be broken or become defective, leaky or insecure.

6. The receptacles shall be labelled in accordance with the provisions of section 7 of the Act.

7. Any receptacle, before being repaired, shall be cleared of all dangerous petroleum and of all dangerous vapours arising from the same.

8. The building shall be constructed of masonry or other uninflammable material with terraced, tiled or iron roofs and with tiled or paved or earthern floors.

9. Either the doorway's and other openings of the building shall be built up to such a height above the level of the road or street, or the floor sunk to such a depth below the level of the road or street, that the petroleum cannot flow out from the building in case of its escape from the receptacle in which it is contained, or the building itself shall be surrounded with a masonry wall or embankment or both sufficiently high to contain all the petroleum in case of its escape from the building.

A combination of these methods is permissible.

10. All ventilating openings in the building shall be protected by strong wire gauze.

11. No light, except a light of such strength, position and character as is not liable to ignite any inflammable vapour, or fire of any description, shall be permitted at any time within the installation,

12. All due precautions shall be taken for the prevention of unauthorised persons having access to any dangerous petroleum kept and to the vessels containing or having actually contained the same.

13. Every person managing or employed on or in connection with the place of storage shall abstain from any act whatever which tends to cause fire or explosion and which is not reasonably necessary, and shall prevent any other person from doing such act.

14. The drum or other receptacle containing dangerous petroleum shall only be opened on the licensed premises at or immediately adjoining the place of storage, and for the time necessary for drawing off the petroleum and during such drawing off every reasonable precaution shall be adopted for preventing the escape of dangerous petroleum or the vapour therefrom.

15. The following distances shall be kept clear from protected works round the place of storage :—

Quantity to be stored.	Distances to be kept clear when dangerous petroleum is stored in drums of not greater capacity than four gallons.	Distances to be kept clear when dangerous petroleum is stored in drums of capacity exceeding four gallons but not exceeding ten gallons.
	Feet.	Feet.
Not exceeding 1,000 gallons	25	30
From 1,000 to 5,000 "	40	50
" 5,000 to 10,000 "	60	70
" 10,000 to 15,000 "	[illegible]	100
" 15,000 to 20,000 "	130	150
" 20,000 to 30,000 "	180	200
" 30,000 and over	200	200

16. Provided that when the quantity to be possessed does not exceed 60 gallons the provisions of conditions 8, 9 and 15 shall not apply, but the licensee shall observe the following conditions:—

(i) The store-house or building in which the dangerous petroleum is stored shall be well ventilated and constructed of uninflammable material, provided however that the doors and windows may be of wood.

(ii) Where a store-house forms part of or is attached to another building and when the intervening floor or partition is of an unsubstantial or inflammable character or has openings therein, the whole of such building shall be deemed to be the store-house and no portion of such store-house shall be used as a dwelling-house or as a place where persons assemble. The store-house shall have a separate entrance from the open air distinct from any building or dwelling in which persons assemble.

17. The store-house shall be liable to inspection by an officer authorized on this behalf.

ENDORSEMENT ON FORM C.

Conditions of License.

1. If the licensing officer call upon the holder of a license, by notice in writing, to execute any repairs of the licensed place, which may, in the opinion of such officer, be necessary for the safety of the place, the holder of the license shall execute the repairs within such period, not being less than one week from the date of receipt of the notice, as may be fixed by the notice.

2. The license-holder is prohibited from delivering any quantity of dangerous petroleum exceeding three gallons to any one who has not a license under section 5 or section 6 of the Act, or any less quantity of such petroleum, except in accordance with the conditions of the proviso to section 6 of the Act, as to the vessels in which the petroleum must be contained.

3. The petroleum shall be stored in gas-tight tinned or galvanized sheet iron, steel or lead plate receptacles containing each not more than ten gallons and fitted with well-made filling holes and well-fitting screw plugs or fitted with screw cap with metal air-tight undercap. Such receptacles shall be packed in strong wooden cases, the thickness of the wood to be not less than half an inch; provided that wood cases shall not be necessary when the receptacles are made of tinned or galvanized sheet iron or steel, and have the following thickness of metal:—

(1) When the capacity does not exceed two gallons, not less than . . . 25 B. W. G.
(2) When the capacity exceeds two gallons but does not exceed four gallons . 22 B. W. G.
(3) When the capacity exceeds four gallons . . . . 16 B. W. G.

4. An air-space of at least one-tenth of its capacity shall be left in each receptacle at the time of filling.

5. Receptacles shall be so substantially constructed and secured as not to be liable except under circumstances of grave negligence or extraordinary accident, to be broken or become defective, leaky or insecure.

6. The receptacles shall be labelled in accordance with the provisions of section 7 of the Act.

7. Any receptacle, before being repaired, shall be cleared of all dangerous petroleum and of all dangerous vapours arising from the same.

8. The store-house or building in which the dangerous petroleum is stored shall be will ventilated and constructed of uninflammable material; provided, however, that the doors and windows may be of wood.

9. All ventilating openings in the building shall be protected by strong wire gauze.

10. No light, except a light of such strength, position and character as is not liable to ignite any inflammable vapour, or fire of any description, shall be permitted at any time within the installation.

11. All due precautions shall be taken for the prevention of unauthorised persons having access to any dangerous petroleum kept and to the vessels containing or having actually contained the same.

12. Every person managing or employed on or in connection with the place of storage shall abstain from any act whatever which tends to cause fire or explosion and which is not reasonably necessary and shall prevent any other person from doing such act.

13. The drum or other receptacle containing dangerous petroleum shall only be opened on the licensed premises at or immediately adjoining the place of storage, and for the time necessary for drawing off the petroleum and during such drawing off every reasonable precaution shall be adopted for preventing the escape of dangerous petroleum or the vapour therefrom.

14. Where a store-house forms a part of or is attached to another building, and where the intervening floor or partition is of an unsubstantial or inflammable character or has openings therein, the whole of such building shall be deemed to be the store-house and no portion of such store-house shall be used as a dwelling or as a place where persons assemble. The store-house shall have a separate entrance from the open air distinct from any building or dwelling in which persons assemble

15. The store-house shall be liable to inspection by any officer authorized on this behalf.

ENDORSEMENT ON FORM D.

Conditions of License.

1. Each tank shall either be separately surrounded by a wall or embankment of substantial construction, or shall be partially sunk in an excavation. The inclosure thus formed shall be of dimensions sufficient to contain 10 per cent. more oil than the tank is capable of containing, and shall be so constructed as to prevent the escape therefrom of any oil in the form of liquid, whether under the action of fire or otherwise. The space enclosed by such wall or excavation, and not occupied by the tank, shall be kept entirely clear and unoccupied.

2. All sheds or godowns for the storage of oil in tins, drums or cases shall be surrounded by masonry walls or embankments, or a combination of both, so constructed as to prevent the overflow of any oil that may be stored at any time within such sheds or godowns in case of its escape from the tins, drums or cases in which it is stored. The enclosure thus formed shall be of dimensions sufficient to contain 10 per cent. more oil than such sheds or godowns are licensed to contain.

3. A distance of not less than one hundred feet shall be kept clear between one storage tank and another, and no tank shall be of greater height than thirty-two feet above ground level.

4. A distance of not less than one hundred and fifty feet feet shall be kept clear between sheds or godowns for the storage of oil otherwise than in bulk and tanks for bulk oil storage, the distance being measured between the nearest points of the perimeters of the tanks or storage buildings, as the case may be.

Proviso—Provided that where a screen wall intervenes the distance to be kept clear shall be not less than one hundred feet.

5. A distance of not less than one hundred and fifty feet shall be kept clear between any storage tank or building and any protected work.

Proviso.—Provided that where a screen wall intervenes, the distance to be kept clear shall be not less than one hundred feet.

No. 121.—Captain J. Husband, I.M.S., assumed charge of the Civil Medical duties of the Bannu District on the afternoon of the 14th July 1906, relieving Captain H. Boulton, I.M.S.

By order,

E. B. HOWELL,
Asstt. Secretary to the Chief Commissioner,
N.-W. Frontier Province.

REVENUE AND FINANCIAL SECRETARY TO THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER, NORTH-WEST FRONTIER PROVINCE.

NOTIFICATION.

Peshawar, the 7th August 1906.

No. 3176.—It having been declared in respect of the Cantonments and Municipal limits of Peshawar that for the purpose of the definition contained in section 2, sub-section 1, of the Glanders and Farcy Act, 1899 (XIII of 1899) as amended by the Repealing and Amending Act of 1901 (XI of 1901) "diseased" includes affected with Lymphangitis Epizootica and Surra (Government of India Notification No. 723—33-3, dated the 27th March 1906), the Chief Commissioner and Agent to the Governor-General, North West Frontier Province, under the authority vested in him by section 14 of the Glanders and Farcy Act, is pleased to make the following rules for dealing with the said diseases :—

RULES.

In proceeding under section 5 of the Act, an Inspector shall, as far as possible, conduct his search in the presence of the owner, or of the person in charge, of the premises searched.

2. Every person having in his possession, or under his charge, any diseased horse shall observe the following rules :—

1st.—He shall, as far as possible, keep the diseased horse and its attendants separate from other horses not diseased.

2nd.—He shall give immediate information of the fact of the disease to the nearest police station, and the officer in charge of the station shall forthwith report the same to the Superintendent of Police, who shall communicate it directly to the Inspector.

3. Horses which have been stabled or in contact with animals suffering from Lymphangitis Epizootica or Surra, or which may be reasonably suspected to be suffering from Lymphangitis Epizootica or Surra may be isolated and detained at the owner's expense for the purposes of a diagnosis of the disease being made by means of bacteriological examination by a Veterinary Practitioner. No order for destruction shall be passed until a Veterinary Practitioner has certified that bacteriologial examination has revealed the existence of Lymphangitis Epizootica or Surra.

4. The Inspector, whose duty it is under section 8 of the Act to cause the destruction of any horse which is within the limits attached to a police station, may give written directions to the officer in charge of that station to destroy the horse. The officer receiving such directions shall have the horse promptly destroyed by shooting or otherwise. He shall also be responsible for seeing that the rule next following is complied with, or that the person failing to comply with that rule is proceeded against under rule 10.

5. When a diseased horse is destroyed under section 8 of the Act, the owner, or the person in charge, shall cause the carcase to be buried, without delay, six feet below the surface of the ground, and the skin to be slashed so as to prevent its being used. No person shall dig up or cause to be dug up the carcase of any horse so buried or any part of it.

Provided that an Inspector may direct the carcase to be burnt instead of being buried, and the owner or the person in charge shall thereupon cause it to be destroyed by fire.

6. The stable or building in which a horse suffering from Lymphangitis Epizootica has been, the clothes of the attendants, the saddlery and other articles liable to have become infected shall be cleansed and disinfected in the following manner :—

1st.—By thoroughly collecting in a heap all dung, litter and other matter and refuse and destroying the whole by fire.

2nd.—By digging up the earth of the standing to a depth of two feet and thoroughly mixing the removed soil with equal portions of good freshly burnt lime and water, and after a fortnight removing this to some distant spot unfrequented by equines. The cavity caused by the removal of the earth to be washed with good lime-wash and then filled with fresh earth.

3rd.—By thoroughly scraping all the parts of the diseased horses's stall or box or standing, particularly those parts with which the diseased horse came in contact, and washing all wood, stone and iron work with boiling water.

4th.—By the application to all parts above the flour with which the horse or its droppings may have come into contact, of a coating of lime-wash made by mixing immediately before its use good freshly burnt lime with water.

5th.—By cutting away the stuffed parts of the saddle used on the diseased horse and burning the same, and by passing bits and stirrup through the fire. The leather work of all saddlery, harness, etc., used by the diseased horse to be soaked in antiseptic solution.

6th.—The shafts, splinter-bars and all parts of any vehicle which the horse has been in contact with to be scraped and washed in a strong antiseptic solution.

7th.—By immersing the clothing of the attendants in a strong antiseptic solution.

8th.—By attending to the carrying out of all measures which the veterinary Practitioner deems advisable to adopt to prevent the further spread of the disease.

7. The owner of a horse suffering from Surra shall carry out all measures which the Veterinary Practitioner deems advisable to adopt to prevent the further spread of the disease.

8. The Inspector shall grant a license for removal of a horse which has been in contact with a diseased horse only when he considers there is no danger of the first horse becoming diseased.

If any horse which has been in such contact is removed without such license, the Inspector may require it to be taken back within the limits of the place from which it has been removed.

9. In the event of obstruction on the application of a Veterinary Inspector or a Veterinary Practitioner, which application shall, if possible, be in writing, the police shall be bound to render such officers such assistance as may be necessary to enable them duly to perform their duties under the Act and these rules.

10. Any person convicted of breaking any of the above rules shall be punished with imprisonment, which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to R50, or with both.

RETURN OF ACCIDENTS ON INDIAN RAILWAYS FOR THE TWELVE MONTHS ENDED THE 31ST DECEMBER 1905.

No. R. Stat. 29—1—51, dated Simla, the 23rd July 1906.

READ AGAIN—

Railway Board Order No. R. Stat. $\frac{29}{76}$, dated the 26th July 1905.

READ ALSO—

The following particulars of accidents to trains, etc., on the open lines of railway in India for the twelve months ended the 31st December 1905.

I.—Accidents to trains, rolling-stock, permanent-way, etc.

Accidents to trains, rolling-stock, permanent-way, etc, as shown under Abstract No. 4 on pages 1780 and 1781 of the accompanying Abstract return, caused the death of 23 persons and injury to 270 persons, against 40 and 201, respectively, during the previous year.

II.—Accidents to passengers from causes other than accidents to trains, rolling-stock, permanent-way, etc., including accidents from their own want of caution or misconduct; accidents to persons passing over level crossings, trespassers, and others.

2. Of the 979 persons killed and 576 injured, as shown under this heading in Abstract No. 1, 115 of the former and 356 of the latter were passengers, the remainder being persons passing over level-crossings, trespassers, suicides and others. Details of the killed and injured will be found in abstract No. 2.

III.—Accidents to servants in the employ of Railway Companies or contractors caused by the travelling of trains or the movement of vehicles used exclusively upon railways.

3. Of railways' or contractors' servants 308 were killed and 462 injured, in addition to 15 killed and 115 injured included in the figures in paragraph 1. Details of these will be found in Abstract No. 2.

4. Altogether the number of persons killed and injured on Indian railways in the working of public traffic during the year 1905 was as follows:—

5. In addition to the above 68 persons are reported to have been killed and 307 to have been injured upon railway premises by causes not connected with the movement of vehicles used exclusively upon railways.

6. Thus the total number of persons reported to have been killed and injured during the twelve months amounted to 1,373 and 1,600, respectively.

IV.—Number of persons killed and injured by accidents to trains, rolling-stock, etc., during the year 1905.

7. The following is a summary of the number of accidents, as classified in Abstract No. 4, which occurred on the several railways and which resulted in loss of life or injury to persons.

8. A brief description of some of the accidents resulting in loss of life, injury to persons, or serious damage to rolling-stock, is given below :—

(i) Assam-Bengal railway.—On the 23rd February, No. 4 down mixed train was derailed at mile 90—22 between Lalmai and Comilla stations, owing to the removal of fish-plates and bolts and the slewing of the line by some person or persons unknown. Four railway servants were seriously injured, one of whom subsequently died. The rolling-stock was considerably damaged.

(ii) On the 27th December, No. 4 down mixed train was derailed near Mantala station, due to the bad state of the road. Three passengers were injured, two of whom subsequently died. The rolling-stock was damaged.

(iii) East Indian railway.—On the 7th February, Nos. 124 down goods and 64 down van goods trains collided at Khana junction, in consequence of the driver of the former train having run against signals. One person was killed and seven injured. The rolling-stock was considerably damaged.

(iv) On the 17th November, Nos. 101 up and 64 down goods trains collided at Taljhari station, due to the disregard of signals by the driver of the former train. One railway servant was killed and five injured. The rolling-stock was considerably damaged.

(v) On the 19th November, Nos. 7 down and 10 up Bengal-Nagpur railway passenger trains collided with No. 7 down East Indian railway pilot, owing to the latter fouling the junction between East Indian and Bengal-Nagpur railways, at Howrah station, due to the carelessness of the railway staff. One railway servant was injured. The rolling-stock was damaged.

(vi) Kalka-Simla railway.—On the 13th April, No. 11 up goods train ran into the trolly of a sub permanent-way inspector between Taksal and Gumman stations, owing to the disregard of rules for working trollies. The station master of Koti, who was on the trolly at the time, was killed.

(vii) North Western State railway.—On the 17th July, Nos. 9 up passenger and 10 down mixed trains collided at Kot Sultan station, due to points not having been correctly set. Seventeen passengers were injured. The rolling-stock and permanent-way were damaged.

(viii) On the 1st December, No. 4 down Punjab-Bombay mail and M. M. up troop special trains collided near Lahore station, owing to points having been wrongly set. Seventeen passengers were injured. The rolling-stock was considerably damaged.

(ix) Oudh and Rohilkhand State railway.—On the 1st June, Nos. 7 up mixed and 84 down goods trains collided at Amethi station, owing to the engine of the latter train fouling the crossing, due to the carelessness of the driver. Eight passengers and twelve railway servants were injured. The rolling-stock was damaged.

(x) On the 2nd June, No. 6 down passenger train collided with a pilot engine at Partabgarh station, owing to points having been incorrectly set. Five passengers and one railway servant were injured.

RESOLUTION.

With an increase of 678 miles, or 2·48 per cent. in the mean mileage worked, and of 4,324,000 miles, or 4·21 per cent., in the train-mileage run, the number of train accidents increased by 18. The total number of persons killed fell from 40 to 23, but those injured rose from 201 to 270.

ORDER.—Ordered that the above note, with the Abstract Return and Appendices thereto, be communicated for information to the Local Governments and Administrations, and to the officers noted in the margin.

The Governments of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Punjab, Burma and Eastern Bengal and Assam.
The Honourable the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces.
The Honourable the Chief Commissioner of Coorg.
The Honourable the Resident at Hyderabad.
The Honourable the Resident in Mysore.
The Honourable the Agents to the Governor General for Rajputana, Central India and Baluchistan.
The Honourable the Agent to the Governor General and Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province.
The Consulting Engineers to the Government of India for Railways, Calcutta and Lucknow.
The Managers, North Western, Oudh and Rohilkhand and Eastern Bengal State railways.
The Engineers-in-Chief, Ranaghat-Katihar-Godagiri and the Nagda-Muttra railways.

Ordered, also, that this resolution, with the Abstract Return, be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

No. 3444-I.B.—Whereas the Governor General in Council has, in certain cases, criminal jurisdiction within the Political States of Seraikela and Kharsawan in Chota Nagpur : In exercise of this jurisdiction and of the powers conferred by the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, and in supersession of the notifications of the Government of India in the Foreign Department, No. 640-I.B., dated the 8th March, 1899, No. 2690-I.B., dated the 16th September, 1899, and No. 301-I.B., dated the 22nd January, 1904, the Governor General in Council is pleased to issue the following orders with respect to such cases :

(1) The Deputy Commissioner of Singhbhum shall, subject to the general or special orders of the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur, exercise, when employed in respect of such cases occurring within the limits of either of the said States, the powers of a District Magistrate, as defined in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898).

He shall also exercise the powers of an Assistant Sessions Judge, as defined in the said Code, in respect of such cases occurring within the limits of either of the said States which the Commissioner, as Sessions Judge, may, by general or special order, make over to him for trial as such Assistant Sessions Judge:

Provided that no case shall be so made over for trial to the Deputy Commissioner in the capacity of Assistant Sessions Judge which he may, in the exercise of the powers of a District Magistrate, himself have committed to the Sessions.

(2) The Commissioner of Chota Nagpur for the time being shall, in respect of all such cases arising within the limits of either of the said States, exercise the powers of a Sessions Judge as described in the said Code. The powers of the Commissioner in respect of his original Sessions Jurisdiction under this clause may, subject to such rules as the Local Government may prescribe, be exercised by the Judicial Commissioner.

(3) The Government of Bengal shall exercise the powers of a High Court, as described in the said Code, in respect of all offences over which jurisdiction is exercised by the Commissioner or the Deputy Commissioner.

(4) In exercise of the jurisdiction of a Court of Sessions conferred on him by these orders, the Commissioner, and in exercise of the jurisdiction of an Assistant Sessions Judge in respect of any case which he is directed by the Commissioner to try, the Deputy Commissioner may take cognizance of any offence as a Court of Original Criminal Jurisdiction without the accused person being committed to him by a Magistrate, and shall, when so taking cognizance of any offence, follow the procedure laid down by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the trial of warrant cases by a Magistrate.

(5) A trial before the Commissioner as Sessions Judge or before the Deputy Commissioner as Assistant Sessions Judge in the exercise of the jurisdiction conferred by these orders may be without jury or the aid of assessors, and may, subject to the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, be held in such place as the Court may, in its discretion, fix for the purpose.

(6) The aforesaid British Officers in the exercise of any jurisdiction delegated to them within the Political States of Chota Nagpur, or in advising the Chiefs, are to be guided by the law of British India relating to offences and criminal procedure in so far as it is applicable and (in cases where Chiefs and their subjects are concerned) so far as it is not inconsistent with any local law or custom or any order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in force for the time being.

(7) These orders apply to all proceedings, except—

(a) proceedings against European British subjects, or persons charged jointly with European British subjects, and

(b) proceedings pending at the date of this notification, which should be carried on as if this notification had not been issued.

No. 3445-I.B.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 433, sub-section (4) of the Code of Civil Procedure, the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the following amendments shall be made in the notification of the Government of India in the Foreign Department, No. 1369-I., dated the 29th March, 1889, namely :

(1) In the list of Princes and Chiefs specified by their titular names with respect to whom the Government of Bengal and any of its Secretaries are authorised to exercise the functions assigned by sub-sections (1), (2) and (3) of section 433 of the Code of Civil Procedure to the Governor General in Council and a Secretary to the Government of India, respectively, the following entries shall be omitted, namely :

" The Deb Raja of Bhutan."

" His Highness the Maharaja of Sikkim."

" His Highness the Maharaja of Hill Tipperah."

" The Raja of Sirguja. Tributary Mehals, Chota Nagpur."

" The Raja of Jashpur, " " " " "

" The Raja of Korea, " " " " "

" The Raja of Udaipur, " " " " "

" The Chief of Chang Bakhr, " " " " "

(2) In the same list after the entries " The Raja of Bonai " and " The Raja of Gangpur," the words " Tributary Mehals, Chota Nagpur," shall be omitted.

(3) In the same list and before the entry "The Maharaja of Keunjhar," the following entries shall be inserted, namely :

" The Maharaja of Patna."

" The Raja of Bamra."

" The Raja of Karond or Kalahandi."

" The Raja of Rehrakhol."

" The Raja of Sonepur."

(4) In the list of Princes and Chiefs specified by their titular names with respect to whom the Administration of the Central Provinces and any of its Secretaries are authorised to exercise the functions assigned by sub-sections (1), (2) and (3) of section 433 of the Code of Civil Procedure to the Governor General in Council and a Secretary to the Government of India, respectively, the following entries shall be omitted, namely :

" The Maharaja of Patna."

" The Raja of Karond or Kalahandi."

" The Raja of Sonpur."

" The Raja of Bamra."

" The Raja of Rehrakhole."

(5) In the same list and before the entry "The Raja of Bastar" the following entries shall be inserted, namely:

"The Maharaja of Sirguja."

"The Raja of Jashpur."

"The Raja of Korea."

"The Raja of Udaipur."

"The Chief of Chang Bhakar."

(6) In the first column of the table the entry "Assam" shall be omitted, and in its place the entry "Eastern Bengal and Assam" shall be inserted.

(7) After the entry "His Highness the Maharaja of Manipur" with respect to whom the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam and any of its Secretaries are, by virtue of clause (6) of this Notification, authorised to exercise the functions assigned by sub-sections (1), (2) and (3) of section 433 of the Code of Civil Procedure to the Governor General in Council and a Secretary to the Government of India, respectively, the entry "His Highness the Raja of Hill Tippera" shall be added.

No. 3446-I.B.—In exercise of the powers conferred by the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, the Governor General in Council is pleased to appoint the Political Agent, Orissa Feudatory States, to be ex-officio an Assistant Superintendent of the Tributary Mahals, Orissa, and he shall exercise the powers conferred on such Superintendents by the notification of the Government of India in the Foreign Department, No. 3431-I., dated the 5th September, 1892, in the Tributary States of Gangpur and Bonai.

The notifications of the Government of India in the Foreign Department, Nos. 640-I B., 2690-I.B. and 301-I B., dated respectively the 8th March and 16th September, 1899, and 22nd January, 1904, so far as they relate to these States, are hereby cancelled.

No. 3447-I.B.—In exercise of the powers conferred by the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the Political Agent, Orissa Feudatory States, the Commissioner of Orissa and the Bengal Government shall exercise the powers hitherto enjoyed in regard to the Feudatory States of Patna, Sonepur, Kalahandi, Rehrakhol and Bamra by the Political Agent, Chhattisgarh Feudatories, the Commissioner of Chhattisgarh and the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, respectively, with respect to any matters not otherwise provided for in separate notifications. These orders apply to all proceedings except proceedings pending at the date of this notification, which should be carried on as if this notification had not been issued.

No. 3448-I.B.—In exercise of the powers conferred by the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the Commissioner, Chhattisgarh Division, and the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, shall exercise the powers hitherto enjoyed in regard to the Feudatory States of Sirguja, Jashpur, Udaipur, Korea and Chang Bhakar by the Commissioner, Chota Nagpur, and the Bengal Government, respectively, with respect to any matters not otherwise provided for in separate notifications. These orders apply to all proceedings except proceedings pending at the date of this notification, which should be carried on as if this notification had not been issued.

No 3449-I B.—Whereas the Governor General in Council has, in certain cases, criminal jurisdiction within the Feudatory States of Sirguja, Jashpur, Udaipur, Korea and Chang Bhakar: In exercise of this jurisdiction and of the powers conferred by the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, and in supersession of the notifications of the Government of India in the Foreign Department, No. 640-I.B., dated the 8th March, 1899, No 2690-I.B., dated the 16th September, 1899, and No. 301-I.B., dated the 22nd January, 1904, so far as they relate to these States the Governor General in Council is pleased to issue the following orders with respect to such cases:

(1) The Political Agent, Chhattisgarh Feudatories, shall, subject to the general or special orders of the Commissioner, Chhattisgarh, exercise, when employed in respect of such cases occurring within the limits of the said States, the powers of a District Magistrate, as defined in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898).

He shall also exercise the powers of an Additional Sessions Judge, as defined in the said Code, in respect of such cases occurring within the limits of any of the said States which the Commissioner as Sessions Judge may, by general or special order, make over to him for trial as such Additional Sessions Judge:

Provided that no case shall be so made over for trial to such Political Agent in the capacity of Additional Sessions Judge which he may, in the exercise of the powers of a District Magistrate himself have committed to the Sessions.

(2) The Commissioner, Chhattisgarh, for the time being shall, in respect of all such cases arising within the limits of any of the said States, exercise the powers of a Sessions Judge as described in the said Code.

(3) The Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, shall exercise the powers of a High Court as described in the said Code, in respect of all offences over which jurisdiction is exercised by the Commissioner or the Political Agent, Chhattisgarh Feudatories.

(4) In exercise of the jurisdiction of a Court of Sessions conferred on him by these orders, the Commissioner, and in exercise of the jurisdiction of an Additional Sessions Judge in respect of any case which he is directed by the Commissioner to try, the Political Agent may take cognizance of any offence as a Court of Original Criminal Jurisdiction without the accused person being committed to him by a Magistrate, and shall, when so taking cognizance of any offence, follow the procedure laid down by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the trial of warrant cases by a Magistrate.

(5) A trial before the Commissioner as Sessions Judge or before the Political Agent as Additional Sessions Judge in the exercise of the jurisdiction conferred by these orders may be without jury or the aid of assessors and may subject to the orders of the Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, be held in such place as the Court may, in its discretion, fix for the purpose.

(6) The Commissioner and the Political Agent in the exercise of any jurisdiction delegated to them in respect at the said States or in advising the Chiefs, are to be guided by the law of British India relating to offences and criminal procedure in so far as it is applicable and (in cases where Chiefs and their subjects are concerned) so far as it is not inconsistent with any local law or custom or any order of the Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, in force for the time being.

(7) These orders apply to all proceedings, except—

(a) proceedings against European British subjects or persons charged jointly with European British subjects, and

(b) proceedings pending at the date of this notification, which should be carried on as if this notification had not been issued.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs., on Thursday, the 16th August 1906, based on the India Daily Weather Reports of the period.

Pressure was unusually high at the head of the Bay during the week and the trough of low pressure remained close to the hills. Rainfall due to the Bombay current was accordingly concentrated chiefly in Chota Nagpur, Bihar, the United Provinces and the submontane Punjab. On the other hand, the Bay current gave widespread rain in the remainder of northeast India and scanty rain in Burma. Towards the close of the week a low pressure area appeared over the south of the Peninsula, and was followed by a large increase of precipitation in that area.

Burma.—Owing to the pressure distribution rainfall was very light and generally local on the coast, while in the interior it was limited every day to isolated falls. Skies were moderately overcast, and temperature was in excess during the period.

Northeast India and Orissa.—The high pressure at the head of the Bay was very beneficial for this division, and throughout the week widespread rain, varying from light to heavy, fell except in Chota Nagpur and Orissa: in these areas rain fell on several days, and was normal for this time of year in the former area, but lighter in the latter. Temperature was in slight defect and skies were generally completely overcast.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—In the United Provinces and the east of Central India precipitation for the first three days of the week was fairly general, but on the 13th it diminished rapidly and was confined to the submontane districts for the rest of the period. In the remaining area the break in the rains continued throughout the week and only occasional falls occurred. Skies were heavily overcast in the submontane districts, but elsewhere they were moderately overcast. Temperature was in defect in the United Provinces and normal or in excess in the other two areas.

Northwest India.—The monsoon extended freely into the submontane Punjab throughout the week, and rainfall was of daily occurrence, but it did not extend far beyond this area: at Lahore only a fall of a quarter of an inch occurred and in the southwestern districts weather was dry. On the 15th precipitation was also reported from the Frontier Province and parts of Kashmir. In Rajputana practically no rain fell except at Mount Abu, and in Gujarat it was very light. Skies were generally moderately to heavily overcast in the submontane Punjab, Rajputana and Central India, and elsewhere they were lightly overcast or clear. Temperature was in defect in the first area, and in the remainder of northwest India it was normal or in slight excess.

The Peninsula.—The monsoon was very weak except during the latter half of the period in south India. On the west coast and in the Bombay Deccan the total fall for the week was very small, but in the south of the Peninsula, excluding Malabar, rainfall has been widespread and plentiful during the last two days. In Hyderabad and the Madras Deccan all the stations except Aurangabad have reported over an inch of rain and more than the normal amount has fallen. Temperature was generally in defect in the southeastern districts and in excess elsewhere, while skies were moderately clouded.

The rainfall of the whole period from the 4th May to the 16th August has been practically normal or in excess everywhere except in Orissa, Chota Nagpur, the east of Central India, Rajputana, west Gujarat, Sind, the Frontier Province and the Punjab excluding the eastern districts. The defect is most marked in northwest India and amounts to 60 per cent. of the normal fall in the rainfall division of the North West Dry Area. The largest excess is that of 35 per cent. in the subdivision of Darbhanga.

The following list summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

August 10th. Thayetmyo 1·21″, Dibrugarh 2·88″, Darbhanga 3·03″, Ambala 1·43″, Rawalpindi 2·34″ and Ootacamund 1·79″.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 11th August 1906.

Burma.—The rainfall of the week was general and from light to moderate, but was mostly deficient in Lower Burma. Sowing of early wet-weather paddy is completed in Tavoy and reaping is completed in Kyaukse and the Southern Shan States. Sowing and transplanting of wet-weather paddy are progressing. Ploughing for and sowing of juar and beans have commenced and ploughing for millet is completed in Myingyan. Agricultural operations are retarded in Bassein owing to insufficient rain. Young plants are suffering for want of rain in the Pantanaw Township of Maubin and the Kyonpyaw township of Bassein. Sessamum plants have withered in some places in Myingyan from the same cause. More rain is also needed in Myaungmya, Lower Chindwin, Yamethin, and in parts of the Southern Shan States. The standing crops are on the whole doing well. The price of paddy is practically stationary, slight changes are reported for five districts only.

Eastern-Bengal and Assam.—Heavy rain has fallen in most districts and has retarded agricultural operations and damaged crops in low-lying areas in some districts. The weather is unfavourable for tea in Lakhimpur and Cachar, elsewhere tea prospects are generally fair. Harvesting of early rice and jute is in progress. Cultivation of late transplanted rice continues. The prospects of the crops are generally good in most of the Eastern-Bengal districts and Nowgong and fair in other districts. Prices of common rice:—Manipur 13; Kohima 11; Tezpur 9; Dibrugarh 8⅛; Comilla, Noakhali, Chittagong, Silchar, and Sibsagar 8; Gauhati, Faridpur 7½; Barisal 7¼; Jalpaiguri, Malda, Mymensingh, Dacca, Dhubri, Nowgong, Rampur Boalia, Pabna 7; Dinajpur 6 $\frac{9}{16}$; Shillong 6¼; Bogra, Aijal, Rangpur, Rangamati and Tura, 6; and Sylhet 5⅜ seers per rupee. Prices have risen in twelve; fallen in one; and remain stationary in the remaining districts.

Scarcity prevails in Mymensingh, Bakarganj, Noakhali and Faridpur. 662 persons are on gratuitous relief in Mymensingh. 1,049 men, 1,954 women, and 1,285 children are being gratuitously relieved and 1,039 men, 40 women, and 306 children are employed on test works in Bakarganj. 348 men and 53 children are employed on relief works and 4,131 persons on gratuitous relief in Noakhali. 1,553 persons received gratuitous relief in Faridpur. Individual cases of distress are reported from Dinajpur.

Bengal.—Rain was very heavy in the Patna Division and also in Darjeeling, Cooch Bihar and Purnea, and moderate in the rest of the Province, except Cuttack and Balasore where there was practically no rain. Considerable damage by floods to the autumn crops and young aman paddy is apprehended in Shahabad, Saran, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, and Darbhanga; while more rain is reported to be required for the transplantation and weeding of aman paddy in some of the districts of the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions and also in Cuttack and Balasore. Slight distress on account of high prices of food-grains is reported from Jessore. Prospects of aman paddy is good. Fodder and water are sufficient. The price of common rice has risen in fifteen and fallen in four districts; it continues to be high in most districts.

United Provinces.—Heavy rain continues and has interfered with the progress of agricultural operations in several districts. The standing crops have been somewhat damaged by rain and floods in Saharanpur, Moradabad, Aligarh, Kheri, Bahraich, Bara Banki, Fyzabad, Gonda, Basti, and Gorakhpur and by grasshoppers in Azamgarh and Jaunpur. Weeding continues; rice is being transplanted and fields prepared for spring cultivation. Cholera is still prevalent in Hamirpur. Fodder and supplies are generally sufficient. Prices of food-grains have fallen or are falling in twelve districts.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Rain continues in all districts, but a break is needed in Cawnpore, Hamirpur, Banda, and Jalaun where agricultural operations are hampered by continuous rain. The standing crops are in good condition and weeding continues. Cholera is still prevalent in Hamirpur and has broken out in a few villages in Jhansi also. Cattle are healthy and fodder-supplies are sufficient. Prices of food-grains are falling in Cawnpore, Jhansi, and Etawah. The numbers on relief are:—Allahabad Division:—workers 3,000; on gratuitous relief 93,000; Agra Division:—workers nil; on gratuitous relief 9,000; total 105,000.

Punjab.—Ambala reports excess of rain; Rohtak, Gurgaon, Jullundur, Rawalpindi, and the greater part of Hissar have received sufficient rainfall; the other reporting districts except Shahpur, Mianwali, Lyallpur and Multan have also received light to moderate rain. The monsoon is still in considerable defect over nearly the whole of the central and the south-western portion of the Province. The price of wheat is falling in Hissar, Gurgaon, and Rawalpindi and rising in Ferozepore, Lahore, Amritsar, Shahpur, and Lyallpur: there is slight fluctuation in the prices of other food-grains. Tobacco is still being harvested in Lahore. Sowings of autumn crops continue and are restricted to a certain extent in some districts for want of rain. Ploughings for the next spring crops are in progress in Gurgaon, Delhi, Amritsar and Shahpur. The condition of the standing crops is generally good to average, but poor on unirrigated lands in Ferozepore and Mianwali. The crops are withering for want of rain in parts of Shahpur. Crops have been slightly damaged by excessive rain in parts of Ambala and by river floods in parts of Lahore; while insects are reported to be causing damage to crops in Multan; locusts are also responsible for slight damage to the standing crops in parts of Shahpur and Multan. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of Hissar and Mianwali. There are no complaints regarding the water-supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—There was no rain during the week except 1·97 inches at Swabi. Rain is badly needed for the autumn crops. The condition of the standing crops on irrigated and unirrigated areas is average except in Mardan and Peshawar districts where it is below average. Harvest prospects and outturn of crops are fair. Locusts appeared in Bannu tahsil but passed on without doing any damage. Canal water is sufficient. Floods have occurred in the river Indus; the Kilapani supply is normal; there is some irrigation from hill torrents in Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of cattle is generally good but is poor in the Daman tract of Dera Ismail Khan. Stocks of food-grains are sufficient. Fodder is procurable. Prices are fluctuating. Prices—wheat $14\frac{1}{16}$ to 17; gram $15\frac{3}{4}$ to 19; bajra 12 to $13\frac{3}{4}$; maize $14\frac{1}{16}$ to $19\frac{1}{2}$ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was heavy rain during the week. Prices are stationary. Prices:—wheat 14 to 24 and maize 16 to 36 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—There was slight rain in different parts of the State. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—Rainfall:—Bikanir—slight rain in two districts, Marwar—26 to 46 cents in four districts, Sirohi 650, at Abu and Udaipur 45, Tonk 85, Bundi 24, Shahpura 65, Kotah 130, Jaipur 73, Kishangarh 45, Alwar 73, Karauli slight, Bharatpur 57, Dholpur 106, Ajmer-Merwara slight. The standing crops are being weeded and their condition is generally good but more rain is needed in Marwar, Shahpura, Bundi, Tonk, Jaipur, Kishangarh, Karauli, parts of Dholpur and Ajmer-Merwara. Slight damage from locusts is reported from parts of Shahpura, Jaipur, and Ajmer-Merwara. The condition of cattle is generally fair and pasturage is available. Prices have fallen in Tonk and Bharatpur and slightly in Shahpura, Bundi, Dholpur, and Merwara.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Ajmer—on works 481, on gratuitous relief 893, total 1,374; Merwara—on works 8,582, on gratuitous relief 6,597, total 15,179, total for district 16,553 or an increase of 2,921 due to the protracted break in the rains. Native States:—Marwar—on gratuitous relief 792; Tonk—on works 1,779, on gratuitous relief 674, total 2,453; Jaipur—on works 5,652, on gratuitous relief 275, total 5,927; Kishangarh—on works 1,047, on gratuitous relief 2,571, total 3,618; Alwar—on works 19, on gratuitous relief 1,011, total 1,030; Eastern States—on works 5,367, on gratuitous relief 2,433, total 7,800; total Native States 21,620. Relief works closed during the week in Bharatpur and both works and gratuitous relief in Mewar. Prices vary between 13 seers in Karauli and $15\frac{1}{2}$ seers per rupee in Alwar. Cholera is decreasing in Karauli but continues in Bharatpur and Dholpur States, in the latter there were 289 cases and 132 deaths; in Ajmer city there were 10 deaths.

Central India.—Rainfall general. Preparation of land for spring cultivation is in progress. The condition of the standing crops and estimate of probable outturn are good. Crops have been slightly damaged in parts of Indore. Pasturage is sufficient. Prices are high in Gwalior and Baghelkhand and falling in Bhopal and in parts of Malwa.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The numbers on relief are:—on works in Gwalior 5,000, in Bundelkhand 5,000, on gratuitous relief—Gwalior 3,000, Bundelkhand 3,000, total 16,000. Prices in Bundelkhand 12 to 10 seers per rupee.

Central Provinces.—The weather continues warm and cloudy. Local showers were received in all districts except Seoni, Hoshangabad, Betul, Chhindwara, Akola, and Amroati. The rainfall during the week was:—Raipur $3\frac{3}{4}$, Bilaspur $3\frac{1}{4}$, Balaghat 2, Bhandara $1\frac{1}{4}$, Wardha and Drug each 1 inch, the remaining districts received under 1 inch. A break in the rains has facilitated weeding, transplanting, and ploughing for spring cultivation throughout the Provinces. More rain is now required in Nimar, Wardha, Nagpur, Betul, Hoshangabad, and in Chhindwara tahsil and if delayed will cause damage to crops in Hoshangabad and Betul. The want of rain has stunted growth of crops in Akola where also the borer insect is causing damage in parts to juar. Minor crops in Damoh, and black til and kutki in Jubbulpore, and autumn crops generally in Melghat are still being sown. Sowing of juar in Wardha, Banda, and Akola, and of kodo and kutki in Balaghat is almost completed. Cotton lands damaged by heavy rain have been prepared for spring crops in parts of the Warora tahsil in Chanda; til, kodon, and arhar have been slightly spoilt by floods in the Bhilai circle of Drug tahsil; transplantation is well advanced in Balaghat but is retarded in places in Bhandara owing to insufficient rain; thinning still continues in Chhattisgarh. The standing crops are generally in good condition and prospects in Jubbulpore, Balaghat, and Raipur are excellent, elsewhere they are good including Bilaspur. Prices are stationary with slight fluctuations but juar is still unobtainable in Narsinghpur and Hoshangabad. Prices of staple grains still continue equal to the scarcity level in Wardha, Chanda, Balaghat, Drug and Bilaspur.

Bombay.—There was moderate rain during the week in Konkan, Kolhapur, Kathiawar, Mahi Kantha, and Rewa Kantha, and slight rain in Karachi, Gujarat, the Deccan, the Karnatak, Baroda, Palanpur, and Cutch. Inundation in Sind is generally satisfactory. Sowing of cotton is progressing except in Bijapur where it is retarded and of other crops is almost completed. Transplantation continues but is retarded in parts of Ahmedabad, Panch Mahals and Rewa Kantha for want of sufficient rain. The area sown is above the normal, in the Deccan and nearly normal in Hyderabad, Upper Sind Frontier, Gujarat, Konkan, Karnatak and Palanpur. The standing crops have been slightly damaged by locusts in parts of Larkana; by rats in parts of Karachi; and by insects in parts of Poona; they are suffering for want of sufficient rain in parts of the Deccan, the Karnatak, Kolhapur, and Rewa Kantha and are in good condition elsewhere. Cotton plants over a large area in Broach have been damaged by excessive rain and are being re-sown. The supply of drinking water is generally sufficient. Irrigation channels, tanks, and wells are fairly replenished. Agricultural stock continues deficient and cattle are improving slowly. Local fodder is still scarce and dear, but green grass is available for grazing almost everywhere. Stocks of grain with merchants are still sufficient and trade is active. The quantity of grain purchasable per rupee is in the Deccan 17 to 55 per cent; in the Karnatak 40 to 45 per cent; and elsewhere 10 to 30 per cent less than the normal. The numbers on test works on the last day of the week ending 4th instant were:—Phaltan 132, Miraj (Junior) 152, total 284. The condition of agricultural labourers is generally good and they get sufficient employment in fields. The public health is generally good. Cholera is still prevalent in parts of the Deccan, the Karnatak and Kolhapur. The numbers on relief are falling. The numbers are:—British districts—Deccan—on works 12,899, on gratuitous relief 28,589, total 41,488; Karnatak—on works 14,308, on gratuitous relief 14,510, total 28,818; Native States—on works 3,109, on gratuitous relief 2,241, total 5,350.

Hyderabad.—Rainfall—25 cents. The autumn crops are withering in two taluks of Nalgondah and three of the Karmnagar district; sowings have been suspended in two taluks in the Raichur district; elsewhere crops are in fair condition. Autumn and early rice sowings continue. Fodder scarcity exists in two taluks. Prices:—wheat 8¼; coarse rice 7½; and juar 15¾ seers per rupee.

Mysore.—There was good rain in Bangalore, Tumkur, Mysore, Hassan, and in parts of Kolar and slight rain elsewhere. Markets are well supplied. The prospects of the season are improving but more rain is needed in Mysore, Hassan and Kadur. Cattle are healthy except in parts of Tumkur. The water-supply is sufficient. Fodder is available except in parts of Tumkur.

Coorg.—Rainfall—49 cents. Transplanting of rice continues. Prices of food-grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall of the week was heavy in Salem, Trichinopoly, North Arcot, Nilgiris, and Vizagapatam littoral; good in South Arcot, South Canara, Kistna, Godavari, Vizagapatam Agency, Tanjore, Ganjam, Cuddapah, Madura, Guntur, Anantapur, Nellore, Chingleput, Madras, and Coimbatore; light in Bellary; and fair in Malabar, Kurnool and Tinnevelly. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of Ganjam, Kurnool, Bellary, Anantapur, South Arcot, North Arcot, Salem, Coimbatore, the Southern districts, and South Canara. Ploughing, manuring, weeding, sowing, and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair, but some in parts of Bellary, Coimbatore, Madura, and Tinnevelly require more rain. There are no harvests in parts of the Circars, Kurnool, Bellary, Nellore, Trichinopoly, Tinnevelly, Malabar, and South Canara; they continue in parts elsewhere with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of Salem, Coimbatore, and the Southern districts. Fodder is scanty in parts of the Circars, Bellary, Anantapur, and Tanjore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in fourteen districts; has fallen in four; and has slightly risen in five. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in seven districts; has fallen in ten; and has slightly risen in four. Cholam is stationary in two districts; has fallen in ten; and has slightly risen in two. Cumbu is stationary in eight districts; has fallen in five; and has slightly risen in two.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India, Home Department, of August 1901:—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette, and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No. 777—79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 P.M. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette."

J. P. HEWETT,
Secretary to the Government of India.

Applicable to maritime provinces.

FORMS.

DRAFT RULES UNDER SECTION 9 OF THE INDIAN PETROLEUM ACT, 1899- FOR THE IMPORTATION, POSSESSION AND TRANSPORT OF PETRO, LEUM IN THE NORTH-WEST FRONTIER PROVINCE.

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

Definitions.

1. In these rules,—

(a) "Part" means a Part of these rules;

(b) "Certificated petroleum" means petroleum certified to be non-dangerous petroleum by a certificate of such description as the Local Government may, from time to time, by written order, prescribe, granted at the port of shipment;

(c) "petroleum in bulk" means petroleum in quantities exceeding five hundred gallons, contained in any one receptacle;

(d) "installation" means a place specially prepared for the storage of petroleum;

(e) "major installation" means an installation—

(1) capable of containing an amount of oil, whether in bulk only or in combined bulk and non-bulk storage, exceeding fifty thousand gallons, or

(2) in which tin-making operations are carried on;

(f) "minor installation" means an installation—

(1) capable of containing an amount of oil, whether in bulk only or in combined bulk and non-bulk storage, not exceeding fifty thousand gallons, and

(2) in which no tin-making operations are carried on;

(g) "protected works" includes buildings in which persons dwell or assemble, docks, wharves, timber yards, other petroleum stores, and any other place which the Local Government may declare as such by notification;

(h) "testing officer" means the testing officer appointed by the Local Government under section 10 of the Act for any port at which petroleum may be imported under these rules;

(i) "motor-vehicle" includes a motor-bicycle, a motor-tricycle, a motor-boat and a motor-launch; and

(j) "owner," as applied to a motor-vehicle, includes a person who hires, or is otherwise entitled for the time being to use or work, a motor-vehicle.

Part II.

POSSESSION AND TRANSPORT OF PETROLEUM.

CHAPTER I.—POSSESSION OF PETROLEUM.

Smoking prohibited.

1. No smoking shall be permitted inside any installation.

Supervision of operations within installation.

2. All operations within any installation shall be conducted under the supervision of a responsible agent or supervisor.

Cleanliness of installation.

3. The ground in the interior of an installation shall be kept clean and free from goods of a combustible nature, vegetation and rubbish.

Supply of sand in installation.

4. A sufficient supply of sand shall always be kept in an installation for the purpose of extinguishing fire.

Enclosure walls and embankments.

5. All enclosure walls and embankments required to be constructed by or under these rules shall be certified as being sufficient to ensure safety by a Railway Engineer in the case of installations constructed on railway premises, and in the case of other installations by an Engineer accepted as qualified for this purpose by the Local Government.

Marking of capacity of tanks.

6. The capacity in gallons of every tank and storage shed or godown in an installation shall be conspicuously marked on it, and shall be calculated as follows:—

for tanks, at the rate of 6·25 gallons per cubic foot;
for sheds and godowns, at the rate of 10 gallons per cubic foot,

7. Every tank or other receptacle for the storage of petroleum in bulk, except a tank or receptacle which is not of sufficient capacity to contain ten thousand gallons of petroleum and which is so situated as not to be liable to cause danger in the event of the petroleum being ignited, shall be protected by an efficient lightning-conductor.

Protection from lightning.

Explanation.—A tank or receptacle shall be deemed to be so situated as not to be liable to cause danger in the event of the petroleum being ignited, if it is not in close proximity to any other tank or receptacle, or to any building and if it is surrounded by a wall, or moat, or combination of both, sufficient to prevent the flow of petroleum beyond certain circumscribed limits in the event of the escape of the whole contents of the tank when full.

8. Not less than once in every year the licensee of an installation shall test or cause to be tested the efficiency of the conductor in such manner as the authority granting the license may, by general or special order, declare to be sufficient, and a certificate showing the date of the last test shall be posted in a conspicuous place within the installation.

Testing of lightning-conductor by licensee.

9. Any officer appointed by a Local Government in this behalf may enter any installation for the purpose of testing the efficiency of the conductor, at any time after sunrise and before sunset.

Official testing of lightning-conductor.

10. No installation shall be open, and no work in any installation shall be permitted, between sunset and sunrise: provided that in cases where electric lighting is exclusively used, night working may be permitted by the Local Government on the recommendation of the Chief Inspector of Explosives.

Time for work in installations.

11. Where there are any pipes or openings for draining out water in any enclosure wall, arrangements shall be made whereby they can be closed, and they shall only be kept open when actually necessary for drainage purposes. The nature of such arrangements shall be shown in the specifications submitted with the application for a license.

Closure of pipes and openings.

12. All sheds or godowns in an installation for the storage of oil in tins, drums or cases shall be built of uninflammable material.

Material for sheds and godowns.

13. There shall be hung up in a conspicuous place in every installation for which a license has been granted, copies, in English and the vernacular, of the rules contained in this Part, and of the conditions endorsed on the license.

Posting up of rules and conditions.

CHAPTER II.—TRANSPORT OF PETROLEUM.

1. Petroleum in bulk shall not be carried by water except on a ship certified as suitable for the carriage of petroleum in bulk by an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, and the petroleum shall be stowed in such part of the ship and in such manner as may be approved, by general or special order, by the authority so appointed.

Conditions of carriage of petroleum in bulk by water.

2. Petroleum in bulk shall not be transported on any barge or flat which is not towed by a steamer.

Petroleum in bulk on barges or flats.

3. No ship shall carry petroleum in bulk which carries at the same time other inflammable cargo, or passengers.

Inflammable cargo, or passengers.

4. No steamer carrying any inflammable cargo, or having in tow at the same time any other ship carrying inflammable cargo, shall tow a barge carrying petroleum in bulk.

Towage of barge carrying petroleum.

5. When any ship has discharged petroleum in bulk, the oil compartments shall thereupon be thoroughly cleaned and freed from petroleum and petroleum vapour.

Cleaning of compartments.

6. The hatches of oil tanks in all ships licensed for the transport of petroleum in bulk, and the man-holes in the hatches, shall be kept closed (except in so far as it may be necessary to open them to take on board or discharge petroleum or to clean the tank) so long as there is oil in the tanks, and until the tanks have been thoroughly cleaned and freed from petroleum and petroleum vapour.

Hatches to be kept closed.

7. No petroleum shall be taken on board or discharged from any ship licensed for the transport of petroleum in bulk except through a suitable pipe prepared for the purpose.

Loading and discharge.

8. No fire, naked lights or smoking shall be allowed on board any flat or barge carrying petroleum in bulk.

Naked lights, fire, or smoking prohibited.

9. The person in charge of any flat or barge carrying petroleum in bulk shall, from sunrise to sunset, show at its stern a red flag, 18 inches long and 12 inches broad, having the words "Petroleum Boat" marked on it in black letters.

Flag to be carried.

10. No petroleum shall be loaded on or unloaded from any ship between sunset and sunrise, except when electric light is exclusively used.

Loading and unloading by night.

11. Petroleum may be transported within under cover of a license granted by the prescribed authority in any other province, provided that the conditions of such license are observed throughout the period during which the petroleum is in transit.

Validity of license granted in another province.

CHAPTER III.—GENERAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO LICENSES.

1. All applications for licenses for the possession or transport of petroleum shall be made to the District Magistrate.

Applications for licenses.

2. Licenses (a) for the possession or transport of dangerous petroleum in quantities not exceeding forty gallons, (b) for the possession or transport of petroleum, not being dangerous or crude petroleum nor petroleum in bulk, and (c) for the possession of petroleum, in bulk or otherwise, in a minor installation, may be granted by a District Magistrate or by such other authority as the Local Government may from time to time by order in writing appoint in this behalf. In all other cases the licensing authority shall be the Local Government.

Licensing authority.

3. The licensing authority may, for reasons to be communicated to the applicant, refuse a license in any case:

Refusal of License.

Provided that when a license is refused by any authority other than the Local Government, such refusal shall be reported to the Local Government.

4. Every license granted under these rules shall be liable to be forfeited for any contravention of the Act, or of any rule thereunder, or of any condition contained in such license, or for any other reason deemed by the licensing authority to be good and sufficient, and recorded by him in writing.

Forfeiture of license.

5. Every license and pass granted under these rules shall be held subject to the conditions endorsed on it, and shall contain all the particulars required to be entered on it by the form prescribed for it under these rules.

Particulars of license.

6. (1) Every application for the renewal of a license shall be made in the same manner as an application for an original license.

Renewal of licenses.

(2) Every such application shall be made at a date not less than fifteen days before the date on which the original license expires.

(3) The same fee shall be charged for the renewal of a license as for a new license.

7. When any license is granted for the possession or transport of petroleum, a copy of the rules contained in Chapter I of this Part in the case of a license for possession, and Chapter II of this Part in the case of a license for transport, printed in English and the vernacular, shall be given, together with the license, to the licensee.

Supply of rules to licensee.

CHAPTER IV.—LICENSES FOR THE POSSESSION OF PETROLEUM.

1. Save as provided in rule 10 of this Chapter, every license for the possession of petroleum shall remain in force until the 31st of December next following the date of issue of the license.

Continuance of license.

Petroleum not in bulk, other than dangerous petroleum.

2. Licenses for the possession of petroleum, not being dangerous petroleum, otherwise than in bulk, may be granted in Form A.

3. (1) The holder of a license in Form A may, at any time before the expiry of the license, apply for permission to transfer his license to another person.

Transfer of certain licenses.

(2) Such application shall be made to the District Magistrate, who shall, if he approves of the transfer, enter upon the license, under his signature, an endorsement to the effect that the license has been transferred to the person named.

(3) A fee of Rs. 5 shall be charged on each such application.

(4) The person to whom the license is so transferred shall enjoy the same powers and be subject to the same obligations under the license as the original holder.

4. Licenses for the possession of dangerous petroleum not in bulk in quantity exceeding forty gallons may be granted in Form B.

Dangerous petroleum not in bulk.

5. Licenses for the possession of dangerous petroleum in quantity not exceeding forty gallons may be granted in Form C.

Dangerous petroleum not in exceeding forty gallons.

ENDORSEMENT ON FORM B.

Conditions of License.

1. If the licensing officer call upon the holder of a license, by notice in writing, to execute any repairs of the licensed place, which may, in the opinion of such officer, be necessary for the safety of the place, the holder of the license shall execute the repairs within such period, not being less than one week from the date of receipt of the notice, as may be fixed by the notice.

2. The license-holder is prohibited from delivering any quantity of dangerous petroleum exceeding three gallons to any one who has not a license under section 5 or section 6 of Act, or any less quantity of such petroleum, except in accordance with the conditions of the proviso to section 6 of the Act, as to the vessels in which the petroleum must be contained.

3. The petroleum shall be stored in gas-tight tinned or galvanized sheet iron, steel or lead plate receptacles containing each not more than ten gallons and fitted with well-made filling holes and well-fitting screw plugs or fitted with screw cap with metal air-tight under-cap. Such receptacles shall be packed in strong wooden cases, the thickness of the wood to be not less than half an inch; provided that wood cases shall not be necessary when the receptacles are made of tinned or galvanized sheet iron or steel, and have the following thickness of metal:—

(1) When the capacity does not exceed two gallons, not less than . . 25 B. W. G.
(2) When the capacity exceeds two gallons but does not exceed four gallons 22 B. W. G.
(3) When the capacity exceeds four gallons . . . . 16 B. W. G.

4. An air-space of at least one-tenth of its capacity shall be left in each receptacle at the time of filling.

5. The receptacles shall be so substantially constructed and secured as not to be liable except, under circumstances of grave negligence or extraordinary accident, to be broken or become defective, leaky or insecure.

6. The receptacles shall be labelled in accordance with the provisions of section 7 of the Act.

7. Any receptacle, before being repaired, shall be cleared of all dangerous petroleum and of all dangerous vapours arising from the same.

8. The building shall be constructed of masonry or other uninflammable material with terraced, tiled or iron roofs and with tiled or paved or earthern floors.

9. Either the doorway's and other openings of the building shall be built up to such a height above the level of the road or street, or the floor sunk to such a depth below the level of the road or street, that the petroleum cannot flow out from the building in case of its escape from the receptacle in which it is contained, or the building itself shall be surrounded with a masonry wall or embankment or both sufficiently high to contain all the petroleum in case of its escape from the building.

A combination of these methods is permissible.

10. All ventilating openings in the building shall be protected by strong wire gauze.

11 No light, except a light of such strength, position and character as is not liable to ignite any inflammable vapour, or fire of any description, shall be permitted at any time within the installation,

12. All due precautions shall be taken for the prevention of unauthorised persons having access to any dangerous petroleum kept and to the vessels containing or having actually contained the same.

13. Every person managing or employed on or in connection with the place of storage shall abstain from any act whatever which tends to cause fire or explosion and which is not reasonably necessary, and shall prevent any other person from doing such act.

14. The drum or other receptacle containing dangerous petroleum shall only be opened on the licensed premises at or immediately adjoining the place of storage, and for the time necessary for drawing off the petroleum and during such drawing off every reasonable precaution shall be adopted for preventing the escape of dangerous petroleum or the vapour therefrom.

15. The following distances shall be kept clear from protected works round the place of storage:—

Quantity to be stored.	Distances to be kept clear when dangerous petroleum is stored in drums of not greater capacity than four gallons.	Distances to be kept clear when dangerous petroleum is stored in drums of capacity exceeding four gallons but not exceeding ten gallons.
	Feet.	Feet.
Not exceeding 1,000 gallons	25	30
From 1,000 to 5,000 "	40	50
" 5,000 to 10,000 "	60	70
" 10,000 to 15,000 "	90	100
" 15,000 to 20,000 "	130	150
" 20,000 to 30,000 "	180	200
" 30,000 and over "	200	200

16. Provided that when the quantity to be possessed does not exceed 60 gallons the provisions of conditions 8, 9 and 15 shall not apply, but the licensee shall observe the following conditions:—

(i) The store-house or building in which the dangerous petroleum is stored shall be well ventilated and constructed of uninflammable material, provided however that the doors and windows may be of wood.

(ii) Where a store-house forms part of or is attached to another building and when the intervening floor or partition is of an unsubstantial or inflammable character or has openings therein, the whole of such building shall be deemed to be the store-house and no portion of such store-house shall be used as a dwelling-house or as a place where persons assemble. The store-house shall have a separate entrance from the open air distinct from any building or dwelling in which persons assemble.

17. The store-house shall be liable to inspection by an officer authorized on this behalf.

ENDORSEMENT ON FORM D.

Conditions of License.

1. Each tank shall either be separately surrounded by a wall or embankment of substantial construction, or shall be partially sunk in an excavation. The inclosure thus formed shall be of dimensions sufficient to contain 10 per cent. more oil than the tank is capable of containing, and shall be so constructed as to prevent the escape therefrom of any oil in the form of liquid, whether under the action of fire or otherwise. The space enclosed by such wall or excavation, and not occupied by the tank, shall be kept entirely clear and unoccupied.

2. All sheds or godowns for the storage of oil in tins, drums or cases shall be surrounded by masonry walls or embankments, or a combination of both, so constructed as to prevent the overflow of any oil that may be stored at any time within such sheds or godowns in case of its escape from the tins, drums or cases in which it is stored. The enclosure thus formed shall be of dimensions sufficient to contain 10 per cent. more oil than such sheds or godowns are licensed to contain.

3. A distance of not less than one hundred feet shall be kept clear between one storage tank and another, and no tank shall be of greater height than thirty-two feet above ground level.

4. A distance of not less than one hundred and fifty feet shall be kept clear between sheds or godowns for the storage of oil otherwise than in bulk and tanks for bulk oil storage, the distance being measured between the nearest points of the perimeters of the tanks or storage buildings, as the case may be.

Proviso.—Provided that where a screen wall intervenes, the distance to be kept clear shall be not less than one hundred feet.

5. A distance of not less than one hundred and fifty feet shall be kept clear between any storage tank or building and any protected work.

Proviso.—Provided that where a screen wall intervenes, the distance to be kept clear shall be not less than one hundred feet.

6. No fire or lights, except those necessary for soldering purposes, shall be permitted within the installation.

ENDORSEMENT ON FORM E.

Conditions of License.

1. Every tank of which the capacity exceeds fifteen thousand gallons shall either be separately surrounded by a wall or embankment of substantial construction, or shall be sunk in an excavation. The enclosure thus formed shall be of dimensions sufficient to contain the total quantity of oil capable of being contained in the tank and shall be so constructed as to prevent the escape therefrom of any oil in the form of liquid, whether under the action of fire or otherwise. The space enclosed by such wall or excavation and not occupied by the tanks, shall be kept entirely clear and unoccupied.

2. The distance to be kept clear between a tank and the walls or embankments which surround it shall be, measuring from the ground level—

(a) for horizontal tanks, not less than one-third the height of the tank ;
(b) for perpendicular tanks, not less than one-half the height of the tank.

3. The height of walls or embankments surrounding the installation shall be not less than two feet six inches from the ground level.

4. The following distances shall be kept clear between buildings not forming part of the installation and the enclosure walls or embankments :—

Where the number of gallons stored is—	Distance to be kept clear.
5,000 and under	Not less than 15 feet.
Over 5,000 and up to 15,000	Ditto 20 „
Over 15,000 and up to 30,000	Ditto 30 „
Over 30,000 and up to 50,000	Ditto 40 „

Provided that these distances may be reduced by the Local Government on the recommendation of the Chief Inspector of Explosives in cases where screen walls are provided or other special precautions taken.

5. Not more than four hundred cases of oil in addition to tins and drums shall be stored at any one time in any godown or shed in which the storage of oil in tins or drums is permitted.

6. Soldering shall only be permitted in a separate room or building placed as far from the tanks as can be conveniently arranged, in which no storage or filling shall be permitted. No more tins shall be allowed in the soldering room at any one time than are necessary for expeditious working.

7. No fire or lights, except those necessary in the soldering room and watchman's house, shall be permitted.

8. If the installation contains tanks of which the capacity does not exceed fifteen thousand gallons, either—

(a) each tank shall be separately enclosed in the manner prescribed in condition 1, or

(b) the entire installation shall be surrounded by a masonry wall or embankment or a combination of these forming an enclosure of dimensions sufficient to contain, and prevent the overflow of, all the oil that may be stored at any one time within such walls or embankments.

IN THE COURT OF THE RESIDENT IN MYSORE.

RULE OF PRACTICE.

CRIMINAL SIDE.

Dated Bangalore, the 6th August 1906.

No. 8.—Under section 554 (2) (c) of the Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1898) as applied to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, the Resident hereby directs that the following rule be observed in the disposal of petitions of appeal from prisoners undergoing sentence in jail :—

No appeal forwarded from jail under section 420 of the Code shall be summarily rejected until seven days have elapsed after its receipt, and in forwarding such an appeal, the officer in charge of the jail should invariably certify that the appellant has been informed that, if he intends to appoint a pleader, an appearance must be put in within that time :

Provided that nothing in this rule shall oblige the Appellate Court to wait for the full period of seven days, if the appellant has appeared and been heard in person or by pleader within that period.

"By Order of the Court,"

N. S. TIRUMALAI AIYANGAR,
Registrar.

THE HONOURABLE THE RESIDENT IN MYSORE.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Bangalore, the 3rd August 1906.

No. 67.—The Honourable the Resident in Mysore is pleased to declare "cocaine" to be included in the definition of 'intoxicating drugs' contained in section 3, sub-section (i), clause (j) of the Excise Act, 1896 (XII of 1896), as applied to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore by the Notifications of the Government of India, Foreign Department, Nos. 2471 I. A., 2212 I. A., dated 29th May 1903 and 25th May 1906, respectively.

No 68.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 18, sub-section (2) of the Excise Act, 1896 (XII of 1896), as applied to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, and with reference to this office Notification No. 67, dated the 3rd August 1906, by which cocaine is declared to be an intoxicating drug for the purposes of the said Act, the Resident in Mysore is pleased to declare that the provisions of that section prohibiting the possession of cocaine shall not apply—

(i) to cocaine possessed in accordance with the conditions of his license by a person who is authorized by a license granted under the provisions of the said Act to sell cocaine ; or

(ii) to cocaine which has been purchased from a duly authorized vendor, for medicinal purposes, on the prescription of a person who has been registered under an European or American Medical Act, or who has received a medical diploma from an Indian University or College, and who practises medicine according to European methods, provided that the cocaine is in the possession of the person for whom it was prescribed or of a person authorized to purchase or to possess it on his behalf ; or

(iii) to cocaine required for the exercise of his profession in the possession of a person who has been registered under an European or American Medical Act, or who has received a medical diploma from an Indian University or College and who practises medicine according to European methods.

No. 69.—With reference to the Notification of the Resident in Mysore, No. 67, dated the 3rd August 1906, by which "cocaine" is declared to be an intoxicating drug for the purposes of the Excise Act, 1896 (XII of 1896), as applied to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, and in exercise of the powers conferred by section 65 of the said Act, the Honorable the Resident in Mysore is pleased to make the following amendments in, and additions to, the rules published under Notification No. 526, dated 5th February 1903.

In Rule 6, clause V, insert the words "except in the case of cocaine" after the words "two seers."

The following new rule shall be added as Rule 7 :—

"Licenses for the sale of cocaine for medicinal purposes may be issued by the Collector to pharmacists. Such license shall be in Form 12 and shall in all cases expire on the 31st day of March following the date of issue.

The fee payable for each license shall be R1 for each year or part thereof, and shall be paid at the time of issue of the license. No license shall authorize the possession by the Holder of more than three ounces of cocaine without the previous sanction of the Resident."

By Order,

PIERCE MOORE,
Offg. First Assistant Resident.

EXAMINATIONS.

The 20th August, 1906.

No. 576.—The following regulations respecting the examination of candidates for the Civil Service of India, to be held in August 1907, are published for general information :

[Copies of this paper may be obtained on application to the Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department.]

EXAMINATIONS FOR THE CIVIL SERVICE OF INDIA.

An open Competitive Examination for admission to the Civil Service of India will be held in London, under the subjoined Regulations, commencing on the 1st August, 1907.

The number of persons to be selected at this examination will be announced hereafter.

No person will be admitted to compete from whom the Secretary, Civil Service Commission, has not received on or before the 1st July, 1907, an application on the prescribed form, a copy of which is sent herewith. No question as to the delay or loss in the post of any such Application Form can be entertained. Candidates, who delay their applications until the last days, will do so at their own risk.

Acknowledgments of such Application Forms are sent, and any Candidate who has filled up and returned the printed Application Form but has not received an acknowledgment of it within four complete days should at once write to the Secretary, Civil Service Commission, Burlington Gardens, London, W. Failure to comply with this provision will deprive the Candidate of any claim to consideration.

The Order for admission to the Examination will be posted on the 18th July, 1907, to the address given on the Form of Application. It will contain instructions as to the time and place at which candidates will be required to attend and as to the manner in which the fee (£6) is to be paid.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION;

2nd July, 1906.

REGULATIONS.

 The following Regulations, made by the Secretary of State for India in Council, are liable to alteration from year to year.

1. An Examination for admission to the Civil Service of India, open to all qualified persons, will be held in London in August of each year. The date of the Examination and the number of appointments to be made for each Province will be announced beforehand by the Civil Service Commissioners.

2. No person will be deemed qualified who shall not satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners :

(i) That he is a natural-born subject of His Majesty.

(ii) That he had attained the age of twenty-two, and had not attained the age of twenty-four on the first day of August of the year in which the Examination is held.

[N.B.—In the case of Natives of India it will be necessary for a Candidate to obtain a certificate of age and nationality issued under Notification of the Government of India, No. 2252, dated 21st August, 1888, as amended by Notification No. 404, dated 19th May, 1898, and signed, should he be a resident in British India, by the Secretary to Government of the Province, or the Commissioner of the Division within which his family resides, or, should he reside in a Native State, by the highest Political Officer accredited to the State in which his family resides.]

(iii) That he has no disease, constitutional affection, or bodily infirmity, unfitting him, or likely to unfit him, for the Civil Service of India.

(iv) That he is of good moral character.

3. Should the evidence upon the above points be primâ facie satisfactory to the Civil Service Commissioners, the Candidate, on payment of the prescribed fee, will be admitted to the Examination. The Commissioners may, however, in their discretion, at any time prior to the grant of the Certificate of Qualification hereinafter referred to, institute such further inquiries as they may deem necessary; and if the result of such inquiries in the case of any Candidate should be unsatisfactory to them in any of the above respects he will be ineligible for admission to the Civil Service of India, and, if already selected, will be removed from the position of a Probationer.

(a) A Syllabus, defining the character of the Examination in the various subjects, may be obtained on application to the Secretary, Civil Service Commission, London, W.

Candidates are at liberty to name any of these branches of knowledge, with the proviso that the maximum number of marks that can be obtained from the subjects chosen is limited to 6,000 If this maximum is exceeded by a candidate's selection he will be required to indicate one of his subjects, the marks for which should, in his case, be reduced so as to bring his maximum marks within the prescribed limit. The marks so reduced will be subject to a correspondingly reduced deduction under Clause 6.

5. The merit of the persons examined will be estimated by marks (b); and the number set opposite to each branch in the preceding regulation denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it.

6. The marks assigned to Candidates in each branch will be subject to such deduction as the Civil Service Commissioners may deem necessary (c) in order to secure that no credit be allowed for merely superficial knowledge.

7. The Examination will be conducted on paper and vivâ voce as may be deemed necessary.

8. The marks obtained by each Candidate, in respect of each of the branches in which he shall have been examined, will be added up, and the names of the several Candidates who shall have obtained, after the deduction above mentioned, a greater aggregate number of marks than any of the remaining Candidates will be set forth in order of merit, and such Candidates shall be deemed to be Selected Candidates for the Civil Service of India, provided they appear to be in other respects duly qualified. Should any of the Selected Candidates become disqualified, the Secretary of State for India will determine whether the vacancy thus created shall be filled up or not. In the former case the Candidate next in order of merit, and in other respects duly qualified, shall be deemed to be a selected Candidate.

9. Selected Candidates, before proceeding to India, will be on probation for one year, at the end of which time they will be examined, with a view of testing their progress in the following subjects (d):

Compulsory—

	Marks
1. Indian Penal Code	400
2. Code of Criminal Procedure	200
3. The Indian Evidence Act	200
4. Indian History	400
* 5. The principal Vernacular Language of the Province to which the Candidate is assigned	400

Optional. [Not more than one of the following subjects.]

	Marks.
1. Hindu and Muhammadan Law	450
†2. Sanskrit	400
†3. Arabic	400
4. Persian	400
5. Chinese (for Candidates assigned to the Province of Burma only) ...	400

* The principal Vernacular Language prescribed for each Province to which Candidates are assigned is as follows:

For the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, the Punjab and the Central Provinces ...	Hindustani.
For Burma	Burmese.
For Bombay	Marathi.
For Madras	Tamil or Telugu	At the option of the Candidate.
For the Lower Provinces of Bengal ...	Hindustani or Bengali

In Hindustani the Candidate will be required to be acquainted with both the Persian and the Nagari character; and in the case of the last two Provinces mentioned above, a Candidate whose Vernacular Language is either of the languages shown against his Province, must offer the other for examination.

† These subjects may not be offered by any Candidate who has offered them at the Open Competition.

In this Examination, as in the Open Competition, the merit of the Candidates examined will be estimated by marks (which will be subject to deductions in the same way as the marks assigned at the Open Competition), and the number set opposite to each subject

(b) Considerable deductions will be made for bad handwriting.

(c) No deductions will be made under Clause 6 from the marks assigned to candidates in Mathematics or English Composition.

(d) Instructions, showing the extent of the examination, will be issued to Selected Candidates as soon as possible after the result of the Open Competition is declared.

denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it. The Examination will be conducted on paper and vivâ voce, as may be deemed necessary. This Examination will be held at the close of the year of probation, and will be called the "Final Examination."

If any Candidate is prevented by sickness or any other adequate cause from attending such examination, the Commissioners may, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State for India in Council, allow him to appear at the Final Examination to be held in the following year, or at a special examination.

10. The selected Candidates will also be tested during their probation as to their proficiency in Riding.

The examinations in riding will be held as follows :

(1) Shortly after the result of the Open Competitive Examination has been declared, or at such time or times as the Commissioners may appoint during the course of the probationary year.

(2) Again, at the time of the Final Examination. Candidates who may then fully satisfy the Commissioners of their ability to ride well and to perform journeys on horseback will be awarded from 100 to 200 marks, according to the degree of proficiency displayed, to be added to their marks in the Final Examination. Candidates who fail to obtain 100 marks, but are reported by the Civil Service Commissioners to have reached a minimum standard of proficiency in riding, and are certified by the said Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India, will, on their arrival in India, be subjected to such further tests in riding as may be prescribed by their Government, and shall receive no increase to their initial salary until they have passed such tests to the satisfaction of the Government.

A Candidate who fails at the end of the year of probation to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners that he has reached the minimum standard of proficiency in riding will be liable to have his name removed from the list of Selected Candidates.

11. The Selected Candidates who, on examination, shall be found to have a competent knowledge of the subjects specified in Regulation 9, and who shall have satisfied the Civil Service Commissioners of their eligibility in respect of nationality, age, health, character, conduct during the period of probation, and ability to ride, shall be certified by the said Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India, provided they shall comply with the regulations in force, at the time, for that Service.

12 Persons desirous to be admitted as Candidates must apply on Forms, which may be obtained from "The Secretary to the Civil Service Commissioners, London," at any time after the 1st December, in the year previous to that in which the Examination is to be held. No person will be admitted to the Examination from whom the Secretary to the Civil Service Commissioners has not received on or before the 1st July (or, if that date should fall upon a Sunday or public holiday, then, on or before the first day thereafter on which their office is open), in the year in which the Examination is to be held, an application, in the handwriting of the Candidate, on the prescribed form.

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorized by the Secretary of State for India in Council to make the following announcements:

(i.) Selected Candidates will be allotted to the various provinces upon a consideration of all the circumstances, including their own wishes; but the requirements of the Public Service will rank before every other consideration.

(ii.) An allowance amounting to £100 will be given to all Candidates who pass their probation at one of the Universities or Colleges which have been approved by the Secretary of State, viz., the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Dublin, Glasgow, Edinburgh, St Andrews, and Aberdeen: Victoria University, Manchester; University College, London; and King's College, London; provided such Candidates shall have passed the Final Examination to the satisfaction of the Civil Service Commissioners, and shall, in the opinion of the Secretary of State, have conducted themselves well and complied with such rules as may be laid down for the guidance of Selected Candidates. The whole probation must ordinarily be passed at the same Institution. Migration will not be permitted except for special reasons approved by the Secretary of State.

(iii.) The allowance of £100 will not be paid to any Selected Candidate until he has been certified by the Civil Service Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India; and every Certificated Candidate must, before receiving his allowance, give a written undertaking to refund the amount in the event of his failing to proceed to India.

(iv.) All Candidates obtaining Certificates will be also required to enter into covenants, by which amongst other things, they will bind themselves to make such payments as under the rules and regulations for the time being in force, they may be required to make towards their own pensions or for the pensions of their families. The stamps payable on these covenants amount to £1.

(v.) The seniority in the Civil Service of India of the Selected Candidates will be determined according to the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the combined marks of the Open Competitive and Final Examinations.

(vi.) Selected Candidates will be required to report their arrival in India within such period after the grant of their Certificate of Qualification as the Secretary of State may in each case direct.

(vii.) Candidates who fail to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners at the Final Examination held in any year will be definitely rejected, and will not be allowed to present themselves for re-examination, unless it shall appear to the Secretary of State in Council, after reference to the Civil Service Commissioners, that such failure is due to circumstances wholly exceptional and beyond the control of the Candidate.

N.B.—A Manual of Rules and Regulations applicable to members of the Covenanted Civil Service of India has been compiled by permission of the Government of India and may now be procured either from Messrs. A. Constable & Co., 16, James Street, Haymarket, S.W., or from Mr. E. A. Arnold, 37, Bedford Street, Covent Garden. Price 2*s*. 6*d*.

The Commissioners have been requested by the Secretary of State for India to draw the attention of Selected Candidates to the prefatory note attached to this manual, as it is considered important that it should be clearly understood that this compilation is not to be regarded in any other light than that of a collection, made for facility of reference, of certain information and rules, that it is by no means exhaustive, and that it is liable to such modifications as may from time to time be sanctioned by competent authority.

CIVIL SERVICE OF INDIA; CLERKSHIPS (CLASS I.) IN THE HOME CIVIL SERVICE; AND EASTERN CADETSHIPS.

SYLLABUS showing the extent of the examination in certain subjects for 1907.

English Composition.—An Essay to be written on one of several subjects specified by the Civil Service Commissioners on their Examination Paper.

English Language and Literature.—The Examination will be in two parts. In the one the candidates will be expected to show a general acquaintance with the course of English Literature, as represented (mainly) by the following writers in verse and prose, between the reign of Edward III. and the accession of Queen Victoria:

Verse—Chaucer, Langland, Spenser, Shakespeare, Milton, Dryden, Pope, Gray, Collins, Johnson, Goldsmith, Crabbe, Cowper, Campbell, Wordsworth, Scott, Byron, Coleridge, Shelley, Keats.

Prose—Bacon, Sir Thomas Browne, Milton, Cowley, Bunyan, Dryden, Swift, Defoe, Addison, Johnson, Burke, Scott, Macaulay (Essays and Biographies).

A minute knowledge of the works of these authors will not be looked for in this part of the Examination, which will, however, test how far the Candidates have studied the chief productions of the greatest English writers in themselves, and are acquainted with the leading characteristics of their thought and style, and with the place which each of them occupies in the history of English Literature. Candidates will also be expected to show that they have studied in these authors the history of the English Language in respect of its vocabulary, syntax, and prosody.

The other part of the Examination will relate to one of the periods named below, which will follow each other year by year in the order indicated.

1.	A.D. 1800 to A.D. 1832
(1907)	[Nineteenth Century writers to the death of Scott.]
2.	A.D. 1360 to A.D. 1600
(1908)	[Chaucer to Spenser.]
3.	A.D. 1600 to A.D. 1700
(1909)	[Shakespeare to Dryden.]
4.	A.D. 1700 to A.D. 1800
(1910)	[Pope to Cowper.]

The Examination in this part will require from Candidates a more minute acquaintance with the history of the English Language and Literature, as illustrated in the chief works produced in each period, and will be based to a considerable extent, but by no means exclusively, on certain books specified each year by the Commissioners.* The names placed under the dates are intended to suggest the general character of the literary development of the period, and, consequently, the natural limits of the Examination. All the works of Shakespeare, for example, will be regarded as falling within the period 1600 to 1700; all the works of Swift within the period 1700 to 1800; all the works of Scott and Wordsworth, and all the works of Macaulay within the period 1800 to 1832.

Italian Language and Literature.—Translation and Composition. Critical questions on the Italian Language and Literature. Conversation.

French Language and Literature.—Translation and Composition. Critical questions on the French Language and Literature. Conversation.

German Language and Literature.—Translation and Composition. Critical questions on the German Language and Literature. Conversation.

Latin Language and Literature.—Translation from Latin into English, Composition in Prose and Verse, or (as an alternative for Verse-Composition) an original Prose Composition in Latin. Critical questions on the Latin Language (including questions on Philology) and Literature.

Greek Language and Literature.—Translation from Greek into English, Composition in Prose and Verse, or (as an alternative for Verse-Composition) an original Prose Composition in Greek. Critical questions on the Greek Language (including questions on Philology) and Literature.

Sanskrit Language and Literature.—Translation from Sanskrit into English, and from English into Sanskrit. History of Sanskrit Literature (including knowledge of such Indian History as bears upon the subject); Sanskrit Grammar; Vedic Philology.

Arabic Language and Literature.—Translation as in Sanskrit; History of Arabic Literature (including knowledge of such Arabic History as bears upon the subject); Arabic Grammar; Arabic Prosody.

English Law.—Under the head of "English Law" are included the following subjects, viz.:—(1) Law of Contract; (2) Law of Evidence; (3) Law of the Constitution; (4) Criminal Law; (5) Law of Real Property; and of these five subjects Candidates are at liberty to offer any four, but not more than four.

English History.—The subject will include (a) the Political history of Great Britain, Ireland, and the Colonies, (b) the Constitutional History of the United Kingdom. Candidates should be acquainted with the following authorities:

PERIOD I.

Stubbs	Select Charters.

PERIOD II.

Prothero	Statutes and Constitutional Documents.
Gardiner	Documents of the Puritan Revolution.

All published by Clarendon Press, Oxford.

General Modern History.—Candidates may, at their choice, be examined in any one of the following periods:

1. From the accession of Charlemagne to the Third Crusade.
   [A.D. 800 to A.D. 1193.]
2. From the Third Crusade to the Diet of Worms.
   [A.D. 1193 to A.D. 1521.]
3. From the Diet of Worms to the death of Louis XIV.
   [A.D. 1521 to A.D. 1715.]
4. From the accession of Louis XV to the French Revolution of 1848.
   [A.D. 1715 to A.D. 1848.]

Periods 3 and 4 will include Indian History.

FORM TO BE FILLED UP BY CANDIDATES FOR EXAMINATION.

 The order for admission to the Examination will not be issued unless this Form, filled up by the Candidate himself, is received by the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission on or before the 1st July, 1907.

SIR,

I beg to inform you that I wish to be a Candidate at the Examination for the Civil Service of India, which is appointed to commence in London on the 1st of August, 1907.

Candidates not born within the British Dominions should state this fact in a separate letter.

I am a natural-born subject of His Majesty.

I hereby declare that I was born on the day of 18 , and that therefore I shall have attained the age of 22 years and shall not have attained the age of 24 years on the 1st of August, 1907; I also declare that I have no disease, constitutional affection, or bodily infirmity unfitting me, or likely to unfit me, for the Civil Service of India; and that I am of good moral character, and otherwise eligible under the Regulations; and I undertake that, if I am successful, I will conform, during my period of probation, to such rules respecting the conduct of Public Servants as have been laid down, or may hereafter be laid down, by the Secretary of State for India in Council.

Candidates who are not Natives of India should strike out this paragraph.

I send herewith a Certificate of age and nationality issued in accordance with the rule respecting Natives of India printed in paragraph III on the next page.

* If you have never been examined, insert here the word "never."
† If you have been examined, give the date, etc., of the last occasion.

I beg to inform you that I was *———— examined before the Civil Service Commissioners in the month of †———— in the year 1 ————, as a Candidate for the situation of————.

I am, SIR,

Your obedient Servant,

Name in full————

EVIDENCE OF AGE TO BE REQUIRED FROM CANDIDATES FOR THE CIVIL SERVICE OF INDIA.

I. Every Candidate born in the United Kingdom should be prepared to produce, when required, a Certificate from the Registrar-General of Births, Marriages, and Deaths, or from one of his provincial Officers. This Certificate may be obtained from the Registrar-General in London, Dublin or Edinburgh, or from the Superintendent Registrar of the District in which the birth took place.

II. A Candidate born of European parents in India should be prepared to produce, when required, a Certificate of Baptism from the district in which he was baptised. If this does not also mention the date of birth it should be accompanied by a statutory declaration by one of the Candidate's parents, stating the date and place of birth. When such certificates are not in the possession of the candidates an Extract from the Registers kept at the India Office will probably be obtainable.

III. A Candidate who is a Native of India must, on or before the 1st July, 1907, produce a certificate of age and nationality issued under Notification of the Government of India, No. 2252, dated 21st August, 1888, as amended by Notification No. 404, dated 19th May, 1898, and signed, should he be a resident in British India, by the Secretary to Government of the Province, or the Commissioner of the Division within which his family resides, or, should he reside in a Native State, by the highest Political Officer accredited to the State in which his family resides. No other Certificates will be accepted for this Competition.

To be filled up by the Candidate himself, and returned with the Form of Application.

NOTE.

If Open Competitive Examinations for the following Services, viz.:

Eastern Cadetships in the Colonial Service;

Clerkships (Class I.) in the Home Civil Service; should be held in 1907 concurrently with the Open Competitive Examination for the Civil Service of India, candidates duly eligible in respect of age will be admitted to compete for any two or all three of these Services, subject to the following conditions:

(1) They must enter and return to the Secretary, Civil Service Commission, within the time limited by the several regulations, an application on the form prescribed for each of the respective services.*

(2) Every successful candidate who may have been admitted to compete for either the India or the Colonial Service (or both), as well as for the Home Service, will be called upon to declare, immediately after the announcement of the result of the competitions, whether he prefers his name to remain on the list of candidates for the India or Colonial Service or on the list of candidates for Clerkships in the Home Civil Service.

The name of any candidate who fails to declare his choice when called upon to do so will be removed from the list of candidates for Clerkships in the Home Civil Service.

(3) Every successful candidate who may have been admitted to compete for both the India and Colonial Services will be called upon to declare, immediately after the announcement of the result of the competitions, whether he prefers his name to remain on the list of candidates for the Civil Service of India or on the list of candidates for Eastern Cadetships in the Colonial Service.

The name of any candidate who fails to declare his choice when called upon to do so will be removed from the list of candidates for Eastern Cadetships.

(4) All declarations of choice are irrevocable.

(5) Candidates for all three or any two of the above-mentioned services will be required to pay a consolidated fee of £6.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION,

2nd July, 1906.

* Candidates who may desire to enter the competitions for the Home and Colonial Services should apply about the beginning of February next to the Secretary, Civil Service Commission, London, W., for the prescribed forms of application.

GENERAL MATTERS.

Simla, the 20th August, 1906.

No. 6536—165.—In exercise of the powers conferred by the Indian Post Office Act, 1898 (VI of 1898), the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the following shall be added to the Explanation appended to Rule 64, of the Rules published with the Notification of the Government of India in the Finance and Commerce Department No. 1429-C S.R., dated the 30th March 1899, as amended by the like Notification No. 4082-S.R., dated the 6th July 1903, namely:

"In the case of the other documents specified the document must be sent in execution of a bonâ fide order to send the document itself.

TELEGRAPHS.

The 21st August, 1906.

No. 6575—131.—In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 7 of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885 (XIII of 1885), the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that, with effect from the 1st October 1906, the following rules shall be substituted for the rules bearing the same numbers, published with the Notification of the Government of India in the Public Works Department, No. 298 (Telegraphs), dated the 22nd September 1904, namely:

111. Addressed to more than one Telegraph Office.—A telegram addressed to several persons, or to the same person, in localities where delivery is to be effected by different offices is charged for as so many separate telegrams and shall be written on separate telegram forms. Telegrams addressed to stations which are local telegraph offices within the free delivery radius of the Central Office are, however, treated as laid down in Rule 110. Press telegrams addressed to more than one Telegraph Office, are invariably treated as in Rule 110. (See Rule 128.)

158. Plain Language is that which offers an intelligible sense in one or more of the languages authorised for international telegraphic correspondence. The following are the languages authorised for Foreign telegrams in Plain language subject to the conditions of Rule 168:

Annamite.	English.	Illyrian.	Portuguese.
Arabic.	Finnish.	Italian.	Roumanian.
Armenian.	Flemish.	Japanese.	Russian.
Bohemian.	French.	Latin.	Ruthenian.
Bulgarian.	German.	Malay.	Servian.
Croatian.	Greek.	Norwegian.	Siamese.
Danish.	Hebrew.	Persian.	Slavonic.
Dutch.	Hungarian.	Polish.	Spanish.

Swedish.

Turkish.

Telegrams from India to Ceylon and vice versâ may be in the vernacular languages of India or Ceylon, or in any of the above languages.

In Private telegrams in any language other than plain English or the Vernacular languages of India or Ceylon the Sender shall certify at the foot of the form (or at the back if more convenient) that the message does not contain combinations or alterations of words contrary to the usage of the language. (See Rule 221.)

163. Combinations which do not fulfil the conditions of Rules 161 and 162 are considered as belonging to Letter cipher language, Rule 164 (1), and charged accordingly. Compounds composed of two or more words in plain language, contrary to the usage of the language, are on no account admitted. (See also Rule 221, et seq.)

In Private telegrams worded in Code language, the Sender shall certify at the foot of the form (or at the back if more convenient) that the code words are not combinations of two or more words in plain language contrary to the usage of the language.

211. Plain language.—In telegrams of which the text is written entirely in Plain language, each single word, and each authorised combination of words is counted respectively for as many words as the number of times it contains 15 characters according to the Morse alphabet, plus one word for the excess, if any.

In Private telegrams in any language other than plain English or the Vernacular languages of India or Ceylon, the Sender shall certify at the foot of the form (or at the back if more convenient) that the message does not contain combinations or alterations of words contrary to the usage of the language. (See Rule 221.)

2. The branch will form an integral part of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

The 21st August, 1906.

No. 171.—Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel C. H. Cowie, R.E., Deputy Manager, North Western Railway, is promoted from class I, grade 2, to class I, grade 1, of the Superior Revenue Establishment of State Railways, with effect from the 24th May 1906.

Lieutenant-Colonel Cowie will continue to officiate as Manager, North Western Railway, as notified in Railway Board Notification No. 158, dated the 13th July 1906.

No. 172.—Mr. J. C. Mills, Deputy Manager, Eastern Bengal State Railway, is promoted from class I, grade 3, to class I, grade 2, of the Superior Revenue Establishment of State Railways, with effect from the 24th May 1906.

The 23rd August, 1906.

No. 173.—Messrs. William Pitt Freeman and Robert James Collett White, of the Subordinate Revenue Establishment of the North Western Railway, are appointed Assistant Traffic Superintendents (on probation) on that Railway, in class III, grade 3, of the Superior Revenue Establishment of State Railways.

No. 174.—The following is published for general information :

Circular No. R. T. $\frac{162 B.}{7}$, dated the 22nd August 1906.

RESOLUTION—By the Railway Board.

Amendments in rule 14, Chapter III, Part II, of the General Rules for working open lines of railway—Rules to regulate the packing and carriage by railway in India of certain compressed gases.

Read—

Section 47 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890).

Government of India, Public Works Department, notification No. 118, dated the 21st March 1895, and the Government of India, Public Works Department, circular No. 6 Railway, dated the 12th March 1895.

Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry, notification No. 801, dated the 21th March 1905.

Railway Board's circular No. R. T. 173, dated the 30th August 1905.

Railway Board's circular No. R. T. $\frac{262 A.}{6}$, dated the 12th March 1906.

Telegram from the Sirdar Carbonic Gas Company, Bombay, dated the 11th May 1906.

Letter from the Government of Bombay, Public Works Department, Railway Branch, No. 1567, dated the 28th May 1906, and its enclosure.

RESOLUTION.—It has been pointed out that in order to prevent a hard and brittle steel resulting, 99 per centum of iron should be present in the composition of cylinders used for the packing of the several gases enumerated in the enclosure to the Railway Board's circular No. R.T. 173, dated the 30th August 1905; that the proportion of carbonic acid gas per ℔ of water capacity must not, in the case of cylinders intended for the tropics, exceed ⅔rd ℔, and that compressed carbonic acid gas may be allowed, as an exception to the other compressed gases, to be carried under the more liberal rules for the conveyance of articles in Class A of Appendix A, Part II, of the open line General Rules. It has further been suggested that this substance may be allowed to be carried in the rear brake-van of passenger trains subject to a limit of two cylinders per van.

2. In exercise of the powers conferred by the notification of the Government of India in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 801, dated the 24th March 1905, read in the preamble above, the Railway Board sanction, under section 47, sub-section (4), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), as in force in British India, or as locally applied, the adoption by the administrations of the railways concerned, whether in British India, in foreign territory, or in Native States, to which the General Rules for working open lines of railway, promulgated with the Government of India, Public Works Department, circular No. 6 Railway, dated the 12th March 1895, apply, of the accompanying amendments in rule 14, Chapter III, Part II, of the General Rules referred to, as amended by the Railway Board's circulars Nos. R. T. 173 and R.T. $\frac{262\text{ A.}}{6}$, dated, respectively, the 30th August 1905 and 12th March 1906.

ORDER.—Ordered that this circular, with its enclosure, be published under a notification in Part I of the Gazette of India, as required by section 47, sub-section (3), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), and that a copy thereof be kept open for inspection at railway stations as directed by sub-section (6) of the same section; also that a copy of this circular and of its enclosure be communicated to the Governments, Administrations and Officers noted on the margin, for information.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs., on Thursday, the 23rd August 1906, based on the India Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The chief features in the weather during the week have been the changes in the pressure distribution. The relatively high pressure at the head of the Bay gradually disappeared, while at the same time pressure became in large excess along the base of the Himalayas and in defect in the south of the country. Owing to these changes the trough of low pressure moved away from the Himalayas and at the close of the week extended from the north Madras coast to Sind, thus allowing the Bay monsoon to extend up the Gangetic plain to the extreme north of the country. The changes have also been accompanied by a fresh advance of the monsoon and on the 23rd rainfall was not only widespread and locally heavy in the Peninsula, but had reappeared in Rajputana and Central India.

Burma.—The rainfall was very light during the first five days of the week, but after the disappearance of the high pressure at the head of the Bay precipitation increased and on the last two days it was widespread. Temperature was in excess and skies moderately overcast.

Northeast India and Orissa.—On the 17th and 18th precipitation was fairly general except in Orissa, but by next morning it had diminished considerably and during the remainder of the week about a half of the stations reported some rain each day. In Orissa only occasional falls occurred, and in southwest Bengal and Chota Nagpur the total fall was much less than usual. Temperature was in slight excess in southwest Bengal, Chota Nagpur and Orissa, but elsewhere it was in defect. Skies were moderately to heavily overcast.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—In the United Provinces the rainfall was very scanty and chiefly confined to the submontane districts: on the 23rd owing to the position of the trough of low pressure the Bay monsoon was extending freely up the Gangetic plain and gave local rain. The break in the rains in Central India came to an end on the 21st, and during the next two days rain fell at all the stations except Neemuch. In the Central Provinces monsoon rainfall reappeared at the beginning of the week and all of the stations have reported rain, the total fall being light in the east and normal in the other parts. Skies were moderately overcast and temperature was in considerable excess.

Northwest India.—On the first three days of the week weather was dry except in the northeast Punjab, but on the 20th rainfall extended over the greater part of the submontane Punjab: on the next two days, probably owing to a local disturbance, precipitation was fairly general, though light, in the extreme north. By this time the pressure distribution had become more favourable for Rajputana and Gujarat, and light rain was reported from a few stations; on the 23rd however it increased rapidly and was nearly general in the former area, while a third of the stations in Gujarat reported light rain. Skies were lightly overcast or clear in the greater part of northwest India and weather was much warmer than usual except in the submontane districts.

The Peninsula.—The monsoon was fairly active over the whole of the Peninsula and the total rainfall for the period was in large excess at every station with the exception of Tinnevelly. Skies were lightly to moderately overcast at the beginning of the week, but at the end they were heavily overcast. Temperature was in excess during the greater part of the period except in the southeastern districts, but by the 23rd it was generally in defect.

The rainfall of the whole period from the 4th May to the 23rd August was below the normal in Orissa, Chota Nagpur, the east of Central India, Rajputana, west Gujarat, Sind, Baluchistan, the Frontier Province and the Punjab with the exception of the hills and eastern districts: a defect of 59 per cent. is shown in the rainfall division of the North-West Dry Area. In all the other parts of the country precipitation has been either equal to or in excess of the normal, the largest excess being that of 45 per cent. in Mysore.

The following list summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

August 17th. Cherra Poonjee 6·33″, Silchar 2·82″, Mymensingh 4·71″, Ranchi 1·74″ and Malegaon 2·32″.

" 18th. Darbhanga 3·84″, Bijapur 3·55″, Raichur 2·52″, Madura 2·27″ and Trivandrum 2·24″.

" 19th. Dehra Dun 2·96″.

" 20th. Moulmein 2·87″, Dibrugarh 2·10″, Chakrata 3·24″, Simla 5·23″ and Ludhiana 0·95″.

" 21st. Chaibassa 1·72″, Benares 2·40″, Dera Ismail Khan 1·05″, Gulbarga 3·55″ and Salem 1·32″.

" 22nd. Minbu 0·81″, Khushab 0·80″, Peshawar 0·70″, Seoni 1·68″ and Hoshangabad 1·51″.

" 23rd. Mergui 4·05″, Allahabad 1·71″, Sambhar 0·88″, Kotah 0·95″, Mangalore 5·57″, Ahmednagar 3·80″, Belgaum 1·33″, Vizagapatam 1·96″ and Negapatam 2·52″.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 18th August 1906.

Burma.—There was rainfall throughout but it was scanty with little or none in the dry zone; the middle rains have been mostly short and crops are suffering in consequence in several places. Sowing for wet-weather paddy is completed in Akyab and transplanting has commenced in Tavoy and Meiktila. Sowing and transplanting are in progress in most districts but are much retarded in Bassein and in portions of the Southern Shan States. Reaping of early sesamum has commenced in Lower Chindwin and Myingyan. The standing crops are suffering from drought in the Ngaputaw township of Bassein, in portions of Amherst, in parts of the Kanbalu subdivision of Shwebo, in the Sagaing township of Sagaing and in Meiktila. More rain is also needed in the north of Myaunglebin township of Pegu, in Myaungmya, Mandalay, Lower Chindwin, Kyaukse, Yamethin, and Myingyan. Heavy floods are reported in the Yandoon township of Maubin owing to a breach in the embankment; paddy fields in low lands of Sagaing have been flooded by a rise in the Irrawaddy. In the Northern Shan States cultivation is restricted owing to scarcity of plough cattle. The condition of the crops is on whole fair. The price of paddy has risen very largely in Kyaukpyu and Henzada, considerably in Tavoy and Magwe, and slightly in six districts; it has fallen slightly in three districts; elsewhere it is stationary.

Eastern-Bengal and Assam.—Heavy rain has fallen generally. Floods have been abnormally high in most district retarding agricultural operations and damaging crops. The weather is unfavourable for tea in Cachar, elsewhere tea prospects are generally fair. Harvesting of early rice and cutting of jute are retarded in places by continuous rain and high floods. Cultivation of later transplanted rice continues. The prospects of the crops are uncertain in flooded areas and fair elsewhere. Prices of common rice:—Manipur 13; Kohima 10½; Tezpur and Dibrugarh 8; Malda and Chittagong 7¼; Patna, Barisal, Gauhati, Rampur Boalia, Faridpur and Sibsagar 7; Jalpaiguri, and Bogra 6½; Silchar 6 to 6½; Dacca, Comilla, Aijal, Dhubri, and Nowgong 6; Shillong 5¾; Rangpur and Mymensingh 5 $\frac{3}{16}$; and Sylhet and Tura 5 seers per rupee. Prices have risen in sixteen; fallen in two; and remain stationary in the remaining districts.

Scarcity prevails in Bakarganj, Mymensingh and Faridpur. In Bakarganj 117 men, 26 women, and 40 children are employed on test works and 206 men, 462 women, and 307 children are gratuitously relieved. In Mymensingh 531 and in Faridpur 592 persons are being gratuitously relieved.

Bengal.—Rain was again very heavy this week in Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Darjeeling, and Cooch Bihar; it was moderate to heavy in Birbhum, Bankura, and Jessore; in the rest of the Province the fall was generally light. Considerable damage to the young aman paddy and the autumn crops by excessive rain and floods is reported from Shahabad, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, and Darbhanga; in the last named district extensive floods are reported and serious injury to the autumn crops has been done. Slight damage is also reported from Jessore, Saran, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Purnea, and Cooch Bihar, while more rain is wanted for aman paddy in the Orissa Division and also in some of the districts of the Burdwan Division. Insect pests are reported from Howrah, Nadia, and Balasore. Prospects of aman paddy are otherwise good. Fodder is reported to be insufficient in Darbhanga and Champaran owing to floods. The price of common rice has risen in sixteen and fallen in four districts; it continues to be high in most districts.

United Provinces.—The rainfall was generally lighter; there was no rain in Agra, but the fall has been heavy in the eastern submontane districts. The crops have been seriously injured by floods in Bahraich, Gonda, and Gorakhpur and the abnormal rain in Garhwal is reported to have caused loss of life and considerable damage to land and property. The standing crops have also suffered slightly from floods, excessive rain, and insects in twelve other districts, but are generally doing well. Weeding is in progress and the transplanting of rice continues. Sawan (millet) is being reaped in a few districts. Cholera is abating in Hamirpur. Fodder and supplies are sufficient. Prices of food-grains have fallen in eight districts.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The rainfall of the week was lighter and local and there was no rain in Agra. The break has been beneficial but more rain is wanted in one tahsil of Jhansi. The crops are in good condition. Maize is being cut in Etawah and early autumn crops in Hamirpur are expected within 15 days. Weeding and preparation of fields for spring cultivation are in progress. Cholera continues in Jhansi and is abating in Hamirpur. Some effects of privation have been noticed among children in Jalaun where more are being given gratuitous relief. Fodder and supplies are sufficient. Prices have fallen in Hamirpur, Muttra, Agra and Etawah. The numbers on relief are:—Allahabad Division—workers 2,000, on gratuitous relief 101,000; Agra Division—workers nil, on gratuitous relief 9,000, total 112,000.

Punjab.—Good rainfall is reported from Ambala, parts of Sialkot, Jullundur and Rawalpindi; the other reporting districts, except Lyallpur and Multan, received light rain. The monsoon rains have so far failed in the central and south-western districts of the Province. The price of wheat is rising in Rohtak, Gurgaon, Lahore, Ferozepore, Amritsar, Sialkot and Lyallpur and falling in Delhi, Ambala, and Rawalpindi; there are slight fluctuations in the prices of other food-grains. Sowings of autumn crops continue in some districts. Ploughings for the next spring crops are in progress in Delhi, Sialkot, and Shahpur. The condition of the standing crops is generally good to average, but poor in Shahpur and in the unirrigated tracts of Ferozepore and Mianwali. Maize and cotton in low-lying lands in Ambala have been damaged slightly by excessive rains. Floods have also damaged the standing crops in parts of Jullundur and Lahore and insects are attacking cotton in Lyallpur and cotton and great-millet in parts of Multan. Agricultural stock are generally in good condition. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of Hissar. There are no complaints regarding the water-supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rain averaging ·09 to 1·93 fell all over the Province during the week and was beneficial to the standing crops. The condition of the standing crops on irrigated and unirrigated areas is satisfactory, except in Mardan where it is below average on unirrigated areas. Harvest prospects and the probable outturn of autumn crops are fair. Canal water is sufficient; the Kilapani supply is below average; floods have occurred in Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of cattle is generally good except in two villages of Dera Ismail Khan. Stocks of food-grains are sufficient. Fodder is procurable. Prices are fluctuating. Prices—wheat 14⅜ to 17; maize $14\frac{11}{16}$ to 18¼; gram 15⅝ to 19 and bajra 12 to 13¾ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Good rain during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Prices:—wheat 14 to 24 and maize 16 to 32 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient except in the Ramban tahsil.

Kashmir.—The weather was bright except on the last day of the week when it was rainy. Prices are almost stationary.

Rajputana.—Rainfall:—Kotah three districts 41 to 107 cents, hill tracts 40, slight rain in Partabgarh, Eastern Jaipur, Alwar and Bikaner. Rain is urgently required almost everywhere; prospects are unsatisfactory in Jaisalmer and crops on dry lands are withering in Marwar, Tonk, Jhalawar, Jaipur, Kishangarh, Karauli, Sirmuthra Jagir of Dholpur, and Ajmer-Merwara. Damage from locusts is reported from Tonk, Shahpura, Karauli, and Sirmuthra. The condition of cattle is fair and pasturage is generally available. Prices have fallen slightly in Mewar, Jaipur, Karauli, Bharatpur and Dholpur and risen slightly in Tonk.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Ajmer—on works 579, on gratuitous relief 812, total 1,391; Merwara—on works 9,336, on gratuitous relief 8,003, total 18,339; total for district 19,730. Merwara figures show an increase of 3,160 due to the long break in the rains which has renewed anxiety. Native States:—Marwar—on gratuitous relief 724; Tonk—on works 1,257, on gratuitous relief 351, total 1,608; Jaipur—on works 4,521, on gratuitous relief 202, total 4,723; Kishangarh—on works 24, on gratuitous relief 2,433, total 2,457; Alwar—on works 44, on gratuitous relief 842, total 886; Eastern States—on works 5,594, on gratuitous relief 2,122, total 7,716; total Native States 18,114. The numbers have increased slightly in Dholpur but have fallen elsewhere and in Karauli works under the Famine Code were closed on the 15th August. Prices vary between 13½ seers per rupee in Karauli and 15½ in Bharatpur. Cholera is prevalent in Tonk City and in parts of Bharatpur and Dholpur; in the latter State there were 249 cases and 110 deaths; there were also 12 cases and 10 deaths in Ajmer.

Central India.—Rainfall fairly general. Preparation of land for spring cultivation is in progress. The standing crops are in good condition, but jowar and maize are suffering from want of rain in one pargana of Indore. The probable outturn will be fair. Crops have been slightly damaged by excessive rain in some parts of Indore and are withering in parts of Malwa for want of rain. Pasturage is sufficient. Prices are high in Gwalior and Baghelkhand; are rising in Malwa; and are falling in Bhopawar.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows.—The numbers on relief are:—on works—Gwalior 2,000, on gratuitous relief 3,000, total 5,000; in Bundelkhand:—on works 4,000, on gratuitous relief 3,000, total 7,000, grand total 12,000. Prices in Bundelkhand 12⅜ seers per rupee.

Central Provinces.—The weather is warm and cloudy alternating with bright sunshine; during the week light to moderate rain fell in all districts except Raipur and Mandla ranging from 4¾ in Bhandara to ¼ inch in Narsinghpur. The break has proved beneficial in most districts except Nimar where crops on inferior soil are slightly damaged. More rain is needed in Saugor, Damoh, Narsinghpur, Jubbulpore, Raipur, Drug and Balaghat. Weeding, transplantation, and preparation of land for spring sowings continue in all districts; thinning is almost completed in Chhattisgarh. The area under autumn crops is reported to be larger than last year in Saugor, Damoh, Jubbulpore, Hoshangabad, Betul, Chhindwara, and Chanda. The condition of the standing crops is on the whole good; the area under rice in Nimar, Seoni, and Jubbulpore and under til in Jubbulpore is reported to have increased since last year; cotton area in Nimar is larger by 12 per cent. than last year but has shrunk in Wardha owing to excessive rain in favour of juar; kutki and til are still being sown in Narsinghpur but germination of later sowings is somewhat defective. The estimated outturn in Nagpur of cotton and juar is 90 and tur 105; in Nimar juar, tur, til, and cotton 105 and rice, kodon and kutki 70. Rice plants in Drug are said to be becoming yellow; slight damage to crops by insects is reported from Saugor, Narsinghpur, Nagpur, and Raipur where rain is now urgently required. Prospects so far are favourable. The price of wheat has slightly fallen in Damoh; in Buldana the prices of gram and rice have slightly risen and that of juar fallen, the prices of staple grains are elsewhere steady and are still equal to the scarcity level in Wardha, Chanda, Balaghat, Drug and Bilaspur.

Bombay.—There was beneficial rain during the week in Ahmednagar, the Karnatak and Kolhapur; moderate in other parts of the Deccan, Kanara, and Sawantwadi; and slight in Karachi, Thar and Parkar, Gujarat, the Konkan, Kathiawar, Mahi Kantha, Rewa Kantha, Baroda, Palanpur and Cutch. More rain is needed in several districts, especially for the rice crop. Inundation in Sind is generally satisfactory. Cotton sowing continues and transplantation is generally in progress. The area under cotton is generally above the normal and that under other crops above normal in the Deccan and generally nearly normal elsewhere. The standing crops are generally in good condition except for slight damage by rats, crabs, sea water, or duststorms in parts of Karachi; by overflow of river in parts of Sukkur; and by insects in parts of Poona. Drinking water is generally sufficient. Irrigation channels, tanks and wells are fairly replenished. Agricultural stock are not sufficient but is improving in condition as green grass becomes available for grazing. Stocks of grain in markets are adequate owing to active trade. Prices show a tendency to fall. The quantity of grain purchasable per rupee is in the Deccan 23 to 54 per cent; in the Karnatak 30 to 45 per cent; and elsewhere 10 to 30 per cent less than the normal. The numbers on test works on the last day of the week ending 11th instant were:—Phaltan 129, Miraj (Junior) 73, total 202. The demand for labour is increasing and field work provides sufficient employment. The public health is generally good but cholera is still prevalent in parts of the Deccan and the Karnatak. The numbers on relief are falling. The numbers are:—British districts—Deccan—on works 12,378, on gratuitous relief 28,981, total 41,359; Karnatak—on works 13,671, on gratuitous relief 14,279, total 27,950; Native States—on works 2,961, on gratuitous relief 2,130, total 5,091.

Hyderabad.—Rainfall—one inch 80 cents. Rain has fallen in most taluks and has proved generally beneficial. Autumn and early rice sowings continue; autumn crops are generally good except in parts of a few taluks and specially in Lingsagur where more rain is urgently required. Lands are being prepared for spring cultivation. Fodder scarcity exists in two taluks. Prices:—wheat 8¼; coarse rice 7¼; and juar 15½ seers per rupee.

Mysore.—Good rain throughout the Province. Prices of food-grains are steady. Markets are well supplied. The standing crops are in good condition and the prospects of the season are encouraging. Cattle are generally in fair condition. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall—3 inches 70 cents. Transplanting of rice continues. Prices of food-grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall of the week was heavy in Salem, Coimbatore, Nilgiris, Madura, and Trichinopoly; fair in Ganjam, Kurnool, Nellore, Kistna, and Madras; and good elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of Ganjam, the Deccan and Tinnevelly. Ploughing, manuring, weeding, sowing, and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair. There are no harvests in parts of the Circars, Kurnool, Bellary, Trichinopoly, Tinnevelly, Malabar, and South Canara; they continue in parts elsewhere with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of Tinnevelly. Fodder is scanty in parts of the Circars, Bellary, Anantapur, and Coimbatore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in thirteen districts; has fallen in seven; and has very slightly risen in three. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in eight districts; has fallen in nine; and has slightly risen in four. Cholam is stationary in three districts; has fallen in ten; and has very slightly risen in one. Cumbu is stationary in seven districts; has fallen in seven; and has slightly risen in one.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

LAND REVENUE.

Simla, the 21st August, 1906.

RESOLUTION.

In connection with the rules at present being drawn up in the various Provinces for the suspension and remission of land revenue in accordance with the general principles laid down in Resolution No. 3, dated the 25th March 1905, the Government of India have had under consideration the question of the treatment of the cesses levied in addition to the land revenue, when such suspension or remission is granted. The most important of these cesses is the local rate cess, the proceeds of which are credited to District Boards for expenditure on local purposes, and attention may in the first instance be confined to this cess.

2. As explained in the Resolution of the Government of India No. 26, dated the 3rd December 1895, this discussion does not apply to cases in which a revenue-payer is, under the revenue system of a Province, virtually entitled to a remission, but only to cases in which suspension or remission of the land revenue, due under the terms of settlement, is granted as a matter of grace under exceptional circumstances, to an amount which depends solely upon the pleasure of Government. The orders issued in that Resolution implied that as a general rule a suspension or remission of land revenue should carry with it a rateable suspension or remission of the cess leviable upon it, and required that where for special reasons it is considered undesirable or unnecessary to interrupt the collection of the cess, the reasons should be recorded as part of the order sanctioning the suspension or remission.

3. In modification of these general orders the Government of India, in correspondence with the Lieutenant-Governor of the United Provinces, admitted that the question is not so much one of principle as of administrative and financial convenience, and permitted the Local Government to issue orders allowing the collection of the cesses in full, even when the land revenue is suspended or remitted, so that the loss due to suspension and remission should fall on the land revenue alone. The main reasons which influenced the Government of India in granting this permission were that it made the accounts much simpler, and that if cesses were suspended and remitted in proportion to land revenue, the income of District Boards would be liable to great and sudden reduction, their financial arrangements would be dislocated, and the local administration seriously hampered.

4. The Government of India recognise the practical disadvantages of a strict adherence to the instructions conveyed in the Resolution of 1895, and are willing to relax their application so as to avoid any sudden and large diminution in the income of a District Board, due to suspensions and remissions given in seasons of drought, which would hamper its action at the very time when its arrangements should be as efficient as possible, in order to meet the temporary distress. Accordingly they will have no objection to the adoption by any Local Government of the system followed in the United Provinces, under which suspensions and remissions of land revenue do not carry with them proportionate suspensions and remissions of the local fund cess; so that all losses resulting from suspension and remission fall entirely on land revenue, and are thus shared between the Imperial and Provincial Governments. Under such a system, when collections are made of land revenue and local rate, the amount realised is first credited to the local rate demand ; and it is only after the local rate account has been cleared, that the remainder of the sum collected is credited to the land revenue head.

5. In coming to this decision in the interests of local administration, the Government of India have not overlooked its effect on the individual revenue-payer. So far as the amount to be realised from him is concerned, it is not of very great importance, and they consider that his interests will be sufficiently safeguarded if the Collector is directed to bear in mind, in deciding what proportion of the land-revenue should be suspended or remitted, that the order will not carry with it a suspension or remission of the local rate. When, however, an instalment of the land-revenue of any village has been entirely suspended or remitted, it will be advisable that, in order to save the revenue-payers from being harassed by petty demands in time of distress, the local rate demand for the time being should be suspended and be realised with the next instalment that is actually collected.

6. Where this system is adopted, it will have the effect of steadying the income of District Boards, except when, owing to widespread distress, the instalments due from a large number of rate-payers are suspended or remitted in full. In such exceptional cases, the Local Government might allow the District Board concerned to overdraw its balance at the Government Treasury to such an extent as may be considered necessary, on the understanding that the overdraft will be recouped when the suspended cess is realised.

7. These suggestions have been formulated more especially with reference to the local rate cess, but the Government of India will have no objection to the arrangements made in accordance with them being extended to any other cesses collected in proportion to the land-revenue and credited in the Treasury accounts.

GAZETTE OF INDIA.

NOTICE.

The 21st March 1906.

From the 7th April next till further notice, Parts I, IV, V, and VI of the Gazette of India and the Weather and Crop Report will be published at Simla. After the 31st March all Notifications and other matter intended for publication in those Parts should be addressed to the Officiating Publisher at Simla.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India, Home Department, of August 1901:—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette, and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No. 777—79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 P.M. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette."

J. P. HEWETT,
Secretary to the Government of India.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to applications for leave to file specifications and for registration of designs under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), or in continuation of such applications, should be addressed to the Patents Secretary, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

The Office of the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, will in future be open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Cheques and money orders will only be accepted if made payable at Calcutta to the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's Office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy, respectively. A consolidated index for the year 1905, entitled "Inventions and Designs in 1905," is also on sale, price one rupee. It contains a chronological list, subject-matter and name indexes of exclusive privileges for inventions, which have been obtained or applied for in that year, together with lists of designs applications.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October 1895 in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitors' room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified: or, if the 10th day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

The Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888), with the notifications and rules issued under its provisions and the notices of the office of Inventions and Designs, to which is added an explanatory memorandum for the guidance of persons applying for protection of Inventions and Designs. Royal 8vo. volumes, paper cover, 13 annas or 1*s.* 1*d.* Postage extra. To be had of the Superintendent, Government Printing, 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, or of the Superintendent, Patents Branch, Department of Commerce and Industry, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

H. G. GRAVES,

IMPORTATION OF PETROLEUM.

Applicable to maritime provinces.

FORMS.

DRAFT RULES UNDER SECTION 9 OF THE INDIAN PETROLEUM ACT, 1899- FOR THE IMPORTATION, POSSESSION AND TRANSPORT OF PETRO, LEUM IN THE NORTH-WEST FRONTIER PROVINCE.

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

Definitions.

1. In these rules,—

(a) "Part" means a Part of these rules;

(b) "Certificated petroleum" means petroleum certified to be non-dangerous petroleum by a certificate of such description as the Local Government may, from time to time, by written order, prescribe, granted at the port of shipment;

(c) "petroleum in bulk" means petroleum in quantities exceeding five hundred gallons, contained in any one receptacle;

(d) "installation" means a place specially prepared for the storage of petroleum;

(e) "major installation" means an installation—

(1) capable of containing an amount of oil, whether in bulk only or in combined bulk and non-bulk storage, exceeding fifty thousand gallons, or

(2) in which tin-making operations are carried on;

(f) "minor installation" means an installation—

(1) capable of containing an amount of oil, whether in bulk only or in combined bulk and non-bulk storage, not exceeding fifty thousand gallons, and

(2) in which no tin-making operations are carried on;

(g) "protected works" includes buildings in which persons dwell or assemble, docks, wharves, timber yards, other petroleum stores, and any other place which the Local Government may declare as such by notification;

(h) "testing officer" means the testing officer appointed by the Local Government under section 10 of the Act for any port at which petroleum may be imported under these rules;

(i) "motor-vehicle" includes a motor-bicycle, a motor-tricycle, a motor-boat and a motor-launch; and

(j) "owner," as applied to a motor-vehicle, includes a person who hires, or is otherwise entitled for the time being to use or work, a motor-vehicle.

Part II.

POSSESSION AND TRANSPORT OF PETROLEUM.

CHAPTER I.—POSSESSION OF PETROLEUM.

Smoking prohibited.

1. No smoking shall be permitted inside any installation.

Supervision of operations within installation.

2. All operations within any installation shall be conducted under the supervision of a responsible agent or supervisor.

Cleanliness of installation.

3. The ground in the interior of an installation shall be kept clean and free from goods of a combustible nature, vegetation and rubbish.

Supply of sand in installation.

4. A sufficient supply of sand shall always be kept in an installation for the purpose of extinguishing fire.

Enclosure walls and embankments.

5. All enclosure walls and embankments required to be constructed by or under these rules shall be certified as being sufficient to ensure safety by a Railway Engineer in the case of installations constructed on railway premises, and in the case of other installations by an Engineer accepted as qualified for this purpose by the Local Government.

Marking of capacity of tanks.

6. The capacity in gallons of every tank and storage shed or godown in an installation shall be conspicuously marked on it, and shall be calculated as follows:—

for tanks, at the rate of 6·25 gallons per cubic foot;
for sheds and godowns, at the rate of 10 gallons per cubic foot.

7. Every tank or other receptacle for the storage of petroleum in bulk, except a tank or receptacle which is not of sufficient capacity to contain ten thousand gallons of petroleum and which is so situated as not to be liable to cause danger in the event of the petroleum being ignited, shall be protected by an efficient lightning-conductor.

Protection from lightning.

Explanation.—A tank or receptacle shall be deemed to be so situated as not to be liable to cause danger in the event of the petroleum being ignited, if it is not in close proximity to any other tank or receptacle, or to any building and if it is surrounded by a wall, or moat, or combination of both, sufficient to prevent the flow of petroleum beyond certain circumscribed limits in the event of the escape of the whole contents of the tank when full.

8. Not less than once in every year the licensee of an installation shall test or cause to be tested the efficiency of the conductor in such manner as the authority granting the license may, by general or special order, declare to be sufficient, and a certificate showing the date of the last test shall be posted in a conspicuous place within the installation.

Testing of lightning-conductor by licensee.

9. Any officer appointed by a Local Government in this behalf may enter any installation for the purpose of testing the efficiency of the conductor, at any time after sunrise and before sunset.

Official testing of lightning-conductor.

10. No installation shall be open, and no work in any installation shall be permitted, between sunset and sunrise: provided that in cases where electric lighting is exclusively used, night working may be permitted by the Local Government on the recommendation of the Chief Inspector of Explosives.

Time for work in installations.

11. Where there are any pipes or openings for draining out water in any enclosure wall, arrangements shall be made whereby they can be closed, and they shall only be kept open when actually necessary for drainage purposes. The nature of such arrangements shall be shown in the specifications submitted with the application for a license.

Closure of pipes and openings.

12. All sheds or godowns in an installation for the storage of oil in tins, drums or cases shall be built of uninflammable material.

Material for sheds and godowns.

13. There shall be hung up in a conspicuous place in every installation for which a license has been granted, copies, in English and the vernacular, of the rules contained in this Part, and of the conditions endorsed on the license.

Posting up of rules and conditions.

CHAPTER II.—TRANSPORT OF PETROLEUM.

1. Petroleum in bulk shall not be carried by water except on a ship certified as suitable for the carriage of petroleum in bulk by an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, and the petroleum shall be stowed in such part of the ship and in such manner as may be approved, by general or special order, by the authority so appointed.

Conditions of carriage of petroleum in bulk by water.

2. Petroleum in bulk shall not be transported on any barge or flat which is not towed by a steamer.

Petroleum in bulk on barges or flats.

3. No ship shall carry petroleum in bulk which carries at the same time other inflammable cargo, or passengers.

Inflammable cargo, or passengers.

4. No steamer carrying any inflammable cargo, or having in tow at the same time any other ship carrying inflammable cargo, shall tow a barge carrying petroleum in bulk.

Towage of barge carrying petroleum.

5. When any ship has discharged petroleum in bulk, the oil compartments shall thereupon be thoroughly cleaned and freed from petroleum and petroleum vapour.

Cleaning of compartments.

6. The hatches of oil tanks in all ships licensed for the transport of petroleum in bulk, and the man-holes in the hatches, shall be kept closed (except in so far as it may be necessary to open them to take on board or discharge petroleum or to clean the tank) so long as there is oil in the tanks, and until the tanks have been thoroughly cleaned and freed from petroleum and petroleum vapour.

Hatches to be kept closed.

7. No petroleum shall be taken on board or discharged from any ship licensed for the transport of petroleum in bulk except through a suitable pipe prepared for the purpose.

Loading and discharge.

8. No fire, naked lights or smoking shall be allowed on board any flat or barge carrying petroleum in bulk,

Naked lights, fire, or smoking prohibited.

9. The person in charge of any flat or barge carrying petroleum in bulk shall, from sunrise to sunset, show at its stern a red flag, 18 inches long and 12 inches broad, having the words "Petroleum Boat" marked on it in black letters.

Flag to be carried.

10. No petroleum shall be loaded on or unloaded from any ship between sunset and sunrise, except when electric light is exclusively used.

Loading and unloading by night.

11. Petroleum may be transported within under cover of a license granted by the prescribed authority in any other province, provided that the conditions of such license are observed throughout the period during which the petroleum is in transit.

Validity of license granted in another province

CHAPTER III.—GENERAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO LICENSES.

1. All applications for licenses for the possession or transport of petroleum shall be made to the District Magistrate

Applications for licenses

2 Licenses (a) for the possession or transport of dangerous petroleum in quantities not exceeding forty gallons, (b) for the possession or transport of petroleum, not being dangerous or crude petroleum nor petroleum in bulk, and (c) for the possession of petroleum, in bulk or otherwise, in a minor installation, may be granted by a District Magistrate or by such other authority as the Local Government may from time to time by order in writing appoint in this behalf. In all other cases the licensing authority shall be the Local Government.

Licensing authority

3. The licensing authority may, for reasons to be communicated to the applicant, refuse a license in any case:

Refusal of License

Provided that when a license is refused by any authority other than the Local Government, such refusal shall be reported to the Local Government

4 Every license granted under these rules shall be liable to be forfeited for any contravention of the Act, or of any rule thereunder, or of any condition contained in such license, or for any other reason deemed by the licensing authority to be good and sufficient, and recorded by him in writing

5 Every license and pass granted under these rules shall be held subject to the conditions endorsed on it, and shall contain all the particulars required to be entered on it by the form prescribed for it under these rules.

Particulars of license

6. (1) Every application for the renewal of a license shall be made in the same manner as an application for an original license.

Renewal of licenses

(2) Every such application shall be made at a date not less than fifteen days before the date on which the original license expires.

(3) The same fee shall be charged for the renewal of a license as for a new license.

7. When any license is granted for the possession or transport of petroleum, a copy of the rules contained in Chapter I of this Part in the case of a license for possession, and Chapter II of this Part in the case of a license for transport, printed in English and the vernacular, shall be given, together with the license, to the licensee

CHAPTER IV.—LICENSES FOR THE POSSESSION OF PETROLEUM.

1. Save as provided in rule 10 of this Chapter, every license for the possession of petroleum shall remain in force until the 31st of December next following the date of issue of the license.

Continuance of license

2. Licenses for the possession of petroleum, not being dangerous petroleum, otherwise than in bulk, may be granted in Form A

Petroleum not in bulk, other than dangerous petroleum

3. (1) The holder of a license in Form A may, at any time before the expiry of the license, apply for permission to transfer his license to another person.

Transfer of certain licenses.

(2) Such application shall be made to the District Magistrate, who shall, if he approves of the transfer, enter upon the license, under his signature, an endorsement to the effect that the license has been transferred to the person named.

(3) A fee of Rs. 5 shall be charged on each such application.

(4) The person to whom the license is so transferred shall enjoy the same powers and be subject to the same obligations under the license as the original holder.

Dangerous petroleum not in bulk.

4. Licenses for the possession of dangerous petroleum not in bulk in quantity exceeding forty gallons may be granted in Form B.

Dangerous petroleum not in exceeding forty gallons.

5. Licenses for the possession of dangerous petroleum in quantity not exceeding forty gallons may be granted in Form C.

Storage in major installations.

6. Licenses for the possession of any stated quantity of petroleum in major installations in accordance with such specifications and plans as may be approved by the Local Government, on the recommendation of the Chief Inspector of Explosives, may be granted in Form D.

Storage in minor installations.

7. Licenses for the possession of any stated quantity of petroleum in minor installations in accordance with such specifications and plans as may be approved by the Local Government on the recommendation of the Chief Inspector of Explosives, may be granted in Form E.

Storage of crude petroleum in bulk.

8. Subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by the Local Government in each case, licenses in Form F may be granted to any person engaged in the extraction of petroleum from wells for the possession of any quantity of crude petroleum in any place of storage at or near such wells.

Dangerous petroleum for use on motor-vehicles.

9. (1) Licenses in Form G may be granted free of charge for the possession of dangerous petroleum for use on motor-vehicles and for its transport thereon, for the purpose of use therein.

(2) Save in the cases provided for by the conditions of the license, the provisions of the ordinary rules relating to the possession of dangerous petroleum shall regulate the possession of dangerous petroleum for use on motor-vehicles.

Storage by local authority.

10. Licenses for the possession of petroleum in an installation may be granted free of charge to any local authority, subject to such conditions and for such period, as the Local Government may direct.

CHAPTER V.—LICENSES FOR THE TRANSPORT OF PETROLEUM.

General licenses for the transport of non-dangerous petroleum.

1. General licenses for the transport of petroleum, other than dangerous petroleum, may be granted for a period of twelve months in Form H.

General licenses for the transport of dangerous petroleum.

2. General licenses for the transport of dangerous petroleum otherwise than in bulk may be granted for a period of twelve months in Form I.

Effect of general license.

3. Licenses granted under rules 1 and 2 of this Chapter may authorise the holders to transport petroleum without restriction as to destination or total quantity.

Pass for transport of petroleum.

4. The holder of a general license granted under rules 1 or 2 of this Chapter shall, with each consignment of petroleum conveyed under cover of his license, issue to the person who takes charge of the petroleum for the purpose of transporting it a numbered pass in Form J.

Special licenses for the transport of petroleum other than dangerous petroleum.

5. Special licenses may be granted for the transport of petroleum, other than dangerous petroleum, in quantities exceeding five hundred gallons, in Form K.

Special licenses for the transport of dangerous petroleum.

6. Special licenses may be granted for the transport of dangerous petroleum other than in bulk in Form L.

Effect of special license.

7. A special license granted under rules 5 and 6 shall only cover the transport of the particular consignment entered in the license.

Particulars to be given in applications for special licenses.

8. Applications for special licenses for the transport of petroleum by rail, by road, by steamer, or by barge, or by two or more of these modes of conveyance, shall specify the description and quantity of petroleum to be transported, and the places from and to which, respectively, the petroleum is to be conveyed, and shall describe the receptacles in which it is to be contained, or, in the case of petroleum to be transported in bulk by water, shall state that the ship in which it is to be carried has been certified as required by rule 1 of Chapter II of this Part.

Transport of dangerous petroleum by motorists otherwise than on a motor-vehicle.

9. Licenses in Form M to transport dangerous petroleum, otherwise than on a motor-vehicle, may be granted to owners of motor-vehicles holding licenses under rule 9, sub-rule (1), of Chapter IV of this Part, to possess petroleum and use or transport it on a motor-vehicle,

CHAPTER VI.—FEES.

Method of levying fees.

1. (1) Where the proceeds of fees leviable for licenses under these rules have been assigned by the Local Government to any local authority, the fees shall be levied in such manner as the local authority may from time to time direct.

(2) In all other cases the fees shall be levied by means of impressed stamps.

(3) An application for the grant or the renewal of a license shall bear the proper stamp, and, if it be refused, the value of the separate stamp (if any) which may have been already provided by the applicant for the desired license or renewed license, minus the deductions prescribed by section 54 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 (II of 1899), may be refunded to the applicant. An application should not be made on the stamped paper intended for the license or renewed license; but, where this has been wrongly done, the value of the stamp may be refunded minus—

(i) the value of the stamp which should have been affixed to the application, and

(ii) the deductions prescribed as aforesaid.

Fees for licenses for possession of petroleum.

2. The following fees shall be charged for licenses for the possession of petrolem namely :—

Non-dangerous petroleum.

	Rs.
(a) When the quantity to be stored exceeds five hundred but does not exceed one thousand gallons.	12
(b) When the quantity to be stored exceeds one thousand but does not exceed five thousand gallons.	12	for the first one thousand gallons plus Rs. 2 for every additional one thousand gallons or part thereof.
(c) When the quantity to be stored exceeds five thousand gallons, but does not exceed fifty thousand gallons.	20	for the first five thousand gallons plus Rs. 4 for every additional one thousand gallons or part thereof.
(d) When the quantity to be stored exceeds fifty thousand gallons.	250

Dangerous petroleum.

	Rs.

ENDORSEMENT ON FORM B.

Conditions of License.

1. If the licensing officer call upon the holder of a license, by notice in writing, to execute any repairs of the licensed place, which may, in the opinion of such officer, be necessary for the safety of the place, the holder of the license shall execute the repairs within such period, not being less than one week from the date of receipt of the notice, as may be fixed by the notice.

2. The license-holder is prohibited from delivering any quantity of dangerous petroleum exceeding three gallons to any one who has not a license under section 5 or section 6 of Act, or any less quantity of such petroleum, except in accordance with the conditions of the proviso to section 6 of the Act, as to the vessels in which the petroleum must be contained.

3. The petroleum shall be stored in gas-tight tinned or galvanized sheet iron, steel or lead plate receptacles containing each not more than ten gallons and fitted with well-made filling holes and well-fitting screw plugs or fitted with screw cap with metal air-tight under-cap. Such receptacles shall be packed in strong wooden cases, the thickness of the wood to be not less than half an inch, provided that wood cases shall not be necessary when the receptacles are made of tinned or galvanized sheet iron or steel, and have the following thickness of metal:—

(1) When the capacity does not exceed two gallons, not less than . . 25 B. W. G.
(2) When the capacity exceeds two gallons but does not exceed four gallons 22 B. W. G.
(3) When the capacity exceeds four gallons . . . . 16 B. W. G.

4. An air-space of at least one-tenth of its capacity shall be left in each receptacle at the time of filling.

5. The receptacles shall be so substantially constructed and secured as not to be liable except, under circumstances of grave negligence or extraordinary accident, to be broken or become defective, leaky or insecure.

6. The receptacles shall be labelled in accordance with the provisions of section 7 of the Act.

7. Any receptacle, before being repaired, shall be cleared of all dangerous petroleum and of all dangerous vapours arising from the same.

8. The building shall be constructed of masonry or other uninflammable material with terraced, tiled or iron roofs and with tiled or paved or earthern floors.

9. Either the doorway's and other openings of the building shall be built up to such a height above the level of the road or street, or the floor sunk to such a depth below the level of the road or street, that the petroleum cannot flow out from the building in case of its escape from the receptacle in which it is contained, or the building itself shall be surrounded with a masonry wall or embankment or both sufficiently high to contain all the petroleum in case of its escape from the building

10. All ventilating openings in the building shall be protected by strong wire gauze.

11. No light, except a light of such strength, position and character as is not liable to ignite any inflammable vapour, or fire of any description, shall be permitted at any time within the installation,

12. All due precautions shall be taken for the prevention of unauthorised persons having access to any dangerous petroleum kept and to the vessels containing or having actually contained the same.

13. Every person managing or employed on or in connection with the place of storage shall abstain from any act whatever which tends to cause fire or explosion and which is not reasonably necessary, and shall prevent any other person from doing such act.

14. The drum or other receptacle containing dangerous petroleum shall only be opened on the licensed premises at or immediately adjoining the place of storage, and for the time necessary for drawing off the petroleum and during such drawing off every reasonable precaution shall be adopted for preventing the escape of dangerous petroleum or the vapour therefrom.

15. The following distances shall be kept clear from protected works round the place of storage:—

Quantity to be stored.	Distances to be kept clear when dangerous petroleum is stored in drums of not greater capacity than four gallons.	Distances to be kept clear when dangerous petroleum is stored in drums of capacity exceeding four gallons but not exceeding ten gallons.
	Feet.	Feet.
Not exceeding 1,000 gallons . . .	25	30
From 1,000 to 5,000 „ . . .	40	50
„ 5,000 to 10,000 „ . . .	60	70
„ 10,000 to 15,000 „ . . .	90	100
„ 15,000 to 20,000 „ . . .	130	150
„ 20,000 to 30,000 „ . . .	180	200
„ 30,000 and over „ . . .	200	200

16. Provided that when the quantity to be possessed does not exceed 60 gallons the provisions of conditions 8, 9 and 15 shall not apply, but the licensee shall observe the following conditions :—

(i) The store-house or building in which the dangerous petroleum is stored shall be well ventilated and constructed of uninflammable material, provided however that the doors and windows may be of wood.

(ii) Where a store-house forms part of or is attached to another building and when the intervening floor or partition is of an unsubstantial or inflammable character or has openings therein, the whole of such building shall be deemed to be the store-house and no portion of such store-house shall be used as a dwelling-house or as a place where persons assemble. The store-house shall have a separate entrance from the open air distinct from any building or dwelling in which persons assemble

17 The store-house shall be liable to inspection by an officer authorized on this behalf.

ENDORSEMENT ON FORM D.

Conditions of License.

1. Each tank shall either be separately surrounded by a wall or embankment of substantial construction, or shall be partially sunk in an excavation. The inclosure thus formed shall be of dimensions sufficient to contain 10 per cent. more oil than the tank is capable of containing, and shall be so constructed as to prevent the escape therefrom of any oil in the form of liquid, whether under the action of fire or otherwise. The space enclosed by such wall or excavation, and not occupied by the tank, shall be kept entirely clear and unoccupied.

2. All sheds or godowns for the storage of oil in tins, drums or cases shall be surrounded by masonry walls or embankments, or a combination of both, so constructed as to prevent the overflow of any oil that may be stored at any time within such sheds or godowns in case of its escape from the tins, drums or cases in which it is stored. The enclosure thus formed shall be of dimensions sufficient to contain 10 per cent. more oil than such sheds or godowns are licensed to contain.

3. A distance of not less than one hundred feet shall be kept clear between one storage tank and another, and no tank shall be of greater height than thirty-two feet above ground level.

4. A distance of not less than one hundred and fifty feet shall be kept clear between sheds or godowns for the storage of oil otherwise than in bulk and tanks for bulk oil storage, the distance being measured between the nearest points of the perimeters of the tanks or storage buildings, as the case may be.

Proviso.—Provided that where a screen wall intervenes, the distance to be kept clear shall be not less than one hundred feet.

5. A distance of not less than one hundred and fifty feet shall be kept clear between any storage tank or building and any protected work.

Proviso.—Provided that where a screen wall intervenes, the distance to be kept clear shall be not less than one hundred feet.

6. No fire or lights, except those necessary for soldering purposes, shall be permitted within the installation.

ENDORSEMENT ON FORM E.

Conditions of License.

1. Every tank of which the capacity exceeds fifteen thousand gallons shall either be separately surrounded by a wall or embankment of substantial construction, or shall be sunk in an excavation. The enclosure thus formed shall be of dimensions sufficient to contain the total quantity of oil capable of being contained in the tank and shall be so constructed as to prevent the escape therefrom of any oil in the form of liquid, whether under the action of fire or otherwise. The space enclosed by such wall or excavation and not occupied by the tanks, shall be kept entirely clear and unoccupied.

2. The distance to be kept clear between a tank and the walls or embankments which surround it shall be, measuring from the ground level—

(a) for horizontal tanks, not less than one-third the height of the tank ;
(b) for perpendicular tanks, not less than one-half the height of the tank.

3. The height of walls or embankments surrounding the installation shall be not less than two feet six inches from the ground level.

4. The following distances shall be kept clear between buildings not forming part of the installation and the enclosure walls or embankments :—

Where the number of gallons stored is—	Distance to be kept clear.
5,000 and under	Not less than 15 feet.
Over 5,000 and up to 15,000	Ditto 20 „
Over 15,000 and up to 30,000	Ditto 30 „
Over 30,000 and up to 50,000	Ditto 40 „

Provided that these distances may be reduced by the Local Government on the recommendation of the Chief Inspector of Explosives in cases where screen walls are provided or other special precautions taken.

5. Not more than four hundred cases of oil in addition to tins and drums shall be stored at any one time in any godown or shed in which the storage of oil in tins or drums is permitted.

6. Soldering shall only be permitted in a separate room or building placed as far from the tanks as can be conveniently arranged, in which no storage or filling shall be permitted. No more tins shall be allowed in the soldering room at any one time than are necessary for expeditious working.

7. No fire or lights, except those necessary in the soldering room and watchman's house, shall be permitted.

8. If the installation contains tanks of which the capacity does not exceed fifteen thousand gallons, either—

(a) each tank shall be separately enclosed in the manner prescribed in condition 1, or

(b) the entire installation shall be surrounded by a masonry wall or embankment or a combination of these forming an enclosure of dimensions sufficient to contain, and prevent the overflow of, all the oil that may be stored at any one time within such walls or embankments.

ENDORSEMENT ON FORM G.

Conditions of the License.

1. The dangerous petroleum shall not be kept, used or transported except in gas-tight tinned or galvanized sheet iron, steel or lead plate drums or receptacles containing each not more than 4 gallons and fitted with well-made filling holes and well-fitting screw plugs or fitted with screw cap with metal air-tight under cap. Such drums or receptacles shall be packed in strong wooden cases, the thickness of the wood to be not less than half an inch: Provided that wood cases shall not be necessary when the drums or receptacles are made of tinned or galvanized sheet iron, or steel, and have the following thickness of metal:—

		Not less than
1	When the capacity does not exceed 2 gallons	25 B. W. G.
2	When the capacity exceeds 2 gallons	22 B. W. G.

2. The drums or receptacles shall be so substantially constructed and secured as not to be liable, except under circumstances of gross negligence or extraordinary accident, to be broken or become defective leaky or insecure.

3. Every such vessel, not forming part of a motor-vehicle, when used for transporting or keeping dangerous petroleum, shall bear the words "Dangerous Petroleum—Highly Inflammable" legibly and indelibly stamped or marked thereon, or on a metallic or enamelled label attached thereto.

4. An air-space of at least one-tenth of its capacity shall be left in each drum or receptacle at the time of filling to allow for expansion of the dangerous petroleum.

5. Before repairs are done to any such vessel, that vessel shall, as far as practicable, be cleaned by the removal of all dangerous petroleum and of all dangerous vapours derived from the same.

6. The store-house or building in which the dangerous petroleum is stored shall be well ventilated and constructed of uninflammable materials, provided, however, that the doors and windows may be of wood.

7. Where a store-house forms part of, or is attached to, another building, and when the intervening floor or partition is of an unsubstantial or inflammable character, or has an opening therein, the whole of such building shall be deemed to be the store-house, and no portion of such store-house shall be used as a dwelling or as a place where persons assemble. A store-house shall have a separate entrance from the open air distinct from that of any dwelling or building in which persons assemble.

8. The amount of dangerous petroleum to be kept in any one store-house, whether or not upon motor vehicles, shall not exceed sixty gallons at any one time.

9. The filling or replenishing of any vessels with dangerous petroleum shall not be carried on, nor shall the contents of any such vessel be exposed, in the presence of fire or artificial light, except a light of such construction, position and character as not to be liable to ignite any inflammable vapour, and no artificial light shall be brought within dangerous proximity of the place where any vessel containing dangerous petroleum is being kept.

10. In the case of all dangerous petroleum kept or transported for the purpose of, or in connection with any motor-vehicle, (a) all due precautions shall be taken for the prevention of accidents by fire or explosion and for the prevention of unauthorised persons having access to any dangerous petroleum kept or transported and to the vessels containing, or having actually contained, the same, and (b) every person managing or employed on or in connection with any motor vehicle shall abstain from every act whatever, which tends to cause fire or explosion, and which is not reasonably necessary, and shall prevent any other person from committing such act.

11. The store-house shall be liable to inspection by an officer authorised in this behalf.

ADMINISTRATION OF TREASURIES.

No. 4826-A.

Simla, the 24th August, 1906.

Letter from the Comptroller and Auditor General, No. 1074, dated the 26th July 1906, submitting a report on the Cash Balances and Resource Operations of Treasuries for the twelve months from April 1905 to March 1906.

Ordered that the letter and its annexures, be published in the Gazette of India.

No. 1074, dated Calcutta, the 26th July 1906.

From—The Comptroller and Auditor General,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Finance Department.

I have the honour to submit a report on the Cash Balances and Resource Operations of our Treasuries for the twelve months from April 1905 to March 1906.

Minimum Balances.

2. The following table gives the estimated Minimum Balances for all India for each month, from April 1906 to March 1907, and their distribution among the District Treasuries of the several Provinces and the Reserve Treasuries and Presidency Banks. The usual statements, marked A and B, showing the comparison of the estimated minimum balances for 1906-07 with the estimates of previous years, are appended. In the table the total balances at the Presidency towns have been shown as usual in a lump sum in a separate column:

5. The year opened with a balance 168 lakhs lower than in the previous year but ended with an increase of 155 lakhs. The revenue from Salt fell below that of last year by about 150 lakhs in consequence of reduction of duty. Council Bill payments in aid of the Home Treasury partly for ordinary requirements and partly for purchase of silver were about 680 lakhs more than in 1904-05, there was an increase of about 200 lakhs in Civil expenditure, of which about 140 lakhs occurred under Civil Departments, and the net receipts from the Public Works Department were less than those in the previous year by about 150 lakhs in consequence of heavier withdrawals for expenditure. The total deterioration from these sources amounted to about 11,80 lakhs. On the other hand, the rupee loan of the year was a crore more, the credits from silver exceeded those of last year by about 6,11 lakhs, there was no remittance of gold to England for purchase of silver as in last year (675 lakhs) and a transfer of 157 lakhs was made from Currency Department against opposite payment in England.

6. The comparatively low balance, as compared with last year, in the beginning of November caused considerable anxiety in regard to the payment of Council Bills. The demand for telegraphic transfers assumed large proportions from October, and the November and December allotments amounted to 487 and 464 lakhs, respectively, of which 92 and 240 lakhs respectively represented telegraphic transfers. Advantage was taken of these heavy demands to remit to England part of the profits on coinage standing at the credit of the Gold Reserve Fund and steps were taken to reduce District Treasuries to as low balances as were consistent with safety, but even then it was found necessary in December to ask the Secretary of State to transfer 75 lakhs from his Treasury to the Currency Chest in England to enable a corresponding transfer to be made from Currency to Treasury in India. The payment of bills and transfers combined rose in January to the unprecedentedly high figure of 711 lakhs, while in February it was as high as 648 lakhs. Revenue collections had by this time begun to come in, but the pressure on the Treasury balances was found to be too great to meet without extraneous aid. Arrangements were accordingly made with the Secretary of State to treat the silver purchased by him from his Treasury balances as part of the Currency Reserve as soon as it was shipped for coinage, the invoice value being immediately realised from Currency and credited in the Treasury in India. The expedient of remitting by means of drawings the profits on coinage was continued, and further help was procured from the Secretary of State in February to the extent of 82 lakhs by transfer through currency. The total remittances from the Gold Reserve Fund in these months amounted to 380 lakhs and the amount was invested as an asset of the Fund by the Secretary of State out of his Treasury balances. There was no material variation from last year in the balances maintained with the Head Offices of the Presidency Banks.

8. The demand for additional rupees during the year amounted to 14½ crores,—a record to which there was no approach in the last twelve years. To meet it silver of the value of about £8 millions was purchased by the Secretary of State and by the Government of India for immediate coinage into rupees, the whole of Ingot Reserve amounting to 300 lakhs of tolas was coined and a temporay loan of 70 lakhs of rupees taken from the Gwalior Durbar. This exceptional demand was due principally to unusual activity in the traffic in jute and cotton and was most severely felt in November and December. The rupee stock in these two months, in spite of high coinage at the Mints, fell below that of last year by about 2¼ crores and 4 crores, respectively, and it was not until February that some relaxation was felt. Rapid coinage was, however, maintained throughout the rest of the year.

Absorption of Coin—Gold.

9. The following table gives the usual monthly detail of the gold transactions at the treasuries during the year :

10. The stock of gold at the beginning of the year amounted to £10,949,600 inclusive of about £8,400 worth of bullion, while that at its end stood at only £4,045,100 of which about £13,000 consisted of bullion. This large deterioration in stock was due principally to the remittance of £7,000,000 to England and to a decline in imports. Of the remittance to England, £6,000,000 went to the Paper Currency Chest and £1,000,000 to Treasury through the medium of special transfers sold against gold issued in India. The amount of imported sovereigns received at the Currency offices during the year was about £3,300,000 against about £7,800,000 received last year. This decline was spread almost throughout the year, but was most marked in the last three months, during which a considerable amount of Australian sovereigns was diverted from India to England by the Secretary of State granting telegraphic transfers at par against them.

11. The total net treasury issue of £1,429,500* exceeded that of the previous year by about £409,500 and was distributed among the Provinces as shown below :

13. The figures in the last column of the above table give the variations in the local receipts or disbursements as compared with the preceding year. Column 8 gives the differences in the actual receipts from, or supplies to, other Provinces and the differences between the figures in columns 8 and 11 for each Province are accounted for by the variations in balances entered in columns 9 and 10. The figures in column 10 show that the most important variation between the closing and the opening cash balances of the year took place in the India Reserve balance.

14. As regards the local receipts or disbursements, the net excess receipts (+) or disbursements (—) in each Province as compared with the previous year and the heads under which they occur are exhibited in detail in the table below :

15. It will be seen from the above table that in the Treasury transactions Bombay was better off by 842 lakhs and India by 48 lakhs than in the preceding years, and that all the other Provinces were worse off in the aggregate by 572 lakhs. The betterness of 842 lakhs in Bombay was produced mainly by increased receipts of 277 lakhs from silver purchased for coinage without any actual remittance of gold in payment of its price which in the preceding year amounted to 675 lakhs. Other important variations were increased coinage profits (154 lakhs), and larger receipts from the rupee loan of the year (235 lakhs), the whole of that loan having been practically taken up by Bombay, counterbalanced by larger Council Bill payments (259 lakhs), and heavier Public Works issues (159 lakhs). In India the receipts from silver for coinage were greater by 334 lakhs and there was also an increase in the profit accruing therefrom, of 128 lakhs. The Reserve Treasury balance at Calcutta was further strengthened by 157 lakhs by transfer from Currency against opposite payment in England. On the other hand, larger payments of Secretary of State's Bills produced a worseness of 238 lakhs, the receipt from the rupee loan of the year fell off by 92 lakhs, and the payment to the Gold Reserve Fund was more by 260 lakhs. The worseness in the United Provinces was due principally to smaller Land Revenue collections owing to damage by frost and to increased Civil expenditure, while that in the Punjab was due to these causes as well as to larger Military issues on account of the Rawalpindi Manœuvres. Heavier Council Bill payments account principally for the falling-off in Madras. The special feature in Bengal was smaller receipt of Opium and Salt Revenue. Larger Public Works issues caused mainly the deficit in Burma.

16. Details of the inter-Provincial remittances shown in the table under paragraph 12 are given in statement C annexed to this Report. As compared with the previous year, there was an increase in the total amount of each kind of remittance except actual movement of specie and transfer of funds through the Presidency Banks. The decrease in specie remittances was due chiefly to less remittances of withdrawn coins and that under Bank Transfer to smaller remittances of trade balances between Presidency Towns.

17. The following are the principal variations in the remittances by means of Supply Bills in the two years:

(1) The receipts and payments in Foreign Supply Bills in Assam proper increased by 5¼ and 2¾ lakhs respectively. The former occurred entirely in the drawings of the Sylhet Treasury on Calcutta, while the latter occurred at Kamrup and Sibsagar due to the reduction of the rate of premium on Bills drawn from Calcutta on the Assam Valley Treasuries.

(2) Supply Bills to the extent of 5 and 3 lakhs were issued at Calcutta in favour of Messrs. Ralli Brothers on Muzuffernagar and Banda Treasuries respectively and Bills for 7 lakhs were issued from Calcutta in favour of the Bank of Bengal on Aligarh Treasury.

(3) Bills drawn by the Hill Treasuries in the United Provinces on the Punjab Treasuries fell off by about a lakh, but this was more than counterbalanced by increased bills drawn by them on India and Bombay Treasuries.

(4) There was a large increase of 42 and 18 lakhs in the demand for Bills at the Punjab Treasuries on Bombay and India Treasuries, respectively.

18. The following statement gives in lakhs of rupees the particulars of the more important Local and Foreign Remittances including Supply Bills:

20. The rupee remittances shown in column 3 of the above table were connected with the usual seasonal demands of coin in the various Provinces. To finance the rice trade, Rangoon was supplied with 310 lakhs during the last four months of the year. The United Provinces had to be supplied with 80 lakhs in April for opium demands and with 40 lakhs in November to meet the coin demands in connection with the autumn crop. Further remittances aggregating 140 lakhs were sent to these provinces in March in anticipation of the requirements in the next two months. Owing to slackness of the wheat trade, the demand for coin in the Punjab was less than that in the previous year. The remittances to this Province during the wheat season amounted to 231 lakhs, and 40 lakhs were supplied in December for demand in connection with spring harvests. There was a very heavy demand for coin in Calcutta during the jute season, and to meet this, remittances aggregating over 8 crores were brought down from Allahabad, Lahore, Bombay, Madras, Rangoon and the Central Provinces in the four months from August to November. To replenish the coin balance in Bombay, 90 lakhs were sent back from Calcutta in December and January and 20 lakhs were remitted from Madras in February. Karachi had to be supplied with 116 lakhs from time to time to finance the export trade from that port. Madras was supplied with 25 lakhs from Calcutta in December and with 30 from Bombay in March. The remittance of gold from Calcutta to Bombay was made in four instalments from July to February in connection with shipments to England for the currency chest established in London. The other gold remittances were sent to supply local demand for sovereigns.

22. The following points in the Resource operations of each Province may be specially noticed.

23. In India, the net amount transferred from the Reserve Treasury to the Bank of Bengal was 715 lakhs more than in the previous year, the increased help being required chiefly to meet larger Council Bill payments especially during the latter half on the year. The surplus accumulations at Ajmer and Sambhar amounted to 182 lakhs, of which 170 were withdrawn to Calcutta through the Currency Department, 9 lakhs in specie were supplied to Indore and 3 lakhs were sent to other Provinces. The Sambhar surplus consisted, as usual, almost entirely of currency notes, and 10 lakhs of specie had to be supplied to the Treasury from Ajmer and 5 lakhs from Bombay. The requirements of the Indore Treasury necessitated a remittance of 12 lakhs in specie and 22 lakhs in notes. 62 lakhs were transferred in aid of the treasury balances from the Currency Chests at Quetta and its sub-treasuries against opposite payments at Calcutta, and to admit of this transfer, the chests themselves were replenished with 57 lakhs in notes and coin from Karachi and 10 lakhs in specie from Ajmer. The Political treasury at Hyderabad required help to the extent of 26 lakhs, of which 6 was given through the agency of the Bank of Bengal and 20 remitted in coin and notes from Bombay and other places.

24. In the Central Provinces and Berar, the district surplus withdrawn to central treasuries amounted to 92 lakhs. Of this, 58 lakhs represented the surplus of the outlying Berar treasuries withdrawn to Akola and Amraoti for transfer to Bombay through the agency of the Bank of Bombay.

25. In Burma the amount of treasury surplus withdrawn to Rangoon increased by 15 lakhs, but this increase was more than counterbalanced by an increase of 21 lakhs in the supplies sent from Rangoon to District Treasuries. The sale of Supply Bills by the Mandalay Treasury on Rangoon dropped from 42 lakhs in 1904-05 to 29 lakhs in the year under report. This reduction was not expected as the premium charged on these Bills had been reduced last year from 3 to 2½ annas per cent. The net remittance in whole rupees from the several Currency Chests to the Rangoon Currency Office was 7 lakhs against 18 in 1904-05, and the withdrawals by means of telegraphic transfers on the Bassein and Henzada Currency Chests were about the same as in the previous year.

26. In East Bengal and Assam there was a remittance of 19 lakhs of surplus whole rupees during the year from muffasil Currency Chests to Dacca which were made over to the Bank of Bengal against opposite payments at Calcutta. The Dacca Branch of the Bank of Bengal was also authorised to issue Post Bills payable at Dacca.

27. In Bengal, the remittances to the opium-paying treasuries amounted to 91 lakhs, the same as in the previous year. Remittances to the deficit treasuries of Darjeeling and Manbhum were less than those of the previous year by 33 lakhs in consequence of smaller expenditure in connection with the Sikkim Tibet Mission and of a diminution in the demands of the Bengal Nagpur Railway respectively. The transfer of the jute districts to the new Province with effect from 16th October 1905 also necessitated smaller supplies to trade centres.

28. In the United Provinces, there was an increase of 96 lakhs in the local remittances made through the Currency Department. This increase was due to a freer use of currency chests having been made for the concentration of treasury surpluses and the supply of help to deficit treasuries. The movement of silver, currency and treasury combined was greater than that of last year in consequence of larger remittances sent to Calcutta and to a falling off in revenue. The remittances of sovereigns increased by 7 lakhs, owing to a further growth in the public demand.

29. In the Punjab, the movement of funds within the Province increased by 149 lakhs, of which 108 lakhs occurred under remittances made through the Currency Department. The remittances made in coin showed an increase of 36 lakhs, chiefly in consequence of large sums of money having been remitted to the Kangra District to meet the expenditure in connection with earthquake reliefs. There was also an increase of 21 lakhs in remittances by means of Remittance Transfer Receipts, but this was to a certain extent counterbalanced by a decrease of 13 lakhs in note remittances.

30. In Madras, the portion of the district surplus withdrawn to Madras was more than that of the previous year by 28 lakhs, while the net amount remitted to other Provinces from the district treasuries also rose by 3 lakhs. There was an increase of 27 lakhs in the amount of surplus funds taken over by the Bank of Madras for its Branches Besides this, the Indo-China Bank at Pondicherry was supplied with whole rupees to the extent of 52 lakhs from the South Arcot Treasury. The amount of Supply Bills sold at Madras on muffasil treasuries fell by 7 lakhs.

31. In Bombay, the amount remitted from the Reserve Treasury to the Presidency Bank was 1,33 lakhs more than in the previous year, owing to an increase in Council Bill payments. The supplies from Bombay to district treasuries also increased by 1,24 lakhs. This excess was due to larger transfers to Sind and other traasuries to meet heavy payments of Local and Foreign Supply Bills and also payments on account of famine relief works in the Deccan treasuries. On the other hand, there was a decrease of 1,27 lakhs in the amount of the district surplus withdrawn to head quarters. The Bank of Bombay took over 61 lakhs of district funds by equivalent payment at Bombay against 1.04 lakhs so taken in the preceding year. There was not much variation from last year in the transactions in local Supply Bills.

Small Silver and Copper.

32. Statement D annexed to this report shows the absorption of these coins in the different Provinces during the twelve months under review and in the two preceding years. Taking India as a whole, there was an increase of about 4 lakhs in the absorption of small silver coin as compared with 1904-05. The absorption of copper coin also increased by about 7 lakhs. In India, there were increases of about 4 lakhs and 2 lakhs respectively in the value of quarter and eighth rupees passed into circulation; there was also an increase of 2 lakhs in the issue of single pice. In the Central Provinces, there was an increase of about 2 lakhs in the absorption of copper due to larger demands in Amraoti, Nagpur, Raipur and Yeotmal by malguzars and other agricultural classes. There is usually a large consumption in the Yeotmal district, which is apparently due to exports into the adjoining Native States. In Burma, there was a small increase in the absorption of eighth rupees. In Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal taken together, there was a general increase in the absorption of small silver and copper. As usual, the greatest consumption took place in the tea districts of Darjeeling and Jalpaiguri and the jute districts of Eastern Bengal. The Dhubri depôt also issued a large amount of small coin for expenditure in connection with the construction of the Dhubri-Gauhati Extension of the Eastern Bengal State Railway. In the United Provinces, there was a return from circulation of about 2 lakhs each of quarter and eighth rupees, but the absorption of single pice increased by a lakh in consequence mainly of the prevalence of famine in several districts and the occurrence of a very large Kumbh mela at Allahabad. In the Punjab, the demand for small silver fell off by about 3 lakhs owing apparently to the failure of the cotton crop. In Madras, there was a small increase in the amount of silver passed into circulation. In Bombay, there was no material variation in the absorption of small silver and copper from last year, except to some extent in the issue of single pice.

34. The withdrawal of 1840 rupees shows a further drop of about half a crore as compared with the previous year, in consequence no doubt of the amount of these coins in circulation having been largely reduced by the withdrawals in the previous years. The total withdrawal of these coins to end of March 1906 amounted to about 20,12 lakhs and that of 1835 coins to about 283 lakhs. The receipts of shroff-marked coins were as in last year insignificant; but there was a large increase of about 7 lakhs in the amount of defective and light weight coin withdrawn from circulation, due probably to the more stringent examination of rupees for light weight enforced by Article 583A of the Civil Account Code.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCIL OF THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA, ASSEMBLED FOR THE PURPOSE OF MAKING LAWS AND REGULATIONS UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF THE INDIAN COUNCILS ACTS, 1861 AND 1892 (24 & 25 VICT., CAP. 67, AND 55 & 56 VICT., CAP. 14).

The Council met at the Viceregal Lodge, Simla, on Friday, the 31st August, 1906.

PRESENT:

His Excellency the Earl of Minto, P.C., G.C.M.G., G.M.S.I., G.M.I.E., Viceroy and Governor General of India, presiding.
His Honour Sir C. M. Rivaz, K.C.S.I., Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab.
His Excellency General Viscount Kitchener of Khartoum, G.C.B., O.M., G.C.M.G., Commander-in-Chief in India.
The Hon'ble Sir A. T. Arundel, K.C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Sir Denzil Ibbetson, K.C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Mr. H. Erle Richards, K.C.
The Hon'ble Mr. E. N. Baker, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Major-General C. H. Scott, C.B., R.A.
The Hon'ble Sir C. L. Tupper, K.C.I.E., C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Mr. T. Gordon Walker, C.S.I.

EXCISE (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER moved that the Bill to amend the Excise Act 1896, be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER moved that the Bill be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

LAND IMPROVEMENT AND AGRICULTURISTS' LOANS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR DENZIL IBBETSON moved that the Bill to amend the Land Improvement Loans Act, 1883, and the Agriculturists' Loans Act, 1884, be taken into consideration. He said :—" My Lord, the only object of the small Bill which I introduced at the last meeting of the Council was to give Local Governments wider discretion in the matter of agricultural advances, in accordance with the intention which we had announced in a Resolution issued some months ago. We therefore did not think it necessary to consult them, and we have received no criticisms upon the Bill."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR DENZIL IBBETSON moved that the Bill be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Friday, the 28th September, 1906.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs., on Thursday, the 30th August 1906, based on the India Daily Weather Reports of the period.

Within the trough of low pressure, which extended from Orissa to Sind at the beginning of the week, two depressions formed, one in Orissa and the other in Gujarat. The latter gave heavy rain in parts of Gujarat and filled up without moving appreciably. The other developed on Saturday and Sunday and then moved in a westnorthwesterly direction, its centre reaching the neighbourhood of Saugor on the morning of the 30th. This depression which is still active has given widespread rain in Chota Nagpur, Orissa, the Central Provinces, the north Deccan and north Madras, and in places the rainfall has been heavy.

Burma.—In Tenasserim the rainfall during the week was heavy, and on the Pegu and Arakan coasts it was fairly abundant, but in the interior precipitation was light: every station however reported some rain. Temperature was normal and skies were moderately overcast.

Northeast India and Orissa.—In deltaic Bengal, Orissa and Chota Nagpur during the development and subsequent movement of the depression precipitation was widespread and at times moderately heavy; but in the rest of northeast India it was very light and scattered. Skies were only moderately overcast and temperature was normal.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—There was a break in the rains in the United Provinces throughout the period and only a few isolated falls occurred. Owing to the position of the trough of low pressure and under the influence of the depression which formed in Orissa rain fell daily in the Central Provinces and in places the total fall has been heavy. In Central India the rainfall during the week was very light except on the last day when heavy precipitation occurred in the southwestern part. Temperature was in excess in the United Provinces and Central India throughout the week; in the Central Provinces it was in excess during the first half of the period, but it afterwards fell owing to the heavy rain and was in large defect at the close of the week. Skies, which were everywhere lightly to moderately overcast on the 24th, were completely overcast in the Central Provinces and moderately clouded elsewhere on the 30th.

Northwest India.—In the Punjab and the Frontier Province every station except Delhi reported rain during the week, the rainfall being heaviest in the northern districts. The depression which existed for several days in Gujarat caused widespread rain there and in Sind, while in Rajputana rain was reported from all the stations, the smallest amounts being from Kotah, Jaipur and Sambhar. Skies were heavily overcast in Gujarat, and lightly to moderately elsewhere. During the middle of the week temperature was in large defect in the greater part of the Punjab, in the Frontier Province and in Upper Sind, but by the 30th it was in excess except in the submontane districts; in Rajputana the weather was also much hotter than usual.

The Peninsula.—The monsoon was very active in the western half of the Peninsula and in north Madras, and rainfall was considerably above the normal for the week; but in the Nizam's Dominions and in Madras excluding the Circars and Malabar coasts the rainfall for the period was less than usual. Skies were heavily overcast except on the last two days and temperature was in defect.

The rainfall of the whole period from the 4th May to the 30th August was in defect over practically the whole of northwest India, the east of Central India, Orissa and Chota Nagpur. It was in excess in north Bihar, the Punjab hills, the north Madras coast, the west Satpuras and Mysore and practically normal elsewhere.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 25th August 1906.

Burma.—The rainfall of the week was general and mostly moderate but heavy on the Tenasserim Coast. Transplanting of wet-weather paddy is progressing in most places and is completed in Sandoway and Tavoy and approaching completion in several districts. Reaping of sesamum has commenced in Magwe and Yamethin. The recent rain has been very beneficial and cultivation in Bassein is now resumed. More rain is still needed in Sandoway, Myaungmya, Sagaing, Kyaukse, Yamethin, and in parts of Shwebo, Prome, Henzada, and the Southern Shan States. Crops are partially affected by drought in Shwebo, Pakokku, the Ruby Mines district and Meiktila and have been damaged by insects in parts of the Southern Shan States. Floods have destroyed plants in low-lying lands of Bhamo and miscellaneous crops along the Irrawaddy in Katha. The condition of the standing crops is on the whole fair. The price of paddy has risen considerably in Rangoon and slightly in three districts, it has fallen slightly in one district; elsewhere it is unchanged.

Eastern-Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Slight to moderate rain has fallen generally in all districts. Floods are subsiding gradually in a few districts but still continue abnormally high in most districts. The prospects of tea are good in Sylhet, Nowgong, and Lakhimpur and are fair elsewhere. Harvesting of early rice and cutting of jute are retarded in places by high floods. Cultivation of late transplanted rice continues. The prospects of crops are uncertain in flooded areas and fair elsewhere. Prices of common rice :—Manipur 13 : Kohima 10 : Tezpur 8 : Chittagong and Sibsagar 7 : Barisal and Malda 6¾ : Comilla 6 $\frac{9}{16}$: Jalpaiguri, Rampur Boalia, and Gauhati 6½ : Silchar 6 to 8⅜ : Noakhali 6½ to 7 : Faridpur, Nowgong, Rangpur, Dinajpur, Pabna, and Dhubri 6 : Mymensingh 5⅝ : Sylhet 5½ : Bogra 5¼ : Dacca and Shillong and Tura 5 : and Aijal 4 seers per rupee. Prices have risen in eight; slightly fallen in two; and remain stationary in the remaining districts. High price of rice is being felt by the middle and lower classes in Dinajpur.

Scarcity prevails in Faridpur, Bakarganj, Mymensingh, Tippera, and Noakhali. In Faridpur 1,052 persons are being gratuitously relieved. Forty men, 114 women, and 30 children are gratuitously relieved and none are employed on test works in Bakarganj. In Mymensingh 878 persons are gratuitously relieved and none are employed on test works. In Tippera 35 men are employed on test works and 450 are receiving gratuitous relief. In Noakhali 115 men and 6 children are employed on relief works and 2,299 persons are in receipt of gratuitous relief.

Bengal.—Rain was fairly general in the Province, the fall being for the most part light except at Puri where it was rather heavy. More rain is needed in some of the districts of the Burdwan and Orissa Divisions for winter paddy. Extensive damage by floods to the autumn crops and the newly transplanted aman paddy is reported from Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Monghyr, and Murshidabad; some damage is also reported from Jessore, Saran, and the Sonthal Parganas. Insect pests are reported from Midnapore, Howrah, Nadia, and Ranchi. Slight distress on account of high prices of food-grains continues in Jessore. Fodder and water are generally sufficient. The price of common rice has risen in twenty-four districts and fallen in two; it continues high in most districts.

United Provinces.—Rain in all districts, but not heavy. Floods are subsiding except in Gorakhpur where the people and cattle of the flooded tracts are in serious difficulties. Where not damaged by floods or excessive rain the autumn crops are doing well, but in a few districts more rain is needed for rice. Weeding continues and sawan (millet) and some of the earlier crops are being reaped. Cholera is still prevalent in Hamirpur and Jhansi, but has much abated in the former district. Fodder and supplies are generally sufficient. The prices of food-grains have fallen in eleven districts but they have risen somewhat in Jaunpur and Ballia.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—There was slight rain in all districts, but more is needed in Muttra and in Agra, in one tahsil of which district the crops on high-lying lands are said to be withering. The prospects elsewhere are good. Weeding continues and some of the earlier crops are being reaped in Banda and Etawah. Cholera has much abated in Hamirpur, but is still prevalent in Jhansi. The condition of the people is good except in Jalaun where the effects of privation are still apparent. Fodder-supplies are adequate and the markets full. Prices of food-grains are falling in Hamirpur, Jhansi, Agra and Etawah. The numbers on relief are:—Allahabad Division—on works 1,000, on gratuitous relief 111,000; Agra Division—works nil, on gratuitous relief 9,000, total 121,000.

Punjab.—There is a general diminution of rainfall in the south-eastern districts of the Punjab, while light to moderate nearly general rain has fallen in the other parts of the Province. The rainfall is still in considerable defect in several districts. There are slight fluctuations in the prices of food-grains; wheat is slightly rising in Gurgaon, Ambala, and Rawalpindi and falling in Rohtak, Delhi, and Lyallpur. Sowings for the autumn and ploughings for the next spring crops continue. Weeding of autumn crops is in progress in Ambala. The condition of the standing crops is generally good to average and the outturn is expected to be good if more rain falls. Crops in Ambala and Shahpur have improved, in the former owing to less and in the latter due to good rainfall. The condition of cotton is good in Lyallpur. Locusts appeared in Rohtak, but did no damage, they are reported to have caused slight damage to the standing crops in Gurgaon, Mianwali, and Lahore. Insects are also attacking young crops in Mianwali and cotton and great millet in parts of Multan. Floods have damaged the crops on the banks of the Sutlej and of the inundation canal in the Lahore district. Cattle are generally in good condition. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of Hissar and Gurgaon. There are no complaints regarding the water-supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—Good rain all over the Province averaging 30 cents to 3·49 inches. It has been beneficial to the standing crops and to spring sowings. The condition of the standing crops on irrigated and unirrigated areas is satisfactory. Harvest prospects and outturn of autumn crops are fair. Canal water and the Kilapani supply are sufficient; heavy floods have occurred in Kurram and Tochi, the Daman tract in Dera Ismail Khan irrigated by hill torrents and in Kachi by river Indus floods. The condition of cattle is generally good except in few villages of the Peshawar district. Stocks of food-grains are sufficient. Fodder is procurable. Prices are fluctuating. Prices—wheat 15 to 17¼, gram 15⅝ to 18, maize 14$\frac{11}{16}$ to 18¼ and bajra 12 to 15⅞ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Good rain. Prices are fluctuating. Prices:—wheat 14 to 24 and maize 16 to 30 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient except in the Hill Tracts of Ramban and Kishtwar tehsils.

Kashmir.—The weather is partly bright and partly rainy. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—Rainfall in cents:—Bikaner from 100 to 143, Marwar 32 to 315, Jaisalmer 50 to 267, good in Sirohi, Udaipur 36, Hill Tracts 84, Partabgarh 66, Shahpura 81, light rain at Tonk and Bundi but heavier in other parts of the States, Kotah 122, Jhalawar 105, Jaipur 50 but three districts received from 115 to 235, Kishangarh 285, Alwar 44, partial rain in Karauli, Bharatpur 84 but rain not general, Dholpur 50, Ajmer 174, Merwara 177. Prospects have improved in Jaisalmer and the standing crops are now generally thriving except in parts of Tonk, Jaipur, Alwar, Karauli, Bharatpur, Dholpur, and Merwara. Slight damage from locusts is reported from Tonk, Kishangarh and Karauli. The condition of cattle is fair and pasturage is available. Prices have risen in Jaisalmer, Mewar, Partabgarh, and Jhalawar; and have fallen in Marwar, Kishangarh, and Alwar.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Ajmer—on works 599, on gratuitous relief 843, total 1,442; Merwara—on works 9,764, on gratuitous relief 9,777, total 19,541. Native States:—Marwar—on gratuitous relief 716; Tonk—on works 1,267, on gratuitous relief 375, total 1,642; Jaipur—on works 4,390, on gratuitous relief 53, total 4,443; Kishangarh—on works 24, on gratuitous relief 2,433, total 2,457; Alwar—on gratuitous relief 369; Eastern States—on works 1,569, on gratuitous relief 1,429, total 2,998; grand total of Native States 12,625. Decrease of 5,489 due to closure of relief works in Karauli during the previous week and considerable decrease in Dholpur; relief works also closed in Alwar; in Kishangarh the figures include 1,492 artizans and weavers on special relief. Prices vary between 13¼ seers in Karauli and 15⅞ per rupee in Alwar. Cholera continues in parts of Bharatpur and Dholpur, in the latter State there were 112 cases and 56 deaths.

Central India.—Rainfall partial. More rain is urgently needed in parts of Gwalior Agricultural operations are timely and satisfactory in Gwalior. Preparation of land for spring cultivation is in progress elsewhere. The standing crops and probable outturn are good. Crops have been slightly damaged by locusts in parts of Gwalior. Agricultural stock is in good condition. Pasturage is sufficient. Prices are high in Gwalior and Baghelkhand, and have fallen in parts of Malwa.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The numbers on relief are:—Gwalior—on works 1,000, on gratuitous relief 2,000, total 3,000; in Bundelkhand—on works 4,000, on gratuitous relief 3,000, total 7,000, grand total 10,000. Prices:—13 seers per rupee in Bundelkhand.

Central Provinces.—Good rain fell in all districts during the week; the heaviest falls were—Nagpur 9½, Chanda 8½, Yeotmal 6¾, Hoshangabad 6½, Bhandara 6¼, Akola 6, Balaghat 5¾, and Amraoti 5½ inches ; rainfall in the remaining districts ranged from 4¾ inches in Wardha to 1 inch in Bilaspur. The general condition of the standing crops is greatly improved but more rain is required about Hatta and Tejgarh in Damoh and in parts of Chhindwara and Narsinghpur. The estimated area under autumn crops is slightly larger than last year in Damoh and Narsinghpur, and smaller in Bhandara where juar and cotton were stunted by excessive rain at sowing time ; til area is less by 10 per cent. in Mandla. Rice prospects are 100 in Mandla, Seoni, and Chanda and 75 in Nimar, slight damage to rice by insects is reported from Chhattisgarh. Thinning and transplanting are nearly finished, other autumn crops are generally in good condition. The area of juar in Wardha has increased. Preparation of land for spring crops is everywhere proceeding. In Chhindwara jagni and til and in Amraoti til and kutki are still being sown. The excessive rain of the early monsoon delayed sowings, washed away seedlings and injured crops in many districts but the subsequent break with moderate and timely showers has done much good and prospects are now favourable. The price of rice has slightly risen in Jubbulpore and Chhindwara, gram is cheaper by 2 seers in Chhindwara and juar by 1 seer in Nimar, elsewhere the prices of food-grains are steady and are still equal to the scarcity level in Wardha, Chanda, Balaghat, Drug, and Bilaspur.

Bombay.—There was good rain during the week in Kaira, Broach, Surat, the Konkan, the Deccan, the Karnatak, Cutch, Kathiawar, Sawantwadi ; and Kolhapur, moderate in Karachi, Thar and Parkar, Sukkur, Hyderabad, Ahmedabad, Panch Mahals, Baroda, Palanpur, Mahi Kantha, and Rewa Kantha ; and light in Larkana and Upper Sind Frontier. More rain is needed in parts of Ahmedabad, Panch Mahals, Surat, Dharwar, Palanpur, and Rewa Kantha, especially for the rice crop. Inundation in Sind is generally satisfactory. Cotton sowing continues and transplantation is nearing completion. The area under cotton is generally above normal and under other crops above normal in Sukkur, Larkana, and the Deccan, and generally nearly normal elsewhere. The standing crops have been slightly damaged by floods or winds in Sukkur and Hyderabad, and are generally in good condition elsewhere. Lands are being prepared for spring sowing. The supply of drinking water is generally adequate. Irrigation channels, tanks, and wells are nearly full. Deficiency of agricultural stock continues but cattle are generally improving in condition. Dry fodder is scarce but sufficient green grass is available everywhere. Trade is active and stocks of grain in the markets are adequate. Prices show tendency to fall. Quantity of grain purchasable per rupee is in the Deccan 13 to 50 per cent; in the Karnatak 20 to 40 per cent; and elsewhere 10 to 30 per cent less than the normal. Test works have been closed in Miraj (Junior) and opened in Jamkhandi. The numbers on the last day of the week ending 18th instant were:—Phaltan 119, Jamkhandi 106, total 225. Labourers are leaving relief works for more congenial and remunerative work in the fields. The public health is generally good. Mild cholera is still prevalent in parts of the Deccan and the Karnatak. Relief works have been closed in Nasik. The numbers on relief are :—British districts—Deccan—on works 11,941, on gratuitous relief 27,593, total 39,534 ; Karnatak—on works 13,340, on gratuitous relief 14,487, total 27,827 ; Native States—on works 2,753, on gratuitous relief 2,089, total 4,842.

Hyderabad.—Rainfall—three inches 38 cents. Good rain in all taluks. Prospects are good. Weeding of autumn crops and of early rice sowings continue. Lands are being prepared for spring cultivation. Prices :—wheat 8½ ; coarse rice 7½ ; and juar 15¾ seers per rupee.

Mysore.—There was good rain throughout the Province during the week. Markets are well supplied. The standing crops are in good condition except in parts of Bangalore, Tumkur, and Mysore where dry crops have been damaged owing to excessive rainfall. The prospects of the season are encouraging. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall—18 inches 29 cents. Transplanting of rice continues. Prices of food-grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall of the week was very heavy in South Canara ; heavy in Malabar, Godavari, Kistna, Nilgiris, Chingleput, Ganjam, and Guntur ; light in Trichinopoly, Madura, and Tinnevelly ; and good elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and Madura. Ploughing, manuring, weeding, sowing, and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair. There are no harvests in parts of the Circars, Kurnool, Bellary, Tinnevelly, Malabar, and South Canara ; they continue in parts elsewhere with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient except in Tinnevelly. Fodder is scanty in parts of the Circars, Bellary, and Anantapur. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in sixteen districts ; has fallen in six ; and has slightly risen in one. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows :—Ragi is stationary in five districts ; has fallen in thirteen ; and has slightly risen in three. Cholam is stationary in three districts ; has fallen in nine ; and has slightly risen in two. Cumbu is stationary in eight districts ; has fallen in six ; and has very slightly risen in one.

The number of persons in receipt of relief during the preceding and present weeks in each Province or State is shown in the following table :

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

COMMERCIAL EXHIBITIONS.

Simla, the 31st August, 1906.

RESOLUTION.

The following papers relative to the International Maritime Exhibition, which will be held at Bordeaux in France in May 1907, are published for general information. The Exhibition, although principally maritime, will comprise all branches of industry and commerce :

CITY OF BORDEAUX.

INTERNATIONAL MARITIME EXPOSITION.

(MAY-NOVEMBER 1907).

Organized by the League Maritime Française, under the official patronage of the French Government, the General Council of the Gironde, the Municipality, the Chamber of Commerce and the Philomathic Society of Bordeaux, in Celebration of a Century of Steam Navigation.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

GENERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

Article 1.—An International Maritime Exposition in Celebration of a Century of Steam Navigation will be opened in Bordeaux on May 1st, 1907, under the auspices of the League Maritime Française, recognized as an establishment of public utility by decree of December 17th, 1905.

Article 2.—The Exposition will be held on the great square of the Quinconces. Its duration will be about six months. Its opening and closing may be advanced or delayed without liability for indemnity.

Article 3.—The Exposition will be held under the official patronage and aid of the French Government, and the Department of the Gironde, the Municipality, the Chamber of Commerce and the Philomathic Society of Bordeaux.

Article 4.—The Exposition is open to all countries. It will receive all industrial, agricultural or artistic products pertaining to maritime affairs. A Colonial section will be devoted to colonial products which are intimately related to the commerce of Bordeaux. Pavilions will be devoted to ocean geography, nautical automobilism and aerial navigation.

Article 5.—During the Exposition, the Commissioner General intends to organize congresses, competitions and lectures on interesting subjects concerning maritime affairs, science, art, industry, commerce and social economy.

He will endeavour to organize also festivals of all kinds with the view of adding to the brilliancy of the Exposition. These congresses, competitions and festivals will be under special regulations.

Article 6.—The Commissioner General and Deputy Commissioner General have received the following powers :

Article 7.—The Commissioner General has the direction of the Exposition. All initiative will devolve on him, and no decision will be valid without his assent. He will have special charge of relations with the appropriate ministerial departments and the Commissioners of Foreign Governments. He will have sole direction of all departments for which he will name chiefs and agents. He will direct the book-keeping. He will establish forms for receipts and will order all expenditures. All accounts must be submitted for his approval.

He will decide definitely upon the requests of exhibitors and will deliver certificates of admission.

He is vested with power to nominate juries and all committees for that portion reserved for the administration.

The general police of the Exposition will be under his supervision.

Article 8.—The Deputy Commissioner General will assist the Commissioner General and will act in his place during his absence.

Article 9.—Special committees of groups and of festivals will be organized later.

Article 10.—Each foreign country participating in the Exposition should accredit to the Commissioner General a special Commissioner to represent its exhibitors.

Article 11.—The Exposition will be constituted into a bonded warehouse, consequently, the products exhibited will be exempt from verification, custom house and octroi taxes.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

Article 12.—Exhibitors shall pay rent for the space they occupy according to the following tariff :

1st.—A fixed duty of 20 francs per exhibitor upon application for space.

2nd.—A tax proportionate to the space to be occupied is to be established according to a general tariff applied to industrial exhibitors as follows :

Each superficial meter in principal place	60 francs.
" " " on the interior wall	40 "
" " " in the annexes	40 "
" " " on the interior walls of same ...	30 "
Each meter in open air with option of construction ...	20 "
" " " without option of construction ...	10 "

Plans for constructions to be erected must be submitted for the approval of the Commissioner General.

For choice sites, show-cases and corner locations, a higher tariff will be fixed for each particular place.

Article 13.—Restaurants, shows and all specially authorized establishments, shall pay rents to be fixed by tariff.

In each special case a contract will determine the details regarding the construction and management.

Article 14.—Rent may be required from the exhibitors, concessionaries and others for poster advertisements, prospectuses, etc., in the interior of the Exposition. Authorization for said advertisements shall be given by the Commissioner General.

Article 15.—The charges due to the Exposition are payable against a receipt signed by the Commissioner General, in two payments to the Bank of Bordeaux; one-half within the fifteen days following the delivery of the certificate of admission, the other half on the 15th Aprii 1907. When the total charges shall not exceed 100 francs, payment thereof shall be made within the fifteen days following the delivery of the certificate of admission.

Article 16.—Exhibitors who fail to pay the second instalment cannot recover their previous payment, which shall remain the property of the administration without legal formality. By the very fact of non-payment, the exhibitor's privilege to exhibit will be forfeited, the administration reserving the right to dispose of the space on or after April 15th.

Article 17.—Requests for admission must be addressed to the Commissioner General at Bordeaux, prior to February 12th, 1907, or dissatisfaction may result and requests may be refused.

Article 18.—Forms of application for admission are to be prepared by the Commissioner General and will be at the disposal of exhibitors in Paris, Bordeaux, county-towns of the Departments and of foreign committees.

Article 19.—The questions appearing on the application for admission must be answered correctly by the exhibitors.

Article 20.—Dangerous material such as fulminates and explosives will be excluded.

Spirits and alcohol, oils, essences, corrosive materials and, generally, substances which may injure other products or cause annoyance to the public, will only be received in strong and appropriate receptacles of small dimensions. Exhibitors of such products must abide by regulations to be promulgated in the interest of public health and security. Combustible material, shelves, curtains, etc., must be made fire-proof unless specially exempted.

Article 21.—The Commissioner General shall have the right to exclude all harmful products or such as may not appear to be consistent with the purposes of the Exposition.

Article 22.—No object can be taken away before the close of the Exposition without special authority from the Commissioner General. This prohibition does not apply to products that the exhibitors may be authorized to manufacture and offer for sale in public.

Article 23.—No object of art, no product exhibited in the places, parks or gardens will be permitted to be drawn, copied or produced in any form whatsoever without the consent of the exhibitor approved by the Commissioner General. The Commissioner General, however, may authorize the reproduction of a general view.

Article 24.—The Administration of the Exposition will only provide general buildings and constructions. Insurance is obligatory on all products exhibited from the time they are entered at the Exposition until they are removed. Said insurance must contain a formal waiver by the insured and the insurer of any claim against the Administration of the Exposition. In default of the taking out of policies of insurance by the exhibitors, the same will be contracted for by the Administration of the Exposition at the exhibitor's cost, risk and peril.

Article 25.—The Administration of the Exposition will take all necessary measures for the protection of objects against damage and their general supervision, but will not be responsible for theft or damage.

Article 26.—Exhibitors must pay for all packing, freight, unpacking, care of cases, installation, re-packing and re-shipping charges.

Article 27.—Exhibitors who may require water, gas, electricity or motor power must state this fact on their application for admission, giving all necessary details as to the speed required for each of their apparatus. The price of power will be fixed at the lowest possible rate.

Article 28.—After the close of the Exposition, the exhibitors must remove the products exhibited within one month (maximum), in default of which said products will be stored in a warehouse at the expense and risk of the exhibitor, without responsibility on the part of the Commissioner General.

JURIES. AWARDS.

Article 29.—The Examining Jury will be composed of authorized representatives of science, art and industry, either in France or abroad.

Said Jury shall be appointed, one-half by the exhibitors, the other by the administration of the Exposition.

Article 30.—The Jury shall demand all guarantees that may seem proper for the performance of their duty. They will have the right to exclude from competition any exhibitor who may attempt to deceive them.

Article 31.—A superior Jury will be appointed to judge all claims that may be presented.

Article 32.—The awards shall consist of diplomas of honor, gold, silver and bronze medals and honorable mentions.

N.B.—The details as to the functions and duties of the Juries will be the subject of a special regulation.

GROUP II.

INSTRUCTION.

Class 3.—Programmes, material for instruction, organization and statistics. Schools for young sailors and novices. Naval schools : schools for application, schools for maritime engineers. Hydrographic schools : pyrotechnic schools, schools of mechanics, schools of medicine and pharmaceutics. Commercial schools. Maritime Institutes.

Class 4.—Maritime associations for diffusion of knowledge and of study. International Marine Associations. Society for Maritime and Colonial Studies. Societies of learned men. Geographical Societies. Societies of Commercial Geography. Societies of professional and technical instruction in maritime fishing. Works and publications. Reviews. Maritime journals.

Class 5.—Ocean Geography. Instruction and material. Maritime Laboratories and special ships. Ichthyological collections. Submarine Flora and Fauna.

GROUP III.

CHARTS AND INSTRUMENTS.

Class 6.—Charts and geographical and cosmographical apparatus. Geographical hydrographical charts and maps. Celestial and terrestial globes and spheres. Tables and ephemerides for the use of astronomers and mariners.

Class 7.—Optical instruments, geometrical compasses, barometers, thermometers, field glasses, sextants, etc. Astronomical and meteorological instruments. Sounding apparatus and log-lines, etc.

Class 8.—Precise horological marine instruments.

GROUP IV.

NAVIGATION AND COMMERCE.

Class 9.—Designs and models of ships used for the maritime transportation of goods or passengers, steam packets, steamers, cargoes, etc.

Class 10.—Designs and models of ships used for coasting and navigation of rivers and lakes.

Class 11.—Designs and models of fishing craft.

Class 12.—Designs and models of yachts and pleasure boats.

Class 13.—Designs and models of sailing ships.

Class 14.—Canoes and boats for sails and oars. Disjointable and collapsible boats, for the navy and commercial marine.

GROUP V.

NAVY.

Class 15.—Designs and models of ships.

Class 16.—Armour and protection. Trials of armour.

Class 17.—Guns and torpedoes. Portable arms.

Class 18.—Submarine navigation.

GROUP VI.

MATERIALS FOR CONSTRUCTION.

Class 19.—Raw materials and materials of iron and steel specially adapted to the construction and the armament of ships, sheet iron, profiled iron, etc.

Class 20.—Brass, bronze, various alloys, etc.

Class 21.—Wood for building, masts, etc.

Class 22.—Cordage, cables, ropes, etc. Canvas awnings, tarpaulins, etc.

Class 23.—Flax, rubber, gutta-percha.

Class 24.—Submarine paints for bottoms of ships of iron, steel or wood, oils, varnishes, and essences, colors, tars, coal tar and various substances, etc.

Class 25.—Construction plants, machines and tools.

Class 26.—Small accessories for the hull: light ports, scuppers and marine hardware.

GROUP VII.

MOTOR MACHINES AND PROPELLERS.

Class 27.—Motor apparatus for war and commercial ships. Steam engines, with alternate movements for screws. Machines for paddle-wheels. Condensing apparatus. Auxiliary apparatus for principal motors, lubricating, rotation meters, etc. Propellers. Screws. Paddle-wheels.

Class 28.—Naval boilers. Auxiliary apparatus for boilers, feed pumps, filters. Elevators for ashes and ejectors.

Class 29.—Machines with interior combustion. Petroleum, essence alcohol and gas motors.

Class 30.—Steam turbine motors. Interior combustion turbines. Hydraulic turbines, etc.

Class 31.—Solid and liquid combustible matter.

GROUP VIII.

FITTINGS AND APPARATUS.

Class 32.—Special apparatus for the production and use of electricity, dynamos, etc.; electric signals, projectors. Wireless telegraphy. Telephones. Mycrophones. Electric bells, storage batteries, etc.

Class 33.—Apparatus for the manœuvring of anchors, rudders, life boats, sailing gear, signals, etc. Order transmitters. Cranes and winches. Temperley apparatus, etc.

Class 34.—Anchors and cables, chains and steel hausers.

Class 35.—Steam and hand pumps for water and fire.

Class 36.—Armament of fishing boats, nets, baskets, harpoons, fishing lines, lobster traps, etc.

Class 37.—Refrigerating apparatus and congealing apparatus of divers systems.

Class 38.—Apparatus for the preservation of grain.

Class 39.—Lighting apparatus. Fixed lights and signals.

Class 40.—Heating apparatus.

Class 41.—Aerating and ventilating apparatus.

GROUP IX.

AUTOMOBILE NAVIGATION AND BOATS OF ALL TYPES.

Class 42.—Automobile boats for racing, service and pleasure.

Class 43.—Pleasure steamboats and others.

Class 44.—Electrical motor boats.

Class 45.—Sail and row boats. Life boats.

GROUP X.

AERONAUTICS.

Class 46.—Models and documents relative to the history of aerostation and flying.

Class 47.—Captive and free balloons. Military aerostation. Ascension winches. Transport carriages. Inflating apparatus.

Class 48.—Dirigible balloons, motors and propellers. Kites.

Class 49.—Flying apparatus, motors and propellers.

Class 50.—Homing pigeons.

Class 51.—Materials for the construction of balloons and flying apparatus. Tissues, varnishes, baskets, valves, nets, special cordage, stoppage apparatus, etc. Manufacture of hydrogene and light gas.

GROUP XI.

PORT AND HARBOUR WORKS.

Class 52.—Construction of harbours, piers, docks, graving docks, dry docks, locks, etc. Works for protection against river and sea water. Navigable river works.

Class 53.—Movable bridges. Dock gear for the loading and unloading of vessels. Mechanical towage and hauling.

Class 54.—Light-houses, revolving lights, fixed lights, various buoys, luminous buoys and whistling buoys.

GROUP XII.

SEA AND RIVER FISHING.

Class 55.—Products of sea fishing. Pearls, shells, mother of pearl, coral, sponges, tortoise-shell, whale-bone, amber, fish oils, fats and glues.

Class 56.—Preservation of fish. Packed salt fish, dried, smoked, in oil, etc.

Class 57.—Transportation of fresh fish. Reservoir and cold storage cars.

Class 58.—Apparatus pertaining to the preparation and preservation of fishing products; refrigerators, fish-tanks, tin boxes and their manufacture, barrels, etc.

Class 59.—Raw materials for preserving: salt, oil, etc.

Class 60.—Pisciculture and fresh water fishing. Oyster beds.

Class 61.—Maritime hunting. Collections of amphibious birds and animals.

GROUP XIII.

HYGIENE, SALVAGE AND SPORTS.

Class 62.—Sanitary apparatus and processes. Processes of disinfection on board vessels. Sanitary service in ports. Quarantine stations.

Class 63.—Saving of the ship-wrecked. Life-boats, apparatus for carrying moorings, rafts, buoys and life-belts and jackets, etc.

Class 64.—Material for the salvage of vessels. Salvage or destruction of wrecks.

Class 65.—Diving suits, diving bells, etc.

Class 66.—Medicines, surgery, pharmaceutics. Medicinal products derived from fish and sea-weed.

Class 67.—Hygiene by sports. Gymnastics, natation, etc.

Class 68.—Yachting, nautical tours. Watering stations.

GROUP XIV

MERCHANDISE MARKS ACT.

Simla, the 31st August, 1906.

RESOLUTION.

The following reports on the working of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act, 1889 (IV of 1889), during the year 1905-06, are published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India, for general information.

Bengal.

The number of cases dealt with under the Indian Merchandise Marks Act, 1889 (IV of 1889), in 1905-06 fell from 493 to 291 or by 41 per cent. The decrease is partly due to the decline in the number of cases of improper marking of glass chimneys. In 1904-05, penalties were imposed in 60 cases, as against 3 in the year under report. Similarly, in the previous year, there were 26 cases in which foreign-made goods were penalized for bearing portraits of the English Royal Family without a counter-indication, with the consequence that only 3 cases have occurred in the year under report.

The cases are distributed as follows:

Statement showing the number of cases dealt with under the Indian Merchandise Marks Act during each of the years 1904-1905 and 1905-1906.

Year.	Clause under section 18, Sea Customs Act as modified by section 10, Indian Merchandise Marks Act.	Number of cases.	Detention followed by confiscation.	Detention followed by release. There were 2 cases under clause (d) of counterfeit trade marks. They were in connection with certain imports of white mulls. By arrangement the offending labels were removed and the goods passed without penalty. Mention may be made of the following cases of false trade descriptions :—

In 9 cases goods described as "Bonbons" were penalized because the use of the name and the marks applied to the goods and coverings were such as are recognised in the local market as indicating a medicine for worms, which the goods in question did not contain.

There were 10 cases in which alpacas, mohair, undershirts, trowsers, cotton socks, cotton hose and ribbons bore false trade descriptions as to the material of which the goods were made. There were 15 cases in which paints, white lead, and turpentine had false descriptions applied to them in respect of the percentage of adulterating material they contained.

There were 4 cases in which false indications of make in the United Kingdom were applied to Belgian or German cement.

In one case imitation coral beads were imported with the marking "Coral Beads" and without a counter-indication to show that they were not genuine.

In another case Chinese cigarettes were imported under English descriptions without a counter-indication of Chinese origin.

One attempt was made to pass German Pilsener as of British manufacture.

Four cases occurred in which German-made cutlery and tools were imported bearing indications of British origin without the necessary counter-indication. In one case the goods also bore the name and address of a British manufacturer. In this case as well as in one of the cutlery cases fines were imposed and the goods were re-shipped.

Of the 72 cases dealt with under clause (e), 48 were of goods imported from the Continent of Europe (including 37 from Germany), 20 from Japan, and 4 from America. In 53 cases the proper stamping was demanded, penalties being inflicted in 64 cases.

In the 102 cases which occurred under clause (f) lengths were not marked at all in 72 instances; stamping was incomplete in 18 cases: there were four instances of effaceable stamping, and miscellaneous omissions in the remaining 8. There were 53 cases of cotton goods: 23 of woollens and 26 of mixed piece-goods. Penalties were imposed in 97 cases.

All the cases were disposed of by the Collector. There were no appeals made to the Chief Customs Authority. The total amount of penalties aggregated Rs. 5,168-10-0. All the cases, with the exception of the two instances of counterfeit trade marks, were detected by the Appraising Staff.

Madras.

The total number of cases dealt with under the Act in the whole Presidency during the year 1905-1906 was 121, as against 117 cases in the preceding year. The subjoined statement shows the number of cases dealt with at each port under clauses (d), (e) and (f) of section 10 of the Merchandise Marks Act (IV of 1889) during the year 1905-06:

Name of port.	Number of cases in which detention was ordered.				Number of cases in which detention was followed by confiscation.	Number of cases in which detention was followed by release. In the majority of cases falling under clause (d), the breach of the conditions of the Act consisted in the application of descriptions in the English language without any indication of the country of origin. The following were the more important of such cases:

(1) Two consignments, one of brandy and another of beer, were imported from Germany, the labels on the bottles describing the contents as "very old brandy" and "Union Club beer, superior quality," respectively; the country of origin in the first case was so indistinctly marked as to be likely to escape the notice of the public, and in the second case there was no indication of the country of origin at all.

(2) A consignment of six cases of provisions declared to be the produce of Holland was found to contain vermicelli and maccaroni in packets bearing an English description of the contents without any indication of the country of origin.

(3) Three consignments of iron and steel sheets of Belgian manufacture had the sizes and the approximate weight of the sheets, as also the words "Best refined" marked on them in English without any indication of the country of origin.

(4) In a consignment of seven iron safes of Japanese manufacture the word "safe" was printed in large English characters on the doors without any qualification as to the country of origin.

(5) In two other cases where the importations consisted of fountain pens of Austrian manufacture, and gilt silver lametta in reels, of French manufacture, the boxes in which they were packed contained descriptions of the articles printed in English with instructions for use in the case of the fountain pens, but without any indication of the country of origin.

(6) In another case a consignment of common soap declared to be the produce of Germany was found on examination to have been made in Holland. The soap itself and the label on the wrapper bore descriptions in Dutch, while the labels on the packets were printed in French.

In all the above cases a small penalty was exacted, and the goods were passed after the defects had been remedied.

Bombay.

The total number of cases disposed of during the year was 428 against 409 in 1904-05, showing a small increase of 19 cases. There were 70 cases involving minor technical breaches of the law, in which no formal reports were made, the necessary orders being passed on the bills of entry. These cases have been included in the total 428 shown above.

1905-06 ...	319	65	44	428	......	243	185	1	427

Infringements of section 10, clause (d), aggregated 319 as against 335 in 1904-05. With the exception of one case of imitation gold-thread, in which a false name was applied to the goods, all the cases were of ordinary false trade description. Ten of these cases further infringed clause (e) and six clause (f).

As in the previous year this Custom House did not detect any case of counterfeit marking during the year under report.

Cases in which persons interested in a trade mark applied for the detention of goods bearing marks alleged to be in imitation of their own, amounted during the year to 10. Of these seven were mere intimations of ownership of a trade mark with a general request for protection—no specific instance of infringement being quoted ; in the remaining three, it was claimed that the marks on the goods imported were imitations of the applicants' trade mark. In two of these, the applicants executed indemnity bonds guaranteeing the Department against any results arising from such detention which was, therefore, ordered. Of the 3 cases, in one instance a consent decree from the High Court was considered to warrant the imposition of a penalty of Rs. 125, in the second case the objectionable labels were removed without the institution of proceedings as the result of an understanding between the parties concerned, while in the third, a similar understanding between the contending parties, before the detention of the goods, made the execution of a bond unnecessary.

Under clause (e) of section 10, sixty-five infringements were detected, exclusive of the ten which also infringed clause (d) and are shown under that clause, as against 51 in the previous year.

There were 44 detentions under clause (f), exclusive of the six which also infringed clause (d) and are shown under that clause. Of these, 35 related to cotton piece-goods, 6 to woollen and 3 to cotton and woollen piece-goods. In 27 cases the goods bore no length stamps at all. In 9 instances the figures denoting the length were not accompanied by the expression " yards " or its abbreviation " Yds " and in the remaining 8 the length was shown on tickets attached to the pieces. Penalties were inflicted in 23 cases ; in 9 cases the goods were passed after compliance with the law, and a guarantee for future compliance was taken in the remainder.

Of the 428 cases adjudicated, fines and penalties were inflicted in 243 cases. Option to redeem on payment of penalty was allowed in 15 cases. In 6 cases the goods were allowed to be re-shipped on payment of a penalty, the importers being either unable or unwilling to obliterate the objectionable marking. In 163 out of the remaining 237 cases release was ordered after the requirements of the law had been complied with, and a guarantee for future compliance was taken from the importers in the remaining 74 cases.

Recoveries and penalties in these 243 cases amounted to Rs. 3,606-8-0. In one instance, in which the goods were confiscated subject to a redemption penalty and subsequent re-shipment, the importer did not avail himself of the option to pay the penalty, and the goods were destroyed.

Of the 185 cases in which no fines or penalties were imposed, the goods were passed in 90 after compliance with the law, in 4 they were re-shipped, and in the remaining 91 cases the importers were warned against future infringements of the law and guarantees were taken from them.

Of the total number of 428 cases, the Collector and his Covenanted Assistant passed orders in 23 cases involving penalties amounting to Rs. 300. The remaining cases were decided by the 1st Assistant Collector of Customs at the Prince's Dock Custom House.

There were 10 appeals to the Collector against the decisions of the 1st Assistant Collector at Prince's Dock, and in all the cases the 1st Assistant Collector's decisions were upheld.

There was one appeal to the Commissioner against the Collector's orders confirming the decision of the 1st Assistant Collector, Prince's Dock. The original order was upheld by the Commissioner.

Ten thousand three hundred and forty-three packages of general merchandise, 3,813 bundles of steel sheets, 1,234 bundles of steel bars, 122 bales of paper, 60 drums of turpentine and 80 kegs of linseed oil were detained during the year under report.

SIND.

The cases dealt with under the Merchandise Marks Act are contrasted below with those of the preceding year :

* Includes 2 cases offending against clause (e) also.

The 72 cases falling under clause (d) may be divided as follows :—22 of imitation gold braids, 7 of wines, spirits and beer, 6 of cigars, 3 of lead pencils, 2 of cycle tyres and 32 of miscellaneous articles.

The 22 consignments of gold braids detained were described in Urdu and Persian as real gold. The shippers were given 3 months' time to enable them to label correctly their future shipments, and 18 consignments, which arrived within this period, were allowed to be cleared without penalties, but after due amendment of labels. The nineteenth consignment, which was imported after the expiry of the period allowed, was passed on a nominal penalty of Rs. 10. For 6 months after the braids were shipped correctly marked; but lately 3 consignments arrived with similar fraudulent labels, and these were allowed to pass on a penalty of Rs. 30 in each case and after amendment of the labels on the goods.

Of the 7 lots of liquors, 2 were consignments of beer, the remaining being samples of wines and spirits. In every case, the bottles were labelled in such a way as to imply that their contents were the produce of England, France or Spain, and the indication of German origin was either such as not to be likely to catch the eye of the purchaser or as to be easily removable after clearance from the Custom House. In 2 instances, no penalty was inflicted as they were sample consignments, but the remaining 5 were heavily penalised. In 2 cases the importers elected to abandon the consignments ; but in the remainder the objectionable labels were removed before clearance or a conspicuous and permanent indication of origin was stamped.

The boxes containing the cigars, which were of Dutch, Belgian and German origin, were branded and labelled in Spanish, the intention presumably being to pass them as real Havanas. No indication of origin accompanied the Spanish expression in 2 instances, while in the other 4 it was shown by means of separate detachable labels or was merely rubber-stamped or stencilled on the boxes, and could be easily removed. The importers were fined in every instance, save one, and the goods were allowed clearance after the indication of origin of the cigars had been branded on each box.

Each pencil of the 3 consignments detained bore the mark "The Coloured Pencil," unaccompanied by an indication of German origin. No penalty was inflicted, but the importers were given the option of (1) marking the indication of origin on the pencils or removing the offending words therefrom, or (2) re-shipping the goods. The owners elected to re-ship the pencils, the aggregate value of which amounted to Rs. 1,136-8-0.

Cycle tyres of German manufacture were marked "Original Dunlop Pneumatic," and were impressed with a likeness of the well known Welsh manufacturer "David Dunlop," but the country of origin was not indicated. The necessary indication of origin was stamped before clearance inwards, but no penalty was imposed.

A false trade description was used in 2 instances. In one case drums were marked "Turpintyne," but the goods were found on examination to be adulterated to the extent of 60 per cent. In the second case, Italian made buttons were described as "Superior Ivory Buttons," although the articles were made of a composition. A fine was inflicted in each case, and the goods were allowed clearance, after the percentage of reduction was marked in the one case and the word "Imitation" stamped on the cards in the other to qualify the words "Ivory Buttons."

In the remaining cases, the English descriptions were unaccompanied by an indication of the country of manufacture, or this was so marked that it was hardly discernible or could be easily removed. In 26 cases, the goods were released after due compliance with the requirements of the law, penalties being levied in 13 cases. In the remaining 6 cases, the goods, being principally samples of small value, were allowed to pass with a mere warning.

There were 2 detentions during the year for alleged imitation of trade marks. In both instances, a local firm intimated that their trade marks (on safety matches and Turkey red yarn) were being copied by other firms importing similar goods. The arrival of the first consignment of each of these was brought to the firm's notice, who furnished the usual indemnity bond. The goods were, however, subsequently allowed to be cleared at the request of the complainants, who said that the matter had been brought to an amicable settlement.

The fines for offences falling under clause (d) amounted to Rs. 466-8-0 in 31 cases.

Out of the 10 cases which occurred under clause (e), 3 consisted of sewing machines, spectacle cases and steel joists, which bore the names of British Indian dealers without any indication of origin. In 2 cases of safes and watches, the country of origin was marked in a very inconspicuous place. Fines amounting to Rs. 60 were levied in these 5 cases, and the goods were passed after being properly marked. The remaining 5 cases were passed without penalties after compliance with the law.

The marked decline in the number of cases falling under clause (f) is mainly attributable to the relaxation by the Government of India of the rules for the stamping of lengths on woollen piece goods, as also to the exercise of greater care on the part of manufacturers and shippers in complying with the requirements of the law.

The manner in which the cases were disposed of is detailed below :

(a) Omission to stamp lengths on pieces in 18 cases, mostly woollen goods. Penalties were levied in 11 instances.

(b) In 26 cases, the lengths on piece-goods were marked inconspicuously or with a material which could be removed in the ordinary handling of the goods.

(c) There were 12 instances of stamping of lengths in numerals only, unaccompanied by the word "yards" as required by law, but no penalty was imposed in any of these.

(d) In a consignment of cotton white piece-goods, the number of cut pieces in a piece making up 40 yards was not marked. A fine of Rs. 10 was inflicted.

In 57 cases the goods were allowed to pass after the requirements of the law had been carried out. In the remaining 2 cases the stamping of lengths was dispensed with, in one of these, the goods being declared for the Afghan market, the lengths were stamped in the Persian character. In the other the stamping was defective.

All detentions under the Act were made by the officers of the Appraising staff in the due performance of their duties, no information being received from outside, except in the 2 cases of alleged infringements of trade marks referred to above. The penalties inflicted during the year amounted to Rs. 926-8-0, which gives an average of Rs. 6·23 per case.

There were no appeals against the decisions of this Custom House.

BURMA.

Sixty-five cases were dealt with under the Merchandise Marks Act during the year, of which 60 occurred at Rangoon and five at Moulmein, as compared with 28 at Rangoon and three at Moulmein in the previous year.

The following statement shows the number of cases dealt with under the Merchandise Marks Act during each of the years 1904-05 and 1905-06 :

There were no detentions under section 10 (d) which relates to counterfeit trade marks and false trade descriptions. Of the 58 cases under clause (e), 51 were of articles shipped from the Continent and seven from Japan. Penalties were imposed in 38 of these cases and the goods were passed after the country of origin had been stamped. In 19 cases the stamping was done without penalty. In the remaining case, consisting of buttons, which could not be stamped, the goods were allowed to be re-shipped without penalty.

Under clause (f) which requires piece-goods to be stamped with their lengths, there were seven detentions : in four cases penalties were imposed and the remaining three were passed without penalties, after the goods had been stamped.

All the cases were disposed of by the Collector. One appeal was made during the year which was rejected by the Chief Customs Authority. The total amount of penalties was Rs. 569. With two exceptions all the cases were detected by the Appraising staff.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to applications for leave to file specifications and for registration of designs under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), or in continuation of such applications, should be addressed to the Patents Secretary, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

The Office of the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, will in future be open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Cheques and money orders will only be accepted if made payable at Calcutta to the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's Office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy, respectively. A consolidated index for the year 1905, entitled "Inventions and Designs in 1905," is also on sale, price one rupee. It contains a chronological list, subject-matter and name indexes of exclusive privileges for inventions, which have been obtained or applied for in that year, together with lists of designs applications.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October 1895 in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitors' room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified: or, if the 10th day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

The Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888), with the notifications and rules issued under its provisions and the notices of the office of Inventions and Designs, to which is added an explanatory memorandum for the guidance of persons applying for protection of Inventions and Designs. Royal 8vo. volumes, paper cover, 13 annas or 1*s*. 1*d*. Postage extra. To be had of the Superintendent, Government Printing, 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, or of the Superintendent, Patents Branch, Department of Commerce and Industry, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

THE HONOURABLE THE RESIDENT IN MYSORE.

NOTIFICATION.

Bangalore, the 18th August 1906.

No. 78.—The following draft rules to regulate the importation, possession and transport of petroleum, which it is proposed to issue in exercise of the powers conferred by section 9 of the Indian Petroleum Act, 1899 (VIII of 1899), as applied to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore and to the railway lands in Mysore territory over which jurisdiction has been ceded to the British Government, are published for the information of all persons likely to be affected thereby, and notice is hereby given that the said draft rules will be taken into consideration on or after the 20th September 1906 :—

DRAFT RULES TO REGULATE THE IMPORTATION, POSSESSION AND TRANSPORT OF PETROLEUM IN THE CIVIL AND MILITARY STATION OF BANGALORE AND IN THE RAILWAY LANDS IN MYSORE TERRITORY OVER WHICH JURISDICTION HAS BEEN CEDED TO THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. In these rules,—

Definitions.

(a) "Part" means a Part of these rules;

(b) "Certificated petroleum" means petroleum certified to be non-dangerous petroleum by a certificate of such description as the Resident in Mysore may, from time to time, by written order, prescribe, granted at the port of shipment;

(c) "petroleum in bulk" means petroleum in quantities exceeding five hundred gallons, contained in any one receptacle;

(d) "installation" means a place specially prepared for the storage of petroleum;

(e) "major installation" means an installation—

(1) capable of containing an amount of oil, whether in bulk only or in combined bulk and non-bulk storage, exceeding fifty thousand gallons, or

(2) in which tin-making operations are carried on;

(f) "minor installation" means an installation—

(1) capable of containing an amount of oil, whether in bulk only or in combined bulk and non-bulk storage, not exceeding fifty thousand gallons, and

(2) in which no tin-making operations are carried on;

(g) "protected works" includes buildings in which persons dwell or assemble, docks, wharves, timber yards, other petroleum stores, and any other place which the Resident in Mysore may declare as such by notification;

(h) "motor-vehicle" includes a motor-bicycle, a motor-tricycle, a motor-boat and a motor-launch; and

(i) "owner," as applied to a motor-vehicle, includes a person who hires, or is otherwise entitled for the time being to use or work, a motor-vehicle.

Part II.

POSSESSION AND TRANSPORT OF PETROLEUM.

CHAPTER I.—POSSESSION OF PETROLEUM.

Smoking prohibited.

1. No smoking shall be permitted inside any installation.

Supervision of operations within installation.

2. All operations within any installation shall be conducted under the supervision of a responsible agent or supervisor.

Cleanliness of installation.

3. The ground in the interior of an installation shall be kept clean and free from goods of a combustible nature, vegetation and rubbish.

Supply of sand in installation.

4. A sufficient supply of sand shall always be kept in an installation for the purpose of extinguishing fire.

Enclosure walls and embankments.

5. All enclosure walls and embankments required to be constructed by or under these rules shall be certified as being sufficient to ensure safety by a Railway Engineer in the case of installations constructed on railway premises, and in the case of other installations by an Engineer accepted as qualified for this purpose by the Resident in Mysore.

Marking of capacity of tanks.

6. The capacity in gallons of every tank and storage shed or godown in an installation shall be conspicuously marked on it, and shall be calculated as follows:—

for tanks, at the rate of 6·25 gallons per cubic foot; for sheds and godowns, at the rate of 10 gallons per three cubic feet.

Protection from lightning.

7. Every tank or other receptacle for the storage of petroleum in bulk, except a tank or receptacle which is not of sufficient capacity to contain ten thousand gallons of petroleum and which is so situated as not to be liable to cause danger in the event of the petroleum being ignited, shall be protected by an efficient lightning-conductor.

Explanation.—A tank or receptacle shall be deemed to be so situated as not to be liable to cause danger in the event of the petroleum being ignited, if it is not in close proximity to any other tank or receptacle, or to any building and if it is surrounded by a wall, or moat, or combination of both, sufficient to prevent the flow of petroleum beyond certain circumscribed limits in the event of the escape of the whole contents of the tank when full.

Testing of lightning-conductor by licensee.

8. Not less than once in every year the licensee of an installation shall test or cause to be tested the efficiency of the conductor in such manner as the authority granting the license may, by general or special order, declare to be sufficient, and a certificate showing the date of the last test shall be posted in a conspicuous place within the installation.

Official testing of lightning-conductor.

9. Any officer appointed by a Resident in Mysore in this behalf may enter any installation for the purpose of testing the efficiency of the conductor, at any time after sunrise and before sunset.

Time for work in installations.

10. No installation shall be open, and no work in any installation shall be permitted, between sunset and sunrise: provided that in cases where electric lighting is exclusively used, night working may be permitted by the Resident in Mysore on the recommendation of the Chief Inspector of Explosives.

Closure of pipes and openings.

11. Where there are any pipes or openings for draining out water in any enclosure wall, arrangements shall be made whereby they can be closed, and they shall only be kept open when actually necessary for drainage purposes. The nature of such arrangements shall be shown in the specifications submitted with the application for a license.

Material for sheds and godowns.

12. All sheds or godowns in an installation for the storage of oil in tins, drums or cases shall be built of uninflammable material.

Posting up of rules and conditions.

13. There shall be hung up in a conspicuous place in every installation for which a license has been granted, copies, in English and the vernacular, of the rules contained in this Part, and of the conditions endorsed on the license.

CHAPTER II.—TRANSPORT OF PETROLEUM.

Validity of license granted in another province.

1. Petroleum may be transported within the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore and the railway lands in Mysore territory over which jurisdiction has been ceded to the British Government under cover of a license granted by the prescribed authority in any province in British India, provided that the conditions of such license are observed throughout the period during which the petroleum is in transit.

CHAPTER III.—GENERAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO LICENSES.

Applications for licenses.

1. All applications for licenses for the possession or transport of petroleum shall be made to the District Magistrate.

Licensing authority.

2. Licenses (a) for the possession or transport of dangerous petroleum in quantities not exceeding forty gallons, (b) for the possession or transport of petroleum, not being dangerous or crude petroleum nor petroleum in bulk, and (c) for the possession of petroleum, in bulk or otherwise, in a minor installation, may be granted by a District Magistrate or by such other authority as the Resident in Mysore may from time to time by order in writing appoint in this behalf. In all other cases the licensing authority shall be the Resident in Mysore.

Refusal of License.

3. The licensing authority may, for reasons to be communicated to the applicant, refuse a license in any case:

Provided that, when a license is refused by any authority other than the Resident in Mysore, such refusal shall be reported to the Resident in Mysore.

Forfeiture of license.

4. Every license granted under these rules shall be liable to be forfeited for any contravention of the Act, or of any rule thereunder, or of any condition contained in such license, or for any other reason deemed by the licensing authority to be good and sufficient, and recorded by him in writing.

Particulars of license.

5. Every license and pass granted under these rules shall be held subject to the conditions endorsed on it, and shall contain all the particulars required to be entered on it by the form prescribed for it under these rules.

Renewal of licenses.

6. (1) Every application for the renewal of a license shall be made in the same manner as an application for an original license.

(2) Every such application shall be made at a date not less than fifteen days before the date on which the original license expires.

(3) The same fee shall be charged for the renewal of a license as for a new license.

Supply of rules to licensee.

7. When any license is granted for the possession or transport of petroleum, a copy of the rules contained in Chapter I of this Part in the case of a license for possession, and Chapter II of this Part in the case of a license for transport, printed in English and the vernacular, shall be given, together with the license, to the licensee.

CHAPTER IV.—LICENSES FOR THE POSSESSION OF PETROLEUM.

Continuance of license.

1. Save as provided in rule 10 of this Chapter, every license for the possession of petroleum shall remain in force until the 31st of December next following the date of issue of the license.

Petroleum not in bulk, other than dangerous petroleum.

2. Licenses for the possession of petroleum, not being dangerous petroleum, otherwise than in bulk, may be granted in Form A.

Transfer of certain licenses.

3. (1) The holder of a license in Form A may, at any time before the expiry of the license, apply for permission to transfer his license to another person.

(2) Such application shall be made to the District Magistrate, who shall, if he approves of the transfer, enter upon the license, under his signature, an endorsement to the effect that the license has been transferred to the person named.

(3) A fee of Rs. 5 shall be charged on each such application.

(4) The person to whom the license is so transferred shall enjoy the same powers and be subject to the same obligations under the license as the original holder.

4. Licenses for the possession of dangerous petroleum not in bulk in quantity exceeding forty gallons may be granted in Form B.

Dangerous petroleum not in bulk.

5. Licenses for the possession of dangerous petroleum in quantity not exceeding forty gallons may be granted in Form C.

6. Special licenses may be granted for the transport of dangerous petroleum other than in bulk in Form L.

Special licenses for the transport of dangerous petroleum.

7. A special license granted under rules 5 and 6 shall only cover the transport of the particular consignment entered in the license.

Effect of special license.

8. Applications for special licenses for the transport of petroleum by rail, by road, or by both, shall specify the description and quantity of petroleum to be transported, and the places from and to which, respectively, the petroleum is to be conveyed, and shall describe the receptacles in which it is to be contained.

Particulars to be given in applications for special licenses.

9. Licenses in Form M to transport dangerous petroleum, otherwise than on a motor-vehicle, may be granted to owners of motor-vehicles holding licenses under rule 9, sub-rule (1), of Chapter IV of this Part, to possess petroleum and use or transport it on a motor-vehicle.

Transport of dangerous petroleum by motorists otherwise than on a motor-vehicle.

CHAPTER VI.—FEES.

Method of levying fees.

1. (1) Where the proceeds of fees leviable for licenses under these rules have been assigned by the Resident in Mysore to any local authority the fees shall be levied in such manner as the local authority may from time to time direct.

(2) In all other cases the fees shall be levied by means of impressed stamps.

(3) An application for the grant or the renewal of a license shall bear the proper stamp, and, if it be refused, the value of the separate stamp (if any) which may have been already provided by the applicant for the desired license or renewed license, minus the deductions prescribed by section 54 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 (II of 1899), as applied to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore may be refunded to the applicant. An application should not be made on the stamped paper intended for the license or renewed license; but, where this has been wrongly done, the value of the stamp may be refunded minus—

(i) the value of the stamp which should have been affixed to the application, and

(ii) the deductions prescribed as aforesaid.

ENDORSEMENT ON FORM B.

Conditions of License.

1. If the licensing officer call upon the holder of a license, by notice in writing, to execute any repairs of the licensed place, which may, in the opinion of such officer, be necessary for the safety of the place, the holder of the license shall execute the repairs within such period, not being less than one week from the date of receipt of the notice, as may be fixed by the notice.

2. The license-holder is prohibited from delivering any quantity of dangerous petroleum exceeding three gallons to any one who has not a license under section 5 or section 6 of the Act, as applied to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore and to the railway lands in Mysore territory over which jurisdiction has beed ceded to the British Government or any less quantity of such petroleum, except in accordance with the conditions of the proviso to section 6 of the said Act, as applied to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore and to the railway lands in Mysore territory over which jurisdiction has been ceded to the British Government as to the vessels in which the petroleum must be contained.

3. The petroleum shall be stored in gas-tight tinned or galvanized sheet iron, steel or lead plate receptacles containing each not more than ten gallons and fitted with well-made filling holes and well-fitting screw plugs or fitted with screw cap with metal air-tight under-cap. Such receptacles shall be packed in strong wooden cases, the thickness of the wood to be not less than half an inch; provided that wood cases shall not be necessary when the receptacles are made of tinned or galvanized sheet iron or steel, and have the following thickness of metal:—

(1) When the capacity does not exceed two gallons, not less than . . 25 B. W. G.
(2) When the capacity exceeds two gallons but does not exceed four gallons 22 B. W. G.
(3) When the capacity exceeds four gallons . . . . 16 B. W. G.

4. An air-space of at least one-tenth of its capacity shall be left in each receptacle at the time of filling.

5. The receptacles shall be so substantially constructed and secured as not to be liable, except under circumstances of grave negligence or extraordinary accident, to be broken or become defective, leaky or insecure.

6. The receptacles shall be labelled in accordance with the provisions of section 7 of the said Act.

7. Any receptacle, before being repaired, shall be cleared of all dangerous petroleum and of all dangerous vapours arising from the same.

8. The building shall be constructed of masonry or other uninflammable material with terraced, tiled or iron roofs and with tiled or paved or earthern floors.

9. Either the doorways and other openings of the building shall be built up to such a height above the level of the road or street, or the floor sunk to such a depth below the level of the road or street, that the petroleum cannot flow out from the building in case of its escape from the receptacle in which it is contained, or the building itself shall be surrounded with a masonry wall or embankment or both sufficiently high to contain all the petroleum in case of its escape from the building.

A combination of these methods is permissible.

10. All ventilating openings in the building shall be protected by strong wire gauze.

11. No light, except a light of such strength, position and character as is not liable to ignite any inflammable vapour, or fire of any description, shall be permitted at any time within the installation.

12. All due precautions shall be taken for the prevention of unauthorised persons having access to any dangerous petroleum kept and to the vessels containing or having actually contained the same.

13. Every person managing or employed on or in connection with the place of storage shall abstain from any act whatever which tends to cause fire or explosion and which is not reasonably necessary, and shall prevent any other person from doing such act.

14. The drum or other receptacle containing dangerous petroleum shall only be opened on the licensed premises at or immediately adjoining the place of storage, and for the time necessary for drawing off the petroleum and during such drawing off every reasonable precaution shall be adopted for preventing the escape of dangerous petroleum or the vapour therefrom.

15. The following distances shall be kept clear from protected works round the place of storage:—

Quantity to be stored.	Distances to be kept clear when dangerous petroleum is stored in drums of not greater capacity than four gallons.	Distances to be kept clear when dangerous petroleum is stored in drums of capacity exceeding four gallons but not exceeding ten gallons.
	Feet.	Feet.
Not exceeding 1,000 gallons	25	30
From 1,000 to 5,000 „	40	50
„ 5,000 to 10,000 „	60	70

ENDORSEMENT ON FORM D.

Conditions of License.

1. Each tank shall either be separately surrounded by a wall or embankment of substantial construction, or shall be partially sunk in an excavation. The inclosure thus formed shall be of dimensions sufficient to contain 10 per cent. more oil than the tank is capable of containing, and shall be so constructed as to prevent the escape therefrom of any oil in the form of liquid, whether under the action of fire or otherwise. The space enclosed by such wall or excavation, and not occupied by the tank, shall be kept entirely clear and unoccupied.

2. All sheds or godowns for the storage of oil in tins, drums or cases shall be surrounded by masonry walls or embankments, or a combination of both, so constructed as to prevent the overflow of any oil that may be stored at any time within such sheds or godowns in case of its escape from the tins, drums or cases in which it is stored. The enclosure thus formed shall be of dimensions sufficient to contain 10 per cent. more oil than such sheds or godowns are licensed to contain.

3. A distance of not less than one hundred feet shall be kept clear between one storage tank and another, and no tank shall be of greater height than thirty-two feet above ground level.

4. A distance of not less than one hundred and fifty feet shall be kept clear between sheds or godowns for the storage of oil otherwise than in bulk and tanks for bulk oil storage, the distance being measured between the nearest points of the perimeters of the tanks or storage buildings, as the case may be.

Proviso.—Provided that where a screen wall intervenes, the distance to be kept clear shall be not less than one hundred feet.

5. A distance of not less than one hundred and fifty feet shall be kept clear between any storage tank or building and any protected work.

ENDORSEMENT ON FORM G.

Conditions of the License.

1. The dangerous petroleum shall not be kept, used, or transported except in gas-tight tinned or galvanized sheet iron, steel, or lead plate drums or receptacles containing each not more than 4 gallons and fitted with well-made filling holes and well-fitting screw plugs or fitted with screw cap with metal air-tight under-cap. Such drums or receptacles shall be packed in strong wooden cases, the thickness of the wood to be not less than half an inch. Provided that wood cases shall not be necessary when the drums or receptacles are made of tinned or galvanized sheet iron, or steel, and have the following thickness of metal :—

	Not less than
(1) When the capacity does not exceed 2 gallons	25 B. W. G.
(2) When the capacity exceeds 2 gallons	22 B. W. G.

2. The drums or receptacles shall be so substantially constructed and secured as not to be liable, except under circumstances of gross negligence or extraordinary accident, to be broken or become defective, leaky, or insecure.

3. Every such vessel, not forming part of a motor-vehicle, when used for transporting or keeping dangerous petroleum, shall bear the words "Dangerous Petroleum—Highly Inflammable" legibly and indelibly stamped or marked thereon, or on a metallic or enamelled label attached thereto.

4. An air-space of at least one-tenth of its capacity shall be left in each drum or receptacle at the time of filling to allow for expansion of the dangerous petroleum.

5. Before repairs are done to any such vessel, that vessel shall, as far as practicable, be cleaned by the removal of all dangerous petroleum and of all dangerous vapours derived from the same.

6. The store-house or building in which the dangerous petroleum is stored shall be well ventilated and constructed of uninflammable materials, provided, however, that the doors and windows may be of wood.

7. Where a store-house forms part of, or is attached to, another building, and when the intervening floor or partition is of an unsubstantial or inflammable character, or has an opening therein, the whole of such building shall be deemed to be the store-house, and no portion of such store-house shall be used as a dwelling or as a place where persons assemble. A store-house shall have a separate entrance from the open air distinct from that of any dwelling or building in which persons assemble.

8. The amount of dangerous petroleum to be kept in any one store-house, whether or not upon motor vehicles, shall not exceed sixty gallons at any one time.

9. The filling or replenishing of any vessels with dangerous petroleum shall not be carried on, nor shall the contents of any such vessel be exposed, in the presence of fire or artificial light, except a light of such construction, position and character as not to be liable to ignite any inflammable vapour, and no artificial light shall be brought within dangerous proximity of the place where any vessel containing dangerous petroleum is being kept.

10. THE RESERVE FORCES ACT, 1906.

[6 EDW. 7, CH. 11.]

An Act to amend the Law relating to the Reserve Forces.

[20TH JULY, 1906.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :

Extension of Reserve Forces Acts to men when outside the United Kingdom.

1. (1) Notwithstanding anything in the Reserve Forces Acts, a man belonging to the Army Reserve may, if so authorised by or under the directions of the Secretary of State, reside in any British protectorate or in any part of His Majesty's dominions outside the United Kingdom, and men may be enlisted into the Army Reserve in any British protectorate or in any part of His Majesty's dominions outside the United Kingdom except in a colony possessing responsible government, and those Acts shall, subject to such adaptations as may be made under this section, apply to such men whilst so residing, and to such enlistment.

45 & 46 Vict., c. 48.

(2) Regulations made under section twenty of the Reserve Forces Act, 1882, may prescribe the conditions under which men belonging to the Army Reserve may, if so authorised, reside outside the United Kingdom, and the conditions under which men may be enlisted into the Army Reserve outside the United Kingdom, and may make such adaptations in the Reserve Forces Acts as may be necessary for the purpose of adapting those Acts to the circumstances of the several parts of His Majesty's dominions outside the United Kingdom or of British protectorates.

(3) In this section the expression "Reserve Forces Acts" means the Reserve Forces Act, 1882, as amended by any subsequent enactment, and includes any enactment applied by that Act as so amended; and the expression "colony possessing responsible government" means any colony which is specified in the Schedule to this Act, or which may hereafter on the grant to the colony of responsible government be added to that Schedule by Order in Council.

Amendment of 45 & 46 Vict., c. 48., s. 14.

2. In sub-section (2) of section fourteen of the Reserve Forces Act, 1882 (which relates to the appointment and transfer to corps of men belonging to the reserve forces when called out on permanent service), the words "so, however, that he shall not without his consent be appointed or transferred to a corps which is not in the arm or branch in which he previously served" shall be repealed, but this repeal shall not, without his consent, obtained at or after the time of mobilisation, affect any man enlisted before the passing of this Act.

45 & 45 Vict., c. 48.
61 & 62 Vict., c. 9.
53 & 54 Vict., c. 42.
62 & 63 Vict., c. 40.
63 & 64 Vict., c. 42.

Short title.

3. This Act may be cited as the Reserve Forces Act, 1906, and the Reserve Forces Acts, 1882 and 1890, and so much of the Reserve Forces and Militia Act, 1898, as applies to the reserve forces, and the Reserve Forces Act, 1899, and the Reserve Forces Act, 1900, and this Act, may be cited together as the Reserve Forces Acts, 1882 to 1906.

ORDER IN COUNCIL.

NICARAGUA EXTRADITION TREATY ORDER IN COUNCIL OF 11TH MAY, 1906.

AT the Court at Buckingham Palace, the 11th day of May, 1906.

PRESENT :

The KING'S Most Excellent Majesty.

Lord President.

Lord Chamberlain.

Lord Ribblesdale.

Mr. L. Harcourt.

WHEREAS by the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1895, it was amongst other things enacted that, where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, His Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that the said Acts shall apply in the case of such foreign State ; and that His Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of His Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient ;

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the nineteenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and five, between His Majesty and the President of the Republic of Nicaragua, for the mutual extradition of fugitive criminals, which Treaty is in the terms following :

Treaty between the United Kingdom and the Republic of Nicaragua for the Mutual Surrender of Fugitive Criminals.

His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India, and His Excellency the President of the Republic of Nicaragua, having determined, by common consent, to conclude a Treaty for the extradition of criminals, have accordingly named as their Plenipotentiaries :

His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India ; Herbert William Broadley Harrison, Esquire, Companion of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, His Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires in the Republic of Nicaragua ; and His Excellency the President of Nicaragua ; Doctor Adolfo Altamirano, Tratado entre le Gran Bretaña y la República de Nicaragua para la extradición recíproca de criminales fugitivos.

SU Majestad el Rey del Reino Unido de la Gran Bretaña é Irlanda y de los dominios británicos de allende los mares, Emperador de la India, &c., &c., y El Presidente de la República de Nicaragua, habiendo determinado, por mútuo acuerdo, concluir un tratado para la extradición de criminales, han nombrado por sus Plenipotenciarios, al efecto :

Su Majestad el Rey del Reino Unido de la Gran Bretaña é Irlanda, &c. ; al Señor Herbert William Broadley Harrison, Caballero, Socio de la muy distinguida Orden de San Miguel y San Jorge, Encargado de Negocios de Su Majestad Británica en Nicaragua ; y el Señor Presidente de la República de Nicaragua ; al Señor Doctor Don Adolfo Altamirano, Ministro de Relaciones Exteriores ; quienes, habiéndose comunicado sus respectivos Plenos Poderes, y respectivamente, á causa de un delito por el cual se reclama la extradición.

If the person claimed on the part of the Government of the United Kingdom, or if the person claimed on the part of the Government of Nicaragua, should be under examination for any crime in the territory of Nicaragua or in the United Kingdom respectively, his extradition shall be deferred until the conclusion of the trial and the full execution of any punishment awarded to him.

Si la persona reclamada por el Gobierno del Reino Unido ó él de Nicaragua estuviere juzgándose en los respectivos territorios, se deferirá la extradición hasta la conclusión del juicio y plena ejecución de la sentencia condenatoria que recaiga.

ARTICLE V.

The extradition shall not take place if, subsequently to the commission of the crime or the institution of the penal prosecution or the conviction thereon, exemption from prosecution or punishment has been acquired by lapse of time, according to the laws of the State applied to.

ARTICULO V.

No se efectuará la extradición, si cometido el delito ó iniciada la causa, ó pronunciada la sentencia penal llegare el caso de prescripcion por razón de tiempo conforme á las leyes del Estado requerido.

ARTICLE VI.

A fugitive shall not be surrendered if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded is one of a political character, or if he prove that the requisition for his surrender has in fact been made with a view to try or punish him for an offence of a political character.

ARTICULO VI.

Si el delito por que se reclama la extradición fuere de carácter politico, ó si se probare, bien sea por el reclamado, que la demanda de extradición, ha sido, en realidad, hecha con la mira de juzgarle ó castigarle por delito de carácter politico, no tendrá lugar la extradición.

ARTICLE VII.

A person surrendered can in no case be kept in prison or be brought to trial in the State to which the surrender has been made for any other crime, or on account of any other matters than those for which the extradition shall have taken place. This stipulation does not apply to crimes committed after the extradition.

ARTICULO VII.

La persona extraida, no podrá en ningún caso mantenerse en prisión ó someterse á juicio en el Estado al cual se haya concedido su extradición, por ningún otro delito, ni por razón de ningún otro asunto que aquellos por los cuales se hubiese concedido la extradición. Esta estipulación no es aplicable á los delitos cometidos después de la extradición.

ARTICLE VIII.

The requisition for extradition shall be made through the Diplomatic Agents, or duly recognised Consuls-General of the High Contracting Parties respectively.

ARTICULO VIII.

La demanda de extradición se hará por medio de los agentes diplomáticos ó Cónsules-Generales debidamente reconocidos, de las Altas Partes Contratantes respectivamente.

The requisition for the extradition of an accused person must be accompanied by a warrant of arrest issued by the competent authority of the State requiring the extradition, and by such evidence as, according to the laws of the place where the accused is found, would justify his arrest if the crime had been committed there.

La demanda de extradición de una persona acusada debe ir acompañada de la órden de detención emitida por la autoridad competente del Estado que pida la extradición, y de las pruebas que, según las leyes del país donde el acusado se encuentre, permitan su detención si allí hubiera cometido el delito.

If the requisition relates to a person already convicted, it must be accompanied by a sentence of condemnation passed against the convicted person by the competent Court of the State that makes the requisition for extradition.

Si la demanda se refiere á una persona ya sentenciada, se acompañará la sentencia condenatoria pronunciada por el tribunal competente del Estado que haga la demanda.

A sentence passed in contumaciam is not to be deemed a conviction, but a person so sentenced may be dealt with as an accused person.

La sentencia pronunciada en contumacia no se tendrá por pasada en autoridad de cosa juzgada ; pero la persona asi sentenciada puede ser tratada como acusada.

ARTICLE IX.

If the requisition for extradition be in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the competent authorities of the State applied to shall proceed to the arrest of the fugitive.

The prisoner is then to be brought before a competent Magistrate, who is to examine him and to conduct the preliminary investigation of the case, just as if the apprehension had taken place for a crime committed in the same country.

ARTICLE X.

The extradition shall not take place before the expiration of fifteen days from the apprehension, and then only if the evidence be found sufficient, according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial, in case the crime has been committed in the territory of the said State, or to prove that the prisoner is the identical person convicted by the Courts of the State which makes the requisition.

ARTICLE XI.

In the examinations which they have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the authorities of the State applied to shall admit as entirely valid evidence the sworn depositions or statements of witnesses taken in the other State, or copies thereof, and likewise the warrants and sentences issued therein, provided such documents are signed or certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or officer of such State, and are authenticated by the oath of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of the Minister of Justice, or some other Minister of State.

ARTICLE XII.

If sufficient evidence for extradition be not produced within two months from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, he shall be set at liberty.

ARTICLE XIII.

All articles seized which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension shall, if the competent authority of the State applied to for the extradition has ordered the delivery thereof, be given up when the extradition takes place; and the said delivery shall extend, not merely to the stolen articles, but to everything that may serve as a proof of the crime.

ARTICLE XIV.

The High Contracting Parties renounce any claim for the reimbursement of the expenses incurred by them in the arrest and maintenance of the person to be surrendered and his conveyance till placed on board ship; they reciprocally agree to bear such expenses themselves.

ARTICULO IX.

Si la demanda de extradición fuere conforme con las estipulaciones anteriores, la autoridad competente del Estado á que se haga, procederá á la detención del fugitivo.

El detenido será puesto en seguida á disposición de un Juez competente, que le tomará declaración indagatoria y tendrá á su cargo la investigación sumaria del caso, exactamente como si la detención se hubiere efectuado por delito cometido en el mismo país.

ARTICULO X.

No se efectuará la extradición antes de quince días contados desde la fecha de la detención, y únicamente si la prueba que se presente fuere bastante según las leyes del Estado á que se reclama, ya para el enjuiciamiento del detenido si el delito se hubiera cometido en el territorio de dicho Estado, ó para su identificación si hubiere sido condenado por tribunales del Estado que lo reclame.

ARTICULO XI.

En las investigaciones que harán las autoridades del Estado á que se pida la extradición, conforme á las estipulaciones que anteceden, admitirán como enteramente válidas las pruebas deposiciones juradas ó declaraciones de testigos que se tomen en el otro Estado, ó copias de las unas y las otras, y también las órdenes y sentencias en él emitidas, debiendo tales documentos estar firmados ó certificados por un Juez, Magistrado ó empleado del Estado y autenticados por Secretario ó testigos ó sellados con el sello oficial del Ministro de Justicia ó de otro Ministro de Estado.

ARTICULO XII.

Si no se produjere dentro de dos meses de la fecha de la detención del fugitivo, suficiente prueba para fundar la extradición, el fugitivo será puesto en libertad.

ARTICULO XIII.

Al efectuarse la extradición, se entregarán los artículos embargados que se hallen en poder de la persona reclamada al tiempo de su detención, si la autoridad competente del Estado á quien se haya pedido la extradición ordenase su entrega; y esta comprenderá no solo los effectos robados, sino también cuanto pueda servir como prueba del delito.

ARTICULO XIV.

Las Altas Partes Contratantes renuncian toda pretensión al reembolso de los gastos que sufraguen en la detención y mantenimiento de las personas reclamadas y su conducción á bordo de un buque. Recíprocamente sufragarán esos gastos.

ARTICLE XV.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to the Colonies and foreign possessions of His Britannic Majesty. The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal, who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign possessions, shall be made to the Governor or Chief authority of such Colony or possession by the chief Consular officer of Nicaragua in such Colony or possession.

Such requisitions may be disposed of (subject always, as nearly as may be, to the provisions of this Treaty) by the said Governor or chief authority, who, however, shall be at liberty either to grant the surrender or to refer the matter to his Government.

His Britannic Majesty shall, however, be at liberty to make special arrangements in the British Colonies and foreign possessions for the surrender of Nicaraguan criminals who may take refuge within such Colonies and foreign possessions, on the basis, as nearly as may be, of the provisions of the present Treaty.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal from any Colony or foreign possession of His Britannic Majesty shall be governed by the rules laid down in the preceding Articles of the present Treaty.

ARTICULO XV.

Las estipulaciones del presente Tratado serán aplicables á las colonias y posesiones de ultramar de Su Majestad Británica. El requerimiento para la entrega de un reo fugitivo que se haya refugiado en cualquiera de tales colonias ó posesiones de ultramar, lo formulará el agente consular superior de Nicaragua en aquella colonia ó posesión, dirigiéndolo al Gobernador ó autoridad superior de la misma. De estos requerimientos conocerá y resolverá dicho Gobernador ó autoridad superior, sujeto siempre en cuanto sea posible á lo que este Tratado previene; pero tendrá libertad de conceder la extradición ó de someter el asunto á su Gobierno.

Sin embargo Su Majestad Británica tendrá libertad para efectuar arreglos especiales en las colonias británicas ó posesiones de ultramar, basados en cuanto sea posible, en las estipulaciones del presente Tratado, á fin de hacer la entrega de los reos nicaragüenses.

La demanda de extradición de un criminal fugitivo de cualquier colonia ó posesíon de ultramar de Su Majestad Británica, se ajustará á las reglas prescritas en los artículos precedentes de este Tratado.

ARTICLE XVI.

The present Treaty shall come into force ten days after its publication, in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the High Contracting Parties. It may be terminated by either of the High Contracting Parties by a notice not exceeding one year, and not less than six months.

It shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged in London within the period of six months from the date of signature.

In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and affixed thereto their respective seals.

Done in duplicate at Managua, the nineteenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and five.

ARTICULO XVI.

El presente Tratado entrará en vigor diez dias después de su publicacion, de acuerdo con las formas prescritas por las leyes de las Altas Partes Contratantes. Cualquiera de las dos Altas Partes Contratantes podrá tenerlo por terminado notificando al efecto á la otra Parte dentro de un término que no sea de menos de seis meses ni más de un año.

Este Tratado se ratificará y las ratificaciones se canjearán en Londres dentro del término de seis meses contados desde la fecha de la firma.

En fe de lo cual, los respectivos Plenipotenciarios han firmado el presente Tratado y selládola con sus sellos.

Hecho por duplicado en Managua, el día diecinueve de Abril, de mil novecientos cinco.

(L.S.) ADOLFO ALTAMIRANO.

And whereas the ratifications of the said Treaty were exchanged at London on the thirteenth day of February, one thousand nine hundred and six:

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to Him by the said recited Acts, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the 25th day of May, one thousand nine hundred and six, the said Acts shall apply in the case of the Republic of Nicaragua, under and in accordance with the said Treaty.

Provided always that the operation of the said Acts shall be and remain suspended within the Dominion of Canada so long as an Act of the Parliament of Canada passed in 1886, and entitled " An Act respecting the Extradition of Fugitive Criminals," shall continue in force there, and no longer.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs., on Thursday, the 6th September 1906, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The weather during the past week has been influenced by two depressions. The first, which had formed off the Orissa coast and had advanced to the neighbourhood of Saugor on the 30th, moved into south Rajputana at the beginning of the week and became merged in the permanent low pressure area in northwest India. It caused some heavy rain in east Gujarat and south Rajputana, but with its disappearance rainfall due to the Bombay current diminished and was very scanty until the second depression appeared off the Orissa coast on the 4th. This disturbance however remained shallow and on the 6th had reached the vicinity of Sambalpur: it was accompanied by a large increase in precipitation over the greater part of India.

Burma.—Precipitation was fairly heavy on the coast and widespread in the interior, the total amount for the week being in excess of the normal except in the north. The temperature changes were small and skies were moderately overcast.

Northeast India and Orissa.—During the first three days of the week weather was practically dry except for light rain in Assam; but when the depression began to form off the Orissa coast precipitation reappeared in deltaic Bengal, Chota Nagpur and Orissa and continued throughout the rest of the period. In the remainder of this division the rainfall was very scanty, and except in Orissa the total fall for the period was much less than usual. Temperature did not differ very much from the normal, and skies were lightly to moderately overcast.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—The break in the rains in the United Provinces continued until the 4th, on which date the position of the trough of low pressure allowed the winds from the Bay to extend up the Gangetic plain and on the 5th widespread rainfall occurred: on the next day however rainfall had again diminished. In Central India and the Central Provinces rainfall diminished rapidly after the first depression passed out of these areas, and on the 2nd and 3rd weather was dry. Next day owing to the position of the trough of low pressure and the appearance of a depression off the Orissa coast precipitation again commenced in the Central Provinces and continued for the rest of the week, extending into Central India on the 6th; the rainfall was not heavy except at one or two stations. Skies were heavily clouded in Central India and the Central Provinces, but in the United Provinces they were generally lightly overcast. Temperature was in large defect in the Central Provinces on the 31st, but by the 3rd it was normal and did not change very much during the rest of the week. In the other areas the temperature departures from normal were not large.

Northwest India.—Under the influence of the depression at the beginning of the week heavy rain fell in parts of east Gujarat and south Rajputana on the 31st, 1st and 2nd. There was also light rain in parts of both Rajputana and Gujarat on the 3rd and 4th, but during the remaining two days weather was dry in the latter area, and there was light rainfall in the southeastern half of Rajputana. In the Punjab and the Frontier Province every station except Peshawar and Multan have reported rain, the total fall for the week being in excess of the normal in the Lahore and Ludhiana subdivisions; in Sind also light rain fell on the 31st and 1st. Skies were moderately to heavily overcast in Rajputana and Gujarat, and they were generally clear or lightly overcast in the Punjab. Temperature was over 10° in defect in the central parts of the Punjab on the 1st but by the 3rd it had recovered and was normal for the remaining days of the week: in Gujarat weather was slightly cooler than usual, and in the rest of northwest India temperature was approximately normal.

The Peninsula.—The monsoon was weak in the Peninsula until the 4th and very little rain fell except on the west coast. On the 4th the current strengthened owing to the depression off the Orissa coast, and during the remaining days of the week rainfall, though generally light, was widespread except in the southeastern districts. Temperature was normal except on the 5th and 6th when it was in defect, and skies, which were moderately clouded on the first three days of the week, were heavily overcast on the last three.

The rainfall of the whole period from the 4th May to the 6th September was equal to or in excess of the normal over the greater part of the country. It was in defect in Baluchistan, the Northwest Dry Area, and the subdivisions of Lahore, Jaipur, Jhansi, Ranchi and Cuttack.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 hrs. each day:

August 31st. Sialkot 3·72", Cherat 4·32", Dera Ismail Khan 1·27", Bikaner 1·92", Udaipur 2·14", Mount Abu 5·33" and Ahmedabad 5·93".

September 1st. Lahore 3·67" and Mount Abu 7·84".

" 2nd. Tavoy 4·37", Ludhiana 1·50", Jodhpur 1·11" and Deesa 2·73".

" 3rd. Moulmein 4·24" and Patna 2·15".

" 4th. Monywa 2·42", Berhampore 2·33", Jubbulpore 3·64", Bhuj 2·05" and Raichur 3·05".

" 5th. False Point 1·57", Cawnpore 2·67", Rawalpindi 2·73", Aurangabad 2·04", Hyderabad (Deccan) 2·09" and Hanumkonda 2·11".

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 1st September 1906.

Burma.—Good rain has fallen in the Arakan and Tenasserim Divisions and in Hanthawaddy, Bassein, Minbu, Bhamo, Myitkyina and the Southern Shan States. The standing crops are generally in good condition but in Tharrawaddy serious damage is expected from floods due to an abnormal rise of the Irrawaddy; rain is also badly wanted on the east of the railway in Prome where crops are withering in nearly all townships; more rain is wanted in Henzada and Myaungmya; crops are withering in Thayetmyo except in the Kama and Mindon townships; more rain is also wanted in Shwebo, Sagaing, Lower Chindwin and Kyaukse; rain is still insufficient in Myingyan where crops in Salé are in a precarious condition. The price of paddy has risen largely in Henzada; considerably in Amherst, Tavoy and Magwe; and slightly in Thaton and Mandalay.

Eastern-Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Slight to moderate rain has fallen generally in all districts. Floods are subsiding gradually. The proportion of the crops damaged by floods is small in some districts. The outturn of tea in Cachar to date is below average, it is good in Sylhet, Nowgong, and Lakhimpur, and fair elsewhere. Harvesting of early rice is nearly finished and the outturn is generally fair. Cutting of jute and transplantation of late rice is in progress. The prospects of the crops are generally fair. Prices of common rice:—Manipur 14; Kohima 10; Tezpur 8; Noakhali and Chittagong 7½; Dinajpur, Rangamati and Sibsagar 7; Jalpaiguri, Silchar, Gauhati, Dibrugarh, Malda and Pabna 6½; Comilla 6$\frac{7}{16}$; Faridpur 6⅜; Bogra, Dacca, Barisal, Dhubri, Rampur Boalia and Nowgong 6; Mymensingh, Sylhet and Shillong 5½; Tura and Aijal 5; and Rangpur 4 seers per rupee. Prices have risen in two; fallen in seven; and stationary in the remaining districts.

Scarcity prevails in Bakarganj, Mymensingh, Tippera, Noakhali and Sibsagar. Forty-five men, 37 women, and 12 children are being gratuitously relieved in Bakarganj. In Mymensingh 1,074 persons are in receipt of gratuitous relief and none are employed on test works. In Tippera 400 persons are being gratuitously relieved, there being none on test works. In Noakhali 28 men and 1 child are employed on relief works and 1,712 persons are in receipt of gratuitous relief.

Bengal.—Rain was fairly general but for the most part light except at Cuttack and Ranchi where the fall was moderate. More rain is needed for winter paddy in most of the districts of the Burdwan and Orissa Divisions. In Darbhanga distress prevails on account of serious damage done by the recent rain and floods; poor houses have been opened at different centres with District Board Funds for feeding several thousand destitute persons. Scarcity is also apprehended in parts of Jessore, Murshidabad, Saran, and the 24-Parganas on account of the high prices of food-grains. The prospects of the aman paddy are on the whole fair except in Darbhanga. The water-supply is sufficient. Fodder is insufficient in Murshidabad and Darbhanga. The price of common rice has risen in twenty-two districts and fallen in five; it continues to be very high in most districts.

United Provinces.—There was no rain in Aligarh, Muttra, and Tehri and only slight showers elsewhere. The long break is causing some anxiety but no serious damage has been done yet to the standing crops which are generally doing well. Weeding and the preparation of fields for the spring harvest continue. The floods are subsiding in Gorakhpur. Cholera has reappeared in Muttra and is still prevalent in Jhansi, but is dying out in Hamirpur. Malaria is prevalent in Bundelkhand. Markets generally are well stocked and there is an ample supply of fodder and pasturage for cattle. Prices of food-grains have fallen in eight districts; they show a tendency to rise in Sitapur, Lucknow, Jaunpur and Ballia.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—There was no rain in Muttra and only slight showers elsewhere. More rain is needed in all districts and especially in those of the Agra Division where some anxiety is being caused by the long break. Early autumn crops are being harvested and preparations for the spring harvest continue. The standing crops are generally doing well. Cholera has reappeared in Muttra and is still prevalent in Jhansi, but it is dying out in Hamirpur. Malaria is prevalent in the two last named districts and in Jalaun; quinine is being distributed. Cattle are healthy and there is an ample supply of fodder. Prices of food-grains are falling in Banda, Jalaun, and Etawah. The numbers on relief are:—Allahabad Division—on works 1,000, on gratuitous relief 113,000; Agra Division—on works nil, on gratuitous relief 9,000, total 123,000.

Punjab.—Good rain has fallen in Jullundur, Ferozepore, Sialkot, Rawalpindi, and in parts of Lahore, and light to moderate rain in other districts except Delhi. Prices show a tendency to fall; wheat is falling in Rohtak, Ambala, and Sialkot. Sowings of autumn crops are still going on in some districts and sowings of Toria (Brassica campestris) have commenced in Lahore, Amritsar, Sialkot, and Lyallpur. Gram is being sown in Sialkot and Multan. Ploughings for spring crops continue in other districts. The condition and prospects of the standing autumn crops is good all round, but more rain is urgently wanted in the Delhi Division; the outturn is expected to be good. Crops are being damaged by insects and young locusts in parts of the Gurgaon district, and cotton to some extent by boll worm in Sialkot, and by insect pests in Lyallpur and in parts of Multan; while floods have damaged crops on the banks of the Sutlej and on the inundation canals in the Lahore district. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of Hissar and Gurgaon. There are no complaints regarding the water-supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—There was good rain all over the Province averaging 3 cents to 3·51 inches. It has been beneficial to the standing crops and to spring sowings. The condition of the standing crops on irrigated areas is satisfactory. Harvest prospects and the probable outturn of the autumn crops are fair. Canal water and the Kilapani supply are sufficient; heavy floods have occurred in Kurram and Gambila. There is good irrigation from hill torrents in the Daman tract and from the river Indus floods in Kachi in the Dera Ismail Khan district. The condition of cattle is generally good except in a few villages of the Peshawar district. The stocks of food-grains are sufficient. Fodder is procurable. Prices are fluctuating. Prices—wheat $14\frac{13}{16}$ to 17; maize $14\frac{3}{16}$ to $18\frac{1}{2}$; gram $14\frac{5}{8}$ to 18; and bajra 12 to $13\frac{1}{4}$ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was good rain during the week. Prices are fluctuating:—wheat 14 to 24 and maize 16 to 34 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient except in the hill tracts of the Ramban and Kishtwar tehsils.

Kashmir.—The weather is bright. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—Rainfall in cents:—Bikaner 51, Jodhpur 132, Jaisalmer 300, Sirohi 600, Udaipur 590, Hill Tracts 550, Partabgarh 471, Bundi 60, Kotah 67, Jhalawar 109, Kishangarh 200, Dholpur 30, Ajmer 19, and Merwara 159. In these tracts the falls were generally well distributed and heavy in parts of Jodhpur. There was no rain or practically none in Tonk, Shahpura, Jaipur, Alwar, Karauli, and Bharatpur. The standing crops are generally doing well except in parts of Tonk, Alwar, Karauli, Bharatpur, and Dholpur. Slight damage from locusts is reported from Tonk, Jaipur, Karauli, and Dholpur. Condition of cattle is generally fair and pasturage is available. Prices are still high but have fallen considerably in Kishangarh, and show a tendency to fall except in Bundi and Dholpur where they have risen slightly.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Ajmer—on works 409, on gratuitous relief 827; total 1,236; Merwara—on works 9,829, on gratuitous relief 8,251; total 18,080. Native States:—Marwar—on gratuitous relief 674; Tonk—on works 1,130, on gratuitous relief 358; total 1,488; Jaipur—on works 4,827, on gratuitous relief 18; total 4,845; Kishangarh—on works 24, on gratuitous relief 421; total 445; Alwar—on gratuitous relief 176; Eastern States—on works 1,179, on gratuitous relief 728; total 1,907; grand total 9,535. Prices vary between $13\frac{1}{2}$ seers in Karauli and 18 seers per rupee in Kishangarh. Cholera is subsiding in Bharatpur; is severe in one tehsil of Alwar and a few cases are reported from Ajmer.

Central India.—The rainfall was general but more rain is wanted in parts of Gwalior. Weeding and preparation of land for spring cultivation are in progress. The standing crops are fair to good. Crops have been slightly damaged in parts of Gwalior and Bhopawar. Pasturage is sufficient. Prices are high in Gwalior and Baghelkhand; have fallen in Malwa; and are steady elsewhere.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The numbers on relief are:—Gwalior—on works 1,000; on gratuitous relief 2,000; total 3,000; in Bundelkhand—on works 3,000 ; on gratuitous relief 3,000 ; total 6,000 ; grand total 9,000. Prices—12 to 13 seers per rupee in Bundelkhand.

Central Provinces.—Good rain fell again throughout the Provinces during the week amounting in Nagpur to 11¼, Balaghat 9¼, Bhandara 8¼, Seoni 8¼, Betul 8, Wardha 7¾, Chhindwara 7¼, Amraoti 5¾, Jubbulpur 5¼, and Nimar 5¼ inches ; elsewhere the fall ranged from 3¾ in Mandla to 1½ inches in Bilaspur. More rain is required in parts of Damoh, Drug, and Bilaspur. On the whole the rainfall has been beneficial but it has caused slight damage to crops in Mandla, Wardha, Chanda, Bhandara, Akola, and Amraoti, and has retarded spring sowings in a few districts. Preparation of land for spring sowings is finished in most district. Thinning of rice continues in Drug. Prospects are generally good. Gram and juar have been slightly dearer in Chhindwara and Bhandara, respectively ; the price of rice shows a tendency to rise in Chhattisgarh, Nagpur and Balaghat owing to the export of food-grains to Bengal. Prices of food-grains are still equal to the scarcity level in Wardha, Chanda, Balaghat, Drug, Raipur, and Bilaspur.

Bombay.—There was good rain during the week in Sind, Gujarat, the Konkan, Khandesh, Nasik, Poona, Satara, Belgaum, Baroda, Cutch, Palanpur, Mahi Kantha, Rewa Kantha, Kathiawar, Sawantwadi and Kolhapur ; and slight in Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Bijapur and Dharwar. A break is needed in parts of Broach, Panch Mahals, Palanpur, and Nasik. Inundation is satisfactory in Sind. Cotton sowing continues in places and transplantation is nearing completion. The area under cotton is generally above the normal and under other crops above normal in parts of Sind and the Deccan, and generally nearly normal elsewhere. The standing crops are generally in good condition except for slight damage by winds in Hyderabad ; by locusts in Thar and Parkar ; by floods in Karachi, Larkana, Broach, Baroda, and Rewa Kantha ; and by heavy rain in Karachi, Sukkur, Panch Mahals, and Poona. Sowing of spring crops has commenced in parts of the Deccan and the Karnatak. The supply of drinking water is adequate. Irrigation channels, tanks, and wells are nearly full. Agricultural stock is generally deficient in affected tracts but is improving in condition as sufficient green grass is becoming available everywhere. Trade is active and stocks of grain in markets are adequate. Prices show a tendency to fall. The quantity of grain purchasable per rupee is in the Deccan 11 to 50 per cent ; in the Karnatak 30 per cent ; and elsewhere 10 to 30 per cent less than the normal. The numbers on test works on the last day of the week ending the 25th ultimo were :—Phaltan 78, Jamkhandi 132, total 210. The demand for agricultural labour is increasing and the numbers on works are falling in consequence. The public health is generally good. Cholera is still prevalent in parts of the Deccan and Karnatak. Relief works have been closed in Sangli and reopened in Kolhapur. The numbers on relief are :—British districts—Deccan—on works 10,877, on gratuitous relief 25,913, total 36,790 ; Karnatak—on works 12,691, on gratuitous relief 14,406, total 27,097 ; Native States—on works 2,427, on gratuitous relief 1,987, total 4,414.

Hyderabad.—Rainfall—2 inches 32 cents. Prospects are good. Weeding of autumn crops continues ; early rice is still being sown ; lands for spring cultivation are being prepared. Prices :—wheat 8¼ ; coarse rice 7½ ; and juar 16 seers per rupee.

Mysore.—Rainfall good in Hassan, Kadur, and Shimoga and slight elsewhere. The standing crops are in good condition except in parts of Bangalore and Tumkur, where dry crops have been affected by too much rain. The prospects of the season are good. Cattle are healthy except in parts of Shimoga. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall—5 inches 69 cents. Transplanting of rice is completed. Prices of food-grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—There was no rain in Trichinopoly ; it was heavy in the Vizagapatam Agency, Nilgiris, Malabar, and South Canara ; good in Ganjam, Vizagapatam littoral, and Godavari ; and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and Tinnevelly. Ploughing, weeding, sowing, and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair. There are no harvests in parts of the Deccan and Trichinopoly, they continue in parts elsewhere with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient except in Tinnevelly. Fodder is scanty in parts of the Circars, Anantapur, Coimbatore and Trichinopoly. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in nine districts ; has fallen in eight ; and has slightly risen in six. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows :—Ragi is stationary in seven districts ; has fallen in ten ; and has very slightly risen in four. Cholam is stationary in three districts ; has fallen in eight ; and has slightly risen in two. Cumbu is stationary in three districts ; has fallen in nine ; and has very slightly risen in three.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

GEOLOGY AND MINERALS.

RESOLUTION.

Simla, the 7th September 1906.

The Government of India have recently had before them the question of the reorganization of the Geological Survey Department. Owing to the expansion of mining enterprise in America, South Africa, Australia and other countries, there is at present a large and growing demand for mining and geological experts. Men possessing a sound scientific education and with practical experience of mining and geological work command very high salaries. This has not been without effect on the Geological Survey Department, and it has become increasingly difficult to enlist candidates possessing a technical training. It has, in fact, become evident that the rates of pay in force are insufficient to attract the class of officers whom it is desired to secure, and that it is necessary to offer to geological officers salaries bearing a reasonable relation to the emoluments which they could obtain in the open market. The only alternative to an increase in the rates of pay would be to recruit officers, who have obtained a sound general education, but who have not received a special preparation for geological work. In that case it would be necessary to train them after their appointment to the Department, a process which would not only result in a considerable loss of power, but is also open to objection inasmuch as there would be no guarantee at the time of their appointment that the candidates selected would develop the qualities and acquire the specialised knowledge, which are essential to the satisfactory conduct of the work of the Department. It was also found that the rates of pay were not liberal enough to retain officers after they had acquired sufficient experience to qualify them as mining and geological experts. Government were therefore threatened with the danger of losing the service of trained experts at a time when their services were absolutely indispensable.

2. Not only was a material increase in the pay of the various grades required, but also a considerable addition to the strength of the existing establishment. The rapid expansion of the economic side of the work is a new feature, and it is regarded as vitally important that all possible facilities should be given to assist the development upon a sound basis of mining industries in India. The necessity for the rapid completion of the geological survey of India has frequently been urged on the Government of India, who fully recognize the immediate scientific, and the ultimate practical, advantages of this work, but it was felt that the Geological Survey Department could not with its existing strength undertake the scientific work, for the performance of which it was primarily constituted, and at the same time devote that amount of attention which the interests of India now demand to purely economic enquiries.

3. Proposals for the reorganisation of the Department were therefore submitted to the Secretary of State, and have now received his approval. The following are the changes which have been made in its constitution:

(1) Two short term appointments of mining specialists have been abolished, and two new appointments have been added to the graded list in their place.

(2) Three new appointments have been added to the cadre to increase the strength of the Department and to provide a reserve for leave vacancies.

(3) An ungraded post, to be held by a trained chemist, has been created carrying a salary of Rs. 500 per mensem rising to Rs. 1,000 by annual increments of Rs. 50.

(4) The distinction between Deputy Superintendents and Assistant Superintendents has been abolished, and all graded officers below the rank of Superintendent will be styled Assistant Superintendents, and will receive a monthly pay of Rs. 350 rising to Rs. 1,000 by annual increments of Rs. 30 during the first 5 years and of Rs. 50 thereafter. One Assistant Superintendent employed as Palæontologist will obtain, as at present, a monthly allowance of Rs. 150.

(5) The scale of pay for Superintendents has been fixed at Rs. 1,000 per mensem rising to Rs. 1,400 by annual increments of Rs. 80.

(6) The pay of the Director has been raised from Rs. 1,500—60—1,800 to Rs. 2,000 fixed. A personal allowance of Rs. 500 a month has been especially sanctioned for the present Director, Mr. Holland, in addition to the pay of the appointment.

4. In view of the increase in the emoluments of the service exchange compensation allowance will not be granted to future entrants into the Department in addition to the rates of pay now sanctioned. As regards present incumbents, the allowance will be absorbed as soon as an officer begins to draw on the new scale higher emoluments than he would have obtained on the old scale including the allowance. Both the present Director and his successors will, however, continue to draw it.

5. The revised scheme will come into force from 1st July 1906. The staff of the Department as it stands after reorganization is contrasted below with the existing strength:

	Rs.		Rs.
1 Director on ...	1,500—60—1,800	1 Director on ...	2,000
3 Superintendents	700—50—1,100	3 Superintendents on	1,000—80—1,400
5 Deputy Superintendents ...	500—40—700	15 Assistant Superintendents on Rs. 350—30—500 for first five years and Rs. 500—50—1,000 thereafter.
5 Assistant Superintendents on	350—30—500
2 Mining Specialists on salaries not exceeding Rs. 1,000 and not less than Rs. 700.
......		1 Chemist on	500—50—1,000

APPENDIX.

Conditions for Indian Geological Survey Appointments.

1. The Geological Survey Department is at present constituted as follows:

		Monthly salary. Rs.
1 Director	... ...	2,000
3 Superintendents	... ...	1,000 rising by Rs. 80 to Rs. 1,400.
15 Assistant Superintendents:
For the first five years	...	350 rising by Rs. 30 to Rs. 500.
Thereafter	... ...	500 rising by Rs. 50 to Rs. 1,000.
1 Chemist	... ...	500 rising by Rs. 50 to Rs. 1,000.

A local allowance of Rs. 150 per mensem is granted to the officer doing the work of Palæontologist at head-quarters.

No allowance of the nature of exchange compensation will be given.

2. Appointments to the Department are made by the Secretary of State for India. They will usually be made about July of each year, and the probable number of appointments will, if possible, be announced about two years in advance. The age of candidates should not exceed 25. Every candidate must be in sound bodily health, and will be required to satisfy the Medical Board at the India Office of his physical fitness in all respects to perform the duties of the Geological Survey, which involve considerable fatigue and exposure.

3. Besides a good general education, a sound education in geology is essential: a University degree and a knowledge of French or German will be regarded as important qualifications; and certificates of a high moral character will be required.

4. Candidates must also have had one or two years' practical training in mines, or in technical laboratories, as may be required by the Government of India.

5. First appointments are probationary for two years, at the end of which time the probationer, if found qualified, and continued in the Department, will reckon his service for leave and pension from the date of arrival in India.

6. A first class passage to India is given subject to the condition that its cost shall be refunded in the event of an officer resigning the service, on grounds other than certified ill health, before the expiry of the period of probation. If, on the expiry of the period of probation, the officer's service is determined, or if he is compelled by certified ill health to resign the service before such expiry, he will be provided with a free first class passage back to England. Pay commences from date of arrival in India. Travelling allowances, regulated by the rules applicable to the Department, are allowed at a rate calculated to cover actual expenses of tentage and locomotion.

7. Under ordinary circumstances, all Assistants, unless they have special claims from previous training and experience elsewhere, will enter the Department, in the lowest class on a salary of Rs. 350 per mensem. This will increase annually at the rate of Rs. 30 per mensem for the first five years; thereafter at the rate of Rs. 50 per mensem until the limit of pay for the grade, viz., Rs. 1,000 per mensem is reached; the first increase to be from the date on which the Assistant shall be declared to have passed the ordinary examination in the language of the country by the first or lower standard, according to the general rules provided for such examinations.

8. This annual increase will, in all cases, be granted only on the certificate of the Head of the Department, that the Assistants so recommended have proved fully deserving of the promotion by the intelligence and zeal with which their duties have been performed.

9. Promotion to the grade of Superintendent will depend on qualification and merit and on the existence of vacancies in that grade. In the case of an officer who joined the Department before the end of 1893, but not in the case of one who joined later, the following rule applies, viz., that he may, if especially qualified, count all service on the maximum pay of a grade towards increment in the salary of the next higher grade.

10. While local experience and training must always hold a very prominent place in estimating the position or the promotion of Assistants, it must be distinctly understood that mere seniority of service, unaccompanied by proved ability and steady devotion to duty, gives no claim to promotion into the higher grades of the staff of the Survey.

11. The leave, leave allowances and pensions of officers of the Department will be governed by the provisions of the Civil Service Regulations applicable thereto. These regulations are liable to be modified by the Government of India from time tc time.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to applications for leave to file specifications and for registration of designs under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), or in continuation of such applications, should be addressed to the Patents Secretary, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

The Office of the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, will in future be open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Cheques and money orders will only be accepted if made payable at Calcutta to the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's Office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy, respectively. A consolidated index for the year 1905, entitled "Inventions and Designs in 1905," is also on sale, price one rupee. It contains a chronological list, subject-matter and name indexes of exclusive privileges for inventions, which have been obtained or applied for in that year, together with lists of designs applications.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October 1895 in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitors' room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified: or, if the 10th day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

The Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888), with the notifications and rules issued under its provisions and the notices of the office of Inventions and Designs, to which is added an explanatory memorandum for the guidance of persons applying for protection of Inventions and Designs. OFFICE OF REVENUE AND FINANCIAL SECRETARY TO CHIEF COMMISSIONER, NORTH-WEST FRONTIER PROVINCE

NOTIFICATIONS.

Peshawar, the 28th August 1906.

No. 1743, dated the 16th September 1895.
No. 1396, dated the 20th July 1899.
No. 1198, dated the 11th May 1901.

No. 3496.—In supersession of the Notification of the Punjab Government noted on the margin the following revised rules made by the Government of India in the Finance Department (Resolution No. 3715-Exc., dated the 30th June 1905, as amended by Resolution No 6168-Exc., dated the 4th November 1905) relating to the custody, supply and sale of all kinds of stamps and stamped papers now in use, are published for the information and guidance of all officers concerned in the North-West Frontier Province:—

Rules for the custody, supply and sale of stamps of all descriptions, mamely, General Stamps used to denote the duties payable under the Stamp Act, 1899 (II of 1899); Court-fee Stamps used to denote the fees payable under the Court fees Act, 1870 (VII of 1870); Telegraph Stamps and Postage Stamps.

Central depôts.

1. There shall be five central depôts for stamps of all descriptions in charge of the Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps at Calcutta and the Superintendents of Stamps at Madras, Bombay, Rangoon and Karachi, respectively. These central depôts shall maintain a stock of stamps sufficient for two years' consumption except in the case of postcards, envelopes, newspaper wrappers, non-judicial stamps at rates from 2 annas to R2, and stamps for copies, of which a stock sufficient for one year's consumption shall be maintained. The Superintendents of Stamps in Madras, Bombay, Rangoon and Karachi shall for this purpose, forward, not later than the 15th of August in each year, indents for the supply of the various descriptions of stamps required in the following year for the territories dependent on them for the supply of stamps to the Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, Calcutta. The Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, Calcutta, shall prepare a general consolidated indent for stamps of all descriptions, showing separately the demand for the following year for each of the five central depôts, including in it the indents of the Superintendents of Stamps, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon and Karachi; and shall forward this general indent to the Government of India in the Finance Department not later than 4th October for transmission to the Secretary of State so as to reach him not later than the 1st November in each year. The Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps should forward a copy of the section of the general indent relating to Postage Stamps to the Director-General of the Post Office, and of the section relating to Telegraph Stamps to the Director-General of Telegraphs.

2. Stamps for Bengal, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Assam, and Central India and local depôts subordinate to Calcutta, and stamps for copies for use in the Central Provinces, shall be supplied from the central depôt, Calcutta, on the indent of officers in charge of local depôts.

3. Stamps for the Madras Presidency, including Coorg and local depôts subordinate to Madras, shall be supplied from the central depôt at Madras on the indent of the officers in charge of local depôts.

4. Stamps for the Bombay Presidency, except Sind, the Central Provinces (save as provided in Rule 2), and local depôts subordinate to Bombay, shall be supplied from the central depôt, Bombay, on the indent of officers in charge of local depôts.

5. Stamps for the Province of Burma and the Andamans shall be supplied from the central depôt at Rangoon on the indent of officers in charge of local depôts.

6. Stamps for the Province of Sind, Baluchistan, the North-West Frontier Province, the Punjab, and Rajputana, and for the Residency Treasuries in Kashmir, and the Khorasan Agency Treasury shall be supplied from the central depôt at Karachi on the the indent of the officers in charge of the local depôts.

7. The Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, Calcutta, and the Superintendents of Stamps, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon and Karachi, on receiving an indent from a local depôt, shall have the indent examined to ascertain that the indent is such as to ensure the local depôt having a proper supply, and may comply with the indent in full or in part, as he thinks fit. If he thinks that the indent should be increased, he should request the officer who submitted the indent to submit a supplementary indent. The Presidency Post Offices of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay may indent for supplies on the central depôts.

Local depôts.

8. Every treasury throughout India, including those attached to political and salt agencies, shall be a local depôt for the custody and sale of stamps of all descriptions. Local Governments may establish local depôts at places where there is no treasury.

9. Each local depôt shall, unless the local Government otherwise directs, maintain a supply of stamps not less than the probable consumption of five months. Local Governments may direct that the supply to be maintained, either generally or in respect of any particular kind of stamp or in certain local depôts, shall be equal to the probable consumption of such other period as they deem expedient.

10. As soon as the number of stamps in the local depôt falls below the number issued from the depôt in the preceding six months, the officer in charge of the depôt shall prepare an indent for a supply equal to the probable consumption of three months. The indent shall show in separate columns for each denomination of stamp of which a supply is required, the total of the balance in the local depôt and any branch* depôts subordinate to it, the quantity sold in the preceding six months, and the quantity indented for, which should be approximately one-half of the quantity sold in the preceding six months. The periods of "six months" and "three months" of this rule may, like that of five months in Rule 9, be altered by Local Governments to such other periods as they may deem expedient. This indent will be forwarded direct to the Superintendent of Stamps, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon or Karachi, or the Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, Calcutta, as the case may be ; but the Local Government of any province may direct that the indents shall be forwarded through any other officer, such as the Superintendent of Stamps of the province, or that a copy of the indent shall be forwarded to such officer.

11. If the supply of stamps in any local depôt should run short before the receipt of the supply from the central depôt the officer in charge of the local depôt should indent for a supply from a neighbouring depôt, sending a copy of the indent to the Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps of the province, or such other officer as the Local Government may direct. It is the duty of the Superintendent of Stamps, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon or Karachi, or the Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, Calcutta, to report to the Local Government (or such authority as the Local Government may direct) in the case of General and Court-fee stamps, to the Director-General of Post Office in the case of Postage stamps, and to the Director-General of Telegraphs in the case of Telegraph stamps, any case in which it may come to his knowledge that the stock of stamps in any local depôt of any description has fallen below the prescribed amount.

12. As soon as possible after the arrival of a supply of stamps from the central depôt or from another local depôt, the officer in charge of the local depôt shall personally examine the outward appearance of the boxes or packets and satisfy himself that they bear no marks of having been tampered with. He shall then have the boxes or packets opened in his presence, and the contents of each box or packet counted either by himself, or in his presence, immediately on its being opened. At the head-quarters of a district, where the treasury is the local depôt, the boxes or packets should invariably be placed immediately on arrival in the strong-room of the Treasury and there opened, one at a time, in the presence of the Treasury Officer who must be present all the time the boxes or packets are being opened, and their contents examined and counted. In no case must a second box or packet be opened until the contents of the first have been completely examined and verified and placed in the proper receptacles as required by rule 15. The number and value of stamps received shall be compared by the officer in charge with the invoice submitted or with the passed indent and a receipt shall be sent not later than seven days after the arrival of the stamps to the officer who sent the stamps.

13. Local Governments may issue such orders as may be thought necessary regarding the detailed counting of stamps received in a local depôt, and as to the descriptions of stamps which the officer in charge must count with his own hands. Such orders may include instructions that a certain percentage only of sealed packets marked as containing a certain number of stamps need be opened and counted at the time of receipt, and the remainder, if the percentage opened are all found correct, left with seals unbroken to be counted as they are required on being given out from double lock. The officer in charge is responsible for observing any such instructions, and for satisfying himself as to the number of stamps received before signing the receipt. The inside wrappers of packets of stamps which bear the initials of the officers through whose hands the packets passed before issue from England should invariably be preserved till the whole contents of the packets have been examined and found correct

14. If any of the stamps received are found to be unfit for issue, they should be at once returned to the Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, or Superintendent of Stamps, as the case may be. Stamps which are through any accident rendered unfit for issue at any time after receipt should be similarly returned to the Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, or Superintendent of Stamps, as the case may be, as soon as their unfitness is discovered. The necessary entries on account of stamps so returned should be made in the monthly statement (Rule 37), and in the plus and minus memoranda (Rule 39).

15. Immediately after the stamps received have been counted, they shall be placed in proper receptacles in the store under double lock in the presence of the officer in charge, arranged in parcels and packets containing known quantities, the amount and value of each denomination being entered at the same time in a register maintained to show the receipts and issues to and from the store under double lock. These entries shall be checked by the officer in charge at the time the stamps are deposited, and the correctness of the arithmetical calculations of additions to balance, as well as of the values compared with quantities,* shall be verified and initialled by him at the time The register shall then be placed with the stamps in the double lock receptacles and shall not be removed therefrom, nor shall any entries be allowed to be made therein except in the presence of the officer in charge.

* N.B.—In all cases where stamp registers have to be checked, the actual check of quantities against values is a very important one; the correctness of the calculations of value must be tested in detail either by actual multiplication or by use of correctly prepared tables, and this check should never be omitted This remark applies also to such of the following rules as prescribe a check of this kind It is not necessary that the complete checking should be done by the officer himself. It will be sufficient if the officer personally checks 10 per cent. of the entries in each class of stamps, leaving the remaining entries in each class to be checked by a subordinate under his supervision.

16. The treasurer, or such other officer as the Local Government may direct, shall be the ex-officio vendor of all descriptions of stamps in each local depôt Except in Rangoon, Moulmein, Akyab, Bassein and Mandalay, sales to the public or to licensed vendors shall not be made direct from the stores under double lock, such sales being made by the ex-officio vendor from the supply entrusted to him for this purpose, to be kept by him under single lock, as prescribed in the following rules.

17. The stock to be made over to the ex-officio vendor to be kept by him under single lock should ordinarily be sufficient for the probable demand of one month. The ex-officio vendor will maintain a register of receipts and issues from single lock in the same form as the double lock register, and on a fixed date near the beginning of each month he will prepare an indent for the quantity required for the month in a form showing the balances in his hands, an average month's consumption and the quantity required. When this indent is presented to the officer in charge, he will examine the single lock register, check the correctness of the arithmetical calculations made therein, and compare the balance shown with the actual balance in the ex-officio vendor's hands. If he approves the indent he shall then give out the quantity required from the store under double lock, check the correctness of the entries made in the double lock register, see that they correspond with those made in the single lock register, initial both registers and return the double lock register into the double lock store. When it is necessary to issue stamps from the store under double lock more than once in one day, the above checks need only be applied at each time of issue to the particular descriptions of stamps issued. But at the end of each day the Treasury Officer should verify the whole balance of stamps in ex-officio vendor's hand and check his registers. The same procedure shall be followed if any stamps should be required at any intermediate date. Local Governments may reduce the period of one month mentioned in this rule to one week, or any other period less than a month, if they consider this desirable, with reference to the amount of the treasurer's security or for any other reason.

18. From the stock so made over to his charge and kept by him under single lock, the ex-officio vendor shall sell stamps to the public and to licensed vendors for cash. He shall maintain the single lock register in the form mentioned in the preceding paragraph in such language as the Local Government may direct, entering therein both in quantities and values the receipts from double lock, the daily sales and balance in his hands of each denomination at the end of each day. He shall pay daily into the Treasury the cash received by him for stamps sold, the amount realised on account of each of the four descriptions of stamps—namely, General, Court-fees, Postage, and Telegraph—being paid in separately. The account of the daily sales should be inspected and the correctness of the calculations shown therein checked every day by the officer in charge of the depôt.

19. In Rangoon, Moulmein, Akyab, Bassein, and Mandalay stamps of the value of R50 and over may be sold direct from the stores under double lock to the public for cash by the officer in subordinate charge of the depôt. He shall keep in English an account of such sales in the same manner and form as that prescribed by Rule 18 for sales by the ex-officio vendor.

20. The rules regulating the grant of discount and the grant of licenses to licensed vendors for the sale of General and Court-fee stamps vary in different provinces, and are prescribed by Local Governments, subject to the general rule that no change in the rates of discount shall be made without the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council.

21. Local Governments may direct that the sales to the public of General and Court-fee stamps by ex-officio vendors shall be limited to stamps of a value higher than a named amount, the sale to the public of stamps of lower value being left to licensed vendors.

22. Telegraph stamps shall be sold to the public for cash by the ex-officio vendors, provided that the quantity of stamps sold to one person at one time shall not be less in value than R5, and that the quantity sold shall not include less than one rupee worth of any particular denomination. On such sales no discount is allowed.

23. Telegraph Masters shall obtain supplies of Telegraph stamps from the local depôts subject to the same conditions in regard to the quantity supplied at one time as those of the preceding rule and shall sell to the public Telegraph stamps of all descriptions and to any value. No discount is allowed to Telegraph Masters for the sales of stamps; but they are allowed permanent advances of Telegraph stamps without payment, the amount of the permanent advance being fixed by the Director-General of Telegraphs. When the permanent advance of Telegraph stamps has once been taken, subsequent issues to Telegraph Masters are made only on cash payment. But when the local depôt is closed for holidays of more than one day's duration, officers in charge of local depôts are authorized to issue Telegraph stamps to Telegraph Masters without payment in excess of the value of the permanent advance, these temporary advances being adjusted when treasury re-opens by the return of the stamps, or the payment of their value if sold.

24. Service postage stamps shall be sold for cash from local depôts to Government officials and to persons specially authorized to purchase and use service stamps on a written application. On such sale no discount is allowed.

25. Ordinary postage stamps shall be sold to the public for cash from local depôts, provided that the value sold to any person at one time shall not be less than R5, and shall not include any fraction of a rupee, and that embossed envelopes and post-cards shall be sold in complete packets only. No discount is allowed on such sales. Soldiers' envelopes are sold from certain selected local depôts only to Commanding Officers in complete packets, no discount being allowed.

26. The officer in charge of every post office, receiving office, tahsil, thana, and police-station, at which letters are received for despatch, and every person licensed under the rules framed under the Stamp Act, 1899 (II of 1899), to sell General stamps, are required to keep a supply of ordinary postage stamps for sale to the public sufficient for the probable demands of one week. To such persons ordinary postage stamps, except soldiers' envelopes, are sold from local depôts for cash on the same conditions as to quantity as those prescribed in the preceding rules; and on such sales discount at the rate of ¼ anna in the rupee is allowed.

NOTE.—In the case of all stamped envelopes or postal wrappers, the discount or commission is calculated on the face value of the stamp.

27. A District Officer may authorise the grant of discount at the rate of one quarter of an anna in the rupee to any bonâ fide retail vendor of ordinary postage stamps, provided that he is not employed in a Government Treasury. Such authority shall be in writing, and shall remain in force until revoked by competent authority. It may contain conditions in all or any of the following respects, namely, the maintenance of a sufficient supply of stamps of all or any specified denominations of postage stamps for retail sale; the sale of the stamps at one or more particular shops or places; and the prohibition of sales at other shops or places; and the days and hours of sales. The District Officer shall keep a register showing the name, residence, and occupation of every person to whom he grants such authority.

28. Superintendents and Inspectors of Post Offices within their respective jurisdictions, and any other officers of the Post Office authorised on that behalf by the Post Master General or Deputy Post Master General, are empowered to examine the stock of postage stamps kept by any of the persons required or authorised to keep postage stamps for sale to the public under rules 26 and 27.

Branch Depôts.

29. Every subordinate, branch, or tahsil treasury shall be a branch depôt for the sale of stamps of all descriptions. But in any case where the sale of stamps from such a branch depôt is insignificant, and equal facilities exist for the supply of stamps from a depôt in the same station as the branch depôt, the Local Government may direct the closing of the branch depôt.

30. The sub-treasurer, or such other officer as the Local Government may direct, shall be the ex-officio vendor of stamps at a branch depôt.

31. The officer in charge of the branch depôt shall obtain his supplies from the local depôt to which the branch depôt is subordinate, in the same manner as the ex-officio vendor at the local depôt obtains his supplies, except that the indent and the stamps must be sent by post or messenger to and from the local depôt, and that the examination of the balance in hand and the comparison of the amounts shown with those shown in the indent shall be done by the officer in charge of the branch depôt. In cases where there is likely to be a distinct saving of cost or greater security of the stamps in transit, the Local Government may empower the Board of Revenue or other superior revenue authority to sanction the despatch of stamps direct from the central depôt to branch depôt, such supplies beine passed through the accounts of the local depôt and treated by the Controller of Printingg, Stationery and Stamps, or Superintendent of Stamps, as supplies to the local depôts to which the branch depôts are subordinate.

The receipt and examination of stamps on arrival from a local, central or other depôt should be conducted in the manner laid down in Rule 12.

The ex-officio vendor shall obtain his supplies from the officer in charge of the branch depôt in the same manner as the ex-officio vendor at the local depôt obtains his supplies from the officer in charge.

32. The supply to be kept in a branch depôt should be not less than the probable demand for three months; but Local Governments may direct that the supply shall be equal to the demand of any other period instead of three months which they may consider expedient. The stock should be kept up to this amount by indenting and obtaining supplies from the local depôt from time to time as may be necessary.

33. As soon as the number of stamps in the branch depôt falls below the number issued from the depôt in the preceding four months, the officer in charge of the depôt shall prepare an indent for a supply equal to the probable consumption of two months. The indent shall show, in separate columns for each denomination of stamps of which a supply is required, the balance in the branch depôt, the quantity sold in the preceding four months and the quantity indented for, which should be approximately one-half of the quantity sold in the preceding four months. The period of "four months" and "two months" of this rule may be altered by Local Governments to such other periods as they deem expedient.

34. Local Governments shall fix the period a supply sufficient for which shall be kept under single lock by the ex-officio vendor, and the remainder of the stamps in the branch depôt shall be kept under double lock of the officer in charge of the branch depôt and of the ex-officio vendor, and given out to single lock as required.

35. Sales from branch depôts will be made subject to the same rules as those from local depôts.

Returns to and by the Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, Superintendents of Stamps and Accountants General.

36. On the last open day of September and March each year the officer in charge of each local depôt will count, or have counted in his presence, the stamps in his depôt, both those under double lock and those under single lock, and will require the officers in charge of the branch depôts subordinate to him similarly to count the stamps in the branch depôt. He will attach to the monthly statement for September and March rendered to the Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, Calcutta, or the Superintendent of Stamps, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon or Karachi, or, in the United Provinces, Punjab and Central Provinces, to the local Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps or other officer named by the Local Government, a certificate in the following form:—

I do hereby certify that I have personally examined and counted, or had counted in my presence, the stamps of all descriptions in store in this local depôt on the $\frac{\text{September}}{\text{March}}$, 19 and found by actual calculation of numbers and values, not less than 10 per cent. of the entries having been checked by me personally, that the value of each description is as stated in the margin.* Also that I have received similar certificates from the officers in charge of the subordinate branch depôts that they have similarly counted the stamps in their branch depôts on the last day of the month of $\frac{\text{September}}{\text{March}}$ 19 , of which the accounts are incorporated in the Head Treasury accounts and that they have made a similar calculation of numbers and values and that these certificates show the value of each description of stamps in all the branch depôts to be as stated in the margin.†

which amounts agree with the balances shown in the monthly statement for $\frac{\text{September}}{\text{March}}$, to which this certificate is attached. (If there is any difference, add "with the exception of the following differences" . . . . the explanation of which is as follows.)

37. Monthly statements showing the receipts and issues of each local depôt, including the transactions of the subordinate branch depôts shall be prepared by the officer in charge of the local depôt and forwarded in the first week of the succeeding month to the Controller of Printing, Stationery, and Stamps, Calcutta, or the Superintendent of Stamps, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon or Karachi or the local Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps or other officer specified in rule 36, separate statements being prepared for General stamps, Court-fee stamps, Telegraph stamps, and Postage stamps.

These statements shall show for each denomination of stamps the values of the balance in hand, at the beginning of each month, of the quantities received from the Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, or Superintendent of Stamps or other officer during the month, of the quantity sold during the month, and of the balance in hand at the end of month. The statements may be forwarded direct to the Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, Calcutta, or the Superintendent of Stamps, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, or Karachi, or the Local Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or through any officer named by the Local Government.

38. The statements shall be checked by the Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, Calcutta, or the Superintendent of Stamps, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon or Karachi, or by the local Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps or other officer specified in rule 36, by comparison with previous statements and the accounts of the central depôts, and shall be used by him to check indents and to watch the balances in the local depôts. If the monthly statements of transactions show that the balance of any kind of stamp in any local depôt is falling too low, the attention of the officer in charge should be called to the fact. To enable him to check the returns each local Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or other officer specified in rule 36, will be supplied by the Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, Calcutta, or Superintendent of Stamps, Bombay or Karachi, with monthly statements showing the stamps issued to and returned by the local depôts subordinate to each.

39. Treasury officers and other officers in charge of local depôts shall forward to the local Accountant General or Comptroller such returns of the receipts and sales of stamps as the Comptroller General may direct, in the form of plus and minus Memoranda or otherwise.

40. The Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, Calcutta, and each Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, or other officer specified in rule 36, shall send to the Accountant-General or Comptroller such accounts of the transactions of the central and local depôts as the Comptroller General may prescribe.

41. They shall also every six months intimate to the Accountant General or Comptroller for comparison with the amounts shown in the returns received from treasuries and other local depôts under rule 39 the receipt of the certificates prescribed in rule 36 and the amount of stock certified to be in balance in each local depôt.

42. The Comptroller General shall prescribe such rules as he considers necessary for the disposal of the account mentioned in the foregoing rules, and for the check of the receipts, issues, and sales.

43. The Government of India in the Finance Department and the Local Governments in Madras, Bombay and Burma, shall arrange for a periodical verification by counting of the stock of stamps in the respective central depôts. The verification shall be carried out in the manner and form prescribed by the Comptroller General, to whom the result will be reported.

44. The Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, Calcutta, and Superintendent of Stamps, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon and Karachi, shall forward every month to the Director General of the Post Office a statement showing the balances and receipts in the central depôt and the issues to each local depôt of postage stamps during the month. The Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, Calcutta, each Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps or other officer specified in rule 36, shall also send monthly to the Comptroller of the Post Office a statement of the sales during the past month of the several denominations of postage stamps in the local and branch depôts subordinate to him. Each Accountant General or Comptroller will, with his monthly account current with the Examiner of Telegraph Accounts, forward a statement showing the total realisations at each treasury from the sales of Telegraph stamps during the month.

No. 3497.—In continuation of his Notification No. 1906, dated the 4th May 1905, and in part supersession of the rules published with Punjab Government Notification No. 1500, dated the 5th June 1900, and in exercise of the powers conferred by section 74 of the Indian Stamp Act (II of 1899), the Chief Commissioner of the North-West Frontier Province is pleased to make the following new rule and to amend Nos. III, IV, and V of the existing rules regulating the sale, &c., of non-judicial stamps by stamp vendors in the North-West Frontier Province.

CALCUTTA UNIVERSITY.

NOTICE.

In modification of the Orders, dated 31st July 1906, declaring B. Malefski to have passed the B. E. Examination, it is hereby notified that the above-named candidate, not having already passed the F. A. Examination, is entitled to a Licence in Engineering only.

C. LITTLE,
Registrar, Calcutta University.

SENATE HOUSE,
The 5th September, 1906.

CALCUTTA UNIVERSITY.

NOTICE.

In January, 1907, the Senate will proceed to appoint a whole-time officer as Registrar of the University on a salary of R800 per mensem, rising to R1,000 in five years by four annual increments of R50. Applications for the post must reach the undersigned on or before the 17th December, 1906. Candidates are required to send printed copies of their testimonials. Canvassing will be considered a disqualification.

The Registrar will be appointed in the first instance for five years only, but at the end of every such term he may be re-appointed. He must be a graduate of position with experience of University affairs. He may be a member of the Senate but not of the Syndicate.

The duties of the Registrar will be as follows :—

(a) To be the custodian of the Records, Library, Common Seal, and such other property of the University as the Syndicate will commit to his charge.

(b) To act as Secretary to the Syndicate and to attend all meetings of the Senate, Faculties, Syndicate, Boards of Studies, Board of Accounts, Boards of Examiners, and any Committees appointed by the Senate, the Faculties, the Syndicate, or any of the Boards, and to keep Minutes thereof.

(c) To conduct the official correspondence of the Syndicate and the Senate.

(d) To issue all notices convening meetings of the Senate, Faculties, Syndicate, Boards of Studies, Board of Accounts, Boards of Examiners, and any Committees appointed by the Senate, the Faculties, the Syndicate, or any of the Boards.

(e) To perform such other work as may be, from time to time, prescribed by the Syndicate, and generally to render such assistance as may be desired by the Vice-Chancellor in the performance of his official duties.

It is competent to the Syndicate to grant to the Registrar, on full pay, leave of absence for one month in a year, or for an accumulated period not exceeding four months in five years. It is also competent to the Syndicate to grant him, on half pay, leave of absence which may be added to the period of leave on full pay for a period not exceeding eight months in five years.

It is competent to the Syndicate to grant to the Registrar a gratuity or pension regulated as follows:—

(a) After a service of less than ten years, a gratuity not exceeding one month's salary for each completed year of service.

(b) After a service of not less than ten years, up to 25 years, a pension not exceeding one-sixtieth of the average salary (i.e., the average calculated upon the last three years of service) multiplied by the number of years of completed service.

(c) The pension will, in no case, exceed R5,000 per annum.

In case of misconduct or neglect of duty, the Registrar shall be liable to suspension by the Syndicate, and to dismissal by the Senate on the report of the Syndicate.

The selected candidate will be required to join his post by the middle of February, 1907. He will continue to hold office not later than the 31st of March, 1912.

C. LITTLE,
Registrar, Calcutta University.

SENATE HOUSE,
The 7th September, 1906.

CALCUTTA UNIVERSITY.

NOTICE.

In January, 1907, the Senate will proceed to appoint a salaried Inspector for the purpose of inspecting Colleges affiliated to this University. Applications for the post are hereby invited and they must reach the undersigned on or before the 17th December, 1906. Candidates are required to send printed copies of their testimonials. Canvassing will be considered a disqualification. The appointment will be made by the Senate subject to the approval of Government.

The Inspector of Colleges will be appointed in the first instance for five years only, but at the end of every such term he may be re-appointed. He must be a person of high academic standing and one possessing some experience of Indian Colleges. He will be a whole-time officer of the University and his salary will be R800 per mensem rising to R1,000 in five years by four annual increments of R50. He may be a Fellow of the University but must not be a Member of the Syndicate.

The duties of the Inspector of Colleges will be—

(a) to report on Colleges applying for affiliation,

(b) to inspect affiliated Colleges, and

(c) to inspect such schools as may, from time to time, be indicated by the Syndicate.

It is competent to the Syndicate to grant to the Inspector of Colleges, on full pay, leave of absence for one month in a year, or for an accumulated period not exceeding four months in five years. It is also competent to the Syndicate to grant him, on half pay, leave of absence which may be added to the period of leave on full pay for a period not exceeding eight months in five years.

The Inspector of Colleges may, with the permission of the Syndicate, avail himself of the College vacations.

The Syndicate may grant to the Inspector of Colleges a gratuity or pension regulated as follows:—

(a) After a service of less than ten years, a gratuity not exceeding one month's salary for each completed year of service.

(b) After a service of not less than ten years, up to 25 years, pension not exceeding one-sixtieth of the average salary (i. e., the average calculated upon the last three years of service) multiplied by the number of years of completed service.

(c) The pension will, however, in no case, exceed R5,000 per annum.

In case of misconduct or neglect of duty, the Inspector of Colleges will be liable to suspension by the Syndicate and to dismissal by the Senate on the report of the Syndicate.

The selected candidate will be required to join his appointment by the middle of February, 1907. He will continue to hold office not later than the Annual Meeting of the Senate in January, 1912.

C. LITTLE,
Registrar, Calcutta University.

Letter from the Secretary, Indian Railway Conference Association, No. 264, dated the 26th August 1905.

RESOLUTION.—In their letter No. 958 R.T., dated the 9th November 1903, the Government of India in the Public Works Department expressed the opinion that the recent advance in signalling and block-working on railways in India necessitated a revision of Part I of the General Rules for working open lines of railway, promulgated with their circular No. 6 Railway, dated the 12th March 1895. This, it was considered, should be undertaken by a Committee specially selected and appointed for the purpose. In this view and in order to assist in the consideration of the matter, Local Governments, Administrations, Officers in charge of Railways, and Railway Administrations were consulted and their opinion invited as to the need for reform. The opinions expressed were later circulated for the information of Local Governments, Administrations, Officers in charge of Railways and Railway Administrations, under Government of India, Public Works Department, letter No. 580 R. T, dated the 24th June 1904, with the intimation that it had been decided to entrust the revision of the rules to a Committee composed of officers from the Traffic, Locomotive, and Engineering Departments and a Signal Engineer.

2. The Committee duly considered and framed a set of rules so as to meet the many varying needs of the railways in India, from those of fast and heavy traffic, to those of very light traffic worked by daylight only. This draft was further circulated for information, under Government of India, Public Works Department, letter No. 1045 R. T., dated the 10th November 1904, and taken into consideration by the Government of India in the Public Works and Legislative Departments. A further revised draft was circulated under Railway Board's letter No. R. T. 89, dated the 5th May 1905, and subsequently placed before the Indian Railway Conference Association for their consideration and recommendations.

3. The recommendations of the Conference having been considered by the Railway Board and by the Government of India in the Legislative Department a complete and revised set of General Rules has now been framed.

4. Part II of the General Rules, promulgated with the Government of India, Public Works Department, circular No. 6 Railway, dated the 12th March 1895, has, however, not been revised, but the opportunity has been taken to reprint it with such amendments to date as have been issued from time to time.

5. In exercise of the powers conferred by the notification of the Government of India in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 801, dated the 24th March 1905, read in the preamble above, the Railway Board sanction, under section 47, sub-section (3), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), and in supersession of the rules annexed to the Government of India, Public Works Department, circulars Nos. 17 R., dated the 21st August 1880, 3 Railway, dated the 19th April 1892, and 6 Railway, dated the 12th March 1895, and of all other rules made in this behalf, the adoption by the Administrations of all lines of railway in British India administered by the Government and for the time being used for the public carriage of passengers, animals, or goods, of the accompanying General Rules, and direct that they shall be brought into force on the 1st January 1907.

6. The Railway Board desire that the said rules may be brought to the notice of the Administrations of the several railways not administered by the Government and that the Agents and Managers of those railways may be invited to submit a formal application for the adoption of the rules, with such modifications (if any) as may be considered necessary in each case.

ORDER.—Ordered that this circular, with its enclosures, be published under a notification in the Gazette of India as required by section 47, sub-section (3), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), and that a copy thereof be kept open for inspection at railway stations as directed by sub-section (6) of the same section; also that a copy of this circular and of its enclosures be communicated to the Governments, Administrations, and Officers, noted in the margin, for information.

The Governments of Madras, Bombay and Burma, Public Works Department; Railway Branch.
The Governments of Bengal, the United Provinces, and Eastern Bengal and Assam, Public Works Department.
The Government of Bengal, Marine Department.

INDIAN STATE RAILWAYS.

PART I.—RULES FOR THE GUIDANCE OF RAILWAY SERVANTS.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. In these rules, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "adequate distance" means the distance sufficient to ensure safety, having regard to the local conditions obtaining;

(2) "approved special instructions" mean special instructions approved of or prescribed by the Government Inspector;

(3) "authorised officer" means the person who is duly empowered by general or special order of the Railway Administration, either by name or by virtue of his office, to issue instructions or do any other thing;

(4) "authority to proceed" means the authority given to the Driver of a train, under the system of working, to leave the station with his train;

(5) "ballast train" means a train intended for the carriage of ballast, stone, material or fuel when picked up or put down either between stations or within station limits;

(6) to "block back" means to despatch a message from a station intimating to the station immediately in rear on a double line, or to the next station on either side on a single line, that the block-section is obstructed or is to be obstructed;

(7) to "block forward" means to despatch a message from a station on a double line intimating to the station immediately in advance the fact that the block-section in advance is obstructed or is to be obstructed;

(8) "block-section" means that portion of the running road between two stations on to which no running train may enter until permission to approach has been received from the station at the other end of the section;

(9) the expression "connections," when used with reference to a running road, means the points and crossings or other appliances used to connect such road with other roads or to cross it;

(10) "day" means from sunrise to sunset;

(11) "Engine Driver" means the person for the time being in charge of a working locomotive engine;

(12) "fixed signal" includes a semaphore arm for use by day and a fixed light for use by night;

(13) "fouling point" means the point at which the infringement of fixed Standard Dimensions occurs, where two tracks cross or join one another;

(14) "Ganger" means the person in charge of a gang of platelayers or other workmen employed on the permanent-way;

(15) "goods train" means a train (other than a ballast train) intended solely or mainly for the carriage of animals or goods;

(16) the expression "Government Inspector," when used with reference to any railway, means an Inspector appointed to exercise any functions under the Indian Railways Act, 1890, in respect of that railway;

(17) "Guard" includes a brakesman or any other railway servant who may for the time being be performing the duties of a Guard;

(18) "last Stop signal" means the Starting signal or (if there are two Starting signals) the Advanced Starting signal;

(19) "main line" means the line ordinarily used for running trains through and between stations;

(20) "mixed train" means a train intended for the carriage of passengers and goods or of passengers, animals and goods;

(21) "night" means from sunset to sunrise;

(22) "obstruction" or "obstructing" means a train, vehicle or obstacle on or fouling a line, o any condition which is dangerous to trains;

(23) "ordinary train" means a train, whether passenger, goods or mixed, which is entered in the Working Time-tables;

(24) "passenger train" means a train intended solely or mainly for the carriage of passengers and other coaching traffic, and includes a troop train;

(25) "permission to approach" means the permission given from a station to a station in rear for a train to leave the latter and approach the former;

(26) "running road" means the track, which may consist of one or more lines with the cross-over roads connecting them, to be used by a train when entering or leaving a station or when passing through a station or between stations;

(27) "running train" means a train which has started under an authority to proceed and has not completed its journey;

(28) "special instructions" mean instructions issued from time to time by the authorised officer in respect to particular cases or special circumstances;

(29) "special train" means any train which is neither an ordinary train nor a ballast train;

(30) "station" means any place on a line of railway at which traffic is booked and dealt with, or at which an authority to proceed is given under the system of working;

(31) "station limits" mean the portion of a railway which is under the control of a Station Master and is situated between the outermost signals of the station;

(32) "Station Master" means the person on duty who is for the time being responsible for the working of the traffic within station limits, and includes any person who is for the time being in independent charge of the working of any signals and responsible for obtaining and sending the permission to approach and for giving the authority to proceed;

(33) "station section" means that section of station limits at a Class B station which is included—

(a) on a double line, between the Home signal and the last Stop signal of the station in either direction, or

(b) on a single line—

(1) between the Shunting Boards or Advanced Starters (if any), or

(2) between the Home signals if there are no Shunting Boards or Advanced Starters, or

(3) between the outermost facing points if there are no Home or Starting signals or Shunting Boards;

(34) "system of working" means the system adopted for the time being for the working of trains on any portion of a railway; and

(35) "train" means an engine, with or without vehicles attached.

2. Stations shall, for the purposes of these rules, be deemed to be divided into the following classes, namely :—

Class A stations—where permission to approach may not be given for a train unless the line on which it is intended to receive the train is clear for at least a quarter of a mile beyond the Home signal, or up to the Starting signal (if any);

Class B stations—where permission to approach may be given for a train before the line has been cleared for the reception of the train within the station section or within the station limits, as the case may be;

Class C stations—block-huts, at which no trains are booked to stop; and Class D stations—stopping-places or flag stations, which are situated between two consecutive stations of Class A, Class B or Class C, and do not form the boundary of any block-section.

CHAPTER II.

SIGNALS.

A.—GENERAL PROVISIONS.

3. The signals prescribed in these rules shall be used for controlling the movement of trains in all cases in which exceptions are not allowed by approved special instructions. General signals.

4. The signals to be used for controlling the movement of trains shall be— Kinds of signals.

fixed signals, hand signals, and detonating signals.

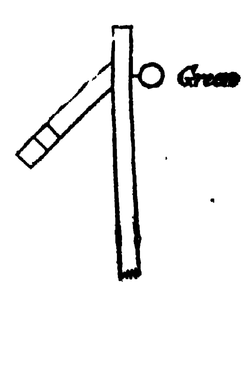
5. The signals prescribed in these rules for use by night shall also be used by day in tunnels and in thick or foggy weather. Use of night signals by day.

B.—FIXED SIGNALS.

6. Unless approved special instructions are issued to the contrary, all railways shall be equipped with semaphore signals which shall be either Stop signals or Warning signals. Use of semaphore signals as Stop or Warning signals.



7. (1) When a semaphore signal is used as a Stop signal, the arm shall be square-ended, and the signal shall be arranged to give two indications, namely, "Stop" and "Proceed," either by the position of the arm or by the showing of a light. Description of Stop signals and their indications.

(2) The horizontal position of the arm, or, at night, the showing of a red light, thus—constitutes the "on" or "danger" position, and signifies "Stop dead," and do not pass till the arm is lowered or (at night) till the light is changed to green.

(3) The inclined position of the arm, lowered to an angle of from 45° to 60° below the horizontal, or, at night, the showing of a green light, thus—constitutes the "off" position, and signifies "Proceed."

(d) If allowed by approved special instructions, the arm, when "off," may be vertical, thus—

8. (1) Warning signals (or Warners) are signals intended to warn Engine Drivers of the condition of the block-section ahead.

(2) Except under approved special instructions, the use of Warning signals is confined to interlocked stations.

(3) When a semaphore signal is used as a Warning signal, the arm shall be fish-tailed and it shall be arranged to give two indications, namely, "Proceed with caution" and "All right."

(4) The horizontal position of the fish-tailed arm, or the showing at night of two lights, one at the root of the arm and red, and the other six to seven feet above it and green, constitutes the "Proceed with Caution" position, and signifies "Pass by without stopping, but with caution, and be prepared to stop at the next Stop signal or where required."

(5) The inclined position of the arm lowered to an angle of from 45° to 60° below the horizontal, or the showing at night of two lights, one at the root of the arm and green, and the other six to seven feet above it and also green, constitutes the "All right" or "off" position, and signifies "Proceed: the next block-section ahead is clear."

9. (1) A Warner may be placed either—

(a) on a post by itself, at an adequate distance outside the Home signal, or

(b) on the same post as, but six to seven feet below the arm of, the Outer signal, or

(c) on the same post as, but six to seven feet below the last Stop signal of a station.

(2) When the Warner is placed below a Stop signal, the variable light of the Stop signal shall take the place of the fixed green light of the Warner, and the mechanical arrangements must be such that the Warner cannot be taken "off" while the Stop signal above it is "on".

10. The significance of the various combinations of arms or lights described in rules 7, 8 and 9 is as follows:—

Indication.	Meaning.	Explanation.
(a) Square-ended arm "off;" single green light.	Proceed.	...
(b) Square-ended arm "on;" single red light.	Danger.	Stop dead, and do not pass till the arm is lowered or (at night) till the light is changed to green.
(c) Upper (square) arm "on," lower (fish-tailed) arm horizontal; red over red.	Danger.	Stop, and do not pass till the upper arm is lowered or (at night) till the upper light is changed to green.
(d) Upper (square) arm "off," lower (fish-tailed) arm horizontal; green over red.	Proceed with caution.	Proceed cautiously, and be prepared to stop at the next Stop signal or where required.
(e) Upper (square) arm "off," lower (fish-tailed) arm "off;" green over green.	All right.	Proceed.
(f) Single (fish-tailed) arm horizontal; green over red.	Proceed with caution.	Proceed cautiously, and be prepared to stop at the next Stop signal or where required.
(g) Single (fish-tailed) arm "off;" green over green.	All right.	Proceed.

Explanation.—The exhibition of a red over green light, or the corresponding position of the arms by day, or the absence of one or both lights, shows that the signal is out of order and should be treated as a danger signal. The Engine Driver must stop at such signal and ascertain if possible the cause. He may then proceed cautiously, being guided by the signals in advance, and must immediately on arrival at the station report the circumstances to the Station Master.

11. (1) The Stop signals which control the movement of trains approaching a station are of four kinds, namely, Outer, Home, Main and Track (or Routing) signals.

(2) The Outer signal is a signal fixed at an adequate distance outside the point up to which the line may be obstructed after permission to approach has been sent to the station in rear, or at an adequate distance outside the place where a train usually comes to a stand in accordance with the system of working.

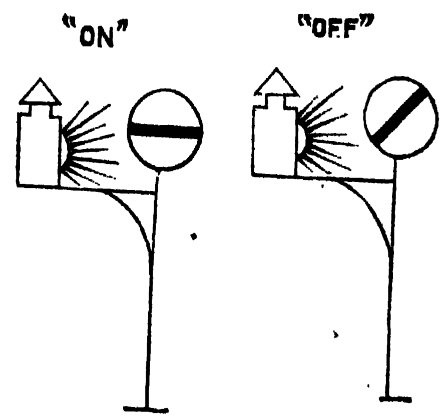
(3) The Home signal is the first Stop signal of a station at which an Outer signal is not provided, and the second Stop signal of a station at which an Outer signal is provided.

(4) The Main signal is a signal fixed within station limits, generally near the centre of a station. It may, under approved special instructions, be called the Home signal. It is ordinarily provided with two semaphore arms only, one on either side of the post, in which case the left-hand arm only is applicable to approaching trains. No other arrangement of arms may be used without the sanction of the Government Inspector.

(5) The Track or Routing signal is a special bracketted signal used to indicate to an Engine Driver which of two or more diverging tracks is made for him when the Home signal is, in consequence of its position, inconvenient for that purpose.

12. (1) The Stop signals which control the movement of trains leaving a station are of two kinds, namely, Starting signals and Advanced Starting signals.

(2) Where there is only one Starting signal, it is called the Starting signal or Starter.



(3) Where there are two Starting signals, the outermost is the last Stop signal of a station and is called the Advanced Starting signal or Advanced Starter, while the other is called the Starting signal or Starter.

(4) The Starting signal, where only one such signal is provided, or the Advanced Starting signal, where two Starting signals are provided, must be fixed at the limit beyond which no train may pass unless the Engine Driver is given the authority to proceed which is required by the system of working, and must be fixed outside all connections on the line to which it refers.

(5) Where an Advanced Starting signal is provided, the Starting signal must be placed so as to protect the first facing or fouling point on the line to which it refers.

13. (1) The Outer Repeater is an indicator fixed at an adequate distance outside the Outer signal for the purpose of advising the Engine Driver whether the Outer signal is "off" or "on."

(2) An Outer Repeater may take the form of a white disc showing a black horizontal bar (signifying "Caution") when the Outer signal is "on" and a black diagonal bar (signifying "Proceed") when the Outer signal is "off," thus—

(3) If used at night, an Outer Repeater must be so illuminated as to make its indications clearly visible.

14. Shunting signals and Calling-on signals are short auxiliary arms and auxiliary lights placed below the arms of Starters or Advanced Starters and Home signals, respectively; and when "off" authorise an Engine Driver to draw ahead although the arm above is "on."

Description of Shunting signals and Calling-on signals.

15. Siding, Miniature or Dwarf, and Disc signals are used to control shunting operations in sidings, the movements of trains between sidings and main lines, or between one main line and another. In the case of Siding, Miniature or Dwarf signals the "on" or "danger" position is shown in the day time by a short arm in the horizontal position, and at night by a red light. The "off" or "proceed" position is shown in the day time by the arm being lowered and at night by a green light.

Use of Siding, Miniature or Dwarf and Disc signals.

In the case of Disc signals the "on" or "danger" position is shown in the day time by a red disc and at night by a red light.

The "proceed" or "off" position is shown in the day time by the disc being turned "off" and at night by a green light.

Explanation.—Point Indicators are not signals, but are appliances fitted to, and working with, points, to indicate by day or by night the position in which the points are set.

16. (1) Co-acting signals are duplicate signals fixed vertically below ordinary signals, and are provided where, in consequence of the great height of the signal post, or of there being an overbridge or other obstacle, the main arm or light is not in view of the Engine Driver during the whole time that he is approaching it.

Co-acting signals.

C

(CHAP. II.—SIGNALS—FIXED SIGNALS—HAND SIGNALS.—RULES 17—29.)

(2) Co-acting signals must be fitted at such height that either the main arm or light or the co-acting arm or light may always be visible.

ription of ner Flag.

17. A Banner Flag is a temporary fixed danger signal consisting of a red cloth supported at each end on a post and stretched across the line to which it refers.

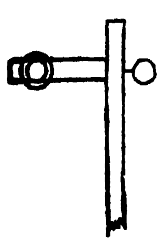
mal posi- of fixed als.

18. (1) The normal position of every fixed signal, except Calling-on signals, shall be "danger."

(2) Every fixed signal shall be so constructed that, in case of failure of any part of its connections, it shall remain at, or return to, its normal position.

ition of nal arms.

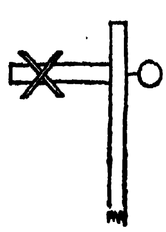
19. Signal arms must be placed on the left-hand side of the post as seen by the Driver of any approaching train.



nting of nal arms.

20. (1) Signal arms must be painted red with a white bar on the side facing trains to which they refer, and white with a black bar on the other side.

(2) On Warning signal arms the said bars must be parallel with the notching.



ngs for nal arms.

21. Signal arms referring to lines other than passenger lines must, at places where distinction between signals for passenger lines and signals for other lines is necessary, be distinguished by rings, thus—nals out use.

22. When semaphore signals are not in use the arms must remain fixed in the "on" position, and must be distinguished by having two crossed bars on them, thus — sition of xed signals.

23. Fixed signals shall be fixed on the side of the line on which they can be seen by Drivers of approaching trains, but the left-hand side of the track is to be preferred unless the sighting is greatly interfered with.

24. Unless otherwise permitted by approved special instructions,—

Bracket- and signa posts wh to be use

(a) where two or more lines diverge, the signals must be fixed on a bracket-post; and

(b) where two or more lines converge, the signals must be fixed on separate posts or, where this is not practicable, then on a bracket-post:

Provided that, where the number of signals is considerable, they may be fixed on separate posts or dolls carried on a Signal-bridge provided for the purpose.

Placing more tha one sign the same post.

25. Not more than one signal referring to trains moving in the same direction (whether on the same track or on separate tracks) shall be placed on the same post, unless—

(a) there be only two signals on the post and the lower signal is a Warner fixed from six to seven feet below the other signal, or

(b) the lower signal is a Co-acting signal or Calling-on signal fixed at least fifteen feet below the next signal, or

(c) the sanction of the Government Inspector has been obtained.

Relation signals to ticular ro

(2) Where, with the sanction of the Government Inspector under rule 25, clause (c), two or more signals are placed on the same post, the top arm shall be read as referring to the left-hand diverging road, and the second arm shall be read as referring to the next road from the left, and so on.

Distincti between signals.

27. Signals on brackets and bridges shall be distinguished as much as possible by grouping and by making the more important signals higher than the less important signals.

Back-lig

28. (1) Every fixed signal, the light of which cannot be seen from the point from which the signal is worked, must be provided with a back-light or tell-tale, by which the Station Master may see whether the light is burning or not.

(2) Back-lights of signals must show a small white light when "on," and no light at all in any other position.

(3) When a Warner is used by itself, its fixed green light must show a white back-light.

C.—HAND SIGNALS.

Hand sig how mad

29. A Hand signal shall be made — by day, by showing a flag or hand, and,
by night, by showing a light.

(CHAP. II.—SIGNALS—HAND SIGNALS.—RULES 30—32.)

30. The Stop signal shall be given—

by day,—

(a) by showing a red flag, thus—

or

(b) in the absence of flags, by raising both arms with the hands above the head, thus—and, by night,—

(i) by showing a red light; or

(ii) in the absence of a red light, by violently waving a white light.

31. The Proceed with caution signal must be used when it is intended that a train should proceed slowly, and shall be given—

by day,—

(a) by waving a green flag vertically, thus—

or

(b) in the absence of flags, by waving one arm in a similar manner, thus—and,

by night, by similarly waving a green light.

32. The Proceed signal shall be given—

Proce signal given

by day,—

(a) by holding a green flag steadily, thus—

or

(b) in the absence of flags, by holding out one arm steadily, thus—and, by night, by holding a green light steadily.

C 2

(CHAP. II.—SIGNALS—HAND SIGNALS—DETONATING SIGNALS.—SIGNALS AT STATIONS.—RULES 33—45.)

33. In shunting operations, signals shall be given as follows:—

(1) to move away from the person signalling, a green flag or green light moved slowly up and down.

(2) to move towards the person signalling, a green flag or green light moved from side to side across the body.

(3) to slow down, the above signals to be displayed slower and slower until the Danger signal is given.

D.—DETONATING SIGNALS.

34. "Detonating" signals (otherwise known as "Fog" signals) are appliances placed on the rails so as to explode with a loud report when an engine passes over them, for the purpose of attracting the attention of Engine Drivers.

35. (1) All Station Masters, Guards, Engine Drivers Gangers and Gatemen, and all other railway servants on whom this duty is laid by the Railway Administration, must keep a stock of detonators.

(2) Each Railway Administration shall be responsible for the supply, renewal, periodical testing and safe custody of such detonators, and for ensuring that their use is properly understood.

36. In thick or foggy weather, whenever it is necessary to indicate to the Driver of an approaching train the locality of a signal, two detonators must be placed on the line, by a railway servant appointed by the Station Master in this behalf, about ten yards apart and at least one hundred yards outside the outermost signal of the station.

37. (1) Whenever, in consequence of an obstruction of a line, it is necessary for a railway servant to show hand danger signals at some place short of such obstruction, he shall put on the line one detonator, half-way out to such place, and three detonators, about ten yards apart, at such place.

(2) If the said railway servant is recalled before the obstruction is removed, he must leave down three detonators and must on his way back pick up the intermediate detonator.

38. In all cases where the use of detonators is necessary under these rules, on a mixed gauge, detonators must be placed on one rail of each gauge, or on the rail common to both.

39. Detonators must be placed on the line with the label or brand upwards, and must be secured by bending the clasp round the upper flange of the rail.

40. Every railway servant placing detonators on the line must see that they are, when necessary, renewed immediately after a train has passed over them.

E.—SIGNALS AT STATIONS.

Obligation to provide fixed signals at stations.

41. The fixed signals prescribed in this sub-chapter shall be provided at every station except—

(a) stations between which trains are worked on the One engine only system mentioned in Chapter XI, and

(b) stations which are exempted from this rule by approved special instructions.

Inspection of fixed signals.

42. Fixed signals shall not be brought into use until they have been passed by the Government Inspector as being sufficient to secure the safe working of trains.

Minimum equipment of fixed signals.

43. The minimum equipment of fixed signals to be provided for each direction shall be as follows:—

(a) at a Class A station—

a Warning signal,
a Home signal, and
a Starting signal;

(b) at a Class B station—

an Outer signal, and a Home signal; and

(c) at a Class C station—

a Warning signal, and a Home signal.

Additional fixed signals at Class B stations.

44. Besides the minimum equipment prescribed in rule 43, the following fixed signals must be provided at Class B stations, namely—

(a) on a double line—a Starting signal for each direction;

(b) on both a double and a single line—if trains run through at high speed without stopping, a Warning signal, to be fixed below the arm of the Outer signal; and

(c) on a single line worked on the Absolute Block system—if the obstructing of the line outside the facing points in the direction of an approaching train is permitted under rule 110, a Shunting Board (bearing the words "shunting limit" on the side which faces the station, and fitted with a lamp showing a white light in both directions to mark its position by night) or an Advanced Starter, to be fixed at a distance not exceeding two hundred yards from the facing points, to mark the extreme limit up to which such obstructing may be permitted.

Exceptions to rules 43 and 44.

45. Notwithstanding anything contained in rule 43 or rule 44,—

(a) if the station is already provided with an Outer signal and a Main signal the latter may remain in use instead of a Home signal, until the station is interlocked, or until the Government Inspector orders otherwise. At such stations on a double line, trains shall be worked in accordance with approved special instructions;

(b) if the station has only one pair of points on the main line, signals shall be erected, and the station shall be worked, in accordance with approved special instructions;

(c) on any railway where traffic is light and speeds are slow, all signals, except one Stop signal at each station for each direction, may, under the special sanction of the Government Inspector, be dispensed with, the said Stop signal being placed at such point within or outside the station-yard as he may approve, and trains being worked in accordance with approved special instructions; and

(d) on any railway having very light traffic worked by day only, all or any signals may, with the special sanction of the Government Inspector, be dispensed with, trains being worked in accordance with approved special instructions.

ldditional ed signals stations nerally.

46. In addition to the equipment prescribed in rules 43 and 44, such other fixed signals (if any) must be provided at every station as may be necessary for the safe working of trains.

gnals at ass D ations.

47. At a Class D station a train may be stopped either by hand signals or by a fixed Stop signal for each direction.

F.—SIGNALS AT GATES.

gnals at ates.

48. Unless exempted under approved special instructions, every gate which closes across the line at a level crossing must, except when interlocked with station signals, be provided with semaphore signals fixed at an adequate distance from the gate and showing Stop signals both up and down the line when the gates are open for the passage of road traffic.

G.—WORKING OF FIXED SIGNALS.

ixed gnals enerally.

49. (1) Subject to the provisions of Rule 18 fixed signals must always be kept "on" (that is, at "danger,") except when taken "off" (that is, lowered) to allow a train to pass.

(2) No fixed signal shall be taken "off" without the permission of the Station Master.

(3) The Station Master shall not give permission to take signals "off" to admit a train until—

(a) all facing points over which the train will pass are correctly set and secured,

(b) all trailing points over which the train will pass are correctly set, and

(c) the line over which the train is to pass is clear and free from obstructions.

(4) Except in cases of emergency, a signal which has been taken "off" for the passage of a train shall not be placed "on" until the whole of the train which it controls has passed it or, in the case of a Main signal, has arrived at the place at which trains usually come to a stand.

(5) At stations on a single line, except under special instructions where the interlocking or the lay-out of the yard renders a contrary procedure safe, when two or more trains are approaching simultaneously from any direction the signals for one train only at a time may be taken "off," all other signals being kept "on" until the train for which the signals have been taken "off" has come to a stand at the station or has cleared the station.

50. (1) When a train is approaching a Home signal otherwise than at a terminal station, the signal shall not be taken "off" until the train has first been brought to a stand outside the signal unless—

(a) (on a double line) the line is clear for an adequate distance beyond the Starting signal; or

(b) (on a single line) the line is clear for an adequate distance beyond the trailing points, or up to the farthest Outer signal, whichever distance is less, or, if allowed by approved special instructions, for an adequate distance beyond the place at which the train is required to come to a stand.

(2) The adequate distance referred to in sub-rule (1) shall be fixed by special instructions, but shall never be less than two hundred yards without the sanction of the Government Inspector.

51. (1) The Outer signal shall never be taken "off" to admit a train which has not been brought to a stand outside it, unless the line on which the train is to be received in the station is clear, in the case of a double line, up to the Starting signal, and, in the case of a single line, for an adequate distance beyond the first facing points.

(2) When a train which is booked to run through has to be stopped out of course at a station where Warners are not provided, the Outer signal shall not be taken "off" until the train has been brought to a stand outside it.

(3) The Warner shall never be taken "off" for a train that is booked to stop, or for a train that has to be stopped out of course.

(CHAP. II.—SIGNALS—WORKING OF FIXED SIGNALS—DEFECTIVE SIGNALS.—RULES 52—55.) III.—WORKING OF TRAINS GENERALLY.—RULES 61—63.)

52. A Calling-on signal referring to a running train shall not be placed to "off" until the train has been brought to a stand at the signal below which the Calling-on signal is fixed.

53. (1) The Outer, Home and Main signals and the outermost Starting signal of a station shall not be taken "off" for shunting purposes.

(2) Starting signals, where Advanced Starting signals are provided, must be taken "off" for shunting purposes, except where the arrangement of the interlocking interferes with this practice, in which case Shunting arms must be provided.

H.—DEFECTIVE SIGNALS.

54. As soon as the Station Master becomes aware that any signal has become defective or has ceased to work properly, he shall—

(a) take measures, either by disconnecting the wire or by other means, to place the signal "on," if it is not already in that position;

(b) depute one or more competent railway servants, with such hand signals and detonators as may be required, to give signals at the place where the defective signal is situated, until the Station Master is satisfied that such signal has been put into proper working order;

(c) if possible, advise the station in rear in order that the Drivers of all approaching trains may be warned; and

(d) report the occurrence to the person who is responsible for the up-keep of the signal.

55. (1) If a Warner is out of order it must be kept in the horizontal position, and Engine Drivers will work to the other signals.

(2) If a Warner on a post by itself is out of order and cannot be kept in the horizontal position, a red hand signal must be shown at the foot of the signal post, and by night the fixed green light must be extinguished; and trains, after having first been brought to a stand, may then be hand-signalled past.

(3) If a Home or Main signal, or a Starter or Advanced Starter, is out of order, the railway servant stationed at the signal must show hand signals in accordance with instructions from the Station Master.

(4) If the Outer signal is out of order, the railway servant stationed at it—

(a) must repeat by hand signal the indication given by the Home signal, or

(b) if the Home signal is also out of order, must repeat the indication given by the hand signal at the Home signal.

Intimation to station when defects remedied.

56. As soon as a defective signal has been put into good working order, the Station Master must intimate the fact to the station which was advised of its being defective.

CHAPTER III.

WORKING OF TRAINS GENERALLY.

Standard time.

57. The working of trains between stations shall be regulated by the standard time prescribed by the Governor General in Council, which must be sent daily to all the principal stations on the railway.

Adherence to advertised time.

58. No passenger train or mixed train shall be despatched from a station before the advertised time.

Notice of running.

59. No train shall be allowed to run unless previous notice has been given, when practicable, to all stations concerned.

Permission to approach and authority to proceed.

60. (1) No person other than the Station Master may ask for or give permission to approach or give authority to proceed.

(2) An authority to proceed given to a running train shall lapse as soon as the last vehicle of the train has passed—

(a) on a double line, inside the Home signal;
or

(b) on a single line,—

(i) inside the Home signal, or

(ii) where there is no Home signal, inside the facing points

Pushing engine.

61. (1) No engine shall be allowed, outside station limits, to push any train, except in accordance with special instructions and at a speed not exceeding fifteen miles an hour.

(2) Sub-rule (1) shall not apply to an engine assisting in rear of a train.

Engine running tender foremost.

62. (1) A passenger train or a mixed train shall not be drawn outside station limits by an engine running tender foremost, except—

(a) under a written order issued by the authorised officer, or

(b) in a case of unavoidable necessity, to be established by the Engine Driver.

(2) When any such train is so drawn, the speed shall not exceed fifteen miles an hour, or such higher speed, not exceeding twenty-five miles an hour, as may be authorised by approved special instructions.

Guards and brake-vans.

63. (1) Except under special instructions, no engine with vehicles attached shall be despatched from any station without one or more Guards and one or more brake-vans or hand braked vehicles.

(2) Every Guard must, except under special circumstances, ride in his own brake-van or braked vehicle.

(CHAP. III.—WORKING OF TRAINS GENERALLY.—RULES 64—75.)

(3) Unless it be otherwise directed by special instructions one brake-van must be attached to the rear of the train:

Provided that reserved carriages or other vehicles may, under special instructions, be placed in rear of such van.

Means of communication with passengers.

64. No passenger train or mixed train shall be despatched from any station unless it be provided with means by which a Guard can communicate with, or get access to, every passenger carriage in the train.

Explanation.—A goods vehicle in which passengers are carried is not a "passenger carriage" within the meaning of this rule.

Loading.

65. (1) No wagon or truck shall be so loaded as to exceed the maximum gross load on the axles fixed under section 53, sub-section (3), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, or such less load (if any) as may have been prescribed by the Railway Administration.

IX of 1890.

(2) Except under approved special instructions, no vehicles shall be so loaded as to exceed the maximum moving dimensions prescribed from time to time by the Railway Board.

Couplings.

66. No vehicle that is not furnished with screw couplings or with a central buffer coupling of approved pattern shall be attached to a passenger or mixed train.

Dangerous vehicles.

67. (1) No vehicle which has been off the line shall be allowed to run between stations until it has been examined and passed by a competent Carriage and Wagon Examiner:

Provided that, in case of a derailment between stations, the Engine Driver may, if he considers it safe to do so, take slowly to the next station a vehicle that has been off the line.

(2) If a Guard or Station Master has reason to apprehend danger from the condition of any vehicle on a train before it can be inspected by a Carriage and Wagon Examiner, the Engine Driver shall be consulted, and, if he so requires, the vehicle shall be detached from the train.

Travelling cranes.

68. When attaching a travelling crane to a train, the Guard in charge of the train must see that the jib is properly lowered and secured, and that the crane is, if practicable, so placed that the jib will point towards the rear.

Dummy truck.

69. When the jib of a travelling crane projects beyond its truck, or when the load in a truck projects to an unsafe extent beyond the end of the truck, an additional truck shall be attached, to act as a dummy.

Private engines and vehicles.

70. No engine or other vehicle, the property of a private owner, shall be allowed to enter upon the railway, except in accordance with special instructions.

Train-lights.

71. At night, and in thick or foggy weather,—

(1) no train shall be worked outside station-limits unless it has—

(a) the head-lights prescribed by the Railway Administration; and

(b) in the case of an engine with vehicles attached, at least one red tail-light and two side-lights showing red towards the rear and white towards the engine; and

(c) in the case of a single engine without vehicles attached, at least one red tail-light; and

(d) in the case of two or more engines coupled together without vehicles attached, at least one red tail-light affixed to the rear engine;

Exception.—Where trains may run in the same direction on parallel lines the side-lights may be arranged in accordance with special instructions.

(2) no engine shall be employed in shunting within station limits or in a siding unless it has the head-lights and tail-lights prescribed by the Railway Administration; and

(3) when a train has been shunted for a following train to pass, the tail-light and side-lights must be dealt with in accordance with instructions given by the Railway Administration.

Tail-board or tail-lamp.

72. In order to indicate by day to the staff that a train is complete, the last vehicle must be distinguished by affixing to the rear of it either a tail-board, a tail-lamp, a red flag or such other device as may be authorised by special instructions.

Limits of speed generally.

73. Every train must be run on each section of the line within the limits of speed sanctioned for that section by special instructions.

NOTE—The sectional speed sanctioned shall be shown in the Working Time-table, a copy of which shall be supplied on issue to the Government Inspector.

Limit of speed through facing points.

74. No train shall be run through facing points at a speed exceeding ten miles an hour, or such lower rate as may be prescribed by special instructions:

Provided that, if the points are interlocked with a fixed signal, or are locked in a manner approved by the Government Inspector, trains may run over them at such speed as may be approved by the Government Inspector.

Protection of working points.

75. Where there are points in the main line at a place which is not a station, provision for the protection of such points, by signals or otherwise, and for working them, shall be made in order to secure the safe working of trains to the satisfaction of the Government Inspector.

...of facing points ...train through ...s without stopping. 76. When a train is to run, without stopping, through any station that is not interlocked, the Station Master of that station, or some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions, must proceed to the facing points and satisfy himself that all facing points over which the train will pass are properly set and locked.

...king of ...st trains. 77. A ballast train may be worked only with the permission of the Station Master on each side and in accordance with special instructions.

...ning ...re moving ...llast train. 78. Before a ballast train is moved, the Engine Driver must give two clear whistles at an interval of half a minute, as a warning to the coolies that the train is about to move.

...ection of ...st train ...n stabled. 79. When a ballast train with coolies is stabled at a station for the night it must be protected in the following manner :—

(1) the Guard in charge of the train must see that all necessary points connected with the siding on which the train is stabled are correctly set against the train, and must then inform the Station Master, and, until the train is ready to start,—

(a) if the station is not interlocked—must padlock all necessary points connected with the siding on which the train is stabled and keep the keys in his possession; or

(b) if the station is interlocked—must tie a red flag on the lever-handle working the points; and

(2) when under clause 1(b) a red flag has been affixed, the Station Master must take steps to ensure that the lever is not worked until the said Guard has removed the flag.

...trol of ...ting. 80. Shunting operations shall be controlled by Semaphore signals, Shunting signals, Siding signals, Miniature signals, Dwarf signals, Disc signals or Hand signals, or by verbal directions, as occasion may require.

...ing of ...les so as ...struct ...ing road. 81. No vehicle shall be moved so as to foul or obstruct any running road unless the previous sanction of the Station Master has been obtained.

...ting on ...gradi... 82. When any vehicle is being shunted on a steep gradient, the railway servant in charge of the operation must see that a sufficient number of brakes are put on, that sprags or hand-scotches are used when necessary, and that all necessary precautions are taken to prevent the vehicle getting out of control.

Loose shunting. 83. Loose shunting of, or against, vehicles containing passengers, explosives or live-stock is prohibited.

Double lines. 84. Where there is a double line, every train must, unless special instructions otherwise provide, be run on the left-hand line :

Provided that, if one of the lines should be blocked so as to necessitate single line working, such special instructions as may be necessary shall immediately be issued for establishing single-line working.

Working in case of accident or failure of electric connections. 85. In case of accident to the line or to any train, or of failure or interruption of electric connections, trains must be worked between stations in accordance with special instructions.

TRAINS STOPPED BETWEEN STATIONS BY ACCIDENT, FAILURE OR OBSTRUCTION.

Train stopped between stations. 86. When a train is stopped between stations, the Guard in charge of the train must, unless the stoppage will only be one for a few minutes, immediately ascertain the cause; and, if the stoppage is other than incidental or authorised, and if he finds that through accident or for any other reason the train cannot proceed, the following action shall be taken, namely :—

(1) the said Guard must immediately either himself go back or send a qualified person back, to protect the train;

(2) the person so going back to protect the train must plainly show his hand Danger signal to stop any approaching train, and in addition to his hand signals must take detonators (to be used by day as well as by night), and must place them, upon the line on which the stoppage has occurred, as follows, namely :—

(a) one detonator, three-eighths of a mile from his train, to be placed on the way out; and

(b) three detonators, ten yards apart, not less than half a mile from his train, or at such distance as has been fixed by special instructions;

and must also continue to show his hand Danger signal, to stop any approaching train, until he is recalled;

(3) when such person is recalled, he must leave down three detonators, and must on his way back pick up the intermediate detonator;

(CHAP. III.—WORKING OF TRAINS GENERALLY.—RULES 87.—90.—
CHAP. IV.—SYSTEMS OF WORKING.—RULE 91.)

(4) the Engine Driver must at once show a Danger signal to the front, and must proceed to protect the train in front in the manner prescribed in clauses (2) and (3), either by going himself or by sending his Fireman or some other qualified person;

(5) if the stoppage has occurred on a double line, the Danger signal hereinbefore referred to must be shown on both lines; but, if it be subsequently found that the unoccupied line is not obstructed, the said Danger signal may be removed.

Sending advice of accident or break-down.

87. If the engine is for any reason unable to proceed, the Guard in charge of the train shall send advice to the nearest station, stating the nature and cause of the accident, and, if assistance has been asked for, he shall not allow the engine or any portion of his train to be moved until such assistance arrives, provided that if the train is subsequently able to move it may do so at walking pace, but not unless a man has been sent with hand signals and detonators to protect the train, such man keeping at least a quarter of a mile in advance of the train, the other end of the train being protected in a similar manner.

Light engine stopped on line.

88. If any light engine should, while on the line outside station limits, be unable to proceed, the Engine Driver must see that the precautions prescribed by rule 86 are taken for the protection of the engine, both in front and rear, employing the Fireman or some other competent person to assist him.

Train parting.

89. (1) If any portion of a train should, while in motion, become detached,—

(a) the Engine Driver must use his judgment to keep the front portion in motion if possible until the rear portion has been brought to a stand, so as to avoid the chance of a collision between the two portions, and

(b) the Guard or Guards in the rear portion must promptly apply their brakes and do all they can to prevent a collision with the front portion.

(2) As soon as the rear portion of the train has been brought to a stand, the Guard in charge of the train must protect that portion, in accordance with rule 86, both in front and rear.

Portion of train left on line.

90. (1) When a train, stopped between stations, has to be divided in consequence of an accident or the inability of the engine to take the whole train forward, the Guard in charge of the train must, before uncoupling, put down the brakes, and must, if necessary, otherwise carefully secure the rear portion of the train to ensure its remaining stationary.

(2) If the engine is capable of proceeding either with or without vehicles, the said Guard shall give permission to the Engine Driver to uncouple and proceed to the next station, and may, if he thinks fit, give him written instructions to return on the same line.

(3) When the said Guard has taken action under sub-rule (2), he must immediately take steps to protect the rear portion of his train in accordance with rule 86.

(4) At night, or in thick or foggy weather as soon as the engine, whether with or without vehicles, is drawn forward, the said Guard must see that a white light is shown on the front vehicle of the rear portion of the train.

(5) When the front portion of the train is taken forward, the Fireman, or, if there are two Guards with the train, the second Guard must, if it is practicable and safe to do so, ride upon the last vehicle of the said front portion of the train until it reaches the next station; but no tail-lamp or tail-board shall be placed on it.

(6) When, under the written instructions referred to in sub-rule (2), the engine is to be brought back, the Guard in charge of the train must, until the arrival of the engine, continue to take the precautions prescribed in rule 86, for the protection in rear of the portion of the train left on the line, and shall not permit a following train to move any of the vehicles under his charge.

(7) The Engine Driver shall not bring his train back on the same line unless he has received written instructions, under sub-rule (2), from the Guard in charge of the train to do so.

(8) If there is a double line, the Engine Driver may, under instructions from the Station Master, take the train back on the proper line according to the system of working until he can cross on to the line on which he has left the rest of his train, and may then proceed by that line; and, after attaching the engine, must work the train to the station to which he is directed.

(9) When moving in the wrong direction on a double line under the written instructions referred to in sub-rule (2), the Engine Driver must proceed cautiously, travel at reduced speed, and make frequent use of the engine whistle.

CHAPTER IV.

SYSTEMS OF WORKING.

Systems of working.

91. (1) All trains working between stations must be worked on one or other of the following systems, namely:—

(a) Absolute Block;

(b) Section Clear;

D

(CHAP. IV.—SYSTEMS OF WORKING. CHAP. V.—THE ABSOLUTE BLOCK SYSTEM.—RULE 92—102.)

(c) Line Clear and Caution Message;

(d) Following Trains;

(e) Train-staff and Ticket;

(f) Pilot Guard; or

(g) One engine only.

(2) The Absolute Block system alone shall be used on every railway except any railway or portion of a railway on which the Railway Board may expressly sanction the use of any other system mentioned in sub-rule (1).

CHAPTER V.

THE ABSOLUTE BLOCK SYSTEM.

Essentials of Absolute Block system.

92. (1) Where trains are worked on the Absolute Block system,—

(a) no train shall be allowed to leave a station unless permission to approach has been received from the station ahead, and

(b) such permission shall not be given unless the line is clear, not only up to the first Stop signal at the station at which such permission is given, but also for an adequate distance beyond it.

(2) The distance referred to in clause (1) (b) shall not be less than one quarter of a mile, unless otherwise directed by special instructions.

CLASS A STATIONS.—DOUBLE LINES.

Conditions under which permission to approach may be given.

93. The line shall not be considered clear, and permission to approach shall not be given, unless—

(a) the whole of the last preceding train has arrived,

(b) all signals have been put back to "on" behind the said train,

(c) the line on which it is intended to receive the incoming train is clear up to the Starting signal, and

(d) all points have been correctly set for the admission of the train on the said line.

Obstruction when train is approaching.

94. When permission to approach has been given, no obstruction shall be permitted outside the Home signal, or, on the line on which it is intended to admit the train, up to the Starting signal.

Obstruction outside Home signal, when block-section clear.

95. If, when the block-section is clear, it becomes necessary to obstruct the line outside the Home signal, the line must be blocked back.

Obstruction outside last Stop signal, when block-section is clear.

96. If, when the block-section is clear, it becomes necessary to obstruct the line outside the last Stop signal,—

(a) either a shunting-arm (which may for this purpose be provided on the post of the last Stop signal) must be taken "off", or a written shunting order must be given to the Engine Driver, and

(b) the line must be blocked forward.

Obstruction when block-section is occupied by train travelling away from the station.

97. If the block-section is occupied by a train travelling in the section away from the station at which shunting operations have to be performed, such shunting shall be permitted only under either of the conditions prescribed in clause (a) of rule 96; and, as soon as intimation has been received that the train has arrived at the station ahead, the line must be blocked forward, if it is still obstructed by the shunting.

Thick or foggy weather.

98. In thick or foggy weather, a train waiting for an authority to proceed shall not be allowed to draw out to a Starting signal in an advanced position, or up to an Advanced Starting signal.

CLASS A STATIONS.—SINGLE LINES.

Conditions under which permission to approach may be given.

99. The line shall not be considered clear, and permission to approach shall not be given, unless—

(a) the whole of the last preceding train has arrived,

(b) all signals have been put back to "on" behind the said train,

(c) the line on which it is intended to receive the incoming train is clear up to the Starting signal, and

(d) all points have been correctly set for the admission of the train on the said line.

Obstruction when train is approaching.

100. When permission to approach has been given, no obstruction shall be permitted outside the Home signal, or, on the line on which it is intended to admit the train, up to the Starting signal which controls the train.

Shunting.

101. The block-section shall not be obstructed for shunting purposes, unless—

(a) the Station Master has received a permission to approach from the Station Master at the opposite end of the section, or

(b) the section has been blocked back, or is occupied by a train travelling away from the station at which the shunting is to be performed, and

(c) the Engine Driver or other person in charge of the shunting operations has received distinct orders from the Station Master to shunt in a manner directed by special instructions.

Thick or foggy weather.

102. In thick or foggy weather, a train waiting for an authority to proceed shall not be allowed to draw out to a Starting signal in an advanced position, or up to an Advanced Starting signal.

(CHAP. V.—THE ABSOLUTE BLOCK SYSTEM.—RULES 103—114.)

CLASS B STATIONS.—DOUBLE LINES.

Conditions under which permission to approach may be given.

103. The line shall not be considered clear, and permission to approach shall not be given, unless—

(a) the whole of the last preceding train has passed inside the Home signal,

(b) the Home and Outer signals have been put back to "on" behind the said train, and (c) the line is clear up to the Home signal.

Obstruction when train is approaching.

104. When permission to approach has been given, no obstruction of the line outside the Home signal shall be permitted; but shunting between the Home signal and the last Stop signal of the station may go on continuously, provided the necessary signals are kept "on."

Obstruction outside Home signal, when block-section is clear.

105. If, when the block-section is clear, it becomes necessary to obstruct the line outside the Home signal, the line must be blocked back.

Obstruction outside last Stop signal, when block-section is clear.

106. If, when the block-section is clear, it becomes necessary to obstruct the line outside the last Stop signal,—

(a) either a shunting-arm (which may for this purpose be provided on the post of the last Stop signal) must be taken "off," or a written shunting order must be given to the Engine Driver, and

(b) the line must be blocked forward.

Obstruction when block-section is occupied by train travelling away from the station.

107. If the block-section is occupied by a train travelling in the section away from the station at which shunting operations have to be performed, such shunting shall be permitted only under either of the conditions prescribed in clause (a) of rule 106; and, as soon as intimation has been received that the train has arrived at the station ahead, the line must be blocked forward, if it is still obstructed by the shunting.

Thick or foggy weather.

108. In thick or foggy weather a train waiting for an authority to proceed shall not be allowed to draw out to a Starting signal in an advanced position, or up to an Advanced Starting signal.

CLASS B STATIONS.—SINGLE LINES.

Conditions under which permission to approach may be given.

109. The line shall not be considered clear, and permission to approach shall not be given, unless—

(a) the whole of the last preceding train has passed within the Home signal, or in the case of a Main signal, has arrived at the place at which trains usually come to a stand,

(b) the Home (or Main) signal has been put "on", and

(c) the line is clear—

(i) to the Shunting Board or Advanced Starter (if any), at that end of the station nearest the expected train, or

(ii) to the Home signal, if there is no Shunting Board or Advanced Starter, or (iii) to the facing points, if there is no Shunting Board or Advanced Starter and no Home signal.

Obstruction in the face of an approaching train.

110. Obstructing the line, outside the facing points, in the direction of an approaching train, whether a Shunting Board or an Advanced Starter is provided or not, shall be permitted only under special instructions which take into consideration the speed, weight and brake-power of trains, the gradients, the position of the Outer signal and the distance from which that signal can be seen by the Driver of an approaching train.

Obstruction within station section.

111. If the special instructions referred to in rule 110 are obeyed, and if the necessary signals are kept "on", shunting may be carried on continuously either—

(a) between the Shunting Boards or Advanced Starters (if any), or

(b) between the Home signals, if there are no Shunting Boards or Advanced Starters, or

(c) between the outermost facing points, if there are no Home or Starting signals or Shunting Boards.

Obstruction outside station section.

112. Obstructing the line between the station section and the outer signal shall not be permitted unless a railway servant specially appointed in this behalf by the Station Master is in charge of the operation, and unless—

(a) the block section into which the shunting is to take place is clear of an approaching train; or

(b) if an approaching train has arrived at the Outer signal, the Station Master has personally satisfied himself that the train has been brought to a dead stand at that signal:

Provided that the line may not be obstructed under clause (b) in thick or foggy weather, or in any case unless authorised by special instructions.

Obstruction outside the Outer signal.

113. Obstructing the line outside the Outer signal is prohibited unless the line has been blocked back.

CLASS C STATIONS.—DOUBLE AND SINGLE LINES.

Conditions under which permission to approach may be given.

114. The line shall not be considered clear, and permission to approach shall not be given, unless:—

(a) the whole of the last preceding train has passed at least a quarter of a mile

(CHAP. V.—THE ABSOLUTE BLOCK SYSTEM. CHAP. VI.—THE SECTION CLEAR SYSTEM.—RULES 115—118. CHAP. VII.—THE LINE CLEAR AND CAUTION MESSAGE SYSTEM.—RULES 119—121.)

beyond the Home signal and is continuing its journey, and

(b) the Home and Warning signals have been put back to the "on" position

CHAPTER VI.

THE SECTION CLEAR SYSTEM.

Essentials and application of the Section Clear system.

115. (1) Where trains are worked on the Section Clear system,—

(a) no train shall be allowed to leave a station unless permission to approach has been received from the station ahead, and

(b) such permission shall not be given unless the line is clear up to the first Stop signal of that station.

(2) The said system is applicable only to Class B stations; and to single lines only, unless otherwise authorised by approved special instructions.

CLASS B STATIONS.—SINGLE LINES.

Conditions under which permission to approach may be given.

116. The line shall not be considered clear and permission to approach shall not be given, unless—

(a) the whole of the last preceding train has either passed inside the facing points or arrived at the place at which trains usually come to a stand,

(b) the Outer signal has been put back to "on" behind the said train, and

(c) the line is clear up to the Outer signal.

Obstruction between the Outer signals.

117. (1) Shunting shall not be carried on between the Outer signals, unless—

(a) the said signals are kept "on"; and

(b) after permission to approach has been given for a train, the line between the facing points and the Outer signal, in the direction from which the train will approach, is cleared not less than fifteen minutes before the expected arrival of the train, and is kept clear until the train has arrived or until it has been brought to a stand at the Outer signal.

(2) Subject to the provisions of clause (b) of sub-rule (1), obstructing the line between the facing points and the Outer signal, in face of an approaching train after intimation has been received that such train has entered the block-section, is prohibited, unless—

(i) the weather is clear;

(ii) the time allowed for the run of the train is more than twenty minutes;

(iii) the Station Master has personally satisfied himself that the Outer signal is clearly showing "danger" in the direction of the approaching train; and

(iv) if the train has arrived at the Outer signal, the Station Master has personally satisfied himself that the train has been brought to a dead stand at that signal.

Obstruction outside the Outer signal.

118. Obstructing the line outside the Outer signal is prohibited unless the line has been blocked back.

CHAPTER VII.

THE LINE CLEAR AND CAUTION MESSAGE SYSTEM.

Essentials of the Line Clear and Caution Message system.

119. Where trains are worked on the Line Clear and Caution Message system, no train shall be allowed to leave a station, unless—

(a) permission to approach has been obtained by telegram from the station ahead, and

(b) the Engine Driver has been given a written authority to proceed, certifying that the line on which he has to travel is either—

(i) absolutely clear of trains; or

(ii) occupied only by trains running in the same direction at time intervals.

Conditions under which permission to approach may be given.

120. Such permission to approach shall not be given, unless, either—

(1) the line on which the train is to travel is absolutely clear of trains and all other known obstructions up to the Outer signal and the whole of the last preceding train has passed inside the facing points or has arrived at the place at which trains usually come to a stand, or

(2) the line, outside the facing points, on which the train is to travel is occupied only by a train running in advance in the same direction, at an adequate interval of time, and a line has been prepared in the station for the reception of the train running in advance.

Nature of the authority to proceed.

121. (1) In case (1) of rule 120, the authority to proceed referred to in rule 119 shall be a Line Clear Certificate stating that the line is clear.

(2) In case (2) of rule 120, the said authority to proceed shall be a Caution Certificate stating—

(a) that the line is occupied only by a train running in advance in the same direction at a stated interval of time; and

(b) the time of the departure of the said train, and the place at which it will next stop.

(CHAP. VII.—THE LINE CLEAR AND CAUTION MESSAGE SYSTEM.—RULES 122—126.
VIII.—THE FOLLOWING TRAINS SYSTEM.—RULES 127—129.)

Restrictions on grant of authority to proceed.

122. An authority to proceed shall not be granted at any station in case (2) of rule 120—

(a) if the train which is to follow a train running in advance is to be allowed to run at more than thirty miles an hour, or

(b) if the distance to the station ahead is less than five miles, or

(c) except in accordance with special instructions, unless the train running in advance has left the station at least fifteen minutes previously, or at such greater interval as may enable the said train at its booked speed to reach the next station at least fifteen minutes before the following train at its booked speed can do so.

Delivery of authority to proceed to Engine Driver or Guard.

123. (1) Every authority to proceed shall be delivered by the Station Master, or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf under special instructions,—

(a) to the Engine Driver, if the train runs through the station without stopping, or (b) to the Guard in charge of the train, if the train stops at the station.

(2) When an authority to proceed is delivered to the Engine Driver under clause (1) (a) of this rule, a duplicate shall be given to the said Guard.

(3) When an authority to proceed is delivered to the said Guard under clause (1) (b) of this rule, it must be either—

(i) handed personally by the Guard to the Engine Driver, or (ii) countersigned by the Guard, and then handed to the Engine Driver either by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions.

(4) An authority to proceed shall not be handed to the Engine Driver under sub-rule (3)—

(i) until the train is nearly ready to start, or

(ii) if the train is waiting to pass another train—until the whole of the latter train has come in and is clear of the running road for the former train.

Responsibilities as to proper preparation of authority to proceed.

124. (1) When an authority to proceed is delivered to the Engine Driver under clause (1) (a) of rule 123, the Station Master must see—

(a) that it is properly filled up,

(b) that the date and time of the receipt of the line-clear or caution telegram upon which it is based are noted thereon,

(c) that it applies to the particular train to which such telegram refers, and

(d) that it is signed in full and in ink.

(2) When an authority to proceed is delivered to the Guard in charge of the train under clause (1) (b) of rule 123, he must, before it is handed to the Engine Driver, satisfy himself on the several points mentioned in sub-rule (1) of this rule.

(3) Whether the train stops or runs through a station, the Engine Driver must satisfy himself, so far as he may be able to do so, on the several points mentioned in sub-rule (1) of this rule, and if he finds that any of them are not complied with he must not proceed with his train until the mistake or the omission is rectified.

Obstruction in face of approaching train followed by another train.

125. Obstructing the line outside the facing points in face of an approaching train followed by another train for which a permission to approach has been given is prohibited.

Obstruction when approaching train is not followed by another train.

126. At a station where an approaching train is not being followed by another train, shunting shall not be carried on except—

(a) in accordance with rule 117; or

(b) where the special instructions referred to in rule 110 are obeyed, and the necessary signals are kept "on", then in accordance with rules 112 and 113.

CHAPTER VIII.

THE FOLLOWING TRAINS SYSTEM.

Essentials of the Following Trains system.

127. Where trains are worked on the Following Trains system, they may be despatched from one station to the next, following each other in succession in the same direction on the same line at such intervals of time as may be prescribed by special instructions, until it has been mutually arranged by telegraph between the Station Masters at either end of the section that such succession is to cease.

Introduction of the Following Trains system.

128. The Following Trains system may, notwithstanding anything contained in rule 91, be introduced in case of emergency when specially ordered by the authorised officer.

Conditions precedent to working of trains on Following Trains system.

129. Trains shall not be worked on the Following Trains system unless the Station Master of the station ahead has telegraphed his readiness to receive the trains, and has given his assurance that no train will be allowed to leave his station for the station from which the Following Trains are to be despatched until the latter have all arrived at his station and until he has received permission to despatch trains in the opposite direction.

[...]ditions [...] observed [...]rking [...].

130. When the Following Trains system is adopted, the following conditions must be observed, namely :—

(a) no train shall be allowed to start until the Engine Driver has been given a written authority to proceed and a written acknowledgment thereof has been obtained from him, the train being stopped for the purpose, if not booked to stop,

(b) the authority to proceed shall state the time of the actual departure of the preceding train, the place at which it is next to stop, and the speed at which it is to run,

(c) the Engine Driver and Guard of each preceding train must have been informed of the fact that a train will follow, and of the probable period which will elapse before the following train will be allowed to start;

(d) a train shall not be allowed to follow another from a station unless there has elapsed, since the departure of the previous train, an interval of not less than fifteen minutes, or such shorter interval (if any) as may be fixed by special instructions;

(e) all the trains shall be timed to run at the same speed, and such speed shall not exceed fifteen miles an hour, except under special instructions;

(f) no shunting shall be carried on between the Outer signal and the facing points while following trains are approaching;

(g) the actual time of the departure of each train must at once be intimated by telegraph to the station ahead, and the actual time of arrival of each train must at once be intimated to the station in rear; and

(h) the number of following trains running at the same time between any two stations shall not be more than one for each three miles of station interval; and, unless permitted by special instructions, shall never exceed four, whatever may be the length of the station interval

[...]rt of [...]s and [...]al in[...]tions.

131. When any order is given under rule 128, and when any special instructions are issued under rule 130, the same must immediately be reported by telegram to the Government Inspector [...]lcation [...]rtain [...].

132. Rules 123 to 125 shall apply to working on the Following Trains system.

Cessation of working on the Following Trains system.

133. When it is intended that no more following trains shall be despatched in the same direction, the Station Master shall intimate such intention by telegraph to the station ahead, after which no more trains in either direction may be despatched between the two stations until the last train has arrived at the station ahead and the line has been cleared between the two stations.

CHAPTER IX.

THE TRAIN-STAFF AND TICKET SYSTEM.

Essentials of the Train staff and Ticket system.

134. Where trains are worked between two stations on the Train-staff and Ticket system—

(a) a single Train-staff must be kept at one of such stations, and

(b) no train shall be permitted to start from either of such stations to the other unless the said Train-staff is at the station from which the train starts and has either been handed to or shown to the Engine Driver by the Station Master when giving such permission.

System where applicable.

135. Trains may be worked on the Train-staff and Ticket system only when the line is single and only between such stations as have been declared by special instructions to be staff-stations

General conditions.

136. Trains shall not be allowed to follow one another in the same direction between staff-stations, unless the Engine Driver has been properly warned of the time of departure of the preceding train and of the place at which it will next stop, and

(1) in the case of a passenger train to follow a goods train, or a goods train to follow a slow passenger train, an interval of fifteen minutes (or, if the distance to the next station in advance exceeds ten miles, such longer interval as is prescribed by special instructions) has elapsed since the departure of the preceding train, and

(2) in any other case, either—

(i) it has been ascertained that the preceding train has arrived at the next station in advance, or (ii) an interval of ten minutes has elapsed since the departure of the preceding train.

Engine Driver to have staff or ticket.

137. No train shall be started from a station unless the Engine Driver has in his possession to be carried with him on the journey, either the Train-staff or a Train-staff Ticket, for the section of the line over which the train is about to travel.

(CHAP. IX.—THE TRAIN-STAFF AND TICKET SYSTEM.—RULES 138—147.)

Staff or ticket by whom to be delivered to Engine Driver.

138. The Train-staff or Train-staff Ticket shall be delivered to the Engine Driver by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions.

Staff or ticket when to be delivered to Engine Driver.

139. (1) When no other train is intended to follow before the Train-staff will be required for a train running in the opposite direction, then, subject to the provisions of sub-rule (5), the Train-staff shall be delivered to the Engine Driver.

(2) When other trains are intended to follow before the Train-staff can be returned, then, subject to the provisions of sub-rule (3), a Train-staff Ticket, indicating that the Train-staff is following, shall be delivered to the Driver of each train except the last; and the Train-staff shall be delivered to the Driver of the last train.

(3) When a train is assisted by a second engine in the rear, a Train-staff Ticket shall be delivered to the Driver of the front engine and the Train-staff shall be delivered to the Driver of the rear engine:

Provided that, if both the engines attached to the train are to travel over the entire length of line to which the Train-staff applies, and the train is to be followed by other trains, a Train-staff Ticket shall be delivered to the Driver of each of the engines attached to the first-mentioned train.

(4) When a train is assisted by a second engine in the front, the Train-staff or a Train-staff Ticket, as the case may be, must be delivered to the Driver of the leading engine.

(5) When a ballast train has to stop between stations, the Train-staff shall be delivered to the Engine Driver.

(6) The Train-staff or a Train-staff Ticket shall not be delivered to the Driver of any train until the train is ready to start.

(7) The Engine Driver shall not accept a Train-staff Ticket unless he sees the Train-staff at the same time in the possession of the person who delivers the Ticket to him.

Staff to be kept on engine.

140. When the Train-staff is delivered to the Driver of a train, he shall place it in a conspicuous place provided for the purpose on the engine.

Trains not to be started until staff returned.

141. When the Train-staff has been taken away from a station by the Driver of a train, no other train shall be started from that station to follow the first-mentioned train until the Staff has been returned to the station.

Staff or ticket to be given up, and ticket to be cancelled, on arrival of train.

142. (1) Upon the arrival of a train at the station to which the Train-staff or a Train-staff Ticket extends, the Engine Driver must immediately give the Staff or Ticket to the Station Master, or to some railway servant appointed by special instructions to receive it.

(2) The person to whom any such ticket is so delivered must immediately cancel the same.

Procedure when engine is disabled.

143. (1) If an engine which carries the Train-staff breaks down between two stations, the Fireman must take the Staff to the staff-station in the direction whence assistance can best be obtained, in order that the Staff may be available at the station for delivery to the Driver of the assisting engine.

(2) If an engine which carries a Train-staff Ticket breaks down between two stations, assistance must ordinarily be obtained only from the station at which the Train-staff has been left. But if assistance can more readily be obtained from another station in the opposite direction, immediate steps must be taken to have the Staff transferred to the other end of the section.

(3) Whenever an engine has broken down between two stations, the Fireman must accompany the assisting engine to the spot.

Tickets how kept.

144. Train-staff Tickets must be kept in a ticket-box provided for the purpose and fastened by an inside spring, the key to open the box being the Staff to which the tickets apply.

Train-staff how kept.

145. The Train-staff, when at a station, shall not be left in the box, but must be kept by the Station Master in safe custody.

Distinguishing marks on staff, tickets and boxes.

146. (1) Each Train-staff must have shown upon it the name of the staff-station at each end of the portion of line to which it applies.

(2) The Train-staffs and Train-staff Tickets and boxes for the different portions of the line must be distinguished by different colours.

(3) "Up" and "down" Train-staff Tickets must also have distinguishing marks.

Form of ticket.

147. Every Train-staff Ticket shall be in the following form—

Ticket No... ________ Railway.

TRAIN-STAFF TICKET.

DOWN (or UP).

Train No. ________

________ h ________ m. From ________ to ________

TO ENGINE DRIVER AND GUARD.

You are authorised to proceed from

and the Train-staff will follow.

Train No. ________ in front left ________ h ________ m

Signed ________,

Station Master at Date ________

(Back of ticket.)

The Engine Driver shall not accept this ticket unless he sees the Train-staff for the portion of line which he is about to enter.

This ticket is to be given up by the Engine Driver immediately on arrival to the Station Master or other person authorised to receive it, and such person must immediately cancel it.

148. The Station Master must keep a record in a book of each Train-staff Ticket issued, showing the number of each ticket and the particular train for which it was issued.

CHAPTER X.

THE PILOT GUARD SYSTEM.

149. Where trains are worked on the Pilot Guard system,—

(a) a railway servant (hereinafter called a Pilot Guard) must be specially deputed to pilot trains, and

(b) no train shall be allowed to leave a station except under the personal authority of the Pilot Guard.

150. Trains may be worked on the Pilot Guard system—

(a) on short branch lines having a single line of rails, or

(b) on lines to which the application of the system is authorised by special instructions.

151. Trains shall not be allowed to follow one another in the same direction between stations, except under the conditions prescribed in rule 136.

152. The Pilot Guard must be distinguished by a red dress or badge.

153. (1) No train shall be started from a station unless the Engine Driver sees that it is accompanied by, or that the authority to proceed is given personally by, the Pilot Guard wearing the dress or badge prescribed by rule 152.

(2) The Pilot Guard must accompany every train:

Provided that, when it is necessary to start two or more trains from one end of the line before a train has to be started from the other end, the Pilot Guard shall accompany only the last of such trains, and shall personally give the authority to proceed for the preceding trains.

(3) When accompanying a train, the Pilot Guard must ride on the foot-plate of the engine.

154. (1) When the Pilot Guard does not accompany a train, he shall deliver to the Guard in charge (or, if there be no Guard in charge, to the Engine Driver) a Pilot Guard's ticket (on a printed form, where such are provided), properly filled up and signed, as the authority to proceed.

(2) Every such ticket shall apply only to the single journey to the station named on it.

(3) If the train is in charge of a Guard, he shall, before the train is started, deliver the ticket to the Engine Driver.

(4) Immediately on the arrival of the train, the Engine Driver shall deliver the ticket to the Station Master, who shall at once cancel it.

CHAPTER XI.

THE ONE ENGINE ONLY SYSTEM.

155. Where trains are worked on the One engine only system, only one engine in steam, or two or more engines coupled together, shall be allowed on the line at one and the same time. Essentials of the One engine only system.

156. Trains may be worked on the One engine only system, only on short branch railways having a single line of rails. Application of the One engine only system.

157. (1) If a train becomes disabled and requires assistance, or if an accident occurs which renders it impossible for the engine (or, if two or more engines are coupled together, for either or both of such engines) to proceed, the Guard in charge of the train must instruct the Engine Driver to keep the engine stationary until his return, and must then proceed to the station from which assistance can best be obtained, and must inform the Station Master there of the circumstances. Procedure in case of accident.

(2) Such Station Master may then allow another engine to enter the line.

(3) Such other engine must be accompanied by the Guard in charge of the disabled train, who must explain to the Engine Driver where, and under what circumstances, the disabled train is situated.

(4) Such Guard shall be responsible for the safe and proper working of the line until each engine has left it and it is again clear.

(5) If there be no Guard in charge of the disabled train, the Fireman, or, if necessary, the Engine Driver, must perform the duties imposed by this rule on the Guard.

CHAPTER XII.

USE OF ELECTRICAL INSTRUMENTS ON DOUBLE LINES.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

158. Trains may be worked by means of — Means of working.

(a) electric block instruments, or

(b) electric speaking instruments.

159. (1) Electric speaking instruments must be provided at every station except class D stations. Provision of instruments.

(2) The electric block instruments (where provided) and electric speaking instruments at any station must be of a type approved by the Government Inspector.

Authority to proceed. 160. The Engine Driver shall not take his train from a station unless he has been given an authority to proceed by the taking "off" of the last Stop signal of the station.

Caution order. 161. On a double line, whenever, in consequence of the line being under repair or for any other reason, it becomes necessary to advise an Engine Driver to reduce speed or take special precautions, a caution order defining the place or places at which such precautions are necessary shall be handed to him at the stopping station immediately short of the place where special precautions are needed.

STATIONS AT WHICH ELECTRIC BLOCK INSTRUMENTS ARE PROVIDED.

Signalling of trains. 162. Every running train must, in its progress from station to station, be signalled on the electric block instruments.

Certificate of competency. 163. No person shall operate the block instruments until he has passed a satisfactory examination, and unless he holds a certificate of competency granted by a railway servant appointed in this behalf by the Railway Administration.

Bell Code. 164. Except under approved special instructions, the following uniform Bell Code shall be used, and a copy thereof shall be hung up in each station above the block instruments:—

DOUBLE LINE BLOCK INSTRUMENTS.

Code of bell signals.—The following Code of Signals is to be used, and each signal must be given slowly and distinctly:—

	(f) Vehicles running away on Right Line	●●●●●● — ●●●●●	Six pause five	Six pause five.
7	TESTING SIGNAL	●●●●●●●●●●●●●●●●	Sixteen	Sixteen.

Acknowledgment of signals. 165. (1) Each signal received must be acknowledged by the sending of its authorised acknowledgment.

(2) No signal shall be acknowledged until it is clearly understood.

(3) A signal shall not be considered to be complete until it is acknowledged.

(4) Should the station to which a signal is sent not reply, the signal must be repeated at intervals of not less than twenty seconds until the reply is received.

Train Register book. 166. (1) A Train Register book shall be kept by the Station-Master or under his orders.

(2) The person who keeps the said book shall enter therein.—

(a) immediately after acknowledgment, all signals (except Testing signals) received or sent on the block instruments, and the times of receipt and despatch; and

(b) every instance of a train being shunted at a station for another train to pass.

(3) The times entered in the book must be the actual times, except that any fraction of a minute must be counted as one minute.

(4) All entries in the book must be made in ink.

(5) No erasure shall be made in the book; but if any entry is found to be incorrect a line must be drawn lightly through it, so that it may be read at any time, and the correct entry must be made above it.

(6) The person who keeps the book shall be responsible for all entries made therein and for correctly filling in each column thereof.

The Attention signal. 167. (1) The Attention signal must be given when it is necessary to direct attention to the block instrument.

(2) When the Attention signal is sent before the despatch of the Is Line Clear signal, it shall not be given until the Train out of Section signal has been received for the last preceding train.

The Is Line Clear signal when to be sent. 168. In order to ascertain whether the station in advance is in a position to give a permission to approach to the station in rear, and in order to describe the train, the Is Line Clear signal (as in the Bell Code, according to the description of train) must be sent to the station in advance.

Acceptance of the Is Line Clear signal, and sending of Line Clear signal. 169. (1) If, on the receipt of an Is Line Clear signal, the conditions under which a permission to approach can be given are complied with, the station in advance must accept the signal by sending the signal prescribed by special instructions to indicate Line Clear on the particular block instruments in use.

(2) Except in case of failure of the block instruments, a train shall not be allowed to leave a station unless the instrument for the section into which it is about to proceed shows Line Clear.

(3) When Line Clear is so shown, the semaphore signals applying to the train may be taken "off" to allow the train to proceed.

[...]fusal of Is Line [Cle]ar signal, [and] sending [t]he [Ob]struction [Da]nger [sig]nal.

170. (1) If, by reason of the line being blocked by the presence of a train in the section, or for any other reason, the station in advance is unable to accept the Is Line Clear signal, such station must refuse it by sending the Obstruction Danger signal.

(2) If the station in advance does not accept the Is Line Clear signal, the train must be stopped at the station and shall not be allowed to leave it until a fresh Is Line Clear signal has been given to and accepted by the station in advance.

[Th]e Train [En]tering [Se]ction [sig]nal.

171. (1) On the departure of a train from a station, the Train Entering Section signal must be sent to the station in advance, and must be duly acknowledged.

(2) When so acknowledged, the section shall be considered to be blocked against any other train following.

[Th]e Train [ou]t of [Se]ction or [Ob]struction [Re]moved [sig]nal.

172. (1) On the arrival of a train, or on the removal of the cause which blocked the section, the Train out of Section or Obstruction Removed signal must be given by the station in advance.

(2) Before the Train out of Section signal is given, the Station Master must—

(a) satisfy himself that the train has arrived complete; and

(b) satisfy himself that the conditions under which permission to approach can be given are complied with.

[Th]e Cancelling signal.

173. (1) The Cancelling signal cancels the last signal given from the station from which it is sent.

(2) Where an Is Line Clear signal has been forwarded, and it is afterwards found that the train to which it referred has to be detained for shunting or other purposes at, or has returned to, the station from which that signal was sent, the Cancelling signal must be sent to the station in advance, so that the previous signal may be cancelled.

[Th]e Testing [sig]nal.

174. The Testing signal shall be used only for the purpose of testing the instruments.

[F]ailure of [bl]ock instruments.

175. (1) If the block instruments or their electric connections should fail, permission to approach must be obtained through the electric speaking intruments.

(2) When permission to approach has been so obtained, an entry to that effect must be made in the Train Register book, and the train may then be allowed to proceed.

STATIONS AT WHICH ELECTRIC BLOCK INSTRUMENTS ARE NOT PROVIDED.

Transmission of signals.

176. The signals referred to in rules 164, 165 and 168 to 173 (both inclusive), or such modifications thereof as may be prescribed by special instructions, shall be transmitted, as occasion may require, on the electric speaking instruments.

Forms for messages.

177. (1) All messages despatched in connection with the working of trains shall be written on forms specially provided for the purpose by the Railway Administration.

(2) Such forms shall be bound up in books and kept at each station by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions.

Distinction of messages.

178. (1) Every message despatched in connection with the working of a train must distinctly describe the train to which it relates.

(2) For every train a separate inquiry and reply must be sent.

Writing and signing of messages.

179. (1) All messages despatched in connection with the working of trains shall be written up in ink or with some other indelible substance, and shall be signed by the person authorised to despatch or issue the same.

(2) No message shall be written out, either in full or in part, or signed, until necessary.

Completion of messages.

180. No part of any message shall be despatched or acted upon until the whole message has been written out, except in view to the prevention of an accident or in some other case of emergency.

Preservation of messages.

181. Messages shall be destroyed at such time after issue as may be prescribed by special instructions:

Provided that no message shall be destroyed in less than a fortnight after issue.

CHAPTER XIII.

USE OF ELECTRICAL INSTRUMENTS ON SINGLE LINES.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Application of Chapter.

182. This Chapter applies only to working on any of the following systems, namely:—

(a) Absolute Block,

(b) Section Clear,

(c) Line Clear and Caution Message,

(d) Following Trains.

Means of working.

183. Trains may be worked by means of—

(a) electric token instruments, of such construction that only one of the tokens

(Chap. XIII.—Use of electrical instruments on single lines.— Rules 184—192.)

applying to the same section can be in use at the same time,

(b) electric block instruments, or

(c) electric speaking instruments.

Provision of instruments.

184. (1) Electric speaking instruments must be provided at every station except class D stations.

(2) The electric block instruments (where provided) and electric speaking instruments at any station must be of a type approved by the Government Inspector.

Stations at which electric block instruments are provided.

Signalling of trains.

185. Every running train must, in its progress from station to station, be signalled on the electric block instruments.

Certificate of competency.

186. No person shall operate the token instruments or the block instruments until he has passed a satisfactory examination, and unless he holds a certificate of competency granted by a railway servant appointed in this behalf by the Railway Administration.

Bell Code.

187. Except under approved special instructions, the following uniform Bell Code shall be used, and a copy thereof shall be hung up in each station above the instruments :—

SINGLE LINE TOKEN OR BLOCK INSTRUMENTS.

Acknowledgment of signals.

188. (1) Each signal received must be acknowledged by the sending of its authorised acknowledgment.

(2) No signal shall be acknowledged until it is clearly understood.

(3) A signal shall not be considered to be complete until it is acknowledged.

(4) Should the station to which a signal is sent not reply, the signal must be repeated at intervals of not less than twenty seconds until the reply is received.

Train Register book.

189. (1) A Train Register book shall be kept by the Station Master or under his orders.

(2) The person who keeps the said book shall enter therein, immediately after acknowledgment all signals (except Testing signals) received or sent on the instruments, and the times of receipt and despatch.

(3) The times entered in the book must be the actual times, except that any fraction of a minute must be counted as one minute.

(4) All entries in the book must be made in ink.

(5) No erasure shall be made in the book; but if any entry is found to be incorrect a line must be drawn lightly through it, so that it may be read at any time, and the correct entry must be made above it.

(6) The person who keeps the book shall be responsible for all entries made therein and for correctly filling in each column thereof.

The Attention signal.

190. (1) The Attention signal must be given when it is necessary to direct attention to the block instrument.

(2) When the Attention signal is sent before the despatch of the Is Line Clear signal, it shall not be given until the Train out of Section signal has been received for the last preceding train.

The Is Line Clear signal when to be sent.

191. In order to ascertain whether the station in advance is in a position to give a permission to approach to the station in rear, and in order to describe the train, the Is Line Clear signal (as in the Bell Code, according to the description of train) must be sent to the station in advance.

Acceptance of the Is Line Clear signal, and sending of Line Clear signal.

192. (1) If, on the receipt of an Is Line Clear signal, the conditions under which a permission to approach can be given are complied with, the station in advance must accept the signal by sending the signal prescribed by special instructions to indicate Line Clear on the particular block instruments in use.

(2) Except in case of failure of the block instruments, a train shall not be allowed to leave a station unless the Line Clear signal has been so sent.

Refusal of Is Line Clear signal by sending the Obstruction Danger signal.

193. (1) If, by reason of the line being blocked by the presence of a train in the section or by shunting, or for any other reason, the station in advance is unable to accept the Is Line Clear signal, such station must refuse it by sending the Obstruction Danger signal.

(2) If the station in advance wishes the train to be detained at the station from which the Is Line Clear signal is sent, in order to cross a train approaching from the opposite direction, the Is Line Clear signal must be refused by sending the Obstruction Danger signal.

(3) If the station in advance does not accept the Is Line Clear signal, the train must be stopped at the station and shall not be allowed to leave until a fresh Is Line Clear signal has been given to and accepted by the station in advance.

Train Entering Section signal.

194. (1) On the departure of a train from a station, the Train Entering Section signal must be sent to the station in advance, and must be duly acknowledged.

(2) When so acknowledged, the section shall be considered to be blocked against any other train.

Train out of Section or Obstruction Removed signal.

195. (1) When the section is cleared by the arrival of the train or by the removal of the cause of blocking, the Train out of Section or Obstruction Removed signal must be given by the station in advance.

(2) Before the Train out of Section signal is given, the Station Master must—

(a) satisfy himself that the train has arrived complete; and

(b) satisfy himself that the conditions under which permission to approach can be given are complied with.

Cancelling signal.

196. (1) The Cancelling signal cancels the last signal given from the station from which it is sent.

(2) Where an Is Line Clear signal has been forwarded and it is afterwards found that the train to which it referred has to be detained for shunting or other purposes at, or has returned to, the station from which that signal was sent, the Cancelling signal must be sent to the station in advance, so that the previous signal may be cancelled.

Testing signal.

197. The Testing signal shall be used only for the purpose of testing the instruments.

Engine Driver to have authority to proceed.

198. The Engine Driver shall not take his train from a station unless he has in his possession, as his authority to proceed, either—

(a) a token for the section, taken from an electrical instrument, or such a token and a Caution order, or

(b) a Line Clear ticket or caution ticket duly signed by the Station Master, or (c) a document prescribed in this behalf by special instructions.

Authority to proceed when to be delivered to Engine Driver.

199. An authority to proceed shall not be delivered to the Engine Driver until the procedure prescribed in the foregoing rules in this Chapter, so far as it is applicable in the particular case, has been followed.

Token extracted from electrical instruments.

200. (1) When the authority to proceed is a token taken from electrical instruments, the number of the token must be recorded in the Train Register book.

(2) On arrival of the train at the station in advance, the Engine Driver shall deliver up the token in accordance with special instructions, and this token shall then be placed in the instrument at that station.

(3) If the train has to return to the station from which it started, the token shall, on such return, be replaced in the instrument from which it was extracted.

(4) Whenever, in consequence of the line being under repair, or for any other reason, special precautions are necessary, the Station Master or other duly authorised person must make over to the Engine Driver in addition to the token mentioned in rule 198, clause (a), a Caution order detailing the reasons for taking such special precautions.

Line Clear ticket.

201. (1) When the authority to proceed is a Line Clear ticket, it shall, except under special instructions, be in the following form:—

> No.
> A. B. Railway.
> AUTHORITY TO PROCEED.
> To the Engine Driver of Train.
> The Line is clear.
> You are authorised to leave
> C. for D.
> Date.________ Time____ Signed
> S. M.

(2) Each such ticket shall bear a serial number, which shall be recorded in the Train Register book, the numbers for the Down direction being clearly distinguished from those for the Up direction.

(3) Whenever, in consequence of the line being under repair, or for any other reason, special precautions are necessary, the Engine Driver must have, instead of a Line Clear ticket, a Caution ticket detailing the reasons for taking such precautions.

Responsibility of Station Master as to authority to proceed.

202. The Station Master must see that the authority to proceed delivered to an Engine Driver is accurate, and that, when it is in writing, it is complete and is signed in full and in ink.

Authority to proceed when to be delivered to Engine Driver stopping at station.

203. If the train stops at the station, and is waiting to pass another train, the authority to proceed shall not be delivered to the Engine Driver until the whole of the latter train has come in and is clear of the running road for the former train.

Who to deliver authority to proceed to Engine Driver.

204. An authority to proceed shall not be delivered to the Engine Driver except by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions.

Delivery of authority to proceed when there are two Engine Drivers.

205. If two engines are coupled together, or if one engine is in front and another in rear of the train, the authority to proceed shall be handed to the Driver of the leading engine.

Examination by Engine Driver of authority to proceed.

206. (1) The Engine Driver must see that the authority to proceed is accurate and applies to the section which he is about to enter, and, if the said authority is a ticket, that it is complete and is signed in full and in ink.

(2) If the conditions mentioned in sub-rule (1) are not complied with, the Engine Driver shall not take his train past or from the station until the mistake or the omission is rectified.

Failure of block instruments.

207. (1) If the block instruments or their electric connections should fail, permission to approach must be obtained through the electric speaking instruments.

(2) When permission to approach has been so obtained, an entry to that effect must be made at the top of the Line Clear ticket at the time of issue, and in the Train Register book, and the train may then be allowed to proceed.

STATIONS AT WHICH BLOCK INSTRUMENTS ARE NOT PROVIDED.

Transmission of signals.

208. The signals referred to in rules 187, 188 and 190 to 196 (both inclusive), or such modifications thereof as may be prescribed by special instructions, shall be transmitted, as occasion may require, on the electric speaking instruments.

Forms for messages and authorities to proceed.

209. (1) All messages despatched in connection with the working of trains, and all written authorities to proceed, shall be written on forms specially provided for the purpose by the Railway Administration.

(2) Such forms shall be bound up in books and kept at each station by the Station Master or by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions.

Distinction of messages.

210. (1) Every message despatched in connection with the working of a train must distinctly describe the train to which it relates.

(2) For every train a separate inquiry and reply must be sent

Writing and signing of messages and authorities to proceed.

211. (1) All messages despatched in connection with the working of trains, and all written authorities to proceed, shall be written up in ink or with some other indelible substance, and shall be signed by the person authorised to despatch or issue the same.

(2) No message or authority to proceed shall be written out, either in full or in part, or signed, until necessary.

Completion of messages.

212. No part of any message shall be despatched or acted upon until the whole message has been written out, except in view to the prevention of an accident or in some other case of emergency.

Preservation of messages and authorities to proceed.

213. Messages and authorities to proceed shall be destroyed at such time after issue as may be prescribed by special instructions:

Provided that no message or authority to proceed shall be destroyed in less than a fortnight after issue.

Cancellation of permission to approach.

214. When a permission to approach has been cancelled, no train shall be allowed to leave in the opposite direction until a message has been received acknowledging such cancellation and stating that the train for which the permission to approach has been given is and will be detained.

Engine Driver to have authority to proceed.

215. The Engine Driver shall not take his train from a station unless he has in his possession, as his authority to proceed, a Line Clear ticket or Caution ticket duly signed by the Station Master.

Authority to proceed when to be delivered to Engine Driver.

216. An authority to proceed shall not be delivered to the Engine Driver until the procedure prescribed in the foregoing rules in this Chapter, so far as it is applicable, with such modifications (if any) as may be prescribed under rule 208, has been followed.

Line Clear ticket.

217. Except under special instructions, the Line Clear ticket referred to in rule 215 shall be in the form prescribed in sub-rule (1) of rule 201; and the provisions of sub-rule (2) of rule 201 shall apply to such tickets.

Caution ticket.

218. Whenever, in consequence of the line being under repair, or for any other reason, special precautions are necessary, the Engine Driver must have, instead of a Line Clear ticket, a Caution ticket, detailing the reasons for taking such precautions.

CHAPTER XIV.

RAILWAY SERVANTS GENERALLY.

...ply of ...ies or ...slations ...rules.

224. (1) The authorised officer shall supply—

(a) to each station, and to each Locomotive Running Shed, a copy in English of the rules for the time being in force on the railway concerned under section 47 of the Indian Railways Act. 1890; and

...of 1890.

(b) to each railway servant on whom any definite responsibility is placed by the said rules, and who understands English, a copy of the said rules, or a copy of such portions thereof as relate to his duties.

(2) The authorised officer may, at his discretion, supply to any railway servant who does not understand English a translation, in a language which he understands, of the said rules, or of such portions thereof as relate to his duties.

...oduction ...rules.

225. Every railway servant who has been supplied under rule 224 with a copy or translation of rules must produce the same on the demand of any of his superior officers.

...plication ...new copy ...rules.

226. If any such copy or translation supplied to any railway servant should be lost or defaced, he must apply to his immediate superior for a new one.

Acquaintance with rules.

227. Every railway servant, whether supplied or not with a copy or translation of the rules relating to his duties, must make himself acquainted with such rules; and the Railway Administration must see that he does so.

Assistance in carrying out rules, and report of breaches. IX of 1890.

228. Every railway servant must assist, whenever necessary, in carrying out the rules for the time being in force under section 47 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, and must report forthwith to his superior any breach thereof which may come to his notice.

Prompt obedience to orders.

229. Every railway servant must promptly obey all lawful orders given by any person placed in authority over him.

Hours of attendance for duty.

230. Every railway servant must be in attendance for duty at such times and for such periods as may be fixed in this behalf by the Railway Administration, and must also attend at any other times at which his services may be required.

Absence from duty.

231. (1) No railway servant shall, without the permission of his superior officer, absent himself from duty, or alter his appointed hours of attendance, or exchange duty with any other railway servant.

(2) If any railway servant desires to absent himself from duty on the ground of illness, he must immediately report the matter to his superior officer, and shall not leave his duty until a competent person has been placed in charge thereof.

Obtaining spirituous or fermented liquor at stations.

232. No railway servant directly connected with the working of trains shall, when on duty or in uniform, obtain spirituous or fermented liquor at any refreshment room at a station, except in accordance with special instructions.

Conduct generally.

233. (1) The conduct of all railway servants must be prompt, civil and obliging.

(2) Every railway servant must at all times afford every proper facility for the business to be performed, and be careful to give correct information.

Duties for securing safety.

234 (1) Every railway servant shall be bound—

(a) to see that every exertion is made for ensuring the safety of the public,

(b) promptly to report to his immediate superior any occurrence affecting the safe or proper working of the railway which may come to his notice, and

(c) to render on demand all possible assistance in case of an accident or obstruction.

(2) Every railway servant who observes—

(i) that any signal is defective, or

(ii) any obstruction, failure or threatened failure of any part of the way or works, or

(iii) anything wrong with a train, or

(CHAP. XIV.—RAILWAY SERVANTS GENERALLY.—RULES 235—243. CHAP. XV.—STATION MASTERS.—RULES 244—248.)

(iv) any unusual circumstance likely to interfere with the safe running of trains or the safety of the public, must take immediate steps, such as the circumstances of the case may demand, to prevent accident; and, where necessary, must advise the nearest Station Master by the quickest possible means.

Consent required before interfering with signal.

235. No railway servant shall interfere with any signal or its fittings or connections for the purpose of effecting repairs or for any other purpose, except with the previous consent of the Station Master or other railway servant in charge of the working of the signal.

Knowledge and possession of hand signals.

236. Every railway servant employed on or connected with shunting operations of any nature, or the movement of trains, must—

(a) have a correct knowledge of hand signals, and

(b) have the requisite hand signals with him while on duty.

Signal lamps.

237. Every railway servant in charge of signals must see that the greatest care is taken in the cleaning, trimming and lighting of signal lamps.

Leaving vehicles in sidings outside station limits.

238. No railway servant shall leave any vehicle in a siding outside station limits, unless the vehicle is clear of all running roads and, except under special instructions, unless the wheels thereof are properly secured.

Obstruction of line.

239. No railway servant shall commence any loading, shunting or other operation by which any running road may be fouled or obstructed, without obtaining the previous sanction of the Station Master, or of some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions, who must see that all necessary steps are taken for the protection of traffic while such operation is being carried on.

Preparation for running of trains.

240. The staff must always be prepared, without previous notice, for the running of trains.

Finding of lost articles.

241. Any railway servant who finds on the railway or in any vehicle any article (whether belonging to the Railway Administration or to a private owner) which appears to have fallen from a train or to have been lost, must immediately deliver or send such article to the nearest Station Master, to be dealt with in accordance with special instructions.

Notice before leaving service.

242. Every railway servant shall, before leaving the service, give the Railway Administration the notice specified in his agreement (if any), or, if no notice is so specified, then one month's notice in writing.

Surrender of railway property on leaving service.

243. When a railway servant leaves the service he must deliver up to the Railway Administration, or to a person appointed by the Railway Administration in this behalf, any property in his custody which belongs to the Railway Administration.

CHAPTER XV.

STATION MASTERS.

Responsibility of Station Master for working.

244. (1) The Station Master shall be responsible for the efficient discharge of the duties devolving upon the several members of the staff employed, either permanently or temporarily, under his orders, at the station or within station limits; and such staff shall be subject to his authority and directions in the working of the station.

(2) The Station Master shall also be responsible that the general working of the station is carried out in strict accordance with the rules for the time being in force.

Responsibility for the whole working machinery.

245. The Station Master shall see that all signals, all points, all gates of level-crossings and the whole working machinery of his station are in proper working order, and shall immediately report all defects therein to the proper authority.

Signal boxes.

246. The Station Master—

(a) must make himself thoroughly acquainted with the duties of the staff employed in the signal boxes, if any, at his station, and must satisfy himself that they perform their duties correctly; and,

(b) in order to maintain an effectual supervision over the said staff, must frequently visit the signal boxes.

Switches, points, and points and signals.

247. The Station Master must take steps to ensure—

(a) that the switches of all traps, slip-sidings and catch-sidings, when it is not necessary that they should be open, are set against the line which they are intended to protect;

(b) that all points are correctly set, in accordance with special instructions, for the passage of trains or vehicles, and that all facing points are securely locked for the passage of trains; and

(c) that all signals at his station are correctly worked.

Signal lamps.

248. (1) Whenever any train is timed to run, or is expected to run, on any portion of the line at night, the Station Master must see that all the fixed signal lamps are lighted at sunset, or at such earlier time as may be prescribed by special instructions.

(2) The Station Master must see that the fixed signal-lamps, when lighted, are burning brightly, that the spectacle glasses are properly cleaned, and that the back-lights are clearly visible.

(3) Whenever night signals have to be used in accordance with these rules, the Station Master shall not grant permission to approach unless the lamps of the fixed signals at his station which apply to the train are burning brightly.

(CHAP. XV.—STATION MASTERS.—RULES 249—264. CHAP. XVI.—GUARDS.—RULES 265—266.)

(4) The Station Master must see that the fixed signal lamps are not put out until broad daylight, except in accordance with special instructions.

[...]ment of [...]n for [...]signal-

249. The Station Master must see that his station is adequately supplied with all necessary equipment for hand-signalling.

Inspec-[...] of [...]n.

250. The Station Master shall daily inspect the station, and see that all rooms, offices, platforms, latrines and other appurtenances are kept neat and clean.

[...]nsibility [...]ation [...]r for [...]rty.

251. The Station Master of a station shall be responsible for the security and protection of the property of the Railway Administration at the station.

[...]nsibility [...]ation [...]r before [...]g per-[...]on to [...]train.

252. The Station Master must see before he gives the Guard permission to start a train, that all is right for the train to proceed.

[...]ination [...]ains be-[...]starting.

253. When a train is examined by a Carriage and Wagon Examiner at a station, the Station Master shall not give permission to start the train until he has received a report from such Examiner to the effect that the train is fit to proceed.

[...]lamps [...]tail-[...]ds of [...]ng trains.

254. (1) The Station Master must see that every train passing through the station is provided with a tail-board or tail-lamp on the last vehicle.

NOTE.—If a tail-board or tail-lamp be not available, a red flag or other device may be used in accordance with special instructions.

(2) If by day the tail-board or tail-lamp be missing or if by night the tail-lamp be out or be missing the Station Master must immediately advise the station ahead to stop the train, to see that the defect is remedied and to reply saying whether the train is complete or not.

[...]ply of [...]s, and [...]ribution [...]xhibition [...]ther docu-[...]ts.

255. The Station Master must see—

(a) that every railway servant subordinate to him who should be supplied with a copy or translation of these rules under rule 224 duly receives the same;

(b) that the Working Time-table in force together with all corrigenda and with the appendix thereto (if any), working instructions, and other notices having reference to the working of the line, are properly distributed or exhibited as may be required;

(c) that both the English and Vernacular sheet time-tables and fare-lists are correctly exhibited at all stations where traffic is booked; and

[...]of 1890.

(d) that the Indian Railways Act, 1890, and Goods and Coaching Tariffs are available for inspection by the public.

[...]dience to [...]ers, and [...]ping of [...]ks and [...]urns.

256. The Station Master shall see that all orders and instructions are duly conveyed to the staff concerned and are properly carried out, and that all books and returns are regularly written up and neatly kept.

Behaviour of railway servants.

257. The Station Master must see that all railway servants at his station behave respectfully and civilly to the public and to passengers of every class.

Assistance to passengers.

258. (1) The Station Master must see that each member of the platform staff is acquainted with the times of arrival and departure of all passenger trains, so as to render information to the public when required.

(2) Upon the arrival at a station of a train carrying passengers, the Station Master must see that the station servants pay immediate attention to any indication shown by passengers of their desire to receive assistance.

Report of neglect of duty.

259. The Station Master shall report, without delay, to his immediate superior, all neglect of duty on the part of any railway servant who is under his orders.

Shunting.

260. The Station Master must see that the shunting of trains or vehicles is carried on only at such times and in such manner as will not involve danger.

Securing of vehicles at station.

261. The Station Master must see that vehicles standing at the station are properly secured in accordance with special instructions.

Vehicle escaping from station.

262. If any vehicle escapes from a station, the Station Master must take immediate steps to warn the other stations concerned, and, as far as practicable, to prevent accident.

Searching of trains and vehicles shunted off at station.

263. The Station Master shall be responsible that each train after finishing its journey, and all vehicles shunted off at the station as "empties", are carefully searched.

Accident or obstruction.

264. (1) When a report of any accident or obstruction is received by the Station Master, he must see that all necessary precautions are taken, by the most expeditious means possible, for the protection of traffic.

(2) If an accident happens to a train, the Station Master must arrange for all necessary assistance to be sent to the train.

(3) The Station Master shall as soon as practicable report each accident in accordance with special instructions.

CHAPTER XVI.

GUARDS.

Time of attendance of Guard at station.

265. Every Guard must be in attendance, at the station from which his train is to start, half an hour before the time appointed for the departure of the train, or at such earlier time as may be ordered by the authorised officer.

Guard to be in charge of train.

266. After an engine has been attached to a train, and during the journey, the Guard or (if there be more than one Guard) the head Guard shall be in charge of the train in all matters affecting the starting, stopping or movement of the train for traffic purposes.

(CHAP. XVI.—GUARDS.—RULES 267—280.)

Subordination of Guards in station limits

267. When a train is within station limits, the Guards shall be under the orders of the Station Master.

Guard's equipment.

268. (1) Every Guard must have with him, while on duty with his train,—

(a) a copy of the rules for the time being in force on the railway concerned under section 47 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, or such portions of them as have been supplied to him under rule 224,

IX of 1890.

(b) a copy of the Working Time-table in force on the lines over which the train is to run,

(c) a watch,

(d) a hand signal lamp,

(e) a whistle,

(f) a red flag and a green flag, and

(g) such other articles, including a sufficient supply of detonators, as may be prescribed by the Railway Administration in this behalf.

(2) If any Guard is not in possession of any article mentioned or referred to in sub-rule (1), he must report the fact to the Station Master of his head-quarters station whose duty it shall be to make good any deficiency.

Permission to starting from station

269. (1) The Guard in charge of a train shall not give the signal for starting the train from a station at which it has stopped until he has received permission from the Station Master.

(2) The Guard in charge of a train with passenger vehicles attached shall not give the signal for starting until he has satisfied himself that no passenger is getting into or out of the train, that no person is riding outside a carriage, and that, except in accordance with special instructions, no person is travelling in any compartment or vehicle not intended for the carriage of passengers.

Guard to examine notices before starting.

270. Every Guard, before starting with his train, must examine the notices issued for his guidance, and ascertain therefrom whether there is anything requiring his special attention on the parts of the line over which he has to work.

Duties of Guard before starting a train and during the journey.

271. The Guard when taking over charge of a train must satisfy himself, before the train is despatched,—

(a) that the train is properly coupled,

(b) that the train is provided with the prescribed brake-power,

(c) that the doors of all carriages and wagons are properly closed,

(d) that the train carries all necessary tail-boards and brakevan lamps, and that such lamps are lighted and kept burning brightly when required,

(e) that the appliance, if any, for communication between the Guard and the Engine Driver is in proper working order, and

(f) generally, that, as far as he can ascertain, the train is in a state of efficiency for travelling.

Setting watch.

272. Before a train starts from a terminal or engine-changing station, the Guard in charge must set his watch by the station clock and communicate the time to the Engine Driver.

Passengers.

273. Every Guard shall give his best assistance to passengers entraining and detraining.

Exchange of signals between Guard and Engine Driver.

274. The Guard in charge of a train must exchange signals with the Engine Driver at such times and in such manner as may be prescribed by special instructions.

Guard to keep a good look-out.

275. Every Guard must keep a good look-out while the train is in motion and must satisfy himself from time to time that the tail-board or tail-lamp is in position, that all brakevan lamps, if required, are burning brightly, that the train is complete in every respect and is proceeding in a safe and proper manner.

Attracting attention of Engine Driver.

276. (1) If any Guard sees reason to apprehend danger, or considers it necessary for any reason to stop the train, he must use his best endeavours to attract the attention of the Engine Driver.

(2) In the absence of other means of communication with the engine, a Guard desiring to attract the Engine Driver's attention must apply his hand-brake sharply and must as suddenly release it.

(3) When the attention of the Engine Driver has been attracted the necessary Danger signal must be shown.

(4) If the train is fitted with a continuous brake, the Guard may, in case of emergency, apply such brake to stop the train.

Application of Guards' brakes.

277. (1) When the Engine Driver sounds three or more short, sharp whistles, or the brake whistle, the Guards must immediately apply their hand-brakes.

(2) When a train is travelling down a steep incline, the Guards must, if necessary to steady the train, assist the Engine Driver with their brakes.

Guard to see that train is stopped clear of fouling points.

278. When a train comes to a stand at a station the Guard must see that whenever possible the last vehicle of his train has cleared the fouling points of all points and crossings.

Detaching engine.

279. Whenever a train has been brought to a stand, and it is necessary for the engine, with or without vehicles, to be detached from the rest of the train, the Guard in charge of the train must, before the train is uncoupled, satisfy himself that the van-brakes have been put on securely, and take such other measures as may be prescribed by special instructions.

Loads on open trucks.

280. The Guard in charge of a train must, unless this duty is, by special instructions, imposed on some other railway servant, carefully examine the load of any open truck which may be attached to the train, and, if any such load has shifted or requires adjustment, must have the load made secure or the truck removed from the train.

Coolies in ballast train.

281. Guards in charge of ballast trains must, before giving the signal to start, see that all the coolies are on the train, and must warn them to sit down.

Guard not to leave train till handed over.

282. No Guard in charge of a train shall leave it until it has been properly handed over in accordance with special instructions.

CHAPTER XVII.

ENGINE DRIVERS AND FIREMEN.

ENGINE DRIVER AND FIREMAN.

Engine Driver and Fireman when to attend.

283. The Engine Driver and Fireman must be with their engine at such time previous to the starting of the train as may be ordered by the authorised officer.

Manning of engine in motion.

284. Except when otherwise provided by special instructions, no engine shall be allowed to be in motion on any running road unless both the Engine Driver and the Fireman are upon it.

Riding on engine or tender.

285. Except in accordance with special instructions, no person other than the Engine Driver and the Fireman shall ride on the engine or tender.

Fireman to obey Engine Driver.

286. The Fireman must obey the orders of the Engine Driver in all particulars.

Engine Driver and Fireman to keep a good look-out.

287. Every Engine Driver must keep a good look-out while the train is in motion, and every Fireman must also do so when he is not necessarily otherwise engaged.

Engine Driver and Fireman to look back.

288. The Engine Driver and the Fireman must frequently during the journey look back to see whether the train is following in a safe and proper manner.

Throwing out water, fire or cinders.

289. An Engine Driver or Fireman shall not throw out water, fire or cinders when passing through a station yard or tunnel, or when on a bridge.

ENGINE DRIVER.

Engine Driver's equipment.

290. Every Engine Driver must have with him, while on duty with his train,—

(a) a copy of the rules for the time being in force on the railway concerned under section 47 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, or of such portions of them as have been supplied to him under rule 224; (IX of 1890.)

(b) a copy of the Working Time-table in force with all corrigenda and with the appendix thereto (if any) on the lines over which the train is to run; and

(c) the equipment and stores prescribed by the Railway Administration in this behalf.

Engine Driver to examine engine before starting.

291. The Engine Driver must, before starting, satisfy himself that his engine is in proper working order.

Duties of Engine Driver as regards Engine Lamp and Discs.

292. The Engine Driver must, before starting, see that the proper Engine Lamps and Discs (if provided) are shown, and must see that the lamps are kept burning brightly at night and in thick or foggy weather.

Setting watch

293. The Engine Driver must, before starting, set his watch to the correct time, as given to him by the Guard in charge of the train.

Engine Driver to examine notices before starting.

294. Every Engine Driver must, before starting, examine the notices issued for his guidance, and ascertain therefrom whether there is anything requiring his special attention on the parts of the line over which he has to work.

Duty of Engine Driver unacquainted with line.

295. If an Engine Driver is not acquainted with any portion of the line over which he has to work, he must obtain the services of a qualified railway servant who is acquainted with it, to assist him.

Permission and signals, before entering on or crossing running road.

296. No Engine Driver shall take his engine on or across any running road until he has obtained the permission of the Station Master and has satisfied himself that the correct signals have been shown.

Engine Driver not to start without Guard's signal.

297. The Engine Driver shall not start from a station an engine with vehicles attached until the Guard in charge of the train has given the signal to start.

Moving of train carrying passengers, after it has been stopped at station.

298. When a train carrying passengers has been brought to a stand at a station, whether alongside, beyond or short of the platform, the Engine Driver shall not move it, except under orders of the Guard in charge of the train or to avert an accident.

Engine Driver to satisfy himself that correct signals are shown and line is clear.

299. The Engine Driver must, before starting his train, satisfy himself that the correct signals are shown and that the line before him is clear.

Sounding the engine-whistle.

300. Except under special instructions, the Engine Driver must always sound the engine-whistle—

(a) before putting an engine in motion;

(b) when entering a tunnel; and

(c) at such other times as may be prescribed.

Engine Driver to obey certain orders.

301. After an engine has been attached to a train, and during the journey, the Engine Driver must obey—

(a) the orders of the Guard in charge of the train, in all matters affecting the starting, stopping or movement of the train for traffic purposes; and

(b) all orders given to him by the Station Master or any railway servant acting under special instructions, so far as the safe and proper working of his engine will admit.

(CHAP. XVII.—ENGINE DRIVERS AND FIREMEN.—RULES 302—316.)

Regulation of speed.

302. The Engine Driver must regulate and control the running of his train as accurately as possible, according to the Working Time-table, so as to avoid either excessive speed or loss of time; and he shall not make up between any two stations more time than is allowed in this behalf by special instructions.

Starting and stopping train.

303. The Engine Driver must start and stop his train carefully and without jerk.

Proper running road.

304. (1) The Engine Driver must take his train along the proper running road.

(2) In the case of an ordinary double line, the "proper running road" is the left hand road in the direction in which the engine is travelling.

Exchange of signals between Engine Driver and Guard.

305. The Engine Driver must exchange signals with the Guard in charge of the train, at such times and in such manner as may be prescribed by special instructions.

Assistance from Guard's brake.

306. When the Engine Driver requires the assistance of the Guard's brake, he must give three or more short, sharp whistles, or, if a brake-whistle is provided, sound such whistle, and must in either case apply the communication, if any.

Engine Driver to see that train is stopped clear of fouling points.

307. When a train comes to a stand at a station, the Engine Driver must see that whenever possible his engine is clear of the fouling points of all points and crossings.

Shutting off steam.

308. In stopping a train, the Engine Driver must determine where to shut off steam by paying particular attention to the gradient, the state of the weather, the condition of the rails, and the length and weight of the train.

Permission of Guard to detaching of engine from train.

309. When a train not fitted with the continuous brake has been brought to a stand outside station limits or on a grade, the Engine Driver shall not detach his engine from the train without the permission of the Guard in charge of the train.

Hose or water-crane.

310. After taking water from a tank or water column, the Engine Driver must see that the hose or water-crane is left clear of the line and, when it is provided with fastenings, properly secured.

Engine Driver not to leave engine when on duty.

311. No Engine Driver shall leave his engine when on duty, whether at a station or on the running road, except in case of absolute necessity and after a competent man has been placed in charge of it.

Attention to signals.

Engine Driver to obey signals, and to be vigilant and cautious.

312. (1) The Engine Driver must pay immediate attention to and obey every signal, whether the cause of the signal being shown is known to him or not.

(2) He shall not, however, trust entirely to signals, but must always be vigilant and cautious.

Duties of Engine Drivers as to signals when two or more engines are attached to train.

313. When two or more engines are attached to a train, the Driver of the leading engine shall be responsible for observing signals, and the Driver of the other engine or engines shall watch for and take signals from the Driver of the leading engine.

Duties of Engine Driver when Stop signal is "on" or defective.

314. The Driver of a running train shall not pass a Stop signal that refers to him when it is "on" or defective,—

(a) unless he has, at a previous station, received notice in writing specifying that the signal is out of order, and unless he is also signalled past by a man standing at the signal; or

(b) unless, after coming to a stand, he either is given written permission to proceed from the Station Master, or is called on by a Calling-on signal, or is piloted past the defective signal by a railway servant authorised in this behalf who shall travel on the engine.

Explanation.—If an Engine Driver has not received a notice in writing that the Stop signal is defective, he must stop, and shall pay no heed to any other signal (whether a hand signal or not) that may be shown, until he is allowed to proceed under one of the authorities mentioned above.

Duties of Engine Driver when the All right or Proceed with Caution signal is shown.

315. (1) When the All right signal is shown to a train, the Engine Driver may proceed at such speed as may be prescribed by special instructions.

(2) When the Proceed with Caution signal is shown to a train by gangers or other workmen employed on the permanent-way, the speed of the train over the portion of the running road protected by such signal shall not exceed fifteen miles an hour, or such lower rate as may be prescribed in this behalf by special instructions.

(3) When the Proceed with Caution signal is shown to a train by any railway servant not referred to in sub-rule (2), the Engine Driver must reduce speed.

Duties of Engine Driver when engine explodes detonator.

316. (1) When an engine explodes a detonator, the Engine Driver must immediately reduce speed and be guided by the signals that he may receive.

(2) If no hand or other signals are at once visible to the Engine Driver, he must immediately bring his train to a stand, and may then—

(a) if it is day, and he has a clear view of the road—proceed very cautiously at such reduced speed as will enable him to stop short of any Danger signal or obstruction; or

(b) if it is day, and he has not a clear view of the road, or if it is night, or if the weather is thick or foggy—proceed very cautiously on hand signals given by the Guard in charge of the train (or the Fireman, if there is no Guard), who must walk ahead of the engine for this purpose; and

(c) if, within a distance of one mile from the point where the explosion occurred, he meets no further detonators and sees no signals—resume ordinary speed.

Non-showing, or imperfect showing, of fixed signal.

317. (1) If there is no fixed signal at a place where a fixed signal is ordinarily shown, or if a fixed signal is imperfectly shown, the Engine Driver must act as if a Danger signal were shown.

(2) The exhibition of a red over green light, or the corresponding positions of the arms by day, or the absence of one or both lights, shows that the signal is out of order, and should be treated as a Danger signal. The Engine Driver must stop at such signal and ascertain if possible the cause. He may then proceed cautiously, being guided by the signals in advance, and must immediately on arrival at the station report the circumstances to the Station Master.

Precautions when view of signal is obstructed.

318. If, in consequence of a fog or storm or for any other reason, the view of signals is obstructed, the Engine Driver must take every possible precaution, especially when approaching a station or junction so as to have the train well under control.

CHAPTER XVIII.

POINTSMEN AND SIGNALMEN.

Points to be kept clean and clear.

319. Every Pointsman must keep the points under his charge clean, and clear of stones or other obstacles.

Report when points, etc., are damaged.

320. Whenever points, crossings or guard-rails are damaged, the Pointsman in charge must protect them and immediately arrange to report the circumstances to the Station Master.

Pointsmen and Signalmen not to leave signals.

321. A Pointsman or Signalman shall not, while on duty, leave the points or signals which are under his charge.

CHAPTER XIX.

RAILWAY SERVANTS EMPLOYED ON THE PERMANENT-WAY OR WORKS.

Condition of permanent-way and works.

322. Each Inspector of Permanent-way shall be responsible for the condition of the permanent-way and works in his district.

Maintenance of line.

323. Each Inspector of Permanent-way must—

(a) see that his length of line is efficiently maintained, and

(b) promptly report to the Engineer in charge all accidents to or defects in the way or works which he may consider likely to interfere with the safe running of trains.

Keeping of permanent-way material.

324. Each Inspector of Permanent-way must see to the security of all rails, chairs, sleepers and other permanent-way material in his district, and that such of the said articles as are not actually in use are kept clear of the line and properly stacked.

Inspection of permanent-way and works.

325. (1) Every portion of the permanent-way must be inspected daily on foot by some railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions.

(2) All bridges and works in charge of the Engineering Department, including signals, signal wires, points and crossings, must regularly be inspected in accordance with special instructions.

Supply of documents to Inspector and Sub-Inspector of Permanent-way.

326. Each Inspector and Sub-Inspector of Permanent-way shall be supplied with and be responsible for obtaining—

(a) a copy of the Working Time-table for the time being in force, with all corrigenda and with the appendix thereto (if any); and

(b) a copy of the schedule of Standard Dimensions for the time being in force under the orders of the Railway Board.

Ganger in each gang.

327. Each Inspector of Permanent-way must see that in every gang employed in his length of line there is a competent Ganger.

Knowledge of signals and equipment of gang.

328. Each Inspector of Permanent-way must see—

(a) that every Ganger employed under him has a correct knowledge of hand signals and detonating signals; and

(b) that every gang employed in his length of line is supplied with a permanent-way gauge, two sets of flag signals, two hand signal lamps and twelve detonators, in addition to such other tools or implements as may be prescribed by special instructions.

Inspection of gauges, signals, tools and implements.

329. (1) Each Inspector of Permanent-way must at least once in every month inspect the permanent-way gauges, flags, signal lamps, detonators, tools and implements supplied to the gangs under rule 328, clause (b), and ascertain whether the said gauges are correct, whether the said flags, signal lamps, detonators, tools and implements are in good order, and whether any of the said articles have been lost.

(2) He shall also see that any defective or missing articles are replaced.

Responsibility of Ganger as to signals and safety of line.

330. Each Ganger must see—

(a) that the signals supplied to him under rule 328, clause (b), are kept constantly in proper order and ready for use;

(CHAP. XIX.—RAILWAY SERVANTS EMPLOYED ON THE PERMANENT-WAY OR WORKS.—RULES 331—342.)

(b) that the men in his gang each have a correct knowledge of hand signals and detonating signals ; and

(c) that his length of line is kept safe for the passage of trains.

Trespassing.

331. Each Ganger must endeavour to prevent any trespassing by persons or cattle on his length of line or within the fences thereof.

Fire.

332. If a fire occur on any railway premises at or near any portion of the railway where gang-men are employed, they must endeavour to extinguish it to prevent it from spreading.

Work involving danger to trains or traffic.

333. A gang shall not commence or carry on any work which will involve danger to trains or to traffic without the previous sanction of the Inspector of Permanent-way, or of some competent railway servant appointed in this behalf by special instructions ; and the railway servant who gives such sanction must himself be present to superintend such work, and shall see that the provisions of rules 337, 339 and 340 are observed :

Provided that, in cases of emergency, when it may be necessary for safety to commence any such work before the said railway servant can arrive, the Ganger may commence work at once and must himself see that the provisions of rule 340 are observed.

Work in thick or foggy weather.

334. In thick or foggy weather, no rail shall be displaced, and no other work which is likely to cause obstruction to the passage of trains shall be performed, except in cases of absolute necessity.

Blasting.

335. No railway servant employed on the way or on any works shall carry on any blasting operations on or near the railway except as permitted by special instructions.

Putting in or removing points or crossings.

336. Except in cases of emergency, no railway servant shall put in or remove any points or crossings otherwise than as permitted by special instructions.

Presence and responsibility of Ganger.

337. When repairing, lifting or lowering the line outside station limits, or when performing any other operation outside station limits which will make it necessary for a train to proceed cautiously, the Ganger must himself be present at the spot and shall be responsible that the caution signals prescribed in rule 340 are shown.

Duties of Ganger when apprehending danger.

338. If a Ganger considers that the line is likely to be rendered unsafe, or that any train is likely to be endangered, in consequence of any defect in the way or works or of abnormal rain or floods or any other occurrence, he must take immediate steps for securing the stability of the line and the safety of trains, by using the prescribed signals for trains to "Proceed with Caution" or to "Stop," as necessity may require ; and shall as soon as possible report the circumstances to the nearest Station Master, the Inspector of Permanent-way and the Sub-Inspector (if any).

Precautions before commencing operations which would obstruct the line.

339. No person employed on the way or works shall commence any operation, such as changing or turning a rail, which would obstruct the line and necessitate the showing of Danger signals,—

(a) until such signals have been shown, and,

(b) if within station-limits, until he has also obtained the permission of the Station Master and all necessary signals have been placed "on."

Showing signals.

340. (1) When "Proceed with Caution" hand signals have to be shown, a man shall be sent, if on a double line, in the direction from which trains approach, and, if on a single line, in each direction, at least a quarter of a mile and as much further as the circumstances of the case may render necessary, to show these signals in such a manner as to be plainly visible to the Driver of an approaching train.

(2) Another such signal shall also be shown at the spot where cautious driving is required, and a "Proceed" signal shall be shown to the Engine Driver as soon as the train has cleared the portion of the line over which cautious driving was necessary.

(3) When Danger signals have to be shown under this Chapter, they must be shown at an adequate distance (to be prescribed by special instructions) in both directions from the place of obstruction, except where only one road on a double line of railway is affected, in which case the signal need only be shown in the direction from which trains approach on that road.

(4) Danger signals must also be shown near and short of the point of danger.

(5) Danger signals must be supplemented by detonators in the manner prescribed in rules 36 to 40.

Protection of train.

341. Every railway servant employed on way or works shall, on the requisition of the Guard in charge of a train or the Driver thereof, render assistance under rule 86 for the protection of the train.

Lorries and Trollies.

Distinction between trollies and lorries.

342. (1) For the purposes of the following rules in this Chapter, a vehicle which can be lifted bodily from the line by four men shall be deemed to be a trolly, and any similar but heavier vehicle shall be deemed to be a lorry.

(2) A trolly shall not, except in cases of emergency, be used for the carriage of permanent-way or other heavy material; and, when a trolly is so loaded, it shall be deemed, for the purposes of these rules, to be a lorry.

347. The railway servant in charge of a trolly shall, before leaving a station, ascertain the whereabouts of all approaching trains, and shall, when a clear view for an adequate distance—

(a) on a single line, in both directions, or

(b) on a double line, in the direction from which trains may approach, is not obtainable, take such precautions for the protection of his trolly as may be prescribed by special instructions.

...ection of ...on the

348. (1) Whenever it is proposed to place a lorry, whether loaded or empty, on the line, the line shall, if it is possible to do so without interference with the working of trains, be blocked under the rules for working trains.

(2) When the line has not been so blocked, and a lorry, whether loaded or empty, is placed on the line, the lorry must be protected—

(a) on a double line, by a man either following or preceding the lorry at a distance of not less than half a mile in the direction from which trains may approach, and plainly showing a Danger hand signal; or

(b) on a single line, by a man following and a man preceding the lorry at a distance of not less than half a mile and plainly showing a Danger hand signal;

and the men so following or preceding the lorry—

(i) must be furnished with detonators, and must place two on the line, ten yards apart, immediately the lorry comes to a stand for the purpose of either unloading or loading, and

(ii) must continue to show the Danger hand signal and keep the detonators on the line until a messenger arrives with an order from the Ganger or other person in charge of the operation to withdraw the signal, and

(iii) in any case, should any train be seen approaching, must immediately place the detonators on the line, unless they have received orders to withdraw the Danger signal.

349. A lorry or trolly, when not in use, must be placed clear of the line, and the wheels must be secured with a chain and padlock. Lorries and trollies out of use.

CHAPTER XX.

GATEMEN.

350. No person shall be appointed to be a Gateman unless he has a knowledge of signals. Knowledge of signals.

351. Every Gateman must— Supply and care of hand signals.

(a) be supplied with day and night hand signals, and

(b) keep such signals in proper order and ready for use.

352. (1) Where the gates at a level-crossing are not made to close across the line, the Gateman must, when such gates are opened for road traffic, be prepared to show a Danger signal to any approaching train. Road traffic.

(2) Where there is no Gateman specially on night duty at a level-crossing, the gates must be locked at night, except when opened for the passage of road traffic.

(3) When the gates are closed to the passage of road traffic, they must be kept securely fastened across the thoroughfare until the train has passed.

(4) Unless otherwise directed by special instructions, all gates at level-crossings must be kept open for the passage of trains and securely closed across the thoroughfare, and shall only be closed to the passage of trains when it is necessary to open them for the passage of road traffic.

353. The Gateman on duty must see that the channel for the flange of the wheels is always clear before the passage of each train. Channel for flange of wheels.

354. If any gate, or the fastenings thereof, or any fixed signal pertaining to the gate, should get out of order, the Gateman must as soon as possible report the fact to his immediate superior or to the nearest Ganger. Report of defects.

Obstructions.

355. Every Gateman, on noticing any obstruction on the line, must at once remove it, or, if unable to do so, must show Danger signals and do his best to stop approaching trains.

Parting of a train.

356. If a Gateman notices that a train has parted, he shall not show a Danger signal to the Engine Driver, but must endeavour to attract the attention of the Engine Driver and Guard by shouting and gesticulating.

Trespassing.

357. Every Gateman must, as far as possible, prevent any trespassing by persons or cattle.

Transfer of charge of gate.

358. Except in accordance with special instructions, no Gateman shall leave his gate unless another Gateman has arrived to take charge of it.

CHAPTER XXI.

PENALTIES.

Penalties.

359. (1) If any railway servant commits a breach of any of the rules hereinafter mentioned, he shall be liable, on conviction before a magistrate, to punishment as follows, namely:—

Rules.	Penalty.
5, 29 to 33 (both inclusive), 35 (1), 36 to 38 (both inclusive), 40, 49, 50 (1), 51 to 56 (both inclusive), 59, 60 (1), 61 (1), 62 to 64 (both inclusive), 66, 67, 71, 73, 74, 76 to 79 (both inclusive), 81 to 84 (both inclusive), 86 to 90 (both inclusive), 92 to 114 (both inclusive), 115 (1), 116 to 120 (both inclusive), 121 (2), 122 to 126 (both inclusive), 129, 130, 133, 134, 136 to 145 (both inclusive), 148, 149, 151, 153, 154 (1), 154 (3), 154 (4), 155, 157 (1), 157 (3), 157 (5), 160 to 163 (both inclusive), 166, 167 (2), 169 (2), 170 (2), 171 (1), 172, 173 (2), 175 (2), 177 to 180 (both inclusive), 181 (proviso), 185, 186, 189, 190 (2), 192 (2), 193 (2), 193 (3), 194 (1), 195, 196 (2), 198 to 200 (both inclusive), 201(3) to 206 (both inclusive), 207 (2), 209 to 212 (both inclusive), 213 (proviso), 214 to 216 (both inclusive), 218 to 223 (both inclusive), 227, 228, 230, 234(1)(a), 234(1)(b), 234(2), 235 to 239 (both inclusive), 245, 246 (b), 247, 248, 250, 252 to 256 (both inclusive), 260 to 262 (both inclusive), 264, 269, 271, 274, 276 to 282 (both inclusive), 284, 291, 292, 295 to 311 (both inclusive), 312 (1), 313, 314, 315 (2), 315 (3), 316 to 318 (both inclusive), 321, 323, 324, 327, 328, 329 (1), 333 to 337 (both inclusive), 339, 340, 343 to 349 (both inclusive). 39, 319, 320, 330, 338, 341, 351 (b), 352 to 356 (both inclusive), 358.	Fine which may extend to ten rupees.
229, 231, 242	Fine which may extend to fifty rupees, and forfeiture of a sum not exceeding one month's pay, which last sum may be deducted by the Railway Administration from the pay of the railway servant.
225, 226, 232, 233, 243	Forfeiture of a sum not exceeding one month's pay, which sum may be deducted by the Railway Administration from the pay of the railway servant.

(2) Any railway servant who has committed a breach of any of the rules mentioned in sub-rule (1) of this rule shall be liable to the punishment authorised by that sub-rule in addition to, and not in substitution for, any punishment to which he may be liable upon prosecution under the Indian Railways Act, 1890: IX of 1890.

Provided that no railway servant shall be thereby rendered liable to be punished twice for the same offence.

PART II.

RULES FOR THE GUIDANCE OF THE PUBLIC AND RAILWAY OFFICIALS.

In exercise of the powers conferred by section 47 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, and by notification No. 801, dated 24th March 1905, and in supersession of the rules annexed to the resolutions of the Government of India in the Public Works Department, dated the 21st August 1880, the 19th April 1892, and the 12th March 1895, and of all other rules made in this behalf, the Railway Board hereby make the following general rules for the guidance of the public using lines of railway in British India administered by the Government and for the time being used for the public carriage of passengers, animals or goods, and for the guidance of railway officials employed on such lines.

CONTENTS.

CONTENTS—contd.

CHAPTER IV.

OFFENCES BY PASSENGERS AND OTHER PERSONS AND PENALTIES.

PART II.—RULES FOR THE GUIDANCE OF THE PUBLIC AND RAILWAY OFFICIALS.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. In these rules, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "authorised officer" means the person who is duly empowered, by general or special order of the Railway Administration, either by name or by virtue of his office, to issue instructions or do any other thing;

(2) "goods train" means a train (other than a ballast train) intended solely or mainly for the carriage of animals or goods;

(3) "Guard" includes a Brakesman or any other railway servant who may for the time being be performing the duties of a Guard;

(4) "passenger train" means a train intended solely or mainly for the carriage of passengers and other coaching traffic, and includes a troop train;

(5) "special instructions" mean instructions issued from time to time by the authorised officer in respect to particular cases or special circumstances; and

(6) "Station Master" means the person on duty who is for the time being responsible for the working of the traffic within station limits, and includes any person who is for the time being in independent charge of the working of any signals and responsible for obtaining and sending the permission to approach and for giving the authority to proceed.

CHAPTER II.

CARRIAGE OF PASSENGERS.

Passengers tickets. 2. (1) Tickets issued to passengers shall be available only from the date and for the period specified by the Railway Administration by which they are issued.

(2) If any Guard, or any other railway servant who may be empowered by the authorised officer to take action under this clause, has reason to suppose that any passenger is travelling without a ticket, or not in the proper class of carriage, he must request the passenger to show his ticket, and report to the Station Master any irregularity which he may detect.

Charge entered incorrectly in receipt or ticket. 3. If any charge should be entered incorrectly in a receipt or ticket given to a passenger, the Railway Administration may correct the entry.

(CHAP. II.—CARRIAGE OF PASSENGERS—RULES 4—13.)

Passenger changing to a superior class of carriage.

4. If any passenger desires to change from an inferior to a superior class of carriage on payment of the difference in fare, the Guard in charge of the train, or such other railway servant as may be appointed in this behalf by the authorised officer, must take the necessary steps for effecting such change.

Lady passengers.

5. When ladies are travelling alone, the Guards must pay every attention to their comfort, and in placing them in the train, must, if so requested, endeavour to select a carriage (according to the class of the ladies' tickets) in which other ladies are travelling.

Prisoners and insane passengers.

6. (1) Military prisoners in all cases, civil prisoners if insane, violent or dangerous, and insane persons, shall not be allowed to mix with other passengers, but must, upon reserved accommodation being engaged, be placed with their escort or attendants in a prison-van or in a separate compartment, as the case may be.

(2) Other parties of prisoners, when, inclusive of guards, the party exceeds three in number, are also to be carried in the same manner.

(3) The term "prisoner" covers accused persons and persons under trial or travelling for the purpose of undergoing trial, as well as persons who have already been convicted.

PASSENGERS SUFFERING FROM INFECTIOUS OR CONTAGIOUS DISORDERS.

Diseases deemed to be "infectious or contagious disorders." IX of 1890.

7. For the purposes of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, the following shall be deemed to be infectious or contagious disorders, namely:—

Bubonic fever,
Cholera,
Diphtheria,
Leprosy,
Measles,
Scarlet fever,
Small-pox,
Typhus fever,
Typhoid fever, and
Whooping cough.

Conditions on which passengers suffering from infectious or contagious disorders may be carried.

8. No passenger suffering from an infectious or contagious disorder shall be carried in any train unless—

(a) he has engaged a reserved compartment for himself and his attendants, and

(b) all necessary arrangements have been made in pursuance of section 71* of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, for the separation of the passenger and his attendants, during the whole time that they remain upon the railway, from other persons being or travelling upon the railway, and

IX of 1890.

(c) any other special precautions which the railway servant giving the permission mentioned in the said section may consider necessary have been taken to prevent infection or contagion being communicated to other persons being or travelling upon the railway.

DISINFECTION OF CARRIAGES.

Disinfection of carriages.

9. When any carriage has been entered by a person suffering from an infectious or contagious disorder, the carriage must be disinfected, in accordance with special instructions immediately after it has arrived at its destination; and no passenger shall be allowed to enter it until the disinfection has been completed.

LUGGAGE.

Luggage to be booked.

10. Each passenger's luggage must be booked:

Provided that any Railway Administration may dispense with the booking of any luggage which is taken into a carriage by a passenger in pursuance of rule 12, clause (1).

Free allowance of passengers' luggage.

11. A certain quantity of each passenger's luggage, within a limit of weight to be fixed from time to time by the Railway Administration, shall be allowed free of charge, provided the passenger presents his luggage for weighment before the commencement of his journey.

Luggage in carriage with passenger.

12. (1) A passenger may take into a carriage only such small articles of personal luggage as are required for his own use on the journey and can be placed in the carriage without inconveniencing other passengers or reducing the available accommodation in the carriage.

(2) A Railway Administration shall not be responsible for the loss, destruction or deterioration of any luggage taken into a carriage by, or by the direction of, a passenger.

Luggage insufficiently secured.

13. (1) A Railway Administration may refuse to carry, except under special agreement, any passenger's luggage which is improperly packed or locked or otherwise insufficiently secured, unless it is taken into a carriage by the passenger in pursuance of rule 12, clause (1).

(2) A Railway Administration shall not be responsible, except under special agreement, for any loss, destruction or deterioration of any passenger's luggage caused by its having been improperly packed or locked or otherwise insufficiently secured.

---

* "71. (1) A Railway Administration may refuse to carry, except in accordance with the conditions prescribed under section 47, sub-section (1), clause (d), a person suffering from any infectious or contagious disorder.

Power to refuse to carry persons suffering from infectious or contagious disorders.

(2) A person suffering from such a disorder shall not enter or travel upon a railway without the special permission of the Station Master or other railway servant in charge of the place where he enters upon the railway.

(3) A railway servant giving such permission as is mentioned in sub-section (2) must arrange for the separation of the person suffering from the disorder from other persons being or travelling upon the railway."

CHAPTER III.

and every other article which, under the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, is an explosive as defined in section 4, clause (1),* of that Act.

IV of 1884.

Articles declared to be "offensive goods."

15. For the purposes of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, the following are hereby declared to be offensive goods, namely :—

IX of 1890.

Decayed vegetables, fish and meat, and any other article in a decayed condition.

Dead bodies,

Carcases,

Bones,

Municipal or town sweepings,

Manure, and Rags.

Acceptance of dangerous goods for carriage.

16. (1) Save as otherwise provided by clause (4) of this rule and subject to any exceptions from time to time notified by the Railway Administration, dangerous goods shall not be accepted for carriage unless the consignor has given a written declaration that they have been packed,—

(a) if they are explosives to which the rules for the time being in force under the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, apply, in accordance with those rules ; and

IV of 1884.

(b) in any other case, in accordance with the rules contained in Appendix A to these rules.

(2) Kerosine oil shall not be accepted for carriage unless its flashing point is declared by the consignor on the consignment note. The flashing point, as so declared, must be entered on the invoice and on the railway receipt.

(3) No goods of any of the kinds marked C in rule 14 shall be brought on the railway premises for carriage until the officials have intimated that they are ready to receive them.

(4) Nothing in the rules contained in Appendix A or in Appendix B shall apply to the packing or transport of capped safety cartridge cases, if otherwise empty, and nothing in those rules shall apply to medical stores consigned from a Government depôt, or to explosives consigned by the Ordnance Department, respectively, notwithstanding that such stores are dangerous goods within the meaning of rule 14 :

Provided that the officer in charge of the depôt, or such officer as the Director General of Ordnance may by general or special order empower in this behalf, has given a written declaration of the contents of the packages and certified on the consignment note that they have been packed in accordance with the regulations of the Medical or Ordnance Department, as the case may be, for the time being in force relating to the packing of dangerous goods.

Special vans for dangerous goods.

17. (1) Subject to any exceptions from time to time notified by the Railway Administration, dangerous goods of the kinds marked respectively B, C and D in rule 14 may be carried only in vans specially constructed for the carriage of dangerous goods :

Provided that Lee-Metford, Martini-Henri and Snider ammunition may, when such vans are not available, be carried in ordinary covered wagons.

(2) When any dangerous goods are to be carried in such vans as aforesaid, whether in pursuance of clause (1) of this rule or not, the goods shall not be accepted for carriage unless sufficient notice to provide such vans has been given.

Prepayment of freight on dangerous or offensive goods.

18. Subject to any exceptions from time to time notified by the Railway Administration, the freight on dangerous or offensive goods must be prepaid.

Loading and unloading of dangerous or offensive goods.

19. Dangerous or offensive goods must, unless it be otherwise notified by the Railway Administration, be loaded by the consignor and unloaded by the consignee.

Ordinary merchandise not to be loaded with explosives.

20. No railway servant shall load ordinary merchandise in the same vehicle with explosives.

Label on vehicle containing explosives.

21. The railway servant supervising the loading of any vehicle with explosives must see that a "dangerous goods" label is placed on each side of such vehicle.

Naked lights and unprotected lamps.

22. No railway servant shall take or leave any naked light or any unprotected lamp near any vehicle containing dangerous goods.

Trains by which vehicles loaded with explosives may be sent.

23. Except as provided in Appendix B, rule 6 —VI (e), vehicles loaded with explosives shall be sent only with a goods train, and shall be placed in the rear of the train but not next the rear brake van :

Provided that vehicles loaded with ammunition or other explosives belonging to troops may be sent with the train by which the troops travel,

*"4. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "explosive"—

(a) means gun-powder, nitro-glycerine, dynamite, gun-cotton, blasting powders, fulminate of mercury or of other metals, coloured fires and every other substance, whether similar to those above mentioned or not, used or manufactured with a view to produce a practical effect by explosion, or a pyrotechnic effect ; and

(b) includes fog-signals, fireworks, fuzes, rockets, percussion caps, detonators, cartridges, ammunition of all descriptions, and every adaptation or preparation of an explosive as above defined."

but must be placed next behind the front brake-van.

Sending by passenger train of dangerous goods marked B.

24. One case containing dangerous goods of any of the kinds marked B in rule 14 may be sent by passenger train.

Special provisions as to carriage of carbide of calcium.

24A. (1) Vehicles used for the carriage of carbide of calcium must be thoroughly ventilated and rendered impervious to rain and no naked lights shall be allowed in such vehicles.

(2) Carbide of calcium shall not be carried by passenger train in any quantity exceeding four hundred and fifty pounds per train.

(3) Carbide of calcium, while in the possession of a railway for transport, shall not be stored in any railway goods shed, but shall be stacked in the open under water-proof sheets and so placed as to prevent its getting wet.

(4) All lights shall be kept away from carbide of calcium stacked as provided in sub-rule (3).

(5) If any carbide of calcium is wetted while in the possession of a railway for transport, it shall be destroyed by immersion in at least twenty times its bulk of water.

NOTE.—The fact of carbide of calcium having become wet will be indicated by the outward appearance of the drum or case and probably by a disagreeable odour, showing a leakage of gas.

Unclaimed dangerous goods.

25. If, upon the arrival of any dangerous goods at their destination, the consignee does not take delivery of and remove the same within the time notified by the Railway Administration, they may be kept in the vehicle in which they were carried until delivery is effected, or until they are disposed of under the provisions of section 56 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, or otherwise.

IX of 1890.

Saving of rules under Explosives and Petroleum Acts. IV of 1884. XII of 1886.

26. (1) The rules in this Chapter and in Appendix A to these rules are in addition to, and not in modification of, the rules made under the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, and the Petroleum Act, 1886, respectively.

(2) The rules now in force under the said Indian Explosives Act, 1884, and affecting railways, are set forth in Appendix B to these rules.

CHAPTER IV.

OFFENCES BY PASSENGERS AND OTHER PERSONS, AND PENALTIES.

Duties of Station Master in case of drunkenness or nuisance.

27. The Station Master must use all reasonable means to stop any annoyance that may be caused by any act referred to in section 120 * of the Indian Railways Act, 1890; and, if any person is removed from the railway under that section shall, if necessary, direct steps to be taken for his prosecution thereunder.

IX of 1890.

Smoking or having open light or fire on railway premises, or keeping open light or lighted lamp in carriage.

28. Any person who—

(a) is found smoking, or having an open light or fire, in a goods shed or a store yard, or

(b) persists in keeping an open light or a lighted mineral oil lamp in a carriage after being warned by a railway servant or a police officer to desist, or

(c) persists in smoking on any other portion of the railway premises after being warned by a railway servant or a police officer to desist, shall, if the act is deemed by the authorised officer to be dangerous, immediately be removed from the railway premises.

Exclusion of persons from railway premises.

29. A Railway Administration may exclude from the station platform, or any part of the railway premises any person not being a bonâ fide passenger, nor having business on the railway premises.

Investigation by Station Master in case of offence by passenger.

30. If any passenger commits any offence, not being an offence referred to in rule 27 or rule 28, the Station Master must immediately investigate the case, and must exercise his discretion as to the proceedings to be taken, after referring (by telegraph, if necessary) to his immediate superior for instructions.

Guards to prevent breaches of rules.

31. Guards must exert themselves to prevent any breach of these rules by passengers or other persons.

Arrests. IX of 1890.

32. The power of arrest conferred by sections 131 and 132 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, must be exercised with the greatest caution.

Penalties for breach of rules by railway servants.

33. (1) If any railway servant commits a breach of any of the rules hereinafter mentioned, he shall be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate, to punishment as follows, namely :—

Rules.	Penalty.
9, 20 or 22	Fine which may extend to fifty rupees.
21	Fine which may extend to ten rupees.

Drunkenness or nuisance on a railway. * "120. If a person in a railway carriage or upon any part of a railway—

(a) is in a state of intoxication, or

(b) commits any nuisance or act of indecency, or uses obscene or abusive language, or

(c) wilfully and without lawful excuse interferes with the comfort of any passenger or extinguishes any lamp, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees in addition to the forfeiture of any fare which he may have paid and of any pass or ticket which he may have obtained or purchased, and may be removed from the railway by any railway servant."

(CHAP. IV.—OFFENCES BY PASSENGERS AND OTHER PERSONS, AND PENALTIES.—RULE 33.)

(2) Any railway servant who has committed a breach of any of the rules mentioned in clause (1) of this rule shall be liable to the punishment authorised by that clause in addition to, and not in substitution for, any punishment to which he may be liable upon prosecution under the Indian Railways Act, 1890: IX of 1890.

Provided that no railway servant shall be thereby rendered liable to be punished twice for the same offence.

APPENDIX A.

[SEE RULES 14 AND 16.]

THE PACKING OF DANGEROUS GOODS (OTHER THAN EXPLOSIVES TO WHICH THE RULES FOR THE TIME BEING IN FORCE UNDER THE INDIAN EXPLOSIVES ACT, 1884, APPLY).

I.—GOODS MARKED A IN RULE 14.

(1) When not loaded in vans specially constructed for the carriage of dangerous goods, goods marked A in rule 14 must be securely packed, to prevent leaking, in strong tins or in bottles corked and sealed, and such tins or bottles must be enclosed in wooden cases. When bottles are used, they must be packed in straw or sawdust. Kerosine oil, however, having its flashing point at or above 76° Fahr., may be packed in sound iron or steel drums, or in tins without wooden cases, provided that in the latter case a layer of durma matting or other suitable dunnage is placed on the floor of the wagon and between each tier of tins.

(1A) The following special rules shall apply in the case of carbide of calcium :—

(a) The carbide of calcium must be contained in hermetically closed metal drums or cases sufficiently strong to remain in that condition through wear and tear of transport, so that the carbide of calcium cannot be affected by air or moisture.

(b) There must be no copper in the composition of any drum or case containing the carbide of calcium.

(c) No drum or case must contain a quantity exceeding two hundred and twenty-four pounds of carbide of calcium.

(d) The label on each hermetically closed metal drum or case containing the carbide of calcium must bear in conspicuous characters the words "Carbide of Calcium" "Dangerous if not kept dry," and with the following caution : —

"The contents of this drum (or case) are liable, if brought into contact with moisture, to give off a highly inflammable gas." The name and address of the sender should also be labelled on each drum or case.

II.—GOODS MARKED B IN RULE 14.

(2) Goods marked B in rule 14 must be well secured in stoneware jars or glass-stoppered bottles standing upright in cases with sloping covers : Provided that—

(a) fluoric acid must be put into leaden or gutta-percha bottles,

(b) solution of ammonia must be put into metal bottles with caps soldered on, and

(c) sulphuric acid shall not be put into jars with cork or wooden stoppers. Concentrated sulphuric acid (i.e., of a specific gravity not less than 1·84, which must be certified in writing by the consignor) may be packed in strong hermetically sealed iron or steel drums which must be in good condition and free from rust.

(3) Bottles containing bromine, muriatic acid, nitric acid, aquafortis or solution of ammonia must be only three-fourths full, to allow for expansion of vapour.

(4) In the case of boxes containing any of the three mineral acids, viz., Hydrochloric, Sulphuric, and Nitric, the inside packing must be of ashes free from cinders or of chalk, sand, or dry earth. In other cases the inside packing must be of straw, chaff or sawdust, mixed with coal, wood-ashes chalk or sand.

(5) Only one kind of the goods marked B in rule 14, and no other goods of any kind, may be put into one case.

(6) The weight of each case shall not exceed two maunds :

Provided that a case containing sulphuric acid may be packed up to a maximum weight of two-and-a-half maunds. In the case of concentrated sulphuric acid packed in accordance with rule (2) (c), the limit of the weight of a package is five maunds.

III.—Goods marked C in Rule 14.

(7) (1) Goods marked C in rule 14 which are not explosives to which the rules for the time being in force under the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, apply, must be packed in strong dust-tight wooden cases having a metal lining, the contents being branded, painted or labelled on the outside in legibly printed or written characters.

IV of 1884.

(2) No such case shall contain more than one pound, and no box or package shall contain more than ten such cases.

Note.—This restriction will not apply to matches.

(3) The outer wooden cases used for the carriage of matches shall be of the following thickness of wood—gross weight of case with contents not exceeding 4 maunds in weight, ½ inch thick throughout; gross weight of case with contents exceeding 4 maunds, ⅝ inch thick throughout.

"Matches, safety," may, however, be carried in the tins in which they are imported, provided that such tins are strong enough as outer packages, that they do not exceed a limit in size of 2′ × 1′ × 1′, weighing approximately 13½ seers, and do not contain more than 120 packets of "matches, safety."

Note.—Matches which ignite by simple friction and Bengal lights (Pyrotechnic matches) which while not ordinarily igniting by simple friction are capable of doing so under chemical decomposition and are liable to spontaneous combustion, should be considered as coming within the class "matches, non-safety," while those which require to be rubbed on the prepared surface of the box which contains them to be ignited should be considered as coming within the class "matches, safety."

IV.—Goods marked D in Rule 14.

(8) Goods marked D in rule 14 must be packed in the manner hereinbefore prescribed for goods marked B in that rule:

Provided that—

(a) Spirits of wine, methylated or rectified, must be packed either in corked and capsuled bottles or in corked and capped drums securely packed or in strongly made casks securely closed so as to prevent all possibility of leakage,

(b) turpentine may be carried either in sound iron or steel drums or tins properly soldered, or in corked and capsuled bottles, the bottles or tins being securely packed in wooden cases,

(c) any other goods marked D in rule 14 may be packed either in stoneware jars or glass-stoppered bottles or in vessels of metal (such as tin or copper) provided with screw stoppers or corked and with caps covering their mouths soldered on, and

(d) different kinds of the goods marked D in rule 14 may be put into one case, but no goods of the kinds marked, respectively, A, B and C in that rule may be put into the same case with them.

V.—Goods marked E in Rule 14.

(9) (1) Goods marked E in rule 14 will be accepted for carriage by railways under the following conditions:—

I.—By Passenger train.

(i) In drums or receptacles of not more than four gallons capacity up to a limit of twelve gallons in one train.

(ii) The drums or receptacles containing the goods must be made of tinned or galvanized sheet iron, steel or lead plate, and they must be packed in strong wooden cases, the thickness of the wood to be not less than half an inch; provided that wood cases shall not be necessary when the drums or receptacles are made of tinned or galvanized sheet iron or steel and have the following thickness of metal:—

	Not less than
(1) When the capacity does not exceed 2 gallons.	25 B.W.G.
(2) When the capacity exceeds 2 gallons but does not exceed 4 gallons.	22 B.W.G.

(iii) The drums or receptacles containing the goods must be fitted with well-made filling holes and well-fitting screw plugs or fitted with screw caps with metal air-tight undercap. They must also be gas-tight and so substantially constructed and secured as not to be liable, except under circumstances of gross negligence or extraordinary accident, to be broken or become defective, leaky or insecure in transit.

(iv) The nature of the contents and also the words "highly inflammable" must be distinctly marked on the drums or receptacles.

(v) A certificate must be handed in by the consignor to the effect that the air space of at least 1-10th of its capacity was left in each drum or receptacle at time of filling.

(vi) Drums or receptacles in a damaged condition must not be accepted.

(vii) The screw plugs or caps of empty drums or receptacles must be securely fastened.

(viii) The drums or receptacles must be carried in the rear brake-van, which should be well ventilated, and they must not be exposed to the sun or be brought into contact with naked lights. They must be placed as far away as possible from the other packages in the brake-van.

II.—By Goods train.

(i) In drums or receptacles of not more than ten gallons capacity.

(ii) The drums or receptacles containing the goods must be made of tinned or galvanized sheet iron, steel or lead plate, and they must be packed in strong wooden cases, the thickness of the wood to be not less than half an inch; provided that wood cases shall not be necessary when the drums or receptacles are made of tinned or galvanized sheet iron or steel and have the following thickness of metal:—

	Not less than
(1) When the capacity does not exceed 2 gallons.	25 B.W.G.
(2) When the capacity exceeds 2 gallons but does not exceed 4 gallons.	22 B.W.G
(3) When the capacity exceeds 4 gallons.	16 B.W.G

(iii) The drums or receptacles containing the goods must be fitted with well-made filling holes and well-fitting screw plugs or fitted with screw caps with metal air-tight undercap. They must also be gas-tight and so substantially constructed and secured as not to be liable, except under circumstances of gross negligence or extraordinary accident to be broken or become defective, leaky or insecure in transit.

(iv) The nature of the contents, and also the words "highly inflammable" must be distinctly marked on the drums or receptacles.

(v) A certificate must be handed in by the consignor to the effect that an air space of at least 1-10th of its capacity was left in each drum or receptacle at time of filling.

(vi) Drums or receptacles in a damaged condition must not be accepted.

(vii) The screw plugs or caps of empty drums or receptacles must be securely fastened.

(viii) The drums or receptacles may be carried in ordinary iron wagons, provided the wagons are well ventilated. They may, at the option of the Railway Administration, be loaded in vehicles with other goods of a non-explosive or non-dangerous nature.

(ix) The drums or receptacles containing these goods must not be allowed to stand in the sun.

(x) Lamps or naked lights must not be allowed in, or brought near vehicles loaded with drums or receptacles containing the goods.

(2) The chief danger to be apprehended is from leakage, as the vapour of these goods is heavier than air and is inflammable. The vapour is also explosive when mixed with certain proportions of air in a confined space.

(3) Tanks of motor cars or motor cycles tendered for carriage by railway, must be empty, thoroughly clean and free from vapour before the vehicles are accepted.

VI.—GOODS MARKED G IN RULE 14.

(10) (1) These gases must be packed in cylinders.

(2) Cylinders must be made of wrought iron or mild steel of the best quality, containing not more than 0·25 per cent. of carbon thoroughly annealed after manufacture and 99 per cent. of iron, of sufficient strength and efficiently tested, and must not exceed 8 feet in length and 10 inches in diameter.

(3) Cylinders must be separately and securely packed in a strong wooden case, or in a covering made of closely plaited 1 inch (circumference) hemp or coir, except that several small cylinders not exceeding 18 inches in length and 4 inches in diameter may be packed in one box, provided each cylinder is contained in a separate compartment or is separately encased in closely plaited 1 inch (circumference) hemp or coir. Each box must not contain more than 25 cylinders and the gross weight of each box and contents must not exceed 3½ maunds.

(4) Cylinders containing Atmospheric Air, Coal Gas, Hydrogen or Oxygen, must not be charged to a greater pressure than 1,800 lbs. per square inch.

(5) No cylinder may contain per pound of water capacity, more than ⅔lb. of Carbon Dioxide (Carbon Acid Gas); ½ lb. of Anhydrous Ammonia, APPENDIX A—concld.

¾lb. of Nitrous Oxide; or 1¼lbs. of Sulphur Dioxide (Sulphurous Acid Gas), respectively.

(6) Cylinders must be carefully handled, and must not be exposed to the rays of the sun, nor to the heat of a fire, stove or other source of heat.

(7) No consignment of goods marked G shall be accepted for carriage by rail unless the consignor has signed a certificate in the following form :—

FORM OF CERTIFICATE.

Certified that the cylinder or cylinders containing.........tendered by me/us as per Forwarding Order No.......of this date to the ....Railway for despatch to... ..... station has/have been packed and tested in accordance, and that the cylinder or cylinders complies/comply in every respect, with the rules promulgated under the Railway Board's circular No. R. T. 173, dated the 30th August 1905, to regulate the packing and carriage by railway in India of.........

I/We also certify that the consignment complies with the conditions that the cylinder or cylinders must be of wrought iron or mild steel of the best quality, containing not more than 0·25 per centum of carbon thoroughly annealed after manufacture and 99 per centum of iron, of sufficient strength and efficiently tested.

Signature of sender/senders.........

Exception.—Compressed carbonic acid gas may be allowed, as an exception to the other compressed gases, to be carried under the more liberal rules for the conveyance of articles in class A of Appendix A, Part II, of the open line General Rules, and it may also be carried in the rear brake-van of passenger trains subject to a limit of two cylinders per van.

APPENDIX B.

[SEE CHAPTER III, RULES 16 AND 26.]

Notification by the Government of India in the Home Department (Public), No. 5528, dated the 11th October 1901.

RULES NOW IN FORCE UNDER THE INDIAN EXPLOSIVES ACT, 1884 (IV OF 1884), AND AFFECTING RAILWAYS.

PRELIMINARY.

1. For the purposes of these rules, explosives shall be classified as follows, namely :—

Class 1—Gunpowder,
„ 2—Nitrate-mixture,
„ 3—Nitro-compound,
„ 4—Chlorate-mixture,
„ 5—Fulminate,
„ 6—Ammunition,
„ 7—Firework,

and when an explosive falls within the description of more than one class, it shall be deemed to belong exclusively to the latest of the classes within the description of which it falls.

CLASS 1.—GUNPOWDER CLASS.

The term "gunpowder" means exclusively gunpowder ordinarily so called.

CLASS 2.—NITRATE-MIXTURE CLASS.

The term "nitrate-mixture" means any preparation, other than gunpowder ordinarily so called, formed by the mechanical mixture of a nitrate with any form of carbon or with any carbonaceous substance not possessed of explosive properties, whether sulphur be or be not added to such preparation and whether such preparation be or be not mechanically mixed with any other non-explosive substance.

The nitrate-mixture class comprises such explosives as—

Chilworth special powder, | Ripp-Lene,
Fortis explosive, | Safety blasting powder,
Westfallite,

and any preparation coming within the above definition.

CLASS 3.—NITRO-COMPOUND CLASS.

The term "nitro-compound" means any chemical compound possessed of explosive properties, or capable of combining with metals to form an explosive compound, which is produced by the chemical action of nitric acid (whether mixed or not with sulphuric acid) or of a nitrate mixed with sulphuric acid upon any carbonaceous substance, whether such compound is mechanically mixed with other substances or not.

The nitro-compound class has two divisions:

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Amberite No. 1,	Dynamite,
Ballistite,	Gelatine Dynamite,
Blasting Gelatine,	Gelignite,
Carbonite,	Lithofracteur,
Cordite,	Nitro-glycerine,

Stonite,

and any chemical compound or mechanically mixed preparation which consists, either wholly or partly, of nitro-glycerine or some other liquid nitro-compound.

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Amberite No. 2,	Nitrated gun-cotton,
Ammonite,	Picrates,*
Bellite,	Picric acid,*
Coopal's powder,	Picric powder,
Cotton gunpowder,	Roburite,
E. C. powder,	Sawdust and gun-cotton powder,
Gun-cotton ordinarily so called,	Schultz's powder,

Tonite (or cotton-powder), and any nitro-compound as before defined which is not comprised in the 1st division.

CLASS 4.—CHLORATE-MIXTURE CLASS.

The term "chlorate-mixture" means any explosive containing a chlorate.

The chlorate-mixture class has two divisions:

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's blasting powder,
Brain's blasting powder, and any chlorate preparation which consists partly of nitro-glycerine or of some other liquid nitro-compound.

* NOTE.—(a) Picric acid mixed with not less than half its own weight of water shall be exempt from being deemed to be an explosive.

(b) Picric acid which does not fall within the exemption (a) when the quantity does not exceed two thousand pounds in any one ship, boat, carriage, building or place, shall be exempt from being deemed to be an explosive; provided that such picric acid is so kept and conveyed as not to be liable, whether under the action of fire or otherwise, to come in contact with any substance specified in the schedule hereto, or with any fire or light capable of igniting such picric acid.

Provided also that such picric acid when dry is so packed in a substantial barrel or case that the contents cannot escape; and that no metal other than aluminium, or an alloy containing not less than ninety per centum of aluminium, is used in the construction of any package containing such picric acid, and that each barrel or case is legibly marked "Picric Acid."

Picric acid when not subject to the above exemptions must be packed and marked as laid down in rule 2 of these rules.

Picrates and mixture of picric acid with any other substance (for whatever purpose used or manufactured) shall be deemed to be explosives subject to the following exceptions:—

(a) A picrate mixed with not less than half its own weight of water shall be exempt from being deemed to be an explosive.

(b) Picric acid thoroughly mixed with not less than three times its own weight of—

(i) anhydrous sulphate of soda,

(ii) crystallized sulphate of soda, when packed in hermetically closed packages, or

(iii) potash alum, shall be exempt from being deemed to be an explosive.

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's original blasting powder,	Hochstadter's blasting charges,
Erhardt's powder,	Reichen's blasting charges,
Reveley's powder,	Teutonite,

Chlorated gun-cotton, and any chlorate-mixture as before defined which is not comprised in the first division.

CLASS 5.—FULMINATE CLASS.

The term "fulminate" means any chemical compound or mechanical mixture whether included in the foregoing classes or not, which from its great susceptibility to detonation, is suitable for employment in percussion caps or any other appliances for developing detonation, or which, from its extreme sensibility to explosion and from its great instability (that is to say, readiness to undergo decomposition from very slight exciting causes), is especially dangerous.

The fulminate class has two divisions:

Division 1 comprises such compounds as the fulminates of silver and of mercury and preparations of these substances, such as are used in percussion caps, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with phosphorus, or certain descriptions of phosphorus compounds, with or without the addition of carbonaceous matter, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with sulphur, or with a sulphuret with or without carbonaceous matter.

Division 2 comprises such substances as the chloride and the iodide of nitrogen, fulminating gold and silver, diazobenzol, and the nitrate of diazobenzol.

CLASS 6.—AMMUNITION CLASS.

The term "ammunition" means an explosive of any of the foregoing classes when enclosed in any case or contrivance or otherwise adapted or prepared so as to form a cartridge or charge for small-arms, cannon, or any other weapon, or for blasting, or to form any safety or other fuze for blasting or for shells, or to form any tube for firing explosives, or to form a percussion cap, a detonator, a fog signal, a shell, a torpedo, a war-rocket, or other contrivance other than a firework.

The term "percussion cap" does not include a detonator.

The term "detonator" means a capsule or case which is of such strength and construction, and Schedule.

Any of the following metals or metallic oxides, namely, lead, oxide of lead, oxide of iron, potash, baryta, lime, soda, oxide of zinc, oxide of copper; and any compound of such metal or oxide (other than a metallic sulphate); or any chlorate, nitrate, or other oxidizing agent; or any other substance declared by a Notification of the Government of India to be capable of forming with picric acid a dangerous compound:

Provided that this schedule shall not be deemed to include any metal, or oxide unavoidably formed on any metal, used in the construction of any ship, boat, or carriage, or contained in any paint, where the packages containing picric acid are protected from direct contact with such metal or paint.

contains an explosive of the fulminate-explosive class in such quantity, that the explosion of one capsule or case will communicate the explosion to other like capsules or cases.

The term "safety fuze" means a fuze for blasting which burns and does not explode, and which does not contain its own means of ignition, and which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive in such quantity, that the burning of such fuze will not communicate laterally with other like fuzes.

The expression "safety cartridges" means cartridges for small-arms of which the case can be extracted from the small-arm after firing, and which are so closed as to prevent any explosion in one cartridge being communicated to other cartridges. The term also includes rifle-calibre machine-gun cartridges if they are of the above description, whether they are for use with machine-guns having chambers identical with those of rifles or with machine-guns which have special chambers.

The maximum diameter at which a small-arm or machine-gun cartridge can be accepted as "safety" is one inch.

The ammunition class has three divisions:

Division 1 comprises exclusively—

Safety cartridges,
Safety fuzes for blasting,
Railway fog signals,
Percussion caps.

Division 2 comprises any ammunition, as before defined, which does not contain its own means of ignition and is not included in division 1, such as—

Cartridges for small-arms, which are not safety cartridges,
Cartridges and charges for cannon, shells, mines, blasting, or other like purposes,
Shells and torpedoes containing any explosive,
Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,
Fuzes for shells,
Tubes for firing explosives,
War-rockets,

which do not contain their own means of ignition.

Division 3 comprises any ammunition as before defined, which contains its own means of ignition and is not included in division 1, such as—

Detonators,
Cartridges for small-arms, which are not safety cartridges,
Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,
Fuzes for shells,
Tubes for firing explosives,

which do contain their own means of ignition.

By ammunition containing its own means of ignition is meant ammunition having an arrangement, whether attached to it or forming part of it, which is adapted to explode or fire the same by friction or percussion.

CLASS 7.—FIREWORK CLASS.

The firework class has two divisions:

Division 1 comprises firework compositions, that is to say, any chemical compound or mechanically mixed preparation of an explosive or inflammable nature, which is used for the purpose of making manufactured fireworks, and is not included in the former classes of explosives, and also any star and any coloured fire composition, subject to the proviso hereinafter set forth.

Division 2 comprises manufactured fireworks, that is to say, any explosive of any of the foregoing classes and firework composition, when such explosive or composition is enclosed in any case or contrivance or is otherwise manufactured so as to form a squib, cracker, toy cap or amorce, serpent rocket (other than a war-rocket), maroon lance, wheel, Chinese fire, Roman candle, or other article specially adapted for the production of pyrotechnic effects or pyrotechnic signals or sound signals:

Provided that a substantially constructed and hermetically closed metal case, containing not more than 1lb. of coloured fire composition of such a nature as not to be liable to spontaneous ignition, shall be deemed to be a "manufactured firework."

TRANSPORT.

(A).—PACKING.

2. The following general rules shall be observed with respect to the packing of explosives for conveyance:—

(1) Unless the context otherwise requires,— the expression "outer package" means a box, barrel, case or cylinder, of wood, metal or other solid material, of such strength, construction and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, nor become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any explosive to escape; the expression "inner package" means a substantial case, bag, canister or other receptacle, made and closed so as to prevent any explosive from escaping;

the expression "authorised explosive" means exclusively an explosive included in a List of Authorised Explosives prepared by the Chief Inspector of Explosives with the Government of India, and published annually in the Gazette of India, and in force for the time being;

the expression "propellant" means an authorised explosive of Class 3, adapted and intended exclusively for use as a propelling charge in cannon or small arms; and the expression "special authority" means a written authority granted by the Chief Inspector of Explosives, to which may be attached such conditions as may, in the opinion of the Chief Inspector of Explosives, be necessary to meet the special requirements of the case.

APPENDIX B—contd.

(2) The interior of every package shall be free from grit and otherwise clean.

(3) Save as hereinafter provided, there shall not be any iron or steel in the construction of any package unless the same is covered with suitable material so as effectually to prevent the exposure of such iron or steel.

(4) Every package when actually used for the packing of one explosive shall not be used for the packing of any other explosive or any other article or substance:

Provided that this rule shall not prevent the packing of inner packages containing a propellant in an outer package with inner packages containing gunpowder or another propellant:

Provided also that this rule shall not prevent the packing of any article which is not of an inflammable or explosive nature, or liable to cause fire or explosion, in the same package as an explosive of the 1st Division of the 6th (Ammunition) Class.

(5) Subject to the foregoing provisions, the following shall be the method of packing authorised explosives of the various classes, respectively, and the maximum amounts which may be in any one package—

Class.	Method of packing.	Amount in any one outer package.	Amount in any one inner package.
Class 1	When the quantity in any one consignment does not exceed 5 lbs. in amount, a single outer package; otherwise A double package, the inner and outer packages being as above defined.	100 lbs.	100 lbs.
		Provided that where gunpowder and propellant are packed together the amount shall not exceed—
		50 lbs.	25 lbs.
Class 2	As for Class 1	50 lbs.	50 lbs.
Class 3, Division 1, other than propellants.	As for Class 1, provided that either the outer or inner package shall be thoroughly waterproof, and both shall be without metal in the construction thereof.	50 lbs.	5 lbs.
Class 3, Division 1, propellants.	As for Class 1	50 lbs.	50 lbs.
Class 3, Division 2, other than Picric Acid and Wet Guncotton.	As for Class 1	50 lbs.	50 lbs.
Picric Acid	As for Class 1	Unlimited.	Unlimited.
Guncotton so wetted with water as to be absolutely uninflammable.	As for Class 1, provided that the inner or outer package or both of them, shall be of such a nature and so closed, as to prevent any material loss of moisture during conveyance.	Unlimited.	Unlimited.
Class 4	As for Class 1	50 lbs.	50 lbs.
Class 5	Packed in water. A treble package, the innermost package being a bag permeable to water, enclosed in a case containing sufficient water to ensure the explosive being kept constantly wet; and the outer package containing sufficient water constantly to surround the case. Both the case and the outer package shall be of such construction as will not allow water to escape. If the explosive is of such character that it cannot be packed in a thoroughly wet condition, it shall be packed in accordance with conditions set forth in a special authority.	200 lbs.	25 lbs.
Class 6, Division 1, other than Pin-fire cartridges for pistols.	A single outer package: Provided that the above general rule (3) shall not apply to explosives of this Division: Provided also that bulleted cartridges of a calibre exceeding 0·5 inch and belonging to this Division shall be packed in such a manner that the point of any bullet cannot come in contact with the cap of another cartridge.	Unlimited.	......
Pin-fire cartidges for pistols.	(a) Not exceeding 50 in number in any one consignment:—So packed in a single package that the bases lie alternately in opposite directions. The bases and pins shall be so fitted into perforations in millboard or other suitable material as to prevent the firing of any one of the said cartridges by an explosion in any other of the said cartridges.	50 in number.	......

Class.	Method of packing.	Amount in any one outer package.	Amount in any one inner package.
	(b) Exceeding 50 in number:—In an inner and outer package, the cartridges being packed in inner packages with millboard as above required.	2,500 in number.	50 in number.
Class 6, Division 2	Explosives made up into cartridges or charges for cannon, shells, torpedoes, mines, blasting or other like purposes, shall be packed in such manner and in such quantity as is required for the same explosive when not so made up; provided that, where a double package is required, the enclosing case of such cartridges or charges may, if it satisfies the conditions required for an inner package, be held to be such inner package.	......	......
	Other ammunition of this Division:—A single outer package.	100 lbs.	.. ...
Class 6, Division 3, other than Detonators and Electric Detonators.	As for Class 1	50 lbs.	2 lbs. or 10 in number, whichever be the greater.
	Provided that bulleted cartridges of a calibre exceeding 0·5 inch and belonging to this Division shall be packed in such a manner that the point of any bullet cannot come in contact with the cap of another cartridge.
Detonators	(a) Not exceeding 1,000 in any one consignment:—As for Class 1, provided that the detonators and the spaces between the same and between the sides of the inner package and the said detonators shall all be filled, as far as practicable, with fine sawdust or other similar material; a layer of felt or other soft yielding material shall be placed between both ends of all the detonators and the interior of the inner package in which the same are placed, in such manner, and so secured, that both ends of the detonators will rest upon the said cotton wool or other material; every inner package, if of metal, to be lined throughout with paper or other soft material; and	1,000 in number.	100 in number.
	(b) Exceeding 1,000 detonators:—
	The detonators shall be packed in inner packages, with sawdust and cotton wool as bove described. Such inner packages shall be placed inside a substantial case of wood or metal made and closed so as to prevent any of the inner packages escaping therefrom, and such case shall be placed inside an outer package in such manner and so secured as to leave a clear space of not less than three inches between the case and every part of the interior of the said outer package, notwithstanding that such clear space may, if preferred, be filled with sawdust, straw, or other similar material, or may contain a light framework or battens of wood to keep the case aforesaid in position in the outer package; and	10,000 in number.	100 in number.
	(c) where the number of detonators exceeds 5,000, such outer package shall be provided with handles or other contrivance by means of which it can be safely and conveniently carried.
Electric Detonators	As for Class 1, provided that where the number in any outer package exceeds 3,000, such outer package shall be provided with handles or other contrivance, by means of which it can be safely and conveniently carried.	5,000 in number.	100 in number.
Class 7, Division 1	Double package, the inner package being hermetically closed, and contained in an outer package as above defined.	20 lbs.	1 lb.
Class 7, Division 2	Single outer package provided that the above general rule (8) shall not apply to explosives of this Division.	100 lbs.	......

(6) Nothing in this rule shall be deemed to prohibit the use of an additional package, whether inner or outer, provided that such additional package shall not be of such character as shall have been prohibited in writing by the Chief Inspector of Explosives.

(7) An explosive which is not an authorised explosive shall be packed in such manner as may be directed by a special authority with reference to such explosive.

(8) On the outermost package there shall be affixed in conspicuous characters, by means of a brand or securely attached label or other mark, the word "Explosive", the name of the explosive, the number of the class and division to which it belongs, and the name of the manufacturer or sender.

In the case of explosives of Classes 3 and 4, there shall be added the date of manufacture or issue from the factory, or such sign indicating such date as may be approved by the Chief Inspector of Explosives:

Provided that in the case of cartridges or charges for cannon, shells, mines, blasting or other like purpose, which do not contain their own means of ignition, the marking shall be as for the explosive when not so made up:

Provided also that in the case of explosives of Class 6, Division 1 (Safety Fuzes excepted), there shall be added the words "Not liable to explode in bulk:"

Provided also that in the case of Pin-fire cartridges for pistols there shall be added the words "Pin-fire cartridges:"

Provided also that in the case of Safety Fuzes or Gunpowder the word "Explosive" and the number of the class and division may be omitted:

Provided also that, where an outer package contains more than one explosive, the marking above required shall be affixed separately in respect of each explosive so contained.

(9) To meet special cases exemption may be granted by special authority from the observance of any one or more of the conditions imposed by this rule.

3. Whoever commits a breach of any of the foregoing rules relating to the packing of explosives for conveyance shall be punishable with fine which may extend to Rs. 1,000.*

(B).—MODE OF CONVEYANCE.

4. The following general rules shall be observed with respect to the conveyance of explosives:—

I.—No explosive shall be conveyed from place to place unless packed in the manner provided for in the foregoing rules.

II.—There shall not be conveyed in any carriage or vessel which is being used for the conveyance of an explosive, any explosive of a different class and division, of whatsoever nature, which contains its own means of ignition, unless it is sufficiently separated therefrom to prevent any fire or explosion which may take place in one such explosive being communicated to another.

III.—Except in the case of small consignment carried by railway, which may be unloaded at any time, explosives shall be loaded or unloaded only between sunrise and sunset. For the purposes of this rule no consignment of more than half a wagon-load booked to one station shall be deemed to be a small consignment.

IV.—Whilst the explosive is being loaded on or unloaded out of any carriage or vessel, no fire or artificial light, nor any article which is liable to cause or communicate fire or explosion [such as charcoal, lucifer-matches, articles for striking a light, petroleum to which the Indian Petroleum Act, 1899 (VIII of 1899), or any other Act for time being in force regarding the importation, possession, and transport of petroleum, applies, or any spirit or oil or substance that gives forth an inflammable vapour at a temperature below 100° Fahrenheit] shall be, or shall be allowed to be, brought, had or used dangerously near to such carriage, ship, or boat, and no smoking shall be allowed in, on, or dangerously near to, the same:

Provided that when the use of a light for the purposes of such loading or unloading is unavoidable, a lamp of such construction, position, or character as not to cause any danger from fire or explosion may be used; and no person, while handling any explosive (except an explosive of division 1, class 6, if packed in accordance with the packing rules), shall wear boots or shoes with iron or steel nails, heels or tips.

V.—In the loading or unloading of any explosive, the casks and packages containing the same shall be passed from hand to hand and not rolled upon the ground; they shall not be thrown or dropped down, but shall be carefully deposited and stowed.

VI.—The explosive shall not be conveyed except in the interior of a carriage so enclosed on all sides with wood or metal, or in the hold of a ship or boat having a close deck so closed, as effectually to protect the explosive against accident by fire from without. If the explosive cannot be so secured, it shall be completely covered with painted cloth, tarpaulin, or other suitable material so as to effectually protect it against communication of fire.

VII.—There shall not be any iron or steel in the interior of the portion of the carriage or vessel with which the case containing the explosive is or may come in contact, unless the same is effectually covered with leather, wood, cloth, or other suitable material.

VIII.—In the stowing of the explosive, due precautions shall be taken by means of a partition or otherwise, and by careful stowing to secure such explosive from being brought into contact with, or endangered by, any other article or substance conveyed in such carriage or vessel which is liable to cause fire or explosion; and if the explosive is dangerously affected by water, due precautions shall be taken to exclude water from coming into contact with such explosive.

---

* Rules regarding search for, and detention of, explosives contravening regulations, have been issued by the Local Governments.

IX.—The amount of the explosives conveyed in any one carriage or vessel at any one time shall not exceed 2,000 lbs. unless the carriage be so enclosed on all sides with wood or metal, or the vessel have a close deck so closed, as effectually to protect the explosive against accident by fire from without, in which case the amount of the explosives conveyed shall not exceed the following:—

	Tons.
In any one carriage on a railway .	10
In any one other carriage . .	2
In any one vessel	20

NOTE.—This rule shall, in the case of dynamite conveyed by railway, be read subject to paragraph XII of Rule 6.

X.—Nothing in the foregoing rules (except Rule I) shall apply to any explosive of the 1st division of the 6th (ammunition) class:

Provided that all due precautions are taken for the prevention of accidents.

5. * * * *

III.—No explosive belonging to class 1 (gunpowder class), class 2 (nitrate mixture class), class 3 (nitro-compound class), class 4 (chlorate mixture class), or class 5 (fulminate class), shall be carried otherwise than by rail, across any railway bridge over which reasonable facilities for the conveyance thereof by rail are afforded by the railway administration:

Provided that this prohibition shall not apply in respect of quantities of explosives of class 1 (gunpowder class) or class 3 (nitro-compound class) not exceeding 5 lbs. in weight.

6. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the conveyance of explosives by public railway:—

I.—No person shall send for carriage upon any railway any consignment of an explosive, unless he has given to the officer in charge of the railway station previous notice in writing which, at the option of the Railway Administration, may extend to 48 hours, of his intention to send such consignment, and stating the true name, description, quantity, and mode of packing of the explosive proposed to be conveyed, and his own name and address, and also the name and address of the proposed consignee, and unless he has had an intimation in writing from an authorised officer of the railway that such consignment will be received.

II.—No explosive which a Railway Administration shall, by any notice or regulation for the time being in force, notify that they will not receive, shall be brought, sent, or forwarded to, or upon any railway of the said Railway Administration.

III.—Consignments of explosives shall be sent to the forwarding station and shall be received by the railway servants only at such times, between sunrise and sunset, as the Railway Administration may appoint; and every package containing any explosive proposed to be conveyed on any railway shall immediately on arrival at the station be unloaded and placed in a safe place under the special direction of the officer in charge of the station.

All gunpowder under despatch, or receipt by a Government arsenal, depôt, or factory, shall be loaded or unloaded in the railway vans by Government servants employed in such arsenal, depôt, or factory. In each van used by the railway for the transport of gunpowder the packages of gunpowder shall be secured in such a way as to prevent concussion when the train is in motion.

IV.—An explosive shall be removed by the consignee from the receiving station during the twelve hours of daylight after arrival: if this condition is not strictly complied with, the Railway Administration may return the consignment to the consignor at his risk and expense. And such packages shall in the meanwhile be kept as far away from the station buildings as possible, in the wagon they were conveyed in, or, if unloaded, shall be completely covered with tarpaulins or other suitable material, and, if necessary, shall be protected by a police guard.

V.—The Railway Administration may refuse to receive any packages which they suspect to contain any explosive packed or sent in contravention of these regulations. And in case any package, which the Railway Administration suspect, shall be upon any railway, the Railway Administration may open, or require to be opened, such package, to ascertain the fact, at the risk and expense of the consignor, and may return the explosive contained in the package to the consignor at his risk and expense, keeping the packages, pending such return, in the manner prescribed in the preceding rule.

VI.—Subject to the exception provided for in clause (e), no explosive shall be conveyed by passenger train except of the kinds and in the manner hereinafter specified in this rule:—

(a) Safety cartridges and percussion caps and safety fuze (for blasting), also fog signals for railway use, which may be conveyed in ordinary wagons or carriages.

(b) Explosives of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class, which may be carried in the form of cartridges up to the limit of 5 lbs.:

Provided that no detonators are carried in the same compartment.

(c) Detonators packed according to the proviso to Rule 2 (III) (e) may be carried to the number of 200:

Provided that in no case the amount of fulminate of mercury in the package or packages containing the detonators exceeds in the aggregate 8 oz. (a certificate to this effect being given by the company, firm, or person tendering the detonators for transport or by its or his agent):

Provided also that no other explosive is carried in the same compartment.

(d) Sporting gunpowder or non-safety cartridges packed in double cases as before provided, so long as the gunpowder is contained in one-pound tin canisters packed in a stout wooden case with an outer covering of tin or zinc completely spark-proof, or in metal-lined cases of a pattern approved by the Railway Administration. But no outer case shall contain more than 25 lbs. of gunpowder, and the total consignment of gunpowder or non-safety cartridges by one train shall not exceed 80 lbs.

(e) Explosives may be carried by mixed trains on any line on which goods trains are not running, subject to the conditions that they are loaded in properly constructed powder vans; that not more than one powder van containing explosives is forwarded at any one time by a mixed train; that there are not less than three vehicles between the powder van and either the engine or the passenger coaches; that the powder van is close coupled to the adjoining vehicles; and that directly a powder van containing explosives arrives at a section on which goods trains are running, it is detached from the mixed train.

VII.—Not more than five carriages containing explosives shall be loaded or unloaded at any railway station, or be conveyed by any one train at any one time; and the quantity of explosive to be contained in any one carriage shall not exceed two-thirds of the normal load, unless the carriages shall be specially built and approved of by the Government of India for the conveyance of explosives. But nothing in this clause shall be held to apply to separate consignments of safety cartridges for small-arms.

VIII.—There shall not be conveyed in the same carriage with any explosive any lucifer or other matches, fuzes, pipelights, acids, naphtha, paraffine, petroleum to which the Indian Petroleum Act, 1899 (VIII of 1899), or any other Act for the time being in force regarding the importation, possession, and transport of petroleum, applies, or any other volatile spirit substance liable to give off an inflammable vapour or liable to spontaneous ignition, or to cause or communicate fire or explosion.

IX.—The consignor shall attach to the consignment note a certificate or (provided the original is produced for verification) copy of a certificate, signed by an officer authorised by the Local Government in this behalf, that the explosive, if it is an explosive of class 3 or 4, is of the standard purity; and further in the case of dynamite, and all nitro-glycerine compounds, that there are no signs of exuded nitro-glycerine or of liquefaction. The consignor shall also certify that the explosive has been packed in accordance with the packing rules in force in England or in British India.

X.—In the case of explosives under classes 3 and 4 the outer packages shall be marked with the date of the manufacture of the explosives. The above-mentioned certificate shall contain sufficient information to admit of all packages being easily recognized.

XI.—The certificate referred to in Rule IX shall be valid for six months after date, if the examination has been made between the 15th October and 31st March, but any Railway Administration which accepts dynamite and other nitro-glycerine compounds for transport may demand a fresh certificate for these explosives if presented for conveyance between 1st April and 15th October (both inclusive).

XII.—Packages containing dynamite and other blasting explosives of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class, or explosives of the 4th (chlorate-mixture), 5th (fulminate) classes or of the first division of the 7th (firework) class shall be stowed in one layer only and secured so as to prevent movement during transit, and the gross load in any one wagon shall not exceed 3 tons:

Provided that, if the packages of explosive are in rectangular form and are properly secured so as to prevent movement during transit, they may be stowed in any number of layers not exceeding five, and the gross load in any one wagon shall not exceed 5 tons.

XIII.—No explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class, or of the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class or of the 7th (firework) class shall be carried in the same train with any explosive not of the class and division to which it belongs, unless it be sufficiently separated therefrom to prevent any fire or explosion which may take place in one such explosive being communicated to another.

XIV.—Wagons used for the carriage of explosive shall be examined to see that they are spark-proof, and have been cleaned out before they are loaded. Hair, cloth, hides, or other suitable materials shall be spread on the floor of the wagon and between each layer of packages, except when the packages are covered with gunny or felt, or contain safety cartridges for small-arms packed in tin-lined service-pattern boxes.

XV.—Wagons containing explosives shall be loaded and unloaded on sidings distant as far as possible from the station buildings.

XVI.—Packages containing explosives other than those referred to in Rule 6 (XII) shall not be stowed in more than three layers one above the other. But if the packages are in rectangular form and of uniform size (provided they are double packages, and are so secured as to prevent movement during transit) they may be packed in five layers one above the other. But in the case of safety cartridges for small-arms packed in tin-lined service-pattern boxes, there is no restriction. Subject to the provisions of Rule 4 (III), the loading and unloading of explosives when once begun shall be diligently proceeded with until the same is completed.

XVII.—When the train is being marshalled wagons loaded with explosives may be shunted by a locomotive, if they are separated from the engine by not less than three wagons containing no explosive nor easily inflammable substance. This precaution is not necessary with wagons specially constructed for the carriage of explosives. The speed of these movements shall be restricted to five miles an hour; they shall be superintended by a duly authorised officer, who shall be held responsible for the observance of these orders. Flying shunts are strictly prohibited.

XVIII.—Wagons containing explosives shall be placed at the end of the train away from the locomotive, and shall be close-coupled to one another as well as to the adjoining wagons, and shall be preceded and followed by three wagons not loaded with explosives or other traffic of an inflammable nature.

Provided as follows:—

(a) on the Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway, wagons containing explosives and adjoining wagons need not be close-coupled to one another; and

(b) on the Nilgiri Railway, only one wagon need intervene between the locomotive and wagons containing explosives.

XIX.—If the wagons employed in the transport of explosives are provided with brakes other than iron brakes, the brakes thereon shall on no account be worked while the wagons are running with a train, nor shall brakes, other than iron brakes, on vehicles immediately adjoining such wagons, be worked while such wagons are so running.

XX.—Wagons shall in every case be locked when loaded with explosives.

XXI.—All operations connected with the transhipment of explosives at junction stations shall take place during daylight.

7. Whoever commits a breach of any of the foregoing rules relating to the mode of conveyance of explosives shall be punishable with a fine which may extend to Rs. 100.

NOTIFICATIONS.

PUBLIC.

Simla, the 11th September, 1906.

No. 2165.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 17 and 27 of the Indian Arms Act (XI of 1878), the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the following further amendments shall be made in the notification of the Government of India in the Home Department, no. 518, dated the 6th March 1879, as amended by subsequent notifications :

Paragraph 1.—For the words " rifles of ·303 bore or rifles of ·450 bore of the Martini-Henry pattern, if such rifles have been imported into British India subsequently to the 20th February 1901, without the special sanction of the Government of India, balled ammunition which can be fired from rifles of the bores and pattern aforesaid" substitute the words "rifles of ·303 or ·450 bore and balled ammunition which can be fired from such rifles".

At the end of the first clause of paragraph 1, after the words "carry or possess", add the following proviso:

"provided also that no prohibition or direction contained in sections 13, 14, 15 or 16 of the Indian Arms Act, 1878, shall apply to persons in possession of rifles of ·303 bore or ·450 bore which have been lawfully imported into British India before the date of this notification".

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

Nos. 7232—7236—154.—The Governor General in Council is pleased to sanction the following alteration in the Rules for the guidance of depositors in the Post Office Savings Banks, published with the Resolution in this Department, No. 509, dated the 15th March 1905:

For Rule 43, and the note appended to it the following shall be substituted:

43. No account may be allowed for money—

(1) which is the property of Government, or

(2) which has been received for credit of Government, or

(3) which has been drawn from the treasury for expenditure on account of Government, or

(4) which is raised by taxation, either local or municipal, or

(5) which is collected or received or held in trust by any public officer or court in accordance with any law, provided that the money is the property of Government.

Note 1.—Nothing in this rule prevents the opening of a public account for money which is not the property of Government by the Managers of funds held in trust for the relief of the poor, for the provision of education or medical relief, or for the advancement of any other object of general public utility, irrespective of whether such Managers are public officers or not.

Note 2.—Nothing in this rule prevents the opening of an account for a judicial deposit in accordance with a special order passed by a court of law in a particular case—directing the investment of the money in the Post Office Savings Bank. Such an account, when admitted, is subject in every respect to the rules and limitations which govern ordinary private accounts.

ORDER.—ORDERED that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Finance Department; the Director General of the Post Office; the Comptroller and Auditor General; and the Comptroller, Post Office.

ORDERED also, that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

RESOLUTION.

Read—

The despatches to and from the Secretary of State, nos. 6 and 105, dated respectively the 10th May and the 13th July 1906, and the Home Department resolutions no. $\frac{4}{204-215}$, dated the 23rd July 1896, and no. $\frac{10}{300-310}$, dated the 4th September 1886.

In paragraph 7 of the Home Department resolution of the 23rd July 1896, the Government of India intimated that the Secretary of State had decided that local Governments and Administrations should be allowed freedom of choice in the selection of an officer for the appointment of Director of Public Instruction and that they should not be fettered by any rule or instruction purporting to give a preferential claim to an officer of any particular department. The Secretary of State has recently reconsidered this decision and desires that appointments to the Directorships should no longer be governed by the rules laid down in the resolution of 1896, but by those prescribed in the Home Department resolution of the 4th September 1886. The latter resolution, while not giving members of the Educational Service an absolute claim to succeed to the post of Director, contemplated that before appointing a person not belonging to the service local Governments should, in the event of their considering it desirable to fill the post otherwise than from the local educational staff, seek the assistance of the Government of India with a view to procuring a suitable selection from the educational department of some other province. The Secretary of State also considers it desirable that in order to provide a properly qualified successor in the event of a vacancy arising in the Directorship measures should be taken in good time to give the officer on whom the choice would most probably fall a wide experience of the working of the department in all its branches.

Order.—Ordered that this resolution be communicated to all local Governments for information and guidance. Ordered also that the resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

Secretary to the Government of India.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs., on Thursday, the 13th September 1906, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The shallow depression which was near Sambalpur at the close of last week had filled up and disappeared by the morning of the 8th, and did not give any heavy rain. On the 9th the trough of low pressure was nearer to the hills than usual, and within it the barometer was lowest at Allahabad with a shallow depression at the head of the Bay: the latter moved into Chota Nagpur on the 12th and then on the 13th travelled rapidly in a westnorthwesterly direction to the neighbourhood of Sutna, at the same time intensifying considerably. Rainfall from the 9th to the 13th was in consequence heavy in Bundelkhand and widespread in the United Provinces, while at the close of the period it had extended over the greater part of the Punjab and Rajputana. In the Peninsula there was a break in the rains throughout the week except on the west coast.

Burma.—The Bay monsoon was fairly active in Burma, and rainfall was abundant except in the north. Skies were moderately overcast, and temperature did not differ by more than 4° from the normal.

Northeast India and Orissa.—The shallow depression which existed at the head of the Bay from the 9th to the 11th proved very favourable for rain in deltaic Bengal, Chota Nagpur and Orissa, and in these areas the precipitation was in excess of the normal for the week, but in the remainder of northeast India it was less than usual. Skies were generally moderately overcast, and temperature was normal or in defect in deltaic Bengal, Orissa and Chota Nagpur; elsewhere however it was in excess.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Owing to the position of the trough of low pressure and to the low barometer at Allahabad from the 8th to the 11th the monsoon gave good rain over the United Provinces and heavy rain in Central India east: under the influence of the depression which advanced from Chota Nagpur to Sutna precipitation was continued on the 13th. In Central India west and the Central Provinces widespread rain fell on the 7th and 8th, but for the next three days weather was dry in the former area and very light precipitation occurred at a few stations in the latter. On the 12th and 13th the monsoon strengthened and gave abundant rain in Central India west and light rain over a large part of the Central Provinces. Skies were moderately overcast in the United Provinces and heavily overcast in the other two areas. Temperature was in slight excess at the beginning of the period in the United Provinces and normal in Central India and the Central Provinces, but at the close it was generally in defect and the greatest deficiency occurring during the week was 7° at Nowgong on the 11th.

Northwest India.—Weather was disturbed during part of the week in Kashmir, and this combined with the monsoon to produce rather heavy precipitation in the northwest Punjab with widespread rain in the remainder of the province and in the Frontier Province. All the stations have reported rain, the smallest amounts being 3 cents at Peshawar and 21 cents at Lahore, and the largest 623 cents at Rawalpindi. In Rajputana also the week's rainfall was well distributed and much more than is usual at this time of year. In Gujarat the monsoon has given very little rain during the week, but some has been recorded at every station. Skies were moderately to heavily overcast in the east Punjab, Rajputana and Gujarat, but in the southwest Punjab they were generally clear until the 13th when they became moderately clouded. Temperature was in excess in Sind throughout the period, in defect in Gujarat and normal in Rajputana, while in the Punjab it was in excess during the first part of the week and in considerable defect at the end.

The Peninsula.—Slight rain fell on the west coast, but in the remainder of the Peninsula the weather was dry except for a few isolated falls. Temperature was approximately normal in the Deccan and in slight excess elsewhere. Skies were only lightly overcast in the interior of the Peninsula during the greater part of the week and moderately overcast in the rest of the Peninsula.

The rainfall of the whole period from the 4th May to the 13th September was practically normal over by far the greater part of the country. It was in slight to moderate excess in the West Satpuras and the subdivisions of Simla, Indore and Mysore and was in defect only in Baluchistan, Sind and the subdivisions of Jaipur and Cuttack.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

September 7th. Balasore 2·43″, Mount Abu 4·93″ and Kotah 2·02″.

" 8th. Rangoon 3·02″, Ranchi 1·12″, Jhansi 2·30″, Nowgong 3·02″, Indore 2·41″, Sialkot 2·84″ and Kotah 2·94″.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 8th September 1906.

Burma.—There was general rain throughout Burma, it was heaviest in Akyab and on the Tenasserim coast. Transplanting is approaching completion in Lower Burma and is progressing in Upper Burma. Reaping of early sesamum is in progress. Reaping of dry weather paddy is completed in the Tilin township and of early wet-weather paddy in Mandalay; reaping is also in progress in Kyaukse, Meiktila, and the Southern Shan States. Hill side paddy is in ear in the Momeik Subdivision. Agricultural operations in Thayetmyo have been suspended for want of sufficient rain which is required also in Shwebo, Mandalay, Myingyan, Kyaukse, Yamethin, Meiktila, the Southern Shan States, Myaungmya, in the Kyaklat township, on high lands in Henzada, and on the east of the railway in Tharrawaddy. Crops have been damaged by floods in Tharrawaddy and also in Hanthawaddy, while the condition of the standing crops is precarious in most parts of Prome for want of rain. Unirrigated paddy in Sagaing is poor and in the Yamethin Subdivision an 8-anna outturn is only expected; of sesamum a 12-anna crop is expected in Yamethin and an 8-anna crop in Myingyan. Caterpillars are destroying hill side paddy in the Southern Shan States. The price of paddy has risen largely in Pyapon, Toungoo and Thayetmyo; slightly in Mergui, Mandalay, and Kyaukse; and has fallen slightly in Pakokku.

Eastern-Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Slight to moderate rain has fallen generally in all districts. Floods are subsiding. Winter rice on low lands damaged by floods is being retransplanted in some districts. The prospects of tea are good in Sylhet, Nowgong, and Lakhimpur; moderately favourable in Cachar; and fair elsewhere. Harvesting of early rice is nearly finished and the outturn is generally fair. Cutting of jute and transplanting of late rice are in progress. The prospects of the crops are generally fair. Prices of common rice:—Manipur 14; Kohima 10; Rangamati 8; Noakhali 5 to 8; Chittagong 7½; Tezpur and Sibsagar 7; Silchar 6⅞; Comilla 6⅝; Pabna, Dibrugarh, and Barisal 6½; Malda, Jalpaiguri, Faridpur, Dacca, Sylhet, Gauhati, and Nowgong 6; Dhubri and Rampur Boalia 5⅞; Bogra and Mymensingh 5½; Shillong 5¼; Aijal and Tura 5; Dinajpur 4⅞; and Rangpur 4½ seers per rupee. Prices have risen in nine; fallen in three; and remain stationary in the remaining districts.

Scarcity prevails in Mymensingh, Noakhali, Bakarganj, and Comilla. There are no test works in Mymensingh where 765 persons are on gratuitous relief. 28 men and one child are on relief works and 668 persons on gratuitous relief in Noakhali. There are no test works in Bakarganj and Comilla. In the former district there are 12 men, 11 women and 8 children in receipt of gratuitous relief and in the latter 400 persons on gratuitous relief.

Bengal.—Rain was fairly general all over the Province, the fall being heavy in Murshidabad and in parts of Balasore; moderate in Howrah, the 24-Parganas, Cuttack, and Ranchi; but light in the rest of the Province. More rain is wanted in many districts for winter paddy. Much distress prevails in Darbhanga where a large number of persons are receiving gratuitous relief from the District Board's Funds. Slight distress is also reported from the 24-Parganas, Jessore, and Saran. Prospects of the aman paddy are on the whole fair except in the districts where it has been damaged by floods, viz., in Murshidabad, Muzaffarpur, and Darbhanga. Fodder is reported to be insufficient in Murshidabad, Darbhanga, Khulna, and Purnea. The water-supply is sufficient. The price of common rice has risen in eleven, and fallen in sixteen districts; it continues to be high in most districts.

United Provinces.—The rainfall was generally heavier and prospects have much improved, but more rain is needed for rice especially in the south-eastern and eastern submontane districts. The standing crops are flourishing, but the cane crop in Benares has been slightly injured by insects. Harvesting of the earlier autumn crops and preparations for the spring harvest continue. Cholera is disappearing from Jhansi, but has broken out in a village in Hardoi. Cattle are healthy except in eight districts. Fodder and water supplies are sufficient. Prices have fallen in seven districts and risen in the same number.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—There was good rain in all districts and more has fallen since the close of the week. Prospects are much improved and the standing crops are flourishing. Early autumn crops are being harvested and fields are being prepared for the spring harvest. Relief operations have stopped in Cawnpore from 1st September and the usual valedictory doles have been given. All works will be closed on the 15th instant and the numbers on gratuitous relief will be gradually reduced during the next month; it is hoped that gratuitous relief in Bundelkhand will cease on 15th October. Test works have been started in the flooded tracts of Gorakhpur. Cholera is disappearing but malaria continues. Fodder and water supplies are ample. Cattle are doing well. Prices of food-grains have risen slightly in Jhansi and Etawah. The numbers on relief are:—Allahabad Division—on works 1,000, on gratuitous relief 12;,000; Agra Division—on works nil, on gratuitous relief 9,000, total 134,000.

Punjab.—Heavy rain fell during the week at Gurgaon and Rawalpindi; good rain in parts of Rohtak, Delhi, Ambala, and Sialkot; and light to moderate rain in other districts except Lahore, Shahpur, and Mianwali. Prices of food-grains are generally unchanged. Ploughings and sowings for the next spring harvest are in progress. Indigo is being harvested in Multan. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are generally good and the yield is expected to be good all round. Crops have been damaged in Ambala and on lowlying lands in Jullundur by excessive rain, and cotton is being damaged by insects or boll worm in Lyallpur and in parts of Sialkot, Shahpur, and Multan. Cattle are generally in good condition. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of Gurgaon. There are no complaints regarding the water-supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rain fell during the week in the Peshawar district averaging 12 cents to 3·35 inches and 15 cents in the Marwat tahsil in Bannu. The condition of the standing crops on irrigated and unirrigated areas is satisfactory. The harvest prospects and the probable outturn of the autumn crops are fair. Spring sowings have commenced. Canal water and the Kilapani supply are normal. There is some irrigation from hill torrents in Dera Ismail Khan. The river Indus is falling. The condition of cattle is good except in Dera Ismail Khan tahsil. Stocks of food-grains are sufficient. Fodder is procurable. Prices are fluctuating. Prices—wheat 13¾ to 17½; maize 15 to 18; gram 15⅛ to 18; and bajra 12 to 15 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was good rain during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Prices:—wheat 12 to 24 and maize 14 to 34 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient except in the Ramban and Kishtwar tehsils.

Kashmir.—The weather was generally bright with rain on one day during the week. The rice crop is in good condition. Ploughings for spring crops are in progress.

Rajputana.—There was general and in many places heavy rain throughout Rajputana—the following were the amounts in cents:—Headquarters—Bikaner 205, Marwar 161, Jaisalmer 225, Sirohi 671, Mewar 220, Hill Tracts 209, Partabgarh 354, Bundi 294, Tonk 343, Shahpura 364, Kotah 581, Jhalawar 390, Jaipur 66, Kishangarh 635, Alwar 157, Karauli 236, Bharatpur 201, Dholpur 100, Ajmer 394, Merwara 343. Prospects have improved everywhere and the standing crops are doing well. Slight damage from locusts is reported from Jaipur, Karauli, and Dholpur. The condition of cattle is fair and pasturage is sufficient. Prices have generally fallen but are still high.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Ajmer—on works 314, on gratuitous relief 783, total 1,097; Merwara—on works 8,579, on gratuitous relief 6,510, total 15,089. Native States:—Marwar—on gratuitous relief 623, Tonk—on works 1,260, on gratuitous relief 355, total 1,615; Jaipur—on works 4,728; Kishangarh—on gratuitous relief 421; Dholpur—on works 1,026, on gratuitous relief 413, total 1,439, grand total 8,826. Relief works closed in Alwar, Bharatpur, and Karauli. Prices vary between 14⅞ seers in Karauli and 18 seers per rupee in Kishangarh. There were 45 deaths from cholera in Dholpur.

Central India.—Rainfall general. Land is being prepared for spring sowings and the early autumn harvest has commenced in some parts of Bundelkhand. The standing crops are good generally. Crops have been slightly damaged by locusts in parts of Gwalior and by excessive rain in parts of Indore. Pasturage is good. Prices are high in Gwalior and Baghelkhand and steady elsewhere.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The numbers on relief are:—Gwalior—on works 153, on gratuitous relief 1,651; total 1,804; in Bundelkhand—on works 2,600; on gratuitous relief 2,400; total 5,000; grand total 6,804. Prices in Bundelkhand 13 to 15 seers per rupee.

Central Provinces.—There was good rain again in nearly all districts—Damoh received (at headquarters) 9½, Nimar 7¼, Saugor 5¼, Drug and Jubbulpore, 4¼ inches each; other districts from 3¾ inches in Bilaspur to 35 cents in Bhandara; in the Hatta tahsil of Damoh, where rain was needed the fall during two consecutive days amounted to 16¾ inches. More rain is required for rice in parts of Drug. Excessive rain has slightly damaged the crops in parts of Chanda, Akola, and Amraoti. Weeding and preparation of land for spring sowings are in progress in most districts. Sesamum is being sown in parts of Nagpur, Balaghat, and Drug and is in flower in Chhindwara and Amraoti. Kutki (small millet) in Chhindwara and Raipur, and maize in Chanda are being harvested. Sugarcane is flourishing in Betul. A full outturn of autumn crops is estimated in Saugor and Jubbulpore. Germination has been successful, the standing crops are in good condition, and prospects are generally favourable throughout the Provinces. Juar is still backward in Narsinghpur and Hoshangabad. The price of rice has fallen slightly in Seoni, Raipur, and Bilaspur; elsewhere prices are steady but continue equal to the scarcity rate in Wardha, Chanda, Balaghat, Drug, and Bilaspur.

Bombay.—There was good rain during the week in Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar, Gujarat, the Konkan, Khandesh, Nasik, Poona, Cutch, Palanpur, Mahi Kantha, Rewa Kantha, Kathiawar, Sawantwadi and Kolhapur; moderate in Karachi, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Belgaum, and Baroda; and slight in Satara, Bijapur, and Dharwar. Inundation from the Indus is satisfactory in Sind. Cotton sowing still continues in places. The standing crops have been slightly damaged by locusts in Thar and Parkar; by floods in Karachi, Hyderabad, and Thar and Parkar; by heavy rain in parts of Hyderabad, Karachi, Gujarat, Nasik, Baroda, Palanpur, Mahi Kantha, and Rewa Kantha; and are generally in good condition elsewhere. Sowing of spring crops continues in parts of Kaira, the Deccan, the Karnatak, and Kolhapur. The supply of drinking water is adequate. Irrigation channels, tanks, and wells are nearly full. Agricultural stock is generally deficient in affected tracts but is improving in condition sufficient green grass being available everywhere. Trade is active and stocks of grain in markets are adequate. Prices are falling. The quantity of grain purchasable per rupee is in the Deccan 10 to 50 per cent; in the Karnatak 23 to 35 per cent; and elsewhere 10 to 30 per cent less than the normal. The numbers on test works on the last day of the week ending 1st instant were:—Phaltan 48, Jamkhandi 126, total 174. The demand for labour is increasing and agriculturists find ample work in the fields. The public health is generally good. Cholera is still prevalent in parts of the Deccan and the Karnatak. The numbers on relief are falling steadily. The numbers are:—British districts:—Deccan—on works 9,932, on gratuitous relief 24,508, total 34,440; Karnatak—on works 10,966, on gratuitous relief 13,782, total 24,748; Native States—on works 1,791, on gratuitous relief 1,889, total 3,680.

Hyderabad.—Rainfall—3 inches 29 cents. The prospects of the season are good. The autumn and early rice crops are in good condition. Lands are being prepared for the spring harvest and sowings have commenced in a few taluks. Prices—wheat 8¼; coarse rice 7½; and juar 16¼ seers per rupee.

Mysore.—There was slight rain throughout the Province. The standing crops are generally in good condition. The prospects of the season are good, but more rain is needed in parts of Tumkur and Kadur. Cattle are generally healthy and water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall—5 inches 52 cents. The prices of food-grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was heavy in South Canara; good in the Vizagapatam Agency, Nilgiris, Malabar, Kistna, Kurnool, Guntur, Ganjam, Vizagapatam littoral, Godavari, and Bellary; and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and Tinnevelly. Ploughing, weeding, sowing, and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair. There are no harvests in Kurnool and Bellary; they continue in parts elsewhere with varying outturn. Pasture is sufficient except in Tinnevelly. Fodder is scanty in parts of the Circars, Anantapur, and Coimbatore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in ten districts; has fallen in two; and has slightly risen in eleven. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in six districts; has fallen in ten; and has very slightly risen in five. Cholam is stationary in one district; has fallen in ten; and has slightly risen in three. Cumbu is stationary in eight districts; and has fallen in seven.

The number of persons in receipt of relief during the preceding and present weeks in each Province or State is shown in the following table :

After the 31st March all Notifications and other matter intended for publication in those Parts should be addressed to the Officiating Publisher at Simla.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India, Home Department, of August 1901 :—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette, and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No. 777—79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 P.M. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette."

J. P. HEWETT,

Secretary to the Government of India.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to applications for leave to file specifications and for registration of designs under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), or in continuation of such applications, should be addressed to the Patents Secretary, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

The Office of the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, will in future be open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Cheques and money orders will only be accepted if made payable at Calcutta to the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's Office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy, respectively. A consolidated index for the year 1905, entitled "Inventions and Designs in 1905," is also on sale, price one rupee. It contains a chronological list, subject-matter and name indexes of exclusive privileges for inventions, which have been obtained or applied for in that year, together with lists of designs applications.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October 1895 in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitors' room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified: or, if the 10th day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

The Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888), with the notifications and rules issued under its provisions and the notices of the office of Inventions and Designs, to which is added an explanatory memorandum for the guidance of persons applying for protection of Inventions and Designs. OFFICE OF THE REVENU AEND FINANCIAL SECRETARY TO THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER, NORTH-WEST FRONTIER PROVINCE.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Peshawar, the 4th September 1906.

No. 3563.—Whereas the Chief Commissioner of the North-West Frontier Province is satisfied that in respect of the heritable assignment of land revenue made to Ghulam Mustafa Khan by the Government of India in their letter No 2000, dated the 30th September 1850, and now held by Sher Mohammad Khan, son of Faqir Mohammad Khan, in the Kohat District, a rule of descent involving the devolution of the said heritable assignment, the extent of which as now held in the North-West Frontier Province is detailed in the schedule attached to this Notification, to a single heir as impartible property actually prevails,

And whereas the said rule of descent has been observed at every succession which has taken place in respect of the said assignment since the said assignment was made,

The Chief Commissioner of the North-West Frontier Province, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 30 of the North-West Frontier Law and Justice Regulation of 1901, hereby declares that in respect of succession to the said assignment, the said rule of descent shall prevail in the family of the said Sher Mohammad Khan.

FREDERICK NOÉL-PATON
Director-General of Commercial Intelligence

W. L. HARVEY
Secretary to the Government of India

Calcutta, September 14, 1906

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT.

REPORT UPON THE OPERATIONS OF THE PAPER CURRENCY DEPARTMENT DURING THE YEARS 1905-06.

No. 129, dated Calcutta, the 3rd July 1906

From—O. T. BARROW, Esq., Officiating Head Commissioner of Paper Currency, Calcutta,
To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Finance Department.

I have the honour to submit a report upon the operations of the Paper Currency Department during the year 1905-06.

Advance made during the last four years.

2. The Statement No. I in the Appendix gives a general view of the progress made during the last three years in the circulation of Currency notes. It shows what it has been usual to call the gross, the net, and the active circulation on the last day of each month of those years, and also the average of each year. By gross circulation is meant the value of all notes that have been issued and not yet paid off: the net circulation is this sum less the value of notes held by Government in its treasuries: and the active circulation is the net reduced by the value of notes held by the Presidency Banks at their head offices, which is subject to large variations dependent upon the condition of trade. Of these three kinds of circulation the active is the most important for it shows to what extent paper money is used by the people in their pecuniary transactions. It is satisfactory to find that the annual average active circulation which was 23,49 lakhs in 1902-03, has increased from 26,34 lakhs in 1903-04 to 28,11 lakhs in 1904-05 and 30,52 lakhs in 1905-06. The progress has been rapid and regular, and contrasts favourably with the slower and rather variable advances made during the preceding eight years as shown in the margin.

All the Circles except Bombay and Calicut have contributed towards the increase, the largest contribution being that of Calcutta. In the Calcutta Circle the rise was chiefly in R10 notes.

Details of gross circulation according to denomination of notes for each Circle.

4. The details of the gross circulation as on 31 st March 1906 for each denomination and in each Circle are as follows:—

5. Dividing the gross circulation between notes of R500 and upwards, and notes below R500, the values at the end of each of the last three years have been in thousands of rupees:—

	Notes of R 100 and under.	Percentage of total.	Notes of R 500 and upwards.	Percentage of total.	Total.
	Value.		Value.		Value.
	R		R		R
1903-04	19,40,78	51	18,80,39	49	38,21,17
1904-05	20,42,67	52	18,74,93	48	39,17,60
1905-06	23,60,32	53	21,05,34	47	44,65,66

The increase in the percentage of notes of the lower values must be attributed to the more general use of paper money by the ordinary public and to the special privilege newly given to R5 notes.

6. The varying proportions in which notes of each denomination have circulated in the various Circles during the last two years are shown below:—

7. The variations in the percentages of the two years are so small as to be evidently accidental. It is remarkable how year after year each Circle shows the same preference for particular denominations of notes. The average value during the last four years of the notes in circulation in each Circle on the last day of the year is given in the margin, notes of R10,000 being excluded, as their high value and irregular use only tend to mislead.

The figure for Rangoon would be larger but for a local rule which severely restricts the supply of notes of higher values than R100 to District Treasuries. No complaint appears to have come in from the public, while officials do not require currency notes for remittance so long as they are allowed, as at present, to cash their Salary Bills at Rangoon.

The active circulation according to Circles.

8. It is not possible to bring out by the method employed in Statement No. I of the Appendix the active circulation of each Circle during the year because both Treasuries and Presidency Banks hold notes issued in circles other than their own. The Reserve Treasuries, however, hold practically the whole of their balances in home-circle notes, and in the following table the gross circulation is accordingly reduced by the note balances of the Reserve Treasuries, and is compared with the corresponding figures of the two previous years, in lakhs of rupees:—

The increase appears in all the Circles except Bombay but mainly in Calcutta, where it occurred in every month of the year. In Bombay there was a falling off in August, September and again from November to March as compared with those months in the previous year.

Circulation of the universal five-rupee

9. The table in paragraph 4 shows that a very large increase has again taken place in the circulation of the five-rupee note. The circulation of these notes on 31st March 1906 was about 17 per cent. and about 29 per cent. more than what it was on 31st March 1905 and 31st March 1904, respectively. As these small-value notes are not held in any large quantities in the balances of treasuries or Presidency Banks, the increase represents an expansion of their active circulation among the public. As explained last year, this increase must be due to a great extent to the legislation of March 1903 making five-rupee notes of any circle except Rangoon legal tender throughout India, except Burma, and encashable accordingly. The growing popularity of the universal five-rupee note is also apparent from a comparison of the average gross circulation of five-rupee notes of the several circles excepting Rangoon during the past five years. The figures are given in the margin in lakhs of rupees.

Reference was made in the last year's Report to the somewhat embarrassing use that was made of the universal note in the earlier months of 1904-05 for trade remittances of funds particularly between Bombay, Karachi and Lahore during the wheat season and to the measures that were taken to check this use. These measures appear to have been successful, as the issue of notes in bundles of 2,000 and over, for purposes of remittance, in the year amounted to only about 4 lakhs of rupees against about 32 lakhs in last year. The whole of these issues were in connection with the movement of wheat in Sind and the Punjab in May and June.

The net receipts of gold from the public at the currency offices and treasuries dwindled from about £5,630,000 in last year to about £95,000 in the year under report. This large decrease is mainly accounted for by a decline in imports, which amounted to only about £3 millions in 1905-06 against about £7·8 millions in 1904-05. The following statement compares the receipts from imported sovereigns during the two years:—

(The figures are in hundreds of pounds sterling.)

TOTAL	7,828,900	2,965,000

It will be seen from the above statement that the decline was spread throughout the whole of the year, but was most marked in January to March. The falling off in this period was due primarily to the diversion of gold from India to England in consequence of the sale by the Secretary of State from the end of December 1905 of transfers at par against Australian sovereigns. These transfers amounted in the year to £3,640,000.

There has been in the last three years a marked and a continuous increase in the demand at the Currency Offices and treasuries for sovereigns required for local absorption. The figures for the last five years are given in the margin. Those for 1905-06 include a payment of £200,000 to the Gwalior Durbar in March under the arrangements made for the repayment of the loan of 70 lakhs raised in January 1906. The largest increase in the absorption has taken place in the United Provinces.

Of the £7,000,000 in gold exported by Government during the year, £6,000,000 went to the Paper Currency Chest in England to form a reserve stock for the purchase of silver and for other general purposes. No direct remittances were made on account of the Gold Reserve Fund in the year under report.

The details of the gold held in India on the last day of the year are as follows :—

11. The balance of the Gold Reserve Fund * at the beginning of the year stood at £8,528,631 made up as follows :—

Purchase value of Sterling Securities	8,376,631
Gold held in India	...
Outstanding debt from treasury balances	152,000
	8,528,631

The net profit on the new rupee coinage of the year amounted to £3,677,879, so that the amount available during the year for remittance to England for the purchase of securities amounted to £3,829,879. Of this sum £3,543,000 was remitted by Council Bills, and £286,879 remained due to the Fund from treasury balances on 31st March 1906. The amount remitted from India to England during the year together with the income in England (£245,401) arising from dividends on investment and the discounts obtained on the purchase of Treasury Bills was invested in sterling securities of the nominal value of £3,788,401.

The balance of the Fund held in England at the end of the year was therefore £12,165,032 6*s*. 3*d*. which was invested as follows :—

On the corresponding date in 1905 the silver coin balance amounted to R11,36,48,837, the silver bullion to R1,70,09,003 and the gold coin and bullion to R16,11,02,084. There has therefore been an increase of 2,22 lakhs, 1,07 lakhs and 20 lakhs respectively in the balances of silver coin, silver bullion and gold coin and bullion.

14. There was a change in the year under report in the constitution of the silver bullion reserve. The reserve of 1,70 lakhs worth of bullion held on 31st March 1905 was held entirely in India and in the form of ingots. But the whole of this reserve had to be drawn upon for coinage during the year to meet the requirements of trade. The withdrawal commenced in November and the stock was exhausted in January. The demand for rupees, however, continued high, and it was found necessary to supplement the rupee stock by purchases of silver. These additional purchases were from the middle of December treated as having been made on behalf of the Currency Department, and the silver in the Mints in process of coinage and in transit between England and India between this period and the end of March accordingly formed a part of the Paper Currency Reserve. The experience of the year has proved the inadequacy of the Ingot Reserve for the purposes for which it was created, and steps have been taken for its replacement by a Reserve of greater capabilities and of a different character.

15. The gold coin and bullion at the end of March was held partly in India and partly in a currency chest established in England in the year under report. Full explanation has been given in paragraphs 73 to 76 of the Financial Statement for 1906-07 of the reasons which led to the establishment of this chest. Of the 10,57 lakhs of gold coin and bullion held in England on 31st March, 9,00 lakhs represent direct remittances from India in monthly instalments of 1,50 lakhs in July to November and in January, and 1,57 lakhs represent transfers made by the Secretary of State from treasury to currency, 75 in December and 82 in February, in aid of the Indian Treasury balances. An opposite transfer of 15 lakhs was made by the Secretary of State on 31st March, but as intimation of this transfer was received in April, the corresponding transfer to currency was effected in India in the current year, the total balance on 31st March being shown in the Indian accounts at what it was before the transfer made by the Secretary of State.

16. An addition of 2 crores was made in the year under report to the investments in securities of a portion of the Currency Reserve. The Paper Currency Act of 1905, which became law in March, empowered Government to increase this investment by 2 crores and to invest that amount in sterling securities of the United Kindom or of the Government of India. Before the passing of the Act, investment was permitted only in rupee securities of the Government of India and not in sterling. Effect was given to these provisions by the Secretary of State in August, when the sale-proceeds of Council drafts to the amount of £1,333,333⅓ were invested in Consols and Exchequer Bonds. The total investment on 31st March stood as follows :—

The proportion of cancellations continues high, the withdrawals of notes which have been at all soiled being regarded as an important safeguard against forgery. The numbers of the total issues and cancellations for the year, in thousands of pieces, are given below :—

The total encashments of Foreign Circle Notes were more than those of the last year by about 1,43 lakhs, the increase being the net result of increases of 187 lakhs at Calcutta, 47 lakhs at Bombay and 1 lakh at Madras against decreases of 18 lakhs at Allahabad, 15 lakhs at Lahore, 59 lakhs at Karachi.

The most important variations from the preceding years occurred in the Foreign encashment of Allahabad, Lahore and Bombay Notes. During the year the encashment of Allahabad notes increased at Calcutta by 1,08 lakhs and by 13 lakhs at Bombay, and that of Lahore notes by 85 lakhs at Calcutta and by 15 lakhs at Bombay. There was a falling off in Bombay notes. At Calcutta it amounted to 11 lakhs, at Lahore 27 lakhs and at Karachi 77 lakhs. Their cause is to be found in the varying trade demand in various years, which leads to the transfer of funds from those provinces in which trade is comparatively dull to those in which it is brisk. The following statement shows in lakhs of rupees the net transfers by means of Foreign Circle Notes between each of the circles during the last two years. The plus figures indicate that transfers to the circle exceeded those from it, and the minus figures represent an opposite movement :—

The net result was an increase in the coin and bullion reserve of 3,48 lakhs. This increase plus the addition of 2,00 lakhs to the investment of the reserve during the year exactly correspond with the increase in the circulation. The receipts and issues were more than those of the previous year by 46,37 lakhs and 43,86 lakhs, respectively, the increase being made up as follows :—

24. The withdrawals of shroff-marked and uncurrent coin and of rupees bearing the dates 1835 and 1840 are shown in the margin in thousands of rupees. As compared with last year, the receipts of shroff-marked coin have doubled during the year and the withdrawals of uncurrent coin have increased by about seven lakhs. The total amount of 1835 coins withdrawn to the end of the year is about 2,83 lakhs, and that of 1840 coins 20,12 lakhs.

The total amount of light weight coins received and paid for during the year was about five lakhs more than in the previous year. By far the largest amount of the withdrawals took place at the principal Currency offices and at treasuries such as Trichinopoly, Dharwar, Gorakhpur and Lucknow where railway earnings are paid in.

The work done at the five large Currency offices was again tested in the year under report by fresh examination at the Mints. The results are shown below:—

The following statement compares for the last two years the total percentage of light weights detected at the Currency offices and the Mints together with the percentage detected at Currency offices alone:—

	Percentage detected at Currency offices and Mints.	Percentage detected at Currency offices.	Percentage detected at Currency offices and Mints.	Percentage detected at Currency offices.

Allahabad	2·26	·006	8·29	7·88
Lahore	1·73	·91	·91	·002

The figures shown against Bombay are fairly uniform during the two years.* The figures relating to the other Provinces, particularly the United Provinces, show heavy fluctuations, and it is doubtful if they can be accepted even as an approximate index, either of the state of the rupee Currency in these provinces, or of the care bestowed on the examination of rupees at the Currency offices. The quantity of coin examined at the Mints is infinitesimal as compared with the total volume of the Currency, and speaking generally, conclusions based on so minute a portion can hardly apply to the whole.

* In Calcutta, the percentage of total light weights is about the same, but the proportion detected at the Currency Office last year is about eight times the corresponding figure of the preceding year.

26. The tables in the margin give the numbers of counterfeit coins cut and broken in the different provinces during the calendar year 1905 and the usual comparative statistics for the past ten years. They show that the number of counterfeit rupees discovered in 1905 in the Treasuries, Currency offices and Railway cash offices in course of examination of coin received by them is somewhat higher than the number similarly discovered in 1904. Out of the total number of 65,713, 28,438 were detected in Railway cash offices, 6,298 being found on the North Western Railway alone. The number of counterfeit rupees received at the Mints for examination during the year was 5,527, of which 1,643 were struck from dies and the rest were castings. Most of the former were well executed, but most of the latter consisted of palpable counterfeits made of base metal. The Bombay Mint received from Bombay, Baroda and Central India and the Rajputana-Malwa Railways 1,030 exceptionally well executed coins, of which 778 were struck from dies and the rest were castings.

27. The usual examination of rupees with the object of arriving at some idea of the percentage of counterfeits in the circulation was made in May 1906 and the result is given in the table below:—

1	2	3	4
Currency office.	No. of coins examined.	Total number of counterfeits detected during examination.	PROPORTION OF COUNTERFEITS PER LAKH.
Calcutta	10,00,000	158	15·80
Allahabad	3,33,850	27	8·09
Lahore	1,63,497	28	17·13
Bombay	10,00,000	144	14·40
Madras	1,40,000	29	20·71
TOTAL .	26,37,347	386	14·63

The average figure for the five offices is about the same as in the last two years. The percentage in the case of the Punjab shows a return to normal state of affairs after the abnormal increase in last year. There was some increase over the preceding year in the Madras percentage, due probably to the fact that a smaller proportion of the rupees examined in May consisted of receipts from the Exchange Banks which are more or less shroffed at the Banks before they are tendered at the Currency Office.

28. Statement II of the Appendix gives by calendar years the number of whole rupees coined in the Indian Mints from 1835 to 31st March 1906.

Annual coinage

The rupee coinage of the year amounted to 19,60 lakhs. Of this Bombay coined 12,17 lakhs of which 2,00 were from the Silver in the Ingot Reserve, 8,86 from newly purchased silver bullion, 5 from local coins of the Karauli State received for conversion into British rupees, and the balance, 1,26, from withdrawn and uncurrent coins. Calcutta coined 7,43 lakhs, of which 1,00 were from the Silver in the Ingot Reserve, 4,83 from newly purchased silver and 1,60 from withdrawn and uncurrent coin. The number of rupees, therefore, which formed an addition to the circulation through the purchase of bullion was 16,69 lakhs. The net profit on rupee coinage amounted, as stated in para. 11 above, to 5,51½ lakhs.

29. The usual examination of the rupee circulation was made in May 1906, when 251 Government treasuries each sorted 10,000 rupees according to the dates borne by each. The result is given below with those of the previous fifteen years. Details by Provinces appear in Statement IX of the Appendix.

31. The Currency Agencies in all provinces, except the Punjab and at Mandalay in Burma, are strictly Currency chests opened for resource purposes, whereas at the Agencies proper exchanges with the public take place. The chests permit of the transfer of Treasury fund from one place to another without actual movements of coin, and thus supply a very speedy means of withdrawing Treasury surpluses to head-quarters. On 31st March 1906 the number of Currency chests was 183, and they contained balances amounting to 5,63 lakhs or 63 lakhs less than on the corresponding date in the previous year. The decrease occurs principally in Madras, from which circle heavy remittances were made in the course of the year to Calcutta and Bombay.

The following table distributes the totals in details of Agencies :—

33. The increase as compared with last year occurs chiefly under half notes. Notes lost by theft are not included in the above statement as no claim lies against the Department on their account. Payment of stopped notes cannot be refused, but if the presenter is not known he is pointed out to the Police who enquire into the circumstances connected with his possession of the note. There were 1,258 stopped notes on the Calcutta list at the close of the year; during the year 286 were presented and all the presenters were pointed out to the Police, nine were prosecuted, two were convicted; and four cases remained pending at the close of the year. Notes proved to have been wholly destroyed are not paid off at once, but only after 20 years, when their value, which has been invested, is paid together with the accrued interest. The number of destroyed notes and the investments made on their account are shown below. There was an increase in such cases during the year.

There were five new forgeries during the year. Three were of the Calcutta Circle notes—of two R10 notes of the $\frac{L.A.}{62}$ and $\frac{O.A.}{81}$ series respectively and of two R100 notes of the $\frac{L.A.}{90}$ series—and two of the Allahabad Circle notes—of a R5 note of the $\frac{D.A}{17}$ series, and of a R10 note bearing serial No. $\frac{D.A.}{23}$

The forgery of the Calcutta Circle R10 note of the $\frac{L.A.}{62}$ series was similar i all respects to all double lettered forged notes, that of the $\frac{O.A.}{81}$ series was a photograph and that of R100 notes was a lithograph on plain paper. The forge Allahabad Circle R5 and R10 notes were poor pen and ink productions o ordinary paper without water-mark.

At Gwalior four persons were convicted in connection with the Calcutt Circle R100 forged notes of the $\frac{L.A.}{90}$ series, three were sentenced to a fin of R10 with seven years' rigorous imprisonment each, and the fourth to a fine o
R5 with three years' rigorous imprisonment. The case about the Calcutta Circl R10 note of the $\frac{L.A.}{62}$ series is under enquiry. In Bombay a person was sentence to four years' rigorous imprisonment for uttering forged R10 notes of th $\frac{M.A.}{2}$ series. There was another prosecution there in connection with a R10 forged note bearing serial No. $\frac{W\ 39}{W\ 33}$, but the accused was discharged by th Magistrate for want of evidence of guilty knowledge. There was no prosecutio elsewhere and nothing remarkable about the forgeries. The remaining tw pending cases of 1902-03 ended in acquittals.

35. A fraudulent claim of a peculiar nature was presented at the Calcutt Currency office in which an attempt was made to obtain the value of two opposit halves of two notes as half notes and of their counter halves as a mismatche note, thus making three values instead of two. The case is under investigation.
All the rest were of the usual kind in which presenters of half notes falsel declared that they had recently lost or accidentally destroyed the correspondin halves although these had already been deposited with the Currency Department or were subsequently presented by other claimants. At Calcutta a case of this kind which was under enquiry last year ended in the conviction of the accused, who was sentenced to 6 months' rigorous imprisonment.

36. An ingenious case of fraud occurred in a Post Office in the Punjab in which the Post Master, who abstracted both halves of certain notes posted at his office at different dates, kept the parties in ignorance of the loss by bogus letters. The culprit was sentenced to four years' rigorous imprisonment.

There was a very heavy demand for whole rupees in Calcutta in connection with the jute trade, to meet which over 8 crores had to be brought down in the four months from August to November 1905. The supply of whole rupees to the United Provinces, Bombay and Rangoon was also larger than that in the previous year, while the amount sent to the Punjab fell off owing to slackness in the wheat trade. The total volume of the year's remittances was about double that of the last year.

The important remittances of whole rupees in the first quarter were those sent to the Punjab in connection with the wheat and other export trade in Upper India. One crore and thirty lakhs were supplied from Calcutta, 40 from the United Provinces, 11 from Ajmer and 50 from Bombay. The reserve coin in the United Provinces had been strengthened by a remittance of 70 lakhs during the closing months of the preceding year in anticipation of the opium demands in the ensuing months, but the supply proved inadequate and another 80 lakhs had to be sent early in April. Of this 25 went from Calcutta and 55 from Bombay. With the collection of the Land Revenue, the United Provinces were able to supply the Punjab with 40 lakhs in June. Bombay could meet its own demand in the quarter without any help from outside.

In the second quarter and two months of the third there was an unprecedented demand for coin in Calcutta in connection with the jute trade. The season practically commenced from about the 3rd week of July, and arrangements were made early in August to replenish the coin balance in Calcutta by a remittance of a crore and a half from Bombay. Another remittance of 25 lakhs was brought from Madras towards the latter end of the month. In the two succeeding months, the requirements continued heavy and remittances aggregating about 4 crores and a half had to be brought down from other circles, viz., 1,50 lakhs from Bombay, 1,30 from the United Provinces, 25 from the Central Provinces and 50 each from Madras, Burma and the Punjab. In spite of all these heavy remittances the month of November opened with a rupee balance in Calcutta of 64 lakhs only against an average of about 2 crores in the past three years. Remittances of 20 lakhs from the Punjab, about 35 lakhs from the Currency Chests in Bengal and Assam, 50 lakhs from Bombay, and 1,00 lakhs from Rangoon were brought down to Calcutta during that month. The other important remittance during the second quarter was that of 48 lakhs to Karachi, viz., 28 from Bombay and 20 from Ajmer, for financing the export trade of that port.

In the third quarter there was considerable activity in the cotton trade in Bombay and indications were received of a very brisk trade in the rice season in Burma. To replenish the balances at Bombay a remittance of 60 lakhs was sent from Calcutta early in December. Another remittance of 50 lakhs was sent to Rangoon at about the same time in anticipation of future requirements. It was considered expedient in this quarter to increase the rupee balance in the currency by coinage from the Ingot Reserve in addition to the usual coinage from fresh receipts of purchased silver. The other important remittances during the quarter were 40 lakhs to the Punjab for demand in connection with the autumn crop, 25 lakhs to Madras and 40 lakhs to the United Provinces.

In the fourth quarter further supplies to the extent of 2,60 lakhs were made to Burma, of which 80 went from Bombay and 1,80 from Calcutta. To meet possible contingencies a loan of 70 lakhs of whole rupees was taken in January from the Gwalior Durbar. It was, however, repaid in March, 40 lakhs in silver and 30 lakhs in gold in accordance with the desire of the Maharjah. The reserve in the United Provinces was strengthened in March by a remittance of over a crore for the opium requirements in April. Madras also was supplied with 30 lakhs and Karachi with 57 lakhs during the quarter.

40. The exports of Indian Merchandise during the year were about 4 crores more than in 1904-05. The value of jute and jute bags exported was about 8 crores more than that in the preceding year, and there were also increases of about 6½ crores, in the exports of cotton and cotton manufactures and 4 crores in hides and skins. On the other hand the exports of wheat fell off by about 9½ crores, of opium by about a crore and of oil seeds by 4 crores. There was at the same time an increase of about 6 crores in the value of imports chiefly cotton yarn and cotton piece goods. As a result of so much active trading there was an increase of about 7 crores in the absorption of rupees.

Of the total amount absorbed, Calcutta took the highest and next in order came Bombay. The year's totals for the other provinces do not require any special notice except that the large return from circulation shown against Assam is due to the fact of the Eastern Bengal Districts having been included in it from the third quarter of the year.

In the first quarter the Punjab absorbed about a crore and a half in connection with the trade in wheat and seeds, but this was more than counterbalanced by large receipts into Treasuries both in Bengal and Burma. In the second quarter began the heavy absorption in Calcutta in connection with jute which continued till about the end of the second month of the next quarter. In the third and fourth quarters there was a net issue of 9 crores in Bombay and Burma in connection with the export trade of cotton and rice respectively, but at the same time there was a pretty large return in Bengal, Assam, Madras and Berar, in the shape of revenue.

41. The following statement compares, in lakhs of rupees, the distribution of whole rupees in the hands of Government at the end of 1905-06 with that at the end of the two previous years :—

The above statement shows that at the end of the year all the provinces were well supplied with rupees.

42. The transactions in notes, at the several Government Treasuries during the past three years, have been as follows :—

	1903-04.	1904-05.	1905-06.
	R	R	R
Receipts from the Public in payment of Government dues	22,29,11,440	23,72,63,805	25,15,91,220

TOTAL ISSUES	15,05,97,455	16,02,39,710	17,71,69,685

The receipts in payment of Government dues and the issues have both risen slightly under all the heads.

43. The total Treasury transactions in notes during the three years are shown below in lakhs of rupees :—

44. The following statement gives information as to the ability of Treasuries to cash notes during the past three years :—

	1903-04.	1904-05.	1905-06.
	Number of Teasuries.
Where encashment of notes was not refused on any day in the year	174	175	175
Where encashment was rarely refused	40	35	34
Where encashment was generally refused	16	23	23
TOTAL	230	233	232

Treasuries at branches of the Presidency Banks are excluded from this statement. It is not to be understood from the above figures that a majority of Treasuries could have cashed large values of notes, but merely that they did so in the case of small quantities presented by the ordinary non-trading public. Traders, knowing that it would be useless to ask for large sums in silver in exchange for notes, do not make the attempt.

45. Statement VIII in the Appendix shows the proportions of Treasury and Bank balances which, in each Province, were held in the form of Currency notes. Excluding Reserve Treasuries, the percentage of balances held in notes was :—

46. The figures of receipts and expenditure in Statement VI of the Appendix are only approximate, as the accounts of 1905-06 are not yet closed. The charges of the year are more than those of 1904-05 by R94,000, chiefly owing to increases in the cost of note forms.

MILITARY SECRETARY'S OFFICE.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Simla, the 21st September, 1906.

No. 2333-M.—His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General will leave Simla on Saturday, the 6th October 1906, by Landau at about 9-30 A.M. His Excellency's departure from Simla will be private.

His Excellency will visit Sanawar, Quetta, Chaman, Nushki, Kashmir, Bikaner, Jind, Nabha, Patiala and Delhi. From Delhi His Excellency will proceed direct to Calcutta, arriving there on or about the 7th December 1906. The arrival at Calcutta will be public.

All covers intended to reach His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General and party during the tour should be addressed "Viceroy's Camp", without the addition of any post town.

The party accompanying His Excellency on tour is as follows :

Her Excellency the Countess of Minto.

Lady Eileen Elliot.

Lady Ruby Elliot.

Lady Violet Elliot.

Hon'ble Mrs. Adam.

Sir Louis Dane, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., Foreign Secretary.

Lieutenant-Colonel J. R. Dunlop Smith, C.I.E., Private Secretary.

Lieutenant-Colonel F. L. Adam, M.V.O., Military Secretary.

Surgeon Lieutenant-Colonel W. R. Crooke-Lawless, M.D., Surgeon.

Major G. P. T. Feilding, D.S.O., A.-D.-C.

Captain T. H. R. Bulkeley, A.-D.-C.

Captain Lord Francis Scott, A.-D.-C.

All communications of a mere routine nature should be sent, as usual, to the Headquarters of the several Departments.

No. 2334-M.—His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General will hold a Levée at Quetta at 10-15 P.M., on Monday, the 15th October 1906.

2. All Civil and Military Officers and Native Officers of the Native regiments at Quetta are invited to attend.

3. His Excellency will also be glad to receive other gentlemen, who should submit their names to the Agent to Governor General in Baluchistan, who will issue cards of admission, which should be shown to the Aide-de-Camp in waiting before the Levée, if required.

4. All Officers and gentlemen attending the Levée are requested to bring with them two large cards with their names clearly written upon them.

5. Officers and gentlemen wearing uniform will appear in full dress ; gentlemen not wearing uniform in evening dress. With regard to further details as to dress, attention is drawn to this office Notification No. 905-M., dated the 8th September 1899, which is republished below for general information :

" No. 905-M.—The following Rules for Levées held by His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General at places other than the Headquarters of the Imperial Government are published for general information :

I.—The following are entitled to attend His Excellency the Viceroy's Levée :

All gentlemen, whether European or Native, who have been presented at the Court of St. James or at the Viceregal Court.

II.—The following are eligible for presentation at His Excellency's Levée, whether European or Native :

(a) All Gazetted Officers in Government employ.

(b) All Commissioned Officers in Naval, Military and Marine Services.

(c) All Ruling Chiefs.

(d) All gentlemen who have received titles of honour from the Sovereign or the Viceroy.

III.—Gentlemen who have not already been presented at the Court of St. James or at the Viceregal Court, and who desire to be presented at His Excellency's Levée, must submit their applications through the gentlemen proposing to present them. In the case of all Government officials the presentor should ordinarily be the Head of the Department.

These applications should be submitted to the Chief Secretary, if the Levée takes place at the Headquarters of any Local Government, or in other cases to the Commissioner of the Division in which the Levée is held. They should reach the Secretariat, or the Commissioner's office, as the case may be, at least a week before the date announced for it.

If the Local Government or the Commissioner approves, cards of admittance will be issued by them, and a list of those to whom admittance has been accorded will be submitted to the Military Secretary to the Viceroy.

IV.—All gentlemen who are entitled to attend the Levées held by the Governor General are also entitled to present others, and are held personally responsible for the eligibility of their presentees. Gentlemen who present others must themselves attend the Levée.

V.—Gentlemen entitled to wear uniform will appear in Full Dress.

VI.—Clergymen being University Graduates and other gentlemen entitled to wear robes or gowns on account of Judicial or Academical office or status and not entitled to wear uniform will appear in such robes or gowns.

VII.—Gentlemen, not entitled to wear uniform, or robes or gowns, will appear in Evening Dress.

VIII.—Native gentlemen who do not appear in the dress prescribed above will wear Choga, Aba or Jubba and Chapkan, Chilta, Saya or Kaba with trousers and their distinctive National head dress, or the ceremonial dress approved for their class by the Local Government.

In the case of Bengali gentlemen the head dress should be a Pugree generally known as Shamla or Mouratta, and not a brimless cap.

In the case of Burmese gentlemen, the head dress should be a white fillet, the hair being dressed in a top knot.

Native gentlemen who do not appear in the dress prescribed in rules V, VI and VII should not remove their head dress when they pass His Excellency.

At the Viceregal Court, only patent leather boots or shoes of an English pattern are allowed to be worn, except in the case of Native Military Officers, who wear the particular style of boot or shoe which forms part of their uniform."

By Command,

F. L. ADAM, Lieut.-Col.,

Military Secretary to the Viceroy.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs., on Thursday, the 20th September 1906, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The important feature of the weather during the week has been the withdrawal of the monsoon from upper India. The depression which had reached Sutna on the morning of the 13th travelled in a northwesterly direction and finally broke up in the hills near Sialkot on the 16th. This disturbance caused heavy and widespread rain in the west of the United Provinces, in the Punjab and in Kashmir, and on its disappearance skies quickly cleared over upper India.

Burma.—From the 14th to the 16th the monsoon was weak, only light rainfall occurring on the coast and isolated falls in the interior. With the withdrawal of the monsoon from upper India the rainfall increased considerably on the coast on the 17th and by next day had extended into the interior. During the remaining days of the week it was well distributed and the total fall was greater than is usual at this time of year. Skies were generally lightly to moderately overcast in the first half of the period and moderately to heavily overcast in the latter. Temperature was generally normal or in excess.

Northeast India and Orissa.—Precipitation was widespread, but the total fall was considerably below the normal for the week. Skies were moderately overcast in Eastern Bengal and Assam, and only lightly clouded elsewhere. Temperature was generally normal or in excess.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—On the 14th the depression caused general rain over the whole of this division, but as the disturbance passed northwestward rainfall diminished rapidly and next day it was heavy in the west of the United Provinces and light and scattered elsewhere. On the 16th light rain occurred only in the extreme northwest of the United Provinces, and for the remainder of the week weather was dry in all three areas. Skies were moderately to heavily overcast on the first two days of the week, but with the disappearance of the depression skies cleared rapidly. The rainfall was followed by unusually low temperatures, and on the 14th the maximum temperature at Agra was only 76½°, being 16½° below normal. With the clearing of the skies temperature rose slowly, and was approximately normal at the end of the week.

Northwest India.—The depression also produced heavy rain in the Punjab, light to moderate rain in the Frontier Province and Rajputana and light rain in Gujarat; while in Kashmir there was heavy rain at the lower stations and heavy snow at Dras and on the higher ranges. As soon as the depression filled up, fine clear weather set in except in south Rajputana and Gujarat where light rainfall continued until the 19th. The disturbance was the cause of very low temperature in the Punjab and Kashmir and frost was reported from Gulmarg and Sonemarg, while at Lahore the maximum temperature fell to 74½°, or 25° below normal. At the end of the week temperature had recovered and was practically normal.

The Peninsula.—The monsoon was weak in the Peninsula throughout the period and the rainfall was scanty except in the southeastern districts. Skies were generally lightly clouded in the Deccan and on the Konkan coast, while in the rest of the Peninsula they were moderately overcast. Temperature has been normal or in slight excess except in the southeastern districts.

The rainfall of the whole period from the 4th May to the 20th September is practically normal everywhere, except in Baluchistan and the subdivisions of Jaipur, Ranchi and Cuttack where it is in defect; and in the West Satpuras and the subdivisions of Simla, Indore and Mysore where it is in excess. Excluding Baluchistan, where the rainfall of the monsoon period is insignificant, Jaipur shows the largest percentage of defect, while the largest actual deficiency is 13·63 inches in Cuttack.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

September 14th. Yamethin 1·36", Tezpur 2·88", Jalpaiguri 4·52", Chaibassa 1·70", Ranchi 1·39", Jhansi 3·44", Sutna 3·33", Saugor 2·27", Pachmarhi 2·98", Simla 2·31" and Kotah 4·81".

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 15th September 1906.

Burma.—The crops in the Arakan and Tenasserim Divisions are in good condition; also in the Pyapon, Maubin and Myaungmya districts of the Irrawaddy Division but more rain is wanted in Bassein and Henzada. In the Pegu Division the crops in Pegu are healthy as also those on the east of the railway in Tharrawaddy. The outturn in Prome must be poor owing to the large area of land left fallow, but the recent rains have somewhat improved the standing crops. In Mandalay paddy is in good condition; in Kyaukse there is now an ample supply of water in the irrigated areas; more rain is still wanted in Shwebo and Myingyan; in other districts crops prospects are good. The price of paddy has risen in Tharrawaddy; considerably in Tavoy, Pakokku, and Shwebo; and very largely in Maubin; it has fallen slightly in Rangoon; considerably in Pyapon and Mandalay; and largely in Henzada.

Eastern-Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Slight to moderate rain has fallen in all districts. More rain is wanted in Rangpur, Dinajpur, Chittagong, Cachar, and Kamrup. The prospects of tea are good in Sylhet, Nowgong, and Lakhimpur; poor in Darrang; and fair elsewhere. Harvesting of early rice is nearly finished and the outturn is generally fair. Cutting of jute and transplantation of late rice are in progress. Replanting of winter rice continues in many of the areas in which it had been damaged by floods. Prospects of winter rice and of other crops are fair to good. Prices of common rice:—Manipur 14; Kohima 10; Tezpur 8; Chittagong 7½; Gauhati and Sibsagar 7; Pabna and Dibrugarh 6¾; Dinajpur and Comilla 6⅝; Dacca and Barisal 6½; Silchar 6⅜; Malda, Faridpur, Sylhet, and Nowgong 6; Noakhali 6 to 6½; Bogra and Dhubri 5¾, Mymensingh 5$\frac{11}{16}$; Jalpaiguri and Shillong 5½; Rangpur, Aijal and Tura 5 seers per rupee. Prices have risen in two; fallen in twelve; and remain stationary in the remaining districts.

Scarcity prevails in Mymensingh, Dacca, Bakarganj, Tippera, and Noakhali. The numbers of persons receiving gratuitous relief are:—Mymensingh 584, Dacca 1,705, Bakarganj 28, Tippera 300, Noakhali 773, total for the Province 3,390. The numbers on test works are:—10 men and 156 women in Dacca, and 62 men in Noakhali, total for the Province 228. Rupees 2,742 have been distributed in agricultural loans. Noakhali reports further improvement in condition of people. Prices remain still very high in spite of large imports from Burma and Calcutta.

Bengal.—Light rain was fairly general during the week, while the fall was moderately heavy in parts of the Burdwan and Orissa Divisions and also in Jessore, Darjeeling, and Cooch Behar. More rain is wanted in many districts. Damage by flood is reported from Jessore and some damage to paddy by insects from the 24-Parganas. The prospects of the aman paddy are on the whole fair except in parts of the Behar districts recently visited by floods. Much distress continues in Darbhanga where thousands of persons are receiving gratuitous relief. Slight distress is also reported from Jessore, Saran, and the 24-Parganas. Fodder is insufficient in parts of Khulna, Darbhanga, and Purnea. The water-supply is sufficient. The price of common rice has risen in six and fallen in nine districts.

United Provinces.—Heavy rain accompanied by strong easterly winds has slightly damaged the crops in the western submontane Doab and south Oudh districts and in the Native States of Rampur and Tehri, but the prospects generally are excellent. More rain is still needed for rice in some of the south-eastern districts. Harvesting and the preparation of fields for the spring harvest continue. Cholera has appeared in Hardoi, Sitapur and Pilibhit. Fodder is reported to be scarce in the recently flooded tracts of the Gorakhpur district but is sufficient elsewhere. Markets generally are well stocked. Prices of food-grains have fallen in nine districts, but show a tendency to rise in five. Scarcity has been declared in the flooded portions of the Gorakhpur district.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Heavy rain in all districts has filled tanks and wells and been beneficial generally, but has caused slight damage in places. Prospects on the whole are excellent and the condition of the people is improving. Harvesting and the preparation of fields for the spring harvest continue. Two flooded tahsils in Gorakhpur have been declared scarcity tracts from 14th September. The numbers on relief in that district at the end of the week were:—on works 351, on gratuitous relief 536, total 887; in other districts the numbers were:—Allahabad Division—on works nil, on gratuitous relief 112,000; Agra Division—on works nil; on gratuitous relief 9,000, total 121,000. The numbers have fallen considerably in Jhansi and Jalaun where reduction in the gratuitous relief lists was justified.

Punjab.—General light to moderate rain fell in Shahpur, Mianwali, Lyallpur, and Multan; while the south-eastern and the central portions of the Province received much heavier rain. Prices of food-grains are generally unchanged; wheat is falling slightly in Rohtak, Gurgaon, Delhi, Jullundur, and Lahore. Ploughings and sowings for the spring crops continue. Indigo is being harvested in Multan. The crops have been much benefitted by the recent rain and are generally in good condition and the yield is expected to be good all round. The standing crops have been slightly damaged by strong winds and heavy rains in Gurgaon, Delhi, Ambala, Jullundur, and Amritsar. The crops have been damaged by floods in parts of Ferozepore. Boll worm and insect pests are attacking cotton in Shahpur, Lyallpur, and Multan. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient throughout the Province. There are no complaints regarding the water supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rain averaging 46 cents to 3·82 inches fell all over the Province and was beneficial to the standing crops and to spring sowings. The condition of the standing crops on irrigated and unirrigated areas is good except in Swabi, where it is slightly below average owing to excessive rainfall. The harvest prospects and probable outturn of autumn crops are fair. Spring sowings have commenced. The canal water and Kilapani supply is normal. There is some irrigation from hill torrents in Dera Ismail Khan and frequent heavy floods have occurred in Kurram and Gambila. The condition of cattle is good except in Draki village of Tank tahsil. The stocks of food-grains are sufficient. Fodder is procurable. Prices are fluctuating. Prices—wheat 14½ to 17⅞; maize 15 to 17½; gram 16$\frac{1}{16}$ to 18; and bajra 12 to 15 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was heavy rain during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Prices—wheat 12 to 24 and maize 14 to 28 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient except in the Ramban and Kishtwar tahsils.

Kashmir.—The weather was partly bright and partly rainy. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—Rainfall in cents:—Bikaner 178; Marwar from 106 to 809 in eleven districts, 23 to 82 in ten, and slight in others; Jaisalmer none; Sirohi 103; Udaipur 33; Hill Tracts 175; Partabgarh 368; Shahpura 450; Tonk 149; Bundi 424; Kotah 765; Jhalawar 510; Jaipur 231; Kishangarh 41; Alwar 540; Karauli 479; Bharatpur 1,188; Dholpur 1,194; Ajmer 162; and Merwara 223. The standing crops are thriving and the autumn harvest is now assured. Slight damage has been caused by locusts in parts of Marwar, Mewar, and Jaipur, and by excessive rain in parts of Bharatpur and Dholpur. The condition of cattle is fair and pasturage is sufficient. Prices have risen in Jhalawar and have fallen or are steady elsewhere. Prices are still above the normal except in Hill Tracts and in Partabgarh.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Ajmer—on works 110, on gratuitous relief 778, total 888; Merwara—on works 5,778, on gratuitous relief 6,087, total 11,864; works in Ajmer and in the Beawar Tahsil of Merwara were closed on the 15th instant. Native States:—Marwar—on gratuitous relief 477, Tonk—on works 970, on gratuitous relief 359, total 1,329; Kishangarh—on gratuitous relief 502; Dholpur—on works 645, on gratuitous relief 243, total 888; total Native States 3,196. Works have been closed in Jaipur. Cholera which was epidemic in the Dholpur State has ceased. Prices:—Ajmer 16½, Merwara 15½, Marwar 17¼, Tonk 14⅜, Kishangarh 19, and Dholpur 16 seers per rupee.

Central India.—Rainfall general and sufficient. Agricultural operations have been suspended in parts of Indore and Bhopawar owing to excessive rain; elsewhere they are in progress. The standing crops are fair to good. Crops have been slightly damaged by excessive rain in parts of Indore, Baghelkhand, Malwa and Bhopawar and by locusts in one pergana of Gwalior. Pasturage is good. Prices are high in Gwalior and Baghelkhand; are falling in Bhopawar and in parts of Malwa; and are steady elsewhere.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The numbers on relief are:—Bundelkhand—on works 2,000, on gratuitous relief 2,000, total 4,000. Prices—13 seers per rupee. Gwalior figures not reported.

Central Provinces.—Light to moderate rain fell during the week in most parts of the Provinces; Nimar, Wardha, Chanda, Bhandara, Buldana, and Yeotmal received no rain, the principal falls were Saugor 4¼, Bilaspur 3¾, Damoh 3½, Chhindwara 3¼ inches ; elsewhere the falls ranged from 1¾ inches in Hoshangabad and Balaghat to nothing ; the heavy rainfall in the Hatta tahsil continued till the 12th instant and 31½ inches were measured in 6 days. The partial break which still continues has done good to all crops and is much needed to help on agricultural operations. More rain is required only in Nagpur and in parts of Raipur. The preparation of land for spring sowings and weeding continues in most districts. Transplanting is completed in Bhandara and minor crops in Narsinghpur and kutki (small millet) and early rice in Balaghat are being harvested ; rice and kodon are in ear in Hoshangabad and Raipur and sesamum and cotton are in flower in Raipur and Amraoti. Sesamum is being sown in Drug and urad and sesamum in Bilaspur. In the Basim taluq of Akola cotton has been attacked by insects. The autumn crops in parts of Amraoti and sesamum and sawan in the Hatta tahsil (Damoh) have been slightly damaged by heavy rain, otherwise the standing crops continue generally to be very promising. Juar is still backward in Narsinghpur. Wheat in Bilaspur and rice in Balaghat, Drug and Raipur have become cheaper ; the price of juar has fallen in Nimar but has risen in Betul ; elsewhere prices are steady and still continue equal to the scarcity rate in Wardha, Chanda, Balaghat, Drug, and Bilaspur.

Bombay.—There was good rain during the week in Thar and Parkar, Kaira, the Konkan, Cutch, Mahi Kantha, Rewa Kantha, and Kolhapur ; moderate in Ahmedabad, Panch Mahals, Kathiawar, Palanpur, and Baroda ; and slight in Karachi, Hyderabad, Broach, Surat, the Deccan and the Karnatak. More rain is needed in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, Bijapur, Dharwar, and Kolhapur. Cotton sowing still continues in places. The standing crops are in good condition except for slight damage by grasshoppers in Sholapur ; by floods in Karachi and Hyderabad ; and by excessive moisture in parts of Hyderabad, Ahmedabad, Kaira, Khandesh, Nasik, Baroda, Palanpur, and Mahi Kantha. Sowing of spring crops continues in parts of Broach, the Deccan, the Karnatak, Cutch and Kolhapur. The supply of water for drinking and irrigation is adequate. Cattle are improving in condition but agricultural stock continues deficient in the affected tracts generally ; sufficient green grass is available everywhere. Trade is active and stocks of grain in the markets are adequate. Prices are falling. The quantity of grain purchasable per rupee is in the Deccan 10 to 47 per cent ; in the Karnatak 22 to 30 per cent ; and elsewhere 10 to 30 per cent less than the normal. The numbers on test works on the last day of the week ending 8th instant were :—Phaltan 48, Jamkhandi 14, total 62. Labourers are leaving the works for more remunerative employment in the fields. The public health is generally good. Cholera is still prevalent in parts of the Deccan and the Karnatak. Relief works have been closed in Ahmednagar and Sholapur. The numbers on relief are :—British districts :—Deccan—on works 6,687, on gratuitous relief 21,197, total 27,884 ; Karnatak—on works 7,574, on gratuitous relief 12,359, total 19,933 ; Native States—on works 1,434, on gratuitous relief 1,824, total 3,258.

Hyderabad.—Rainfall—14 cents. Prospects are good. The autumn and early rice crops are in fairly good condition ; weeding continues. Lands are being prepared for sowings which are in progress. Prices :—wheat 8¼, coarse rice 7¼, and juar 16½ seers per rupee.

Mysore.—There was good rain in Kadur and slight rain in other districts. The standing crops are generally in good condition and the prospects of the season are good, but more rain is needed in parts of the Bangalore and Kadur districts. Cattle are generally healthy and water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall—one inch 7 cents. Picking of cardamom has commenced. The prices of food-grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall of the week was good in South Canara, Malabar and Vizagapatam Agency ; there was no rain in Guntur, Kurnool, Anantapur, and Cuddapah ; and light to fair rain elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of Vizagapatam, the Deccan, Madura, and Tinnevelly. Ploughing, weeding, sowing, and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair but require more rain in parts of Kurnool, Coimbatore, Tanjore and Madura. Harvests continue with outturn poor to normal and bumper. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of Tinnevelly. Fodder is scanty in parts of the Circars, Bellary and Anantapur. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in thirteen districts ; has fallen in five ; and has slightly risen in five. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows :—Ragi is stationary in one district ; has fallen in six ; and has slightly risen in six. Cholam is stationary in three districts ; has fallen in two ; and has slightly risen in nine. Cumbu is stationary in six districts ; has fallen in six ; and has slightly risen in three.

The number of persons in receipt of relief during the preceding and present weeks in each Province or State is shown in the following table :

GAZETTE OF INDIA.

NOTICE.

The 21st March 1906.

From the 7th April next till further notice, Parts I, IV, V, and VI of the Gazette of India and the Weather and Crop Report will be published at Simla. After the 31st March all Notifications and other matter intended for publication in those Parts should be addressed to the Officiating Publisher at Simla.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India, Home Department, of August 1901:—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette, and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No. 777—79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 P.M. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette."

J. P. HEWETT,
Secretary to the Government of India.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 26th September, 1906.

No. 12.—The following Statutes are published for general information :

THE EXTRADITION ACT, 1906.

[6 EDW. 7, CH. 15.]

An Act to include Bribery amongst Extradition Crimes.

[4TH AUGUST, 1906.]

WHEREAS a Convention has been concluded between His Majesty and the President of the United States for including in the list of crimes on account of which extradition may be granted certain offences, and amongst others bribery :

And whereas it is provided by the said Convention that it shall come into force within ten days after publication in conformity with the laws of the high contracting parties:

And whereas bribery is not at present included in the list of crimes in the First Schedule to the Extradition Act, 1870, and the said Convention cannot be published in conformity with the laws of the United Kingdom until bribery is so included:

ct., c. 52.

Be it therefore enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Addition of bribery to list of extradition crimes.

1. The Extradition Act, 1870, shall be construed as if bribery were included in the list of crimes in the First Schedule to that Act.

Short title.

2. This Act may be cited as the Extradition Act, 1906; and the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1895, and this Act may be cited together as the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1906.

THE COLONIAL MARRIAGES (DECEASED WIFE'S SISTER) ACT, 1906.

[6 EDW. 7, CH. 30.]

An Act to declare the law with respect to a marriage between a man and his deceased wife's sister domiciled in parts of the British Possessions where such a marriage is legal.

[4TH AUGUST, 1906.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Legalisation of colonial marriages with deceased wife's sister.

1. For removing doubts, it is hereby declared that where a man has, whether before or after the passing of this Act, married his deceased wife's sister, and at the date of the marriage each of the parties was domiciled in a part of the British Possessions in which at that date such a marriage was legal, the marriage if legal in other respects shall be, and shall be deemed always to have been, legal for all purposes, including the right of succession to real property and to honours and dignities, within the United Kingdom, unless either party to the marriage has subsequently, during the life of the other, but before the passing of this Act, lawfully married another:

Provided that nothing in this Act shall affect any right, interest, or estate to or in any property, dignity, or honour the title to which, whether vested or contingent, and whether in possession, reversion, or remainder, accrued before the passing of this Act, and no claim by the Crown for duties leviable on or with reference to death, and before the passing of this Act, due and payable, and no payment, commutation, composition, discharge or settlement of account in respect of any duties leviable on or with reference to death before the passing of this Act duly made or given, shall be prejudicially affected hereby.

Short title.

2. This Act may be cited as the Colonial Marriages (Deceased Wife's Sister) Act, 1906.

II.—A reward of Rs. 500 will be granted to successful candidates other than members of the Burma Commission, who will be eligible for a reward of Rs. 750.

III.—No officer will be permitted to appear more than three times as a candidate at the examination.

IV.—No officer will be eligible for the reward unless he passes the examination before the completion of ten years counted from the date of his first arrival in India, or, in the case of police officers and chaplains, from the date of his first appointment to the Police and Ecclesiastical Departments respectively. In the case of educational officers the time limit will be seven years counted from the date of an officer's first appointment to the Indian Educational Service. No exception to this rule will be made on account of leave or any other cause.

V.—The examination will be held quarterly on the first Monday in January, April, July and October of each year by the Boards of Examiners, at Calcutta and Madras. Officers will be examined each in his own presidency: officers serving in Burma will be examined in Madras.

VI.—Officers desirous of attending the examination must apply through the usual official channels for leave to do so to the local Government at least three months before the date of the examination. Officers attached immediately to the Government of India must apply for leave to the Home Department through the Department of the Government of India under which they are serving. The applications should be forwarded in sufficient time to reach the boards of examiners a month before the date of examination. They must be accompanied by a certificate from the Accountant General of the province to which the applicant belongs of his eligibility under rule IV to appear at the examination.

VII.—The following are the subjects of examination:

(a) Written translation from English into Urdu.

(b) Written translation into English of passages from the prescribed text-book (Kalam-i-Urdu).

Note.—The text-book is obtainable either from the office of the Board of Examiners or from Messrs. Thacker, Spink & Co., Calcutta.

(c) An easy paper in grammar.

(d) Reading and translating an Urdu manuscript of moderate difficulty.

(e) Conversation, including a paper of short idiomatic sentences in English to be translated into Urdu orally at sight.

No. 1749.—The Governor General in Council has been pleased to abolish the system under which pilgrims proceeding to the Hejaz are detained under observation for five days in Bombay and the Haj will be open during the ensuing pilgrim season to any resident in India subject to the regulations hereinafter prescribed.

2. The orders contained in the Home Department notification no. 1440, dated the 30th August 1905, are hereby cancelled.

3. The Governor General in Council is pleased to direct—

(1) that no person shall be permitted to embark with the object of making a pilgrimage to Mecca except at the port of Bombay in the presidency of Bombay;

(2) that before the pilgrims embark the ships chartered for Jedda shall be thoroughly cleansed and freed from rats by means of the Clayton process under the personal direction of the Port Health Officer;

(3) that ample hospital accommodation shall be provided on board;

(4) that before embarkation, pilgrims shall be medically inspected and their clothes and baggage disinfected as in the case of third class passengers on ordinary steamers;

(5) that the ships shall undergo further medical inspection both at Aden and at Perim;

(6) that if plague is found to be present on a pilgrim vessel arriving at Aden telegraphic information shall be sent to Perim, where the persons attacked shall be landed and placed, pending the erection of a fully equipped observation camp, in the existing plague camp there, and that cases occurring between Aden and Perim shall be similarly dealt with at Perim, the ship being allowed to proceed to Kamaran.

4. A fully equipped plague observation station for pilgrims will as soon as possible be established at Perim and furnished with a Clayton machine for rat destruction and an adequate medical staff, so as to be capable of receiving an entire shipload of pilgrims from a plague infected vessel for treatment under article 21 of the Paris Convention of 1903.

Bills introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for making Laws and Regulations, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 28th September, 1906:

NO. 5 OF 1906.

THE INSOLVENCY (PROVINCIAL) BILL.

CONTENTS.

SECTIONS.

[Save where otherwise indicated, the marginal references are to the sections of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act XIV of 1882).]

A Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to Insolvency in British India, as administered by Courts having jurisdiction outside the Presidency-towns and the town of Rangoon.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to insolvency in British India as administered by Courts having jurisdiction outside the Presidency-towns and the town of Rangoon; It is hereby enacted as follows:

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Insolvency (Provincial) Act, 190 .

(2) It extends to the whole of British India except the Scheduled Districts; and it applies also to—

(a) all Native Indian subjects of His Majesty in any place without and beyond British India;

(b) all other British subjects within the territories of any Native Prince or Chief in India; and

(c) all servants of His Majesty, whether British subjects or not, within the territories of any Native Prince or Chief in India.

(3) It shall come into force on the first day of , 190 .

Construction.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, all words and expressions defined in the Code of Civil Procedure shall have the same meanings as those respectively assigned to them in the said Code.

Insolvency jurisdiction.

3. (1) The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, invest any Court or class of Courts outside the Presidency-towns and the town of Rangoon with power to exercise jurisdiction in any case or class of cases under this Act in any local area specified in the notification.

(2) Subject to any rules made by the Local Government in this behalf by a like notification, a Court invested with power under sub-section (1) may transfer any case or class of cases to any Court subordinate to it and invested with power to exercise jurisdiction in such case or class of cases, and shall have, in regard to any case pending before it, all the powers conferred by section 25 of the Code of Civil Procedure on a High Court or District Court.

(3) Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to limit or otherwise affect anything done by any Court in the exercise of any power conferred by the Indian Insolvency Act, 1848, or by section 8 of the Lower Burma Courts Act, 1900.

Acts of insolvency.

52,

4. A debtor commits an act of insolvency in each of the following cases, namely:

(a) if, in British India or elsewhere, he makes a conveyance, transfer or assignment of his property to a trustee or trustees for the benefit of his creditors generally;

(b) if, in British India or elsewhere, he makes a fraudulent conveyance, gift, delivery or transfer of his property or of any part thereof;

(c) if, in British India or elsewhere, he makes any conveyance or transfer of his property or any part thereof, or creates any charge thereon, which would, under this or any other enactment for the time being in force, be void as a fraudulent preference if he were adjudged an insolvent;

(d) if, with intent to defeat or delay his creditors,—

(i) he departs or remains out of British India,

(ii) he departs from his dwelling-house or otherwise absents himself,

(iii) he secludes himself in order to deprive his creditors of the means of communicating with him,

(e) if any of his property has been attached and sold in execution of the decree of any Court;

(f) if he petitions to be adjudged an insolvent under the provisions of this Act;

(g) if he gives notice to any of his creditors that he has suspended, or that he is about to suspend, payment of his debts;

(h) if he is imprisoned in execution of a decree or order of a Civil Court for a longer period than twenty-one days for making default in payment of a sum of money.

Order of adjudication.

5. Subject to the conditions specified in this Act, if a debtor has committed an act of insolvency, the Court may, on an insolvency petition being presented either by a creditor or by the debtor, make an order (hereinafter called an order of adjudication) adjudicating him an insolvent.

Petition for adjudication of insolvency.

6. (1) Every insolvency petition shall be in writing, and shall be made to the Court exercising jurisdiction under this Act in any local area in which the debtor ordinarily resides or carries on business or personally works for gain, or, if he has been arrested or confined in prison, where he is in custody.

(2) The debtor shall not be entitled to present an insolvency petition unless—

(a) his debts amount to five hundred rupees or, in the case of an agriculturist fifty rupees or such other amount as the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, prescribe; or

(b) he has been arrested or confined in prison in execution of a decree for the payment of money; or

(c) an order of attachment in execution of such a decree has been made, and is subsisting, against his property.

(3) A debtor's petition shall not, after presentment, be withdrawn without the leave of the Court.

(4) A creditor shall not be entitled to present an insolvency petition against a debtor unless—

(a) the debt owing by the debtor to the creditor, or, if two or more creditors join in the petition, the aggregate amount of debts owing to such creditors, amounts to five hundred rupees, and

(b) the debt is a liquidated sum payable either immediately or at some certain future time, and

(c) the act of insolvency on which the petition is grounded has occurred within three months before the presentation of the petition.

(5) If the petitioning creditor is a secured creditor, he shall in his petition either state that he is willing to give up his security for the benefit of the creditors in the event of the debtor being adjudged insolvent or give an estimate of the value of the security. In the latter case he may be admitted as a petitioning creditor to the extent of the balance of the debt due to him after deducting the value so estimated in the same way as if he were an unsecured creditor.

(6) No insolvency petition shall be presented against the members, as such, of any corporation or of any partnership or association or company which may be wound up under the provisions of the Indian Companies Act, 1882, or of any other Act.

Contents of petition.

7. (1) Every insolvency petition, presented by a debtor shall contain the following particulars, namely:

(a) a statement that the debtor is unable to pay his debts ;

(b) where the petitioner is an agriculturist, a statement to that effect ;

(c) the place where he ordinarily resides or carries on business or personally works for gain, or, if he has been arrested or confined in prison, the place where he is in custody ;

(d) the Court (if any) by whose order he has been arrested or confined in prison, or by which an order has been made, for the attachment of his property ;

(e) the amount and particulars of all pecuniary claims against him, together with the names and residences of his creditors so far as they are known to, or can by the exercise of reasonable care and diligence be ascertained by, him ;

(f) the amount and particulars of all his property, together with—

(i) a specification of the value of all such property not consisting of money ;

(ii) the place or places at which all such property is to be found ; and

(iii) a declaration of his willingness to place at the disposal of the Court all such property save in so far as it includes such particulars (not being his books of account) as are exempted by the Code of Civil Procedure from liability to attachment and sale in execution of a decree.

(2) Every insolvency petition presented by a creditor or creditors shall set forth the particulars regarding the debtor specified in clauses (b) and (c) of sub-section (1), and shall also specify—

(a) the act of insolvency committed by such debtor, together with the date of its commission ;

(b) the amount and particulars of his or their pecuniary claim or claims against such debtor ; and

(c) the date of the decree (if any) obtained by him or them against such debtor, together with the name of the Court passing it and the amount remaining due thereunder.

(3) Every insolvency petition shall be signed and verified in the manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure for signing and verifying plaints ; and the procedure laid down by the said Code with respect to the rejection, return or amendment of plaints shall, so far as it is applicable, be followed in the case of such petitions.

Procedure on admission of petition.

8. (1) Where the petition is not rejected or returned under section 7, sub-section (3), or where it is admitted after having been so returned, the Court shall fix a date for hearing the petition, and shall order that notice be given in the manner provided by sub-sections (3) and (4) to all creditors to notify to the Court on or before such date any debts provable under this Act.

(2) At the time of making the order referred to in sub-section (1), or at any time afterwards, the Court may, at the instance of any of his creditors, order the debtor to give reasonable security for his appearance until final orders are made upon the petition, and may direct that, in default of giving such security, he shall be detained in the civil prison.

(3) Notice of the order under sub-section (1) shall be given by publication in the local official Gazette, and such publication shall be conclusive proof of notice to any creditor.

(4) In addition to the publication required by sub-section (3), the Court shall give to the creditors such notice, whether by the ordinary forms of process or by registered letter or by public advertisement or proclamation, and subject to any rules which the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, make in this behalf, it may consider expedient.

(5) Where the debtor is not the petitioner, notice of the order under sub-section (1) shall be given to him or to his pleader in the manner prescribed for the service of process.

(6) All expenses incidental to the giving of notice under sub-sections (3) to (5) shall, in the first instance, be borne by, and be recoverable from, the petitioner as costs :

Provided that, where the petitioner is the debtor, the Court may exempt him from all payments under this section if it is satisfied that he is unable to make them.

Duties of debtors.

9. (1) Every debtor by or against whom an insolvency petition has been presented, shall, unless he is prevented by sickness or other sufficient cause or unless the Court thinks fit to dispense with his personal attendance, attend on the date specified in the notice referred to in section 8, and on any subsequent date to which the proceedings may be adjourned, and shall at all times submit to such examination and give such information as the Court may require.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provision, the debtor shall give such inventories of his property, and such lists of his creditors and debtors and of the debts due to and from them respectively, submit to such examination in respect of his property or his creditors, attend at such times before the Court, officer of the Court or receiver, execute such instruments, and generally do all such acts and things in relation to his property and the distribution of the proceeds amongst his creditors, as may be reasonably required by the Court, officer of the Court or receiver, or as may be prescribed by rules made under this Act.

(3) The debtor shall, if adjudged an insolvent, aid, to the utmost of his power, in the realisation of his property and the distribution of the proceeds among his creditors.

(4) If a debtor wilfully fails—

(a) to perform the duties imposed on him by this section, or

(b) to deliver possession of any of his property which is divisible among his creditors under this Act and which is for the time being in his possession or under his control, he shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Seizure of property and arrest of debtor.

10. Where the Court is satisfied that the debtor, with intent to defeat or delay his creditors or to avoid any process of the Court,—

(a) has absconded or has departed from the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, or is about to abscond or to depart from such limits, or is remaining outside them, or

(b) has concealed, destroyed, transferred or removed from such limits, or is about to conceal, destroy, transfer or remove from such limits, any documents likely to be of use to his creditors in the course of the hearing, or any part of his property other than such particulars (not being his books of account) as are exempted by the Code of Civil Procedure from liability to attachment and sale in execution of a decree, the Court may, either of its own motion or on the application of any creditor, appoint an interim receiver of the property of the debtor or of any part thereof, and may order attachment by actual seizure of the whole or of any part of the property in the possession or under the control of the debtor, other than such particulars as aforesaid, and may also issue a warrant, with or without bail, for the arrest of the debtor, and direct either that he be detained in prison until the disposal of the petition, or that he be discharged on such terms as to security as may be reasonable and necessary.

Procedure at hearing.

11. (1) On the day specified in the notice referred to in section 8, or on any subsequent day to which the hearing may be adjourned, the Court shall examine the debtor in the presence of such creditors as attend in person or by pleader, and shall hear such creditors or their pleaders in opposition to the debtor's discharge.

(2) The Court may, if it thinks fit, call for, receive or grant time to the debtor or to any creditor to produce any evidence which appears to it to be necessary for the proper disposal of the petition.

(3) A memorandum of the substance of the examination of the debtor under sub-section (1) and of any oral evidence admitted under sub-section (2) shall be recorded in the manner provided by the Code of Civil Procedure in cases in which no appeal is allowed.

Dismissal of petition.

12. (1) Where, after the examination of the debtor and such further inquiry (if any) as may be made under section 11, sub-section (2), or at any earlier stage of the case, the Court is satisfied that there is no sufficient ground for proceeding with the petition, it shall dismiss the petition.

(2) Where a petition presented by a creditor is dismissed under sub-section (1) and the Court is satisfied that the petition was frivolous or vexatious, the Court may, on the application of the debtor, award against such creditor such amount, not exceeding one thousand rupees, as it deems a reasonable compensation to the debtor for the expense or injury occasioned to him by the petition and the proceedings thereon, and such amount may be realised as if it were a fine:

Provided that a Court competent to try a suit for compensation shall not award an amount exceeding the amount for which it might pass a decree in such a suit.

(3) An award under this section shall bar any suit for compensation in respect of such petition and the proceedings thereon.

Effect of order of adjudication.

13. (1) On the making of an order of adjudication the whole of the property of the insolvent, save in so far as it includes such particulars (not being his books of account) as are exempted by the Code of Civil Procedure from liability to attachment and sale in execution of a decree, shall thereupon vest in the Court or in a receiver as hereinafter provided and shall become divisible among the creditors. The insolvent, if in prison, shall be released, and thereafter, except as directed by this Act, no creditor to whom the insolvent is indebted in respect of any debt provable under this Act, shall have any remedy against the property or person of the insolvent in respect of the debt or shall commence any suit or other legal proceeding, unless with the leave of the Court and on such terms as the Court may impose:

Provided that this section shall not affect the power of any secured creditor to realise or otherwise deal with his security in the same manner as he would have been entitled to realise or deal with it if this section had not been passed.

(2) An order of adjudication shall relate back to, and take effect from, the date of the presentation of the petition on which it is made.

(3) Notice of an order of adjudication shall be given in the manner hereinbefore provided for notice under section 8.

Appointment of receiver.

14. (1) The Court may, at the time of the order of adjudication, or at any time afterwards, appoint a receiver for the property of the insolvent, and such property shall thereupon vest in such receiver.

(2) Where the Court appoints a receiver under this section, it may—

(a) remove the person in whose possession or custody any such property as aforesaid is, from the possession or custody thereof;

(b) by general or special order, fix the fee or commission on the rents and profits of such property to be paid in respect of the services of the receiver; and,

(c) by general or special order, fix the remuneration (if any) to be paid to the receiver out of such fee or commission:

Provided that, where the debtor is an agriculturist, the receiver shall be such officer as is prescribed by any rules which the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, make in this behalf, and shall, save as may be otherwise provided by such rules, be entitled to no fee, commission or other remuneration in respect of the administration of the estate.

(3) Where a receiver appointed under this section—

(a) fails to submit his accounts at such periods and in such form as the Court directs, or

(b) fails to pay the balance due from him thereon as the Court directs, or

(c) occasions loss to the property by his wilful default or gross negligence, the Court may direct his property to be attached and sold, and may apply the proceeds to make good any balance found to be due from him or any loss so occasioned by him.

Summary administration.

15. When a petition is presented by or against a debtor, if the Court is satisfied by affidavit or otherwise that the property of the debtor is not likely to exceed in value one thousand rupees, the Court may make an order that the debtor's estate be administered in a summary manner, and thereupon the provisions of this Act shall be subject to the following modifications, namely:

(a) no appeal shall lie from any order of the Court except by leave of the Court,

(b) the estate shall where practicable be distributed in a single dividend,

(c) such other modifications may be made in the provisions of this Act as may be prescribed by rules made under this Act with the view of saving expense and simplifying procedure:

Provided that nothing in this section shall permit the modification of the provisions of this Act relating to the examination or discharge of the debtor.

Powers exerciseable by receiver by leave of Court.

16. (1) The receiver may, by leave of the Court, do all or any of the following things, namely:

(a) carry on the business of the insolvent so far as may be necessary for the beneficial winding up of the same;

(b) institute, defend or continue any suit or other legal proceeding relating to the property of the insolvent;

(c) employ a pleader or other agent to take any proceedings or do any business which may be sanctioned by the Court;

(d) accept as the consideration for the sale of any property of the insolvent a sum of money payable at a future time subject to such stipulations as to security and otherwise as the Court thinks fit;

(e) mortgage or pledge any part of the property of the insolvent for the purpose of raising money for the payment of his debts;

(f) refer any dispute to arbitration, compromise all debts, claims and liabilities, whether present or future, certain or contingent, liquidated or unliquidated, subsisting or supposed to subsist between the insolvent and any person who may have incurred any liability to the insolvent, on the receipt of such sums, payable at such times, and generally on such terms, as may be agreed upon;

(g) make such compromise or other arrangement as may be thought expedient with creditors, or persons claiming to be creditors, in respect of any debts provable under this Act;

(h) make such compromise or other arrangement as may be thought expedient with respect to any claim arising out of, or incidental to, the property of the insolvent, made or capable of being made on the receiver by any person or by the receiver on any person;

(i) divide in its existing form amongst the creditors, according to its estimated value, any property which, from its peculiar nature or other special circumstances, cannot readily or advantageously be sold.

(2) The leave given for the purposes of this section shall not be a general leave to do all or any of the above-mentioned things, but shall only be leave to do the particular thing or things for which leave is sought in the specified case or cases.

Powers of Court if no receiver appointed.

17. If no receiver be appointed, the Court shall have all the rights of, and may exercise all the powers conferred on, a receiver under this Act.

Debts provable in insolvency.

18. (1) Demands in the nature of unliquidated damages arising otherwise than by reason of a contract, promise or breach of trust shall not be provable under this Act.

(2) A person having notice of any act of insolvency available against the debtor shall not prove under the order for any debt or liability contracted by the debtor subsequently to the date of his so having notice.

(3) Save as otherwise provided by sub-sections (1) and (2), all debts and liabilities, present or future, certain or contingent, to which the debtor is subject when he is adjudged to be an insolvent or to which he may become subject before his discharge by reason of any obligation incurred before the date of such adjudication, shall be deemed to be debts provable under this Act.

(4) An estimate shall be made by the Court or by the receiver of the value of any debt or liability provable as aforesaid, which by reason of its being subject to any contingency, or for any other reason, does not bear a certain value.

(5) Any person aggrieved by any estimate made by a receiver under sub-section (4) may appeal to the Court.

(6) Where, in the opinion of the Court, the value of the debt or liability is incapable of being fairly estimated, the Court may make an order to that effect, and thereupon the debt or liability shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be a debt not provable thereunder.

(7) Where, in the opinion of the Court, the value of the debt or liability is capable of being fairly estimated, the Court may direct the value to be assessed and may give all necessary directions for this purpose, and the amount of the value when assessed shall be deemed to be a debt provable under this Act.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, liability includes any compensation for work done, any obligation or possibility of an obligation to pay money or money's worth on the breach of any express or implied covenant, contract, agreement, or undertaking, whether the breach does or does not occur, or is or is not likely to occur or capable of occurring, before the discharge of the debtor; and generally it includes any express or implied engagement, agreement or undertaking to pay, or capable of resulting in the payment of, money or money's worth, whether the payment is, as respects amount, fixed or unliquidated; as respects time, present or future, certain or dependent on any contingency or contingencies; as to mode of valuation, capable of being ascertained by fixed rules or as matter of opinion.

Mode and costs of proof.

19. (1) A debt may be proved under this Act by delivering, or sending by post in a registered letter, to the Court, or, where a receiver has been appointed and the Court has authorised him in this behalf, to the receiver, an affidavit verifying the debt.

(2) A creditor shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, bear the cost of proving his debt.

Secured creditors.

20. (1) Where a secured creditor realises his security, he may prove for the balance due to him, after deducting the net amount realised.

(2) Where a secured creditor surrenders his security to the Court or to the receiver for the general benefit of his creditors, he may prove for his whole debt.

(3) Where a secured creditor does not either realise or surrender his security, he shall, before being entitled to rank for a dividend, state in his proof the particulars of his security, the date when it was given, and the value at which he assesses it, and shall be entitled to receive a dividend only in respect of the balance due to him after deducting the value so assessed.

(4) Where a security is so valued the Court, or, with the leave of the Court, the receiver may at any time redeem it on payment to the creditor of the assessed value; and where the Court or the receiver is dissatisfied with the value at which a security is assessed, it or he may require that the property comprised in any security so valued shall be offered for sale at such time, and on such terms and conditions, as may be agreed upon between the creditor and the Court or the receiver, or as, in default of such agreement, the Court may direct; and where the sale is by public auction, the creditor, or the Court or the receiver on behalf of the estate, may bid or purchase:

Provided that the creditor may at any time, by notice in writing, require the Court or the receiver to elect whether it or he will or will not exercise its or his power of redeeming the security or requiring it to be realised; and, where the Court or the receiver does not, within six months after receiving the notice, signify in writing to the creditor its or his election to exercise the power, it or he shall not be entitled to exercise it; and the equity of redemption, or any other interest in the property comprised in the security which is vested in the Court or the receiver, shall vest in the creditor, and the amount of his debt shall be reduced by the amount at which the security has been valued.

(5) Where a creditor has so valued his security, he may at any time amend the valuation and proof on showing, to the satisfaction of the Court, or, with the leave of the Court, to the satisfaction of the receiver, that the valuation and proof were made in good faith on a mistaken estimate, or that the security has diminished or increased in value since its previous valuation; but the cost of every such amendment shall be borne by the creditor and upon such terms as the Court shall order, unless the receiver allows the amendment without application to the Court.

(6) Where a valuation has been amended in accordance with sub-section (5), the creditor shall forthwith repay any surplus dividend received by him in excess of that to which he would have been entitled on the amended valuation, or, as the case may be, shall be entitled to be paid, out of any money for the time being available for dividend, any dividend or share of a dividend which he may have failed to receive by reason of the inaccuracy of the original valuation, before that money is made applicable to the payment of any future dividend; but he shall not be entitled to disturb the distribution of any dividend declared before the date of the amendment.

(7) Where a creditor, after having valued his security, subsequently realises it, or where it is realised under sub-section (4), the net amount realised shall be substituted for the amount of any valuation previously made by the creditor and shall be treated in all respects as an amended valuation made by the creditor.

(8) Where a secured creditor does not comply with the provisions of this section, he shall be excluded from all share in any dividend.

(9) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (4), a creditor shall in no case receive more than sixteen annas in the rupee, and interest as hereinafter provided by this Act.

(10) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to relieve a receiver of the necessity for obtaining the leave of the Court in accordance with the provisions of section 16.

Interest.

21. (1) On any debt or sum certain whereon interest is not reserved or agreed for, and which is overdue when the debtor is adjudged an insolvent, and which is provable under this Act, the creditor may prove for interest at a rate not exceeding six per centum per annum,—

(a) if the debt or sum is payable by virtue of a written instrument at a certain time, from the time when such debt or sum was payable to the date of such adjudication; or,

(b) if the debt or sum is payable otherwise, from the time when a demand in writing has been made giving the debtor notice that interest will be claimed from the date of the demand until the time of payment to the date of such adjudication.

(2) Where a debt which has been proved under this Act, includes interest or any pecuniary consideration in lieu of interest, the interest or consideration shall, for the purposes of dividend, be calculated at a rate not exceeding six per centum per annum without prejudice to the right of a creditor to receive out of the debtor's estate any higher rate of interest to which he may be entitled after all the debts proved have been paid in full.

Debt payable at a future time.

22. A creditor may prove for a debt not payable when the debtor committed an act of insolvency as if it were payable presently, and may receive dividends equally with the other creditors, deducting therefrom only a rebate of interest at the rate of six per centum per annum computed from the declaration of a dividend to the time when the debt would have become payable, according to the terms on which it was contracted.

Disallowance and reduction of claim to dividend.

23. (1) Where the receiver thinks that a proof has been improperly admitted, the Court may, on the application of the receiver and after notice to the creditor, after such inquiry (if any) as the Court thinks necessary, expunge the proof or reduce its amount.

(2) The Court may also, after such inquiry as aforesaid, expunge or reduce a proof upon the application of a creditor where no receiver has been appointed, or where the receiver declines to interfere in the matter, or, in the case of a composition or scheme, upon the application of the debtor.

Distribution.

24. (1) In the distribution of the property of the insolvent there shall be paid in priority to all other debts—

(a) all debts due to His Majesty or to any local authority;

(b) all salary or wages, not exceeding twenty rupees, of any clerk or servant in respect of services rendered to the insolvent during four months before the date of the presentation of a petition; and

(c) all wages, not exceeding ten rupees, whether payable for time or for piece-work, of any labourer or workman in respect of services rendered to the insolvent during two months before the date aforesaid.

(2) The debts specified in sub-section (1) shall rank equally between themselves, and shall be paid in full, unless the property of the insolvent is insufficient to meet them, in which case they shall abate in equal proportions between themselves.

(3) Subject to the retention of such sums as may be necessary for the costs of administration or otherwise, the debts specified in sub-section (1) shall be discharged forthwith in so far as the property of the insolvent is sufficient to meet them.

(4) In the case of partners the partnership property shall be applicable in the first instance in payment of the partnership debts, and the separate property of each partner shall be applicable in the first instance in payment of his separate debts. Where there is a surplus of the separate property of the partners, it shall be dealt with as part of the partnership property; and, where there is a surplus of the partnership property, it shall be dealt with as part of the respective separate property in proportion to the rights and interests of each partner in the partnership property.

(5) Subject to the provisions of this Act, all debts proved under this Act shall be paid rateably according to the amounts of such debts respectively and without any preference.

(6) Where there is any surplus after payment of the foregoing debts, it shall be applied in payment of interest from the date on which the debtor is adjudged an insolvent at the rate of six per centum per annum on all debts proved under this Act.

Special provisions in regard to immoveable property.

25. (1) In any local area in which a declaration has been made under section 320 of the Code of Civil Procedure and is in force, no sale of immoveable property paying revenue to the Government or held or let for agricultural purposes shall be made by the Court or, where a receiver has been appointed, by the receiver; but, after realising the other property of the insolvent, the Court shall ascertain—

(a) the amount required to satisfy the debts proved under this Act after deducting the moneys already received,

(b) the immoveable property of the insolvent remaining unsold, and

(c) the incumbrances (if any) existing thereon, and shall forward a statement to the Collector containing the particulars aforesaid; and thereupon the Collector shall proceed to raise the amount so required by the exercise of such of the powers conferred on him by sections 321 to 325 of the Code as he thinks fit, and subject to the provisions of those sections so far as they are applicable, and shall hold at the disposal of the Court all sums that may come to his hands by such exercise.

(2) Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to affect any provisions of any enactment for the time being in force prohibiting or restricting the execution of decrees or orders against immoveable property; and any such provisions shall be deemed to apply to an order of adjudication made under this Act as if it were such a decree or order.

Compositions.

26. (1) Subject to the provisions of sections 24 and 25, the Court or, where a receiver has been appointed, the receiver shall give effect to any composition or scheme of arrangement agreed upon between the debtor and the creditors representing a majority in value of the claims provable under this Act by those of the creditors who have appeared:

Provided that no injustice or injury appears to be inflicted by such composition or scheme on any of the parties concerned:

Provided also, that there is no reasonable ground for suspecting the composition or scheme to be fraudulent or collusive.

(2) Where any creditor objects to any composition or scheme to which effect is given or to be given under sub-section (1), the Court shall decide as to the reasonableness of the objection.

Restriction of rights of creditor under execution.

27. (1) Where execution of a decree has issued against the property of a debtor, no person shall be entitled to the benefit of the execution against the receiver except in respect of assets realised in the course of the execution by sale or otherwise before the date of the order of adjudication and before notice of the presentation of any insolvency petition by or against the debtor or of the commission of any available act of insolvency by the debtor has been given to the Court executing the decree.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the rights of a mortgagee or incumbrancer of property against which the decree is executed.

(3) A person who in good faith purchases the property of a debtor under a sale in execution shall in all cases acquire a good title to it against the receiver.

Duties of Court executing decree as to goods taken in execution.

28. Where execution of a decree has issued against any property of a debtor which is saleable in execution and before the sale thereof notice is given to the Court executing the decree that an order of adjudication has been made against the debtor, the Court shall, on application, direct the property to be delivered to the receiver, but the costs of the execution shall be a charge on the property so delivered, and the receiver may sell the property or an adequate part thereof for the purpose of satisfying the charge.

Avoidance of voluntary settlement.

29. (1) Any settlement of property not being a settlement made before and in consideration of marriage or made in favour of a purchaser or incumbrancer in good faith and for valuable consideration or a settlement made on or for the wife or children of the settlor of property which has accrued to the settlor after marriage in right of his wife shall, if the settlor is adjudicated insolvent within two years after the date of the settlement, be void against the receiver and may be annulled by the Court.

(2) For the purposes of this section "settlement" shall include any conveyance or transfer of property.

Avoidance of preference in certain cases.

30. (1) Every conveyance or transfer of property or charge thereon made, every demand made, every obligation incurred and every judicial proceeding taken or suffered by any person unable to pay his debts as they become due from his own money in favour of any creditor, or any person in trust for any creditor, with a view of giving that creditor a preference over the other creditors, shall if the person making, taking, paying or suffering the same is adjudged insolvent on a petition presented within three months after the date of making, taking, paying or suffering the same be deemed fraudulent and void as against the receiver and may be annulled by the Court.

(2) This section shall not affect the rights of any person making title in good faith and for valuable consideration through or under the creditor of the insolvent.

Protection of bonâ fide transactions without notice.

31. Subject to the foregoing provisions of this Act with respect to the effect of insolvency on an execution and with respect to the avoidance of certain settlements and preferences, nothing in this Act shall invalidate in the case of an insolvency—

(a) any payment of the insolvent to any of his creditors ;

(b) any payment or delivery to the insolvent;

(c) any conveyance, transfer or assignment by the insolvent for valuable consideration ; or

(d) any contract, dealing or transaction by or with the insolvent for valuable consideration :

Provided that both the following conditions are complied with, namely :

(i) the payment, delivery, transfer, conveyance, assignment, contract, dealing or transaction, as the case may be, takes place before the date of the order of adjudication ; and

(ii) the person (other than the insolvent) to, by or with whom the payment, delivery, transfer, conveyance, assignment, contract, dealing or transaction was made, executed or entered into, has not at the time of the payment, delivery, transfer, conveyance, assignment, contract, dealing or transaction, notice of any available act of insolvency committed by the insolvent before that time.

Dividends.

32. (1) In the calculation of dividends, the Court or, where a receiver has been appointed, the receiver shall make provision for—

(a) debts provable under this Act and appearing, from the insolvent's statements or otherwise, to be due to persons resident in places so distant that in the ordinary course of communication they have not had sufficient time to tender their proofs or to establish them, if disputed ;

(b) debts provable under this Act, the subject of claims not yet determined ;

(c) disputed proofs or claims ; and

(d) the expenses necessary for the administration of the estate or otherwise.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (1) all money in hand shall be distributed by the Court as dividends.

(3) Any creditor who has not proved his debt before the declaration of any dividend or dividends, shall be entitled to be paid, out of any money for the time being in the hands of the Court, or, where a receiver has been appointed, of the receiver, any dividend or dividends which he may have failed to receive before that money is applied to the payment of any future dividend or dividends ; but he shall not be entitled to disturb the distribution of any dividend declared before his debt was proved by reason that he has not participated therein.

(4) No action for a dividend shall lie against the receiver ; but, where the receiver refuses to pay any dividend, the Court may, if it thinks fit, order him to pay it, and also to pay out of his own money interest thereon for the time that it is withheld, and the costs of the application.

Management by and allowance to insolvent.

33. (1) The Court or, by leave of the Court, the receiver may appoint the insolvent himself to superintend the management of the property of the insolvent or of any part thereof, or to carry on the trade (if any) of the insolvent for the benefit of the creditors, and in any other respect to aid in administering the property in such manner and on such terms as the Court or, by leave of the Court, the receiver may direct.

(2) The Court or, by leave of the Court, the receiver may, from time to time, make such allowance as it or he may think just to the insolvent out of his property for the support of himself and his family, or in consideration of his services if he is engaged in winding up his estate ; but any such allowance may, at any time, be reduced by the Court.

Right of insolvent to surplus.

34. The insolvent shall be entitled to any surplus remaining after payment in full of his creditors, with interest as provided by this Act, and of the costs, charge and expenses of the proceedings taken thereunder.

Discharge.

35. (1) A debtor may, at any time after the order of adjudication, apply to the Court for an order of discharge ; and the Court shall fix a day, notice whereof shall be given in the manner provided by section 8, sub-sections (3) and (4), for hearing such application, and any objections which may be made thereto.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this section, the Court may, after hearing the objections of any creditor or, where a receiver has been appointed, of the receiver,—

(a) grant or refuse an absolute order of discharge ; or

(b) suspend the operation of the order for a specified time ; or

(c) grant an order of discharge subject to any conditions with respect to any earnings or income which may afterwards become due to the insolvent, or with respect to his after-acquired property.

(3) The Court shall refuse an order of discharge where the insolvent has committed an offence in relation to his insolvency, unless, for reasons to be recorded, it is satisfied that such refusal is not required in the interests of justice.

(4) On proof of any of the facts mentioned in sub-section (5), the Court shall—

(a) refuse the discharge ; or

(b) suspend the discharge for a period of not less than two years ; or

(c) suspend the discharge until a dividend of not less than eight annas in the rupee has been paid to the creditors ; or,

(d) where a receiver has been appointed, require the insolvent, as a condition of his discharge, to consent to an order for payment to such receiver of any balance or part of any balance of debts provable under this Act but not satisfied at the date of discharge, such balance or part of any balance to be paid out of the future earnings or after-acquired property of the insolvent in such manner and subject to such conditions as the Court may direct; and every such order shall be capable of execution as if it were a decree:

Provided that, if at any time after the expiration of two years from the date of an order made under this section, the insolvent satisfies the Court that there is no reasonable probability of his being in a position to comply with the terms of the order, the Court may modify the terms of the order, or of any substituted order, in such manner and upon such conditions as it thinks fit:

Provided, also, that no application for the execution of an order made in favour of a receiver under clause (d) shall be made except by leave of the Court, and that such leave shall not be given unless on proof that the insolvent has, since his discharge, acquired property or income available towards the payment of his debts.

(5) The facts referred to in sub-section (4) are the following, namely:

(a) that the insolvent's assets are not of a value equal to eight annas in the rupee on the amount of his unsecured liabilities, unless he satisfies the Court that the fact that the assets are not of a value equal to eight annas in the rupee on the amount of his unsecured liabilities has arisen from circumstances for which he cannot justly be held responsible;

(b) that the insolvent has omitted to keep such books of account as are usual and proper in the business carried on by him and as sufficiently disclose his business transactions and financial position within the three years immediately preceding his insolvency;

(c) that the insolvent has continued to trade after knowing himself to be insolvent;

(d) that the insolvent has contracted any debt provable under this Act without having at the time of contracting it any reasonable or probable ground of expectation (the burden of proving which shall lie on him) that he would be able to pay it;

(e) that the insolvent has failed to account satisfactorily for any loss of assets or for any deficiency of assets to meet his liabilities;

(f) that the insolvent has brought on, or contributed to, his insolvency by rash and hazardous speculations, or by unjustifiable extravagance in living, or by gambling, or by culpable neglect of his business affairs;

(g) that the insolvent has put any of his creditors to unnecessary expense by a frivolous or vexatious defence to any suit or other proceeding properly instituted against him;

(h) that the insolvent has, within three months preceding the date of the order under section 8, sub-section (1), incurred unjustifiable expense by instituting a frivolous or vexatious suit or other proceeding;

(i) that the insolvent has, within the period referred to in clause (h), when unable to pay his debts as they became due, given an undue preference to any of his creditors;

(j) that the insolvent has, within the period referred to in clause (h), incurred liabilities with a view to making his assets equal to eight annas in the rupee on the amount of his unsecured liabilities;

(k) that the insolvent has on any previous occasion been declared an insolvent, or made a composition or arrangement with his creditors;

(l) that the insolvent has concealed or removed his property or any part thereof, or has been guilty of any other fraud or fraudulent breach of trust.

(6) For the purposes of this section, the report of the receiver shall be deemed to be evidence; and the Court may presume the correctness of any statement contained therein.

(7) The powers of suspending, and of attaching conditions to, an insolvent's discharge may be exercised concurrently.

(8) A discharged insolvent shall, notwithstanding his discharge, give such assistance as the Court or, where a receiver has been appointed, as the receiver may require in the realisation and distribution of such of his property as is vested in the Court or the receiver; and, if he fails to give such assistance, the Court may, in addition to any punishment to which he may be liable, revoke his discharge, but without prejudice in the validity of any sale, disposition or payment duly made or anything duly done after the discharge but before the revocation.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, an insolvent's assets shall be deemed to be of a value equal to eight annas in the rupee on the amount of his unsecured liabilities when the Court is satisfied that his property has realised, or is likely to realise, or with due care in realisation might have realised, an amount equal to eight annas in the rupee on his unsecured liabilities.

Effect of order of discharge. [Cf. Vic 30.]

36. (1) An order of discharge shall not release the insolvent from—

(a) any debt due to His Majesty;

(b) any debt or liability incurred by means of any fraud or fraudulent breach of trust to which he was a party; or

(c) any debt or liability in respect of which he has obtained forbearance by any fraud to which he was a party.

(2) Save as otherwise provided by sub-section (1), an order of discharge shall release the insolvent from all debts provable under this Act.

(3) An order of discharge shall be conclusive evidence of the insolvency and of the validity of the proceedings therein; and, in any suit or other proceeding instituted against an insolvent who has obtained an order of discharge in respect of any debt from which he is released by the order, the insolvent may plead that the cause of action occurred before his discharge.

(4) An order of discharge shall not release any person who, at the date of the presentation of the petition, was a partner or co-trustee with the insolvent, or was jointly bound or had made any joint contract with him or any person who was surety for him.

ibid, s.

Power to annul adjudication of insolvency.

37. (1) Where, in the opinion of the Court, a debtor ought not to have been adjudged insolvent, or where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the debts of the insolvent have been paid in full, the Court may, on the application of the debtor or of any other person interested, by order in writing, annul the adjudication.

(2) Where an adjudication is annulled under sub-section (1), all sales and dispositions of property and payments duly made, and all acts theretofore done, by the Court, officer of the Court or receiver shall be valid; but, subject as aforesaid, the property of the debtor who was adjudged insolvent, shall vest in such person as the Court may appoint, or, in default of any such appointment, shall revert to the debtor to the extent of his right or interest therein on such conditions (if any) as the Court may, by order in writing, declare.

(3) Notice of every order annulling an adjudication shall be given in the manner provided by section 8, sub-sections (3) and (4).

ibid, s.

Power to cancel one of concurrent orders of adjudication.

38. If in any case in which an adjudication order has been made it shall be proved to the Court by which such order was made that another adjudication order has been made by another Court against the same debtor, and is still pending, and that from the circumstances of the case, the situation of the property of the debtor or other causes, his estate and effects can be more conveniently distributed by such other Court, the said first-mentioned Court may annul the order made by it on such terms as to it may seem fit.

Imprisonment of dishonest debtor.

39. Where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that a debtor who has presented a petition under this Act, or against whom such a petition has been presented,—

(a) has been guilty of any concealment or wilful mis-statement in regard either to pecuniary claims against him or to property belonging to him, whether in possession or in expectancy or held for him in trust, or

(b) has fraudulently concealed, transferred or removed any property, or

(c) has committed any other act of bad faith regarding the matter of the application, the Court may, at the instance of any of his creditors, direct him to be detained in the civil prison for a term which may extend to one year or may, if it thinks fit, send him to a Magistrate to be dealt with according to law.

Undischarged insolvent obtaining credit.

40. An undischarged insolvent obtaining credit to the extent of fifty rupees or upwards from any person without informing such person that he is an undischarged insolvent shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine, or with both.

Application of Code of Civil Procedure.

41. Save as otherwise provided by this Act, every Court exercising jurisdiction hereunder shall in its proceedings be governed by the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure.

Subordination of Courts and appeals.

42. (1) Save as otherwise provided by sub-section (3), any person aggrieved by an order made in the exercise of insolvency jurisdiction by a Court subordinate to a District Court may appeal to the District Court, and the order of the District Court upon such appeal shall be final and conclusive.

(2) Any person aggrieved by an order made under sections 5, 12, 20, 30, 32, sub-section (4), 35, 37 or 39, by the District Court otherwise than in appeal from an order made by a subordinate Court, may appeal to the High Court.

(3) Where an appeal to the District Court has been transferred for disposal to a subordinate Court, such subordinate Court shall, for the purposes of sub-sections (1) and (2), be deemed to be the District Court.

(4) The periods of limitation for an appeal to the District Court under sub-section (1) and to the High Court under sub-section (2) shall be thirty days and ninety days respectively and, in the computation of those periods and in all other respects, the limitation of such appeals shall be governed by the provisions of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877.

Costs of detention in civil prison.

43. Where, under section 8, sub-section (2), or section 39, the Court directs a debtor to be detained in the civil prison, the costs of such detention shall be borne by the person on whose application the same was directed; and in such case the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure shall apply as if the debtor and such person as aforesaid were a judgment-debtor and a decree-holder, respectively.

Power to make rules.

44. (1) The High Court may, with the previous sanction, in the case of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, of the Governor General in Council, and, in the case of any other High Court, of the Local Government, make rules for carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for the audit of the accounts of receivers appointed under this Act, for paying for the costs of such audit, and for the reasonable costs, charges and allowances of such receivers out of the funds in their hands and for summary procedure in the case of small insolvencies.

(3) All rules made under this section shall be published in the Gazette of India or in the local official Gazette, as the case may be, and shall, on such publication, have effect as if enacted in this Act.

47 s. Courts to be auxiliary to each other.

45. Every Court having jurisdiction under this Act in British India and the officers of those Courts respectively shall severally act in aid of and be auxiliary to each other in all matters of insolvency, and an order of the Court seeking aid with a request to another of the said Courts shall be deemed sufficient to enable the latter Court to exercise, in regard to the matters directed by the order, such jurisdiction as either the Court which made the request, or the Court to which the request is made, could exercise in regard to similar matters within their respective jurisdictions.

Repeals.

46. (1) The enactments mentioned in the Schedule are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the fourth column thereof.

(2) Where in any enactment or instrument in force at the date of the commencement of this Act reference is made to Chapter XX (OF INSOLVENT JUDGMENT-DEBTORS) of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1877, or of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882, or to any section of either of those Chapters, such reference shall, so far as may be practicable, be construed as applying to this Act or to the corresponding section thereof.

1872	IV	The Punjab Laws Act, 1872.	Sections 22 to 32.
1877	XV	The Indian Limitation Act, 1877.	No. 174 of the Second Schedule.
1882	XIV	The Code of Civil Procedure.	Chapter XX (sections 344 to 360A).
1888	VII	The Civil Procedure Code Amendment Act, 1888.	Section 31.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE general law of insolvency in British India, outside the three Presidency-towns, Rangoon and the Punjab, is contained in Chapter XX of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act XIV of 1882); but it has long been admitted that the provisions to be there found afford the most inadequate relief both to debtors and to creditors. Their scope is limited to creditors who have obtained decrees for the payment of money and to judgment-debtors who have been arrested or imprisoned, or whose property has been attached in execution of such decrees. No restriction is placed upon the rights of an individual creditor until the debtor's property has actually vested in the receiver appointed under section 354; and, in the interim, suits may proceed and decrees may be executed, with the result that, while the petition is pending, the whole of the property of the debtor may be sold for the benefit of a single decree-holder, and to the exclusion of the rest of his creditors who may have refrained from embarrassing the estate with litigation because their claims have been duly scheduled. On the other hand, the relief to the insolvent is most inadequate, since it is strictly confined to discharge from the scheduled debts, all liability for which is terminated, by a rough and ready procedure, through the satisfaction of one-third or the efflux of twelve years. For the Punjab there is a special, but equally incomplete, law contained in eleven sections of the Punjab Laws Act (IV of 1872). In fact, the law of insolvency outside the Presidency-towns, and Rangoon remains still, as the late Lord Hobhouse described it in 1875, the germ, and nothing more than the germ, of an insolvency law. There can be no doubt that the time has arrived when an extension of the law is urgently demanded.

In 1886 a Bankruptcy Bill was introduced and referred to a Select Committee, but after a lengthy consideration it was rejected by the Committee on the ground that it was too complicated for the requirements of the country at that time.

A further attempt to amend the law in the mufassal was made in connection with the revision of the Code of Civil Procedure which was undertaken in 1901. The Chapter on insolvency was redrafted and was made to extend to insolvent debtors generally without reference to the existence of decrees against them; and clauses were added to give more complete powers to the Courts and receivers on the lines, though in a much modified form, of the English law. The Chapter followed the Punjab Act in that it applied only to Courts on which the Local Government conferred jurisdiction by notification and only in the areas specified in the notification.

These proposals appeared to the Government of India to be sound and practical. The new Chapter met with general acceptance by the various authorities to whom the Bill was submitted for criticism, and received the approval of the Select Committee. But the Bill was not proceeded with after the Report of the Select Committee had been presented: it has been held over for further consideration with a view to meeting some of the principal objections urged against it on other points. It appears, however, to the Government of India that the insolvency provisions may with advantage be separated from the Code of Civil Procedure and passed as a separate enactment without further delay. These provisions in their proposed form are no longer confined to the cases of judgment-debtors and no longer therefore fall in their entirety within the ambit of such a Code. There are conveniences in having the subject dealt with in a distinct Act, and the resulting reduction in bulk of the Code is of itself not without advantage.

The present Bill differs on a few points only from Chapter XX of the Code Bill as passed by the Select Committee. Speaking generally, it is a reproduction of the main features of the English law of bankruptcy but in a greatly simplified form. It contains 46 clauses in all as against the 170 sections and 53 rules which are comprised in the English Act of 1883 and the 134 clauses and 55 rules of the Bill of 1885.

2. It is hoped that a separate Bill applicable to the Presidency-towns and Rangoon may be introduced at no distant date to amend or to repeal and re-enact with amendments the Act of 1848 by which insolvency in those towns is at present regulated.

3. The details of the present Bill are explained in the annexed Notes on Clauses.

The 27th September, 1906. H. ERLE RICHARDS.

Notes on Clauses.

Clause 1.—The Bill is to all practical intents a Bankruptcy Bill. But it has been thought better, for the present at any rate, to preserve the title of "Insolvency" with which legal practitioners in this country are familiar. The term "Provincial" has been adopted by the Legislature in the analogous case of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887.

It is proposed not only to make the law extend territorially, like the Code of Civil Procedure, to the whole of British India except the Scheduled Districts, but also to give it the widest extra-territorial application possible in the case of an Act of the Indian legislature.

Clause 3.—The principle that the Local Government should have authority to confer jurisdiction on any Court has, to some extent, been recognised even in section 360 of the Code and it constitutes an essential portion of the insolvency provisions of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872. As many of the orders to be made are likely to involve legal questions of no little difficulty, it is proposed—see clause 42—to allow an appeal from a subordinate Court to the District Judge, whose decisions, however, must, except in respect of certain specified matters, be invested with finality unless all the relief that is anticipated is to be lost in expensive and protracted appeals to the High Court. The revisional remedy provided by section 622 of the Code of Civil Procedure and the power of supervision exercised under section 15 of the Indian High Courts Act, 1861, will, it is hoped, be sufficient to meet all cases of real hardship where no appeal is allowed.

Clause 4.—There is at present no definition of acts of insolvency entitling a creditor to apply for an adjudication against his debtor. The result is that a creditor or a number of creditors may wantonly or maliciously apply for such an adjudication, and the Court must apparently proceed upon the somewhat narrow grounds specified in section 351 of the Code. For such conduct it would seem that the debtor cannot obtain reparation, except by means of a separate suit. It seems desirable, therefore, to adapt and simplify the list of "acts of bankruptcy" contained in the English Statute of 1883—with an addition to cover the case of a judgment-debtor remaining in prison for 21 days—to render a creditor's application dependent upon the commission of such an act, and to invest the Court—see clause 12 (2)—with summary jurisdiction to award compensation where such an application is dismissed as frivolous and vexatious.

Clause 6.—It has already been stated that the Code, as it stands, applies only to a judgment-debtor who has been arrested or imprisoned, or whose property has been attached in execution of decrees for the payment of money and who voluntarily seeks the protection of the Court, unless the application proceeds from a decree-holder. So far as it is proposed to extend the law to the relief of other classes of debtors, the minimum limit of liability has been fixed at five hundred rupees, as in section 23 of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872, an exception being made in the case of agriculturists, in connection with whom it is proposed to leave the limit to the discretion of Local Governments. On the other hand, it is proposed considerably to curtail the existing latitude given to creditor-applicants by limiting their rights to cases in which acts of insolvency have been committed.

Clause 7.—Most of the requirements here suggested are purely ancillary to the proposals in regard to the persons entitled to apply. It is not intended to relax the stringency of the rule that an application must specify where the property is to be found; but the reference in sub-clause (3) to return and amendment is intended to prevent dismissals on purely technical grounds.

Clause 8 provides for notice of the petition to the parties concerned.

Clause 9.—At present the duties of the debtor up to the conclusion of the insolvency proceedings are not clearly defined. By virtue of section 359 of the Code he may be imprisoned for certain acts of fraud and bad faith proved at the hearing under that section; but this would not warrant coercive measures for mere failure to render such active assistance as section 24 of the English Statute requires. The clause here proposed is intended to meet the defect.

Clause 10.—It has been pointed out that sections 22 to 33 of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872, give no power to arrest by warrant where there is probable reason for believing the insolvent to be about to evade service of summons or to remove or conceal his goods or papers; and it is doubtful how far this omission is supplied by the Code. In these circumstances, it is thought expedient to adapt the coercive provisions of section 25 of the English Statute, somewhat on the lines of section 477 of the Code with regard to arrest before judgment. Here, it is thought, the imprisonment provided for need hardly be confined to detention in a civil jail.

Clause 11.—It is thought that ordinary cases of insolvency may be compared with summons cases and even summary trials under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, so as to relieve the Courts of as much unnecessary clerical labour as possible.

Clause 12.—Here again it is proposed that the powers of the Court should be assimilated to those conferred by sections 203 and 253 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898. On the other hand, it is essential that, if readier facilities are to be given to creditors to have their debtors declared to be insolvent, an equally prompt remedy should be given against wanton and malicious applications. This principle has already been recognised in section 491 of the Code of Civil Procedure with regard to arrest or attachment before judgment.

Clause 13.—It is proposed to dispense with any preliminary order and have one order only, and that an adjudication order. In the English Act a receiving order is first made and adjudication follows later. But there seems no good reason for adopting this double system and there are advantages of simplicity in having only one order. In the scheme proposed by the Select Committee adjudication was preceded by a "conditional" order made ex parte. But it is thought that this procedure would be liable to abuse and that sufficient control over the property of the debtor between the dates of the presentation of the petition and the adjudication order can be obtained in other ways. The order is made to relate back to the date of the petition in accordance with the law in force in the Presidency-towns.

Clause 15.—A clause has been inserted to give power to the Court to deal with small bankruptcies by way of summary procedure to be determined by rules.

Clause 16.—The general powers exercisable by a receiver in virtue of his appointment under section 503 of the Code of Civil Procedure are not sufficiently precise for the purposes of insolvency. In the cases here enumerated it seems expedient that the receiver should not merely rely upon such general powers, but act by the direction, and under the control, of the Court.

Clause 18.—The Code is defective in containing no proper description of the nature of debts provable in insolvency, in not precluding a creditor from proving a liability contracted after he had notice of an act of insolvency, and in allowing a debt payable immediately to rank equally with one payable on a future date or on the happening of a contingency. It is proposed to remedy these defects on the lines of section 37 of the English Statute of 1883.

Clause 19.—The English practice of proving by transmission of an affidavit is obviously desirable, and its introduction here is safeguarded by the provisions of clause 23, which will enable the Court to expunge or reduce proofs improperly admitted in whole or in part. It will be observed that, in view of the circumstances of this country, it is proposed that receivers should not, without express delegation from the Court, be entrusted with the duty of taking proof of debts, which is an ordinary part of their functions under the English procedure.

Clause 20.—The existing law is most incomplete as regards the claims of secured creditors. At present, neither a declaration of insolvency nor a sale by a receiver gets rid of an unscheduled mortgage. If, however, the mortgage is scheduled, it is entitled, under section 356, clause (d), of the Code, to priority over all claims other than Crown-debts and the costs of a decree-holder. It is proposed to adapt the English procedure as to the surrender and valuation of secured liabilities.

Clause 21.—The Code contains no specific directions regarding interest, and some appear to be necessary if a ready relief against acts of insolvency is to be given.

Clause 22.—It may be doubted whether a claim payable at a future time is a " debt " for the purposes of rateable distribution. Rule 21 of the second schedule to the Statute of 1883 has accordingly been adapted so as to include such claims.

Clause 23.—It is here proposed to invest the Courts with the powers of expunging or reducing proofs, which is exercised in England.

Clause 24.—The list of preferential payments enumerated in section 356 of the Code, while including Crown-debts, gives no priority to the wages of service or labour rendered to the insolvent. On the other hand, the invariable preference given to mortgages over unsecured liabilities is not expedient. It is proposed, therefore, to adapt the principle accepted in section 40 of the Statute of 1883, as supplemented by section 1 of the Preferential Payments in Bankruptcy Act, 1888.

Clause 25.—This clause prescribes the protection afforded to agriculturists by the proviso to section 356 of the Code or by any special enactment in force.

Clauses 27 and 28 protect the property of the insolvent against execution.

Clauses 29, 30 and 31 deal with the effect of adjudication on antecedent transactions on the lines of the English Act. It is believed that the powers of the Court urgently require strengthening in respect of compositions and fraudulent transfers.

Clause 32.—The Code of Civil Procedure does not regulate the payment of dividends and there is accordingly no direction with regard to provision for debts not provable at once. The principle has already been recognised that a creditor can claim to prove at any time while there are still undistributed assets of the insolvent. It is essential, however, to qualify this by providing for the maintenance of any prior payment of dividends, and also to protect a receiver against suit for dividends unpaid, the Court being at the same time vested with the power to order payment, with costs and interest, of interest improperly withheld.

Clause 33.—The absence of any power to enable an insolvent to manage his business and to grant him an allowance undoubtedly deters debtors from seeking the benefit of the existing law. It is hoped that, by the adoption of section 64 of the English Act of 1883, one of the worst stumbling-blocks in the way of insolvent relief will be removed.

Clauses 34 and 35.—The effect of the present law with respect to discharge is ineffective, uncertain and unfair. It has already been mentioned that the relief afforded by the Code can be claimed only in very narrowly defined circumstances, which are made dependent upon the taking of particular action for the enforcement of decrees for the payment of money. Even so, however, the relief is limited to debts entered in the schedule contemplated by section 352 of the Code; and, if a creditor does not choose to have his debts scheduled, the discharge will not preclude him from executing his decree. Nor will the scheduling of a decree necessarily bar a suit to establish the right to sell any property hypothecated; and it seems that, while section 357 of the Code does not protect an insolvent from arrest in respect of judgment-debts not appearing in the schedule, his property can always be attached and sold. Indeed, there is some measure of doubt on the question how far a creditor may execute a scheduled decree pari passu with the insolvency proceedings. On the other hand, a debtor is absolved from liability in respect of the scheduled debts after payment of one-third or the expiry of twelve years. Furthermore, the discharge must be either given or refused; but there is no power to suspend it or to grant it upon conditions; nor are there any provisions regulating the discretion of the Court in withholding it: and, finally, the Court cannot revoke a discharge, however improperly or fraudulently it may have been obtained. It is, therefore, proposed to adapt the provisions of the English law, which enable the Courts, on specified conditions, to exercise a discrimination in granting or postponing relief; to declare, at the same time, that the relief, when granted, will absolve the debtor from all claims provable in insolvency with the exception of those due to the Crown or tainted with fraud; and to render the discharged insolvent subject to the wholesome restraint of knowing that, if he fails to render proper assistance in satisfying the claims against him, he is liable to forfeit his discharge.

In sub-clause (4) (d) of clause 35 the English procedure has been materially modified.

Clauses 36 and 37.—The absence of any power to remove the stigma of insolvency, either because the declaration was improper or because the liabilities have been satisfied in full, sets a premium upon any honest endeavour on the part of a debtor to rehabilitate his character. It seems desirable, therefore, that the terms of section 35 of the English Statute should be embodied, the same publicity being given to the annulment as to the declaration.

Clause 38.—It seems necessary to make some provision for concurrent proceedings. The clause gives power to either Court to annul the adjudication order made by it, on proof that another Court can more conveniently deal with the matter.

Clause 42.—As usual, the question of appeals presents features of no inconsiderable difficulty. The solution here suggested is, first, to subordinate to the District Court all other Insolvency Courts; secondly, to follow the English Statute of 1883 so far as to give an appeal from all orders of subordinate Courts to the District Court, whose appellate order should, however, be final; thirdly, to limit strictly to particular clauses of orders the right of appeal from orders made by a District Court otherwise than in appeal; and, fourthly, for this purpose to treat as a District Court any subordinate Court to which the District Court may have transferred an appeal (see note to clause 3, supra).

Clause 43.—A clause of this description is necessary because the Code of Civil Procedure requires the deposit of diet-money in the case of detention in the civil prison, but would not, as is contemplated by the Bill, render mere creditors liable for such charges.

Clause 44 confers on High Courts powers to make rules for carrying into effect the provisions of the Act. These powers are subject to the same sanction as is required in the case of rules made under the Indian High Courts Act, 1861, and under Chapter XLIX of the Code of Civil Procedure.

Clause 45 gives power to all Courts having insolvency jurisdiction under the Act to enforce the orders of other Courts having like jurisdiction.

Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 28th September, 1906:

No. 6 of 1906.

A Bill further to amend the Presidency Banks Act, 1876.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Presidency Banks Act, 1876; It is hereby enacted as follows:

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Presidency Banks (Amendment) Act, 1907.

Amendment of sections 10 and 14, Act XI, 1876.

2. In section 10 of the Presidency Banks Act, 1876, the words "to thirty millions of rupees", "to twelve millions of rupees" and "to twenty millions of rupees", and in section 14 of the said Act the proviso, shall be repealed.

Amendments of section 36 of same Act.

3. In section 36 of the said Act the following amendments shall be made, namely:

(i) in clause (a), to sub-clause (1) the following shall be added, namely:

"and, in the case of the Bank of Madras, securities of the Government of Ceylon, provided that such advances are limited to the sum of the deposits received and balances of cash accounts at credit at any time at the Ceylon Branch of the said bank";

(ii) in the same clause, to sub-clause (3) the following shall be added, namely:

"or such securities issued by State-aided railways as the Governor General in Council may from time to time prescribe;"

(iii) in the same clause, in sub-clause (4), after the words "any Municipal body" the words "or any District Board" shall be inserted;

(iv) in the same clause, to sub-clause (6) the following shall be added, namely:

"and joint and several promissory notes of two or more persons unconnected in business";

(v) after clause (b) the following shall be added, namely:

"(bb) the advancing and lending money to Courts of Wards upon the security of estates in their charge or under their superintendence and the realization of such advances or loans and any interest due thereon, provided that no such advance or loan shall be made without the previous sanction of the Local Government concerned and that the period for which any such advance or loan is made shall not exceed six months";

(vi) at the end of clause (d) the following proviso shall be added, namely:

"Provided that the power of investing in the securities of the Government of Ceylon shall extend only to the Bank of Madras, and that the amount of such investments shall be limited to resources raised in Ceylon".

Amendments of section 37 of same Act.

4. In section 37 of the said Act the following amendments shall be made, namely:

(i) for clause (a) the following clause shall be substituted, namely:

"(a) for a longer period than six months or, when the advance is made on personal security only, than three months;"

(ii) in the last paragraph, for the words "sums not exceeding at any one time two thousand rupees in the whole," the words "such sums not exceeding at any one time ten thousand rupees in the whole as may be prescribed for the time being by the byelaws " shall be substituted.

Addition of new section 42A to same Act.

5. After section 42 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:

Power to Bank to take over capital and business of other Bank, and for that purpose to increase its capital.

"42A. (1) With the sanction of the Governor General in Council, the Directors may at any time enter into negotiations for and purchase and take over the capital, assets and business of any other Bank in British India, of which the capital is divided into shares, and may grant and allot to the shareholders or proprietors in such Bank in full of their respective right, title and interest in such capital, assets, and business a sufficient number of shares in the capital stock of the Bank (which number shall be determined by the Directors), and may for that purpose increase the capital stock of the Bank by the issue of such number of shares as may be so determined on.

(2) The shareholders or proprietors of the purchased Bank, to whom such new shares are allotted, shall be proprietors of the Bank, and be in all respects in the same position as if they had respectively subscribed and paid for the shares so allotted to them:

Provided always that the business so purchased shall after the purchase be carried on by the Bank with, and subject to, the several restrictions contained in this Act."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to relax certain restrictions on the powers under which the Presidency Banks transact their banking business. The law, as originally formulated in the Presidency Banks Act, 1876 (XI of 1876), has been modified by two Acts, namely, the Presidency Banks Act, 1879 (V of 1879), which empowered the Banks to borrow in India, and the Presidency Banks Act, 1899 (XX of 1899), which enabled the Banks to deal in the securities of the Bombay Improvement Trust. Experience has shewn that further extensions of the powers of the Banks are now required, the most important of the suggestions to which it is proposed to give effect being that the Banks should be permitted to deal in the securities of State-aided railways and District Boards; that the Ceylon branch of the Bank of Madras should be permitted to deal in the securities of the Government of Ceylon; that the present narrow limit upon the amount to which the Banks can allow their customers to overdraw should be enlarged; and that the period for which the Banks may grant loans and advances should be extended from three to six months in certain cases.

2. The Notes on Clauses below indicate the amendments of the existing law proposed in the Bill.

Simla, the 27th September, 1906. E. N. BAKER.

Notes on Clauses.

1. Clause 2 removes the maximum limit on the capital of each Bank, which is imposed by the proviso to section 14 of the existing Act.

2. Clause 3 (i) permits the Ceylon Branch of the Bank of Madras to deal in securities of the Government of Ceylon, the possible objection that transactions in these securities may involve a drain of funds from India being met by the provision that the amount of advances upon and investments in such securities shall not exceed the resources raised by the Bank in Ceylon itself.

3. Clauses 3 (ii) and 3 (iii) empower the Banks to deal in securities issued by State-aided railways, such as branch lines constructed on rebate terms, and in the securities of District Boards.

4. Clause 3 (iv).—Under section 36, clause (a), sub-clause (6), of the Act, the Banks are allowed to advance money on accepted bills of exchange and promissory notes endorsed by the payees, i.e., practically on the security of two names. Clause 3 (iv) extends this power by permitting the Banks to make advances on the joint and several promissory notes of two or more persons unconnected in business.

5. Clause 3 (v) permits the Banks to advance and lend money to Courts of Wards upon the security of estates under their management, subject to suitable restrictions.

6. Clause 3 (vi) adds a proviso consequent on clause 3 (i).

7. Clause 4 (i) extends the period for which the Banks may make loans and advances on other than personal security from three to six months.

8. Clause 4 (ii) enlarges the maximum limit on overdrafts from Rs. 2,000 to Rs. 10,000.

9. Clause 5 restores to the Banks the power which was enjoyed by the Bank of Bengal under section 37 of Act IV of 1862, of taking over the capital, assets and business of any other Bank in British India, subject to the sanction of the Governor General in Council in each case.

INSOLVENCY (PROVINCIAL) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. RICHARDS moved for leave to introduce a Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Insolvency in British India, as administered by Courts having jurisdiction outside the Presidency-towns and the Town of Rangoon. He said :—" My Lord, in making this motion I do not propose to explain the provisions of the Bill in any detail, because it is founded on, and is indeed for the most part, a mere reproduction of the Chapter on Insolvency in the Bill to amend the Code of Civil Procedure which has for some time past been before this Council. In the form of that Chapter the present Bill, or the greater part of it, has been passed by a Select Committee of this Council and has been generally accepted by Local Governments, High Courts and other authorities to whom it was circulated. The necessity for some amendment of the law is admitted and no objection has been taken to the general form of the amendment adopted in the Bill.

"The Law of Insolvency in the Presidency-towns and Rangoon differs from that in force in the rest of British India: in the former it is governed by the Imperial Statute, the Indian Insolvency Act of 1848; in the latter by the Code of Civil Procedure. The present Bill does not affect the Act of 1848, nor does it affect insolvency proceedings in the towns to which that Act applies. It takes the place of the Chapter on Insolvency in the Code and relates only to the parts of British India to which the Act does not apply.

"The provisions of the Insolvency Chapter of the present Code originated in the Code of 1859, and were somewhat extended in the Code of 1877 and by the amending Act of 1879: but since 1879 they have not been changed and the Chapter still remains, as it was described by the late Lord Hobhouse, 'a germ and nothing more than a germ of an Insolvency Law'. Since then conditions have progressed and there can be no doubt that the time has arrived when a more complete law is needed, both for the purpose of relieving honest, but unfortunate, debtors, and for the purpose of securing the rights of creditors. This is especially the case in the large centres of trade in the Mufassal, and it is to be remembered that there are more than a score of towns in the Mufassal, with a population of over a hundred thousand. In the more backward parts of the country there is perhaps little need of any Law of Insolvency at all at the present time, but the Bill is drawn to apply only to areas within the jurisdiction of such Courts as the Local Governments may notify; it need not therefore be applied to these parts.

"Speaking generally, the main defects in the present law are that its application is too limited in scope; that it does not afford adequate relief to honest debtors; and, on the other hand, that it does not sufficiently secure the rights of creditors.

"As to the first of these matters—the Insolvency Chapter of the Code of Civil Procedure can be made use of only by debtors who have been arrested or imprisoned in the execution of a decree for money or against whose property an order of attachment has been passed in execution of such a decree; it can be put in force only by creditors who have obtained a decree for the payment of money. It is limited therefore to cases in which legal proceedings have been instituted and judgment obtained. The Bill removes this restriction by declaring that an insolvency petition may be presented by any creditor or by any debtor if the debtor has committed an 'act of insolvency', and an 'act of insolvency' is defined in the Bill (following English legislation and, to some extent, the law of the Presidency-towns) to include acts which have the effect of defeating the rights of the creditors, such as fraudulent transfers of property or the absconding of the debtor; acts which are of themselves evidence of insolvency, such as the conveying of property to a trustee for the benefit of creditors generally, the giving notice to creditors that the debtor has suspended, or is about to suspend, payment of his debts, and the presentation of a petition to be adjudged an insolvent under the Bill; and also acts on which insolvency proceedings can be founded under the present Code. The scope of the Bill therefore is much more extensive than that of the present law.

"Next as regards the relief of debtors. Under the Code of Civil Procedure a debtor is released from custody only on the certificate of the receiver that the insolvent has placed him in possession of all his property, and when he is finally discharged under the insolvency proceedings the effect of the discharge is limited: it does not free the debtor himself from arrest or imprisonment, or his property from seizure and attachment, on account of any debt which has not been entered in the schedule: and even in respect of scheduled debts his property subsequently acquired may be taken in execution until those debts have been satisfied to the extent of one-third, or until the expiry of twelve years from the date of discharge. The debtor, therefore, although he may have acted perfectly honestly throughout, may remain under grave disability for a considerable period.

Under the Bill, on the contrary, the debtor will be released from prison immediately on the making of an order adjudging him an insolvent, and after his discharge, speaking generally, no proceedings can be taken against him in respect of any debts provable in the insolvency.

"Then as regards creditors, it will be found that the rights of creditors are much better secured under the Bill than under the existing law. The order of adjudication is to relate back to the date of the presentation of the insolvency petition, and from that time the property of the debtor is to be available only for the payment of debts under the insolvency. Provisions have also been added, following the English law, for the avoidance of voluntary settlements and of transfers of property giving undue preference to particular creditors, and the provisions intended to prevent dishonesty on the part of debtors have been made more stringent.

"In addition to these principal matters clauses have been inserted, inter alia, to provide for compositions; to make special provisions in regard to immoveable property; and to give the Courts power to summarily administer small estates.

"The Bill departs in one important respect from the proposals of the Select Committee. Under the scheme adopted by them insolvency proceedings were initiated by a 'conditional order' made ex parte, followed by a 'declaration of insolvency' made after hearing the parties concerned. It is thought that this procedure would be liable to abuse, and that conditional orders would be obtained merely to harass an alleged debtor. The Bill therefore provides for one order only, and that an adjudication order made after hearing the debtor; but in order to prevent the property of the debtor being made away with in the interval, the Court is given powers of control over that property between the date of the presentation of the petition and that of the adjudication order.

"The general result of the Bill, if passed, will be to provide an Insolvency Law based on the lines of the English Law of Bankruptcy, but in a greatly simplified form—a form which it is hoped will be suitable to the requirements of the Mufassal and to the capacities of the Courts which will have to administer it. It consists of 46 clauses in all, as against the 170 sections and 53 rules which constitute the English Act of 1883, and the 134 clauses and 55 rules of which the Bankruptcy Bill introduced in this Council in 1885 was composed."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. RICHARDS introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MR. RICHARDS moved that the Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, be published in the Gazette of India in English and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The motion was put and agreed to.

PRESIDENCY BANKS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER moved for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Presidency Banks Act, 1876. He said :—" My Lord, this Bill has been under consideration for some time, and it was originally in contemplation that it should be a somewhat important measure conferring power on the Banks, among other matters, to have recourse to the London money market under certain restrictions, a power which they do not at present possess. Serious objections have however been found to exist to this proposal, and eventually it was decided that, in the interests of the country as a whole, it is not expedient to give the Banks access to London. This proposal has therefore been abandoned, and, as a consequence, certain other proposals which were contingent thereon have also been dropped.

"These omissions have deprived the Bill of much of its importance. It is now a measure of relatively minor consequence, whose only object is to remove certain restrictions on the powers of the Banks which experience has shown to be unnecessary, and slightly to enlarge the permissible scope of their operations.

The principal new powers which it is now proposed to confer on the Banks are the following, viz.:

(1) to deal in securities issued by State-aided Railways or by District Boards;

(2) to make loans and advances on other than personal security for a period not exceeding six months, the existing limitation being three months;

(3) to grant overdrafts up to Rs. 10,000 instead of only up to Rs. 2,000 as at present;

(4) with the sanction of Government in each case to take over the capital, assets and business of any other bank in British India, and to carry on its business in accordance with the provisions of the Presidency Banks Act;

(5) to advance money on the joint and several promissory note of two or more persons unconnected in business;

(6) with the previous sanction of the Local Government, to lend money for a period not exceeding six months to the Court of Wards in respect of estates under management; and,

(7) in the case of the Bank of Madras, to lend, on Ceylon Government securities, resources raised by the Banks in Ceylon.

"It is also proposed to remove the existing statutory limitations on the capital of each bank."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER moved that the Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, be published only in English in the Gazette of India, the Calcutta Gazette, the Fort Saint George Gazette and the Bombay Government Gazette.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned sine die.

RESULT OF THE MEASURES ADOPTED FOR THE DESTRUCTION OF WILD ANIMALS AND VENOMOUS SNAKES DURING THE YEAR 1905.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

PUBLIC.

No. 2239—52.

Simla, the 19th September, 1906.

RESOLUTION.

The total number of human beings who are reported to have been killed by wild animals in 1905 was 2,054 against 2,157 in 1904. The most noticeable variations occur in Bengal, the Central Provinces and Eastern Bengal and Assam, but owing to territorial changes in those provinces it is impossible to make a useful comparison of the figures for 1905 with those of the preceding four years. Forty-eight persons were killed by elephants as compared with 52 in 1904. Of this number 26 met their fate in Eastern Bengal and Assam, the majority of casualties occurring in the Assam Valley districts. The mortality due to leopards rose from 399 in 1904 to 401. No less than 126 deaths occurred in the Central Provinces, where in one circle of the Raipur district man-eating leopards alone accounted for 48 victims. Increased rewards were offered and special licenses were issued to shikaris in this locality towards the close of the year, but up to April last, when the report was submitted, these special measures had produced no effect. The mortality due to bears fell from 102 in 1904 to 88 and that due to hyenas from 26 to 24, while that due to " other animals " rose from 548 to 554. The total number of deaths reported from snake-bite fell from 21,880 in 1904 to 21,797 in 1905.

2. The number of persons killed by tigers was 786, this total being the same as that of 1904. The mortality from this cause rose in Madras from 110 to 155. Notwithstanding the transfer of certain districts from Bengal to the new province the mortality caused in the former province by tigers rose from 342 in 1904 to 390. The greatest number of victims belonged to the Angul district, where the number of deaths was 80 against 32 in the preceding year. In Palamau the number killed rose from 4 to 26 and in Singhbhum from 59 to 70. Two man-eaters, for the destruction of each of which a reward of Rs. 500 was sanctioned, were killed during the year under review, one in the district of Champaran and the other in the district of Hazaribagh. There was an appreciable decrease in the number of persons killed by tigers in Burma, where the mortality fell from 87 to 43. The mortality in the Central Provinces decreased, three reputed man-eaters having been killed in the early part of the year in Balaghat. This district, however, still shares with Chanda, Mandla and the Chhattisgarh Division the responsibility for nearly all the loss of life caused by tigers. Of the 22 persons killed in the Mandla district, 16 lost their lives in the Dindori Tahsil, and towards the close of the year it was found necessary to depute an officer on special duty to clear the infested area. This resulted in three tigers being killed, one of which is believed to have been a well-known man-eater. Twenty-six licenses were issued during the year to forest officials and police constables for the destruction of carnivora in this district, but the experiment was a failure, its net result being the wounding of two tigers. The destruction of the man-eater which had frequented the Panabaras-Mohalli road in the eastern zamindaris of Chanda put a stop to the loss of human life in that tract, but the high mortality of past years continued in the rest of the district. Of the 75 deaths caused by tigers in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 23 occurred in the district of Bakarganj, and were due to the gradual extension of cultivation in the Sunderbans. For the protection of human life and cattle in these tracts the Inspector of Government estates has been given a gun license and a shikari is to be paid by Government. The Magistrate's proposal to place Government guns in all Government estate offices in the Sunderbans, and to give selected tenants licenses to use them, was sanctioned by the Government of Bengal. A man-eating tiger which killed several persons in the Mangaldai sub-division of the Darrang district in the previous year, and for whose destruction a reward of Rs. 100 was offered, was accounted for during the year.

3. There was again a very marked decline, from 244 to 153, in the number of deaths caused by wolves. As usual the greatest mortality occurred in the United Provinces, but the figures show a decrease, chiefly in the Rohilkhand division, where the crusade against these animals has been carried out with excellent effect. In 1903 the number of deaths in this division alone was 155. In 1904 the number had fallen to 32, and during the year under review only 4 deaths are reported. Districts like Budaun and Bijnor which were formerly infested with wolves are now declared to be practically free from these pests. In the Fatehpur district the mortality is still said to be high, but 130 wolves were destroyed against 26 in the previous year, and if the efforts of the local authorities are maintained it is hoped that here also they may shortly be exterminated. In the Raipur and Bilaspur districts of the Central Provinces also great success has attended the operations against wolves. During the year under review only 3 deaths were recorded as having been caused by these animals in these two districts as compared with 34 in the preceding year. The most noticeable decrease in the number of persons killed by wolves in Bengal occurred in Hazaribagh, where the mortality fell from 77 in 1904 to 21.

4. The mortality from snake-bite fell from 21,880 in 1904 to 21,797. In Bombay orders have been issued for the supply to Government officers, institutions, municipalities and district local boards of the lancets designed by Sir Lauder Brunton, for the treatment of snake-bite with permanganate of potash. In the Central Provinces also a large number of lancets were distributed to vaccinators and selected land-holders and in several cases the treatment is said to have been successful.

5. The number of cattle destroyed by wild animals rose from 88,206 in 1904 to 92,277, and the number killed by snakes fell from 10,376 to 8,039. Of the former the number destroyed by tigers amounted to 30,683; by leopards to 44,845; by wolves to 9,232; by hyenas to 2,422; and by other animals to 3,894. The greatest destruction occurred in Bengal, the Central Provinces, and Eastern Bengal and Assam. In Bengal the districts returning the highest mortality were Palamau and Hazaribagh. In the Central Provinces leopards are reported to have been responsible for two-thirds of the increased destruction, their depredations being, as in previous years, especially severe in Jubbulpore and Saugor. Much of the increase in the mortality is said to be due to better reporting, but in the main it is attributed to the gradual disappearance of game from the jungles. The fact that there has been a large increase in the destruction of human life and of cattle by leopards while at the same time the number of the latter destroyed (925 as compared with 739 in 1904) is much greater than before, is said to indicate that these destructive animals seek their prey in the neighbourhood of villages more readily than they formerly did. In Eastern Bengal and Assam the increased mortality in the hill districts is attributed to the ravages of wild dogs and in the plains districts to the heavy floods which in some places forced wild animals to take refuge in the villages.

6. The number of wild animals destroyed rose from 16,122 in 1904 to 16,915. The number of tigers, leopards, bears, wolves and hyenas destroyed was 1,355, 4,811, 2,236, 2,016 and 554 respectively. The rewards paid for the destruction of wild animals amounted to Rs. 1,27,665 as against Rs. 1,07,033 in 1904. The total number of snakes killed fell from 65,378 in 1904 to 64,117, and the rewards paid for their destruction amounted to Rs. 2,676 against Rs. 2,727 in 1904.

7. The number of licenses (in Form XI) issued free of cost under the Indian Arms Act, 1878, for the destruction of wild animals or the protection of crops during the year was 8,901 against 8,489 in 1904, and the total number of licenses of this nature in force, including such as were valid from previous years, amounted to 37,833 as compared with 37,720 in 1904.

ORDER.—Ordered, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to local Governments and Administrations* and that it be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India for general information; also that a copy be forwarded to the Director-General of Commercial Intelligence.

* Including the Honourable the Chief Commissioners of the North-West Frontier Province and Ajmer-Merwara, and the Honourable the Resident in Mysore.

DEPARTMEMT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs., on Thursday, the 27th September 1906, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The monsoon rainfall for the first half of the week was almost entirely confined to Burma and the Peninsula, but in the second half of the period it was chiefly associated with two depressions. The first developed in the north of the Bay on the 24th, and by the 25th it was close to Puri: it then travelled in a westnorthwesterly direction and reached the vicinity of Jubbulpore on the 27th. Under its influence widespread rain fell in Orissa, Chota Nagpur, the east of the United Provinces, Central India east and the Central Provinces. The second depression appeared in Upper Burma on the morning of the 26th, and advanced westward to deltaic Bengal during the next twenty-four hours: this disturbance caused precipitation to extend over nearly the whole of Burma and the south of Eastern Bengal, and it was decidedly heavy at many of the coast stations.

Burma.—Pressure conditions were favourable for rainfall in Burma throughout the week: up to the 25th precipitation was generally light and widespread on the coast, but rather scattered in the interior. On this and the following days, owing to the depression, rainfall was heavy on the coast and moderately heavy in the interior. Temperature was normal or in excess except on the last day of the week when it was much lower than usual. Skies were moderately to heavily overcast.

Northeast India and Orissa.—The monsoon was very weak and only isolated falls of rain occurred until the depression began to affect the weather. Then precipitation reappeared in Bengal, Bihar, Chota Nagpur and Orissa, being general in the two latter areas and local in the two former on the 25th and 26th : on the 27th the depression from Burma interrupted the inflow of moist air and precipitation ceased in these areas, but it gave rain over the greater part of the southern half of Eastern Bengal. Skies were clear or lightly overcast during the first part of the week, but at the close they were moderately to heavily overcast. Temperature was generally in moderate excess.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—No rain fell during the first five days of the week, but on the 26th under the influence of the depression fairly general rain fell in the eastern half of the United Provinces and in the Central Provinces: on the following day it practically ceased in the former area, but continued in the latter and extended into Central India east. Skies were clear until the 24th when they began to cloud over and by the 25th they were moderately to heavily overcast. Temperature was approximately normal during the first six days, but on the last day of the week it fell considerably in the Central Provinces.

Northwest India.—Light rain fell in Kathiawar on the 26th and 27th, but elsewhere weather was dry and skies clear or lightly overcast. Temperature was approximately normal throughout the period.

The Peninsula.—The monsoon was fairly active, and the total rainfall was more than 25 per cent. in excess of the normal in the Circars, the Deccan and Mysore; practically normal in the Konkan; and in large defect elsewhere. Skies were moderately to heavily overcast, while temperature was in considerable defect in the southern half of the Peninsula and normal or in slight defect in the northern half.

The rainfall of the whole period from the 4th May to the 27th September is more than 20 per cent. in defect in Orissa, Chota Nagpur, parts of Rajputana, Sind and Baluchistan; more than 20 per cent. in excess in the West Satpuras and the subdivisions of Simla, Indore, Bellary and Mysore; and practically normal elsewhere.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 hrs each day:—

September 21st. Mymensingh 1·63", Cuddapah 6·83" and Nellore 2·00".
" 22nd. Belgaum 2·53" and Kurnool 1·72".
" 23rd. Cuddapah 1·92".
" 24th. Jessore 1·63".
" 25th. Ranchi 2·39", Balasore 2·42" and Gopalpur 3·18".
" 26th. Mergui 3·60", Tavoy 6·16", Moulmein 7·43", Rangoon 3·54", Minbu 2·34", Cuttack 0·91", Allahabad 1·18" and Pendra 3·45".
" 27th. Diamond Island 3·21", Akyab 8·20", Toungoo 1·79", Mandalay 1·73" Monywa 3·00", Narayanganj 2·28", Jhansi 2·65" and Khandwa 2·48".

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 22nd September 1906.

Burma.—Crop prospects in Lower Burma are generally favourable but more rain is still required for crops on highlands in Bassein and Henzada. The area on which crops were destroyed by floods in Tharrawaddy is being replanted. Prospects in Prome have been somewhat improved by recent rain and the outlook is not so gloomy as recently reported. In Upper Burma recent rain has done much good in Kyaukse and Shwebo and crop prospects generally are good; more rain is still wanted in Meiktila and Prome. Sesamum has failed in parts of Natmauk in Magwe for want of rain. The price of paddy has risen largely in Akyab; fallen largely in Maubin; considerably in Rangoon; and slightly in Pegu and Pakokku.

Eastern-Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Slight to moderate rain has fallen in all districts except Malda and Kamrup. More rain is wanted in Dinajpur, Malda, Chittagong, Cachar, Goalpara, and Kamrup. Prospects of tea are good in Sylhet, Nowgong, and Lakhimpur and fair elsewhere. Harvesting of early rice is nearly finished and the outturn is generally fair. Cutting of jute and transplantation of late rice are in progress. Prospects of winter rice and other crops are fair to good. Prices of common rice :—Manipur 13; Kohima 10; Rangamati 9½; Tezpur 8; Chittagong and Gauhati 7½; Faridpur 7 3/11; Sibsagar and Dibrugarh 7; Barisal 6 7/8; Pabna 6¾; Dacca 6½; Comilla 6⅝; Noakhali 6 to 7; Dinajpur, Malda, Bogra, Sylhet, Silchar, and Nowgong 6; Mymensingh 5 15/16; Dhubri 5¾; Jalpaiguri and Rampur Boalia 5½; Rangpur and Aijal 5 seers per rupee. Prices have risen in four; fallen in eight; and remain stationary in the remaining districts. Prices remain still very high in spite of large imports from Burma and Calcutta.

Scarcity prevails in Mymensingh, Dacca, Bakarganj, Tippera, and Noakhali. The numbers of persons receiving gratuitous relief are :—Mymensingh 703; Dacca 616; Bakarganj 2; Tippera 150; and Noakhali 466; total for the Province 1,937. The numbers on test works are :—9 men, 211 women, and 34 children in Dacca; elsewhere relief works have been closed. The condition of the people is improving on the whole in Noakhali. Loans distributed :—Rupees 50 in Mymensingh, 30 in Dacca, 270 in Bakarganj, and 1,225 in Chittagong, total rupees 1,575.

Bengal.—Light rain was fairly general in the Burdwan, Presidency and Orissa Divisions, while there was practically no rain in the Patna, Bhagalpur, and Chota Nagpur Divisions. Most districts want more rain for winter rice. Damage due to floods is reported from Jessore. The condition of crops is on the whole fair. The estimated outturns of jute and the autumn crops are 82 and 75 per cent, respectively. Much distress due to the late floods still continues in Darbhanga and Saran where thousands of persons are receiving gratuitous relief. Slight distress is also reported from Jessore. Fodder is insufficient in parts of Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga. The water-supply is sufficient. The price of common rice has risen in six and fallen in thirteen districts.

United Provinces.—Only local showers fell during the week. The crops are generally doing well but more rain is needed for rice in the eastern districts. Harvesting is in progress and fields are being prepared for the spring harvest and sowing of peas, gram, potatoes and linseed have commenced. Cholera continues in Hardoi, Sitapur and Pilibhit and has also broken out in Shahjahanpur. Fodder and food-supplies are sufficient and prices have fallen in eight districts, they show a tendency to rise in Cawnpore, Allahabad and Jaunpur.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows :—There was no rain in Etawah and Gorakhpur, more is needed in the latter district, slight showers fell elsewhere. The standing crops are doing well. Harvesting continues as also the preparation of fields for the spring harvest. Malaria fever is prevalent in Jhansi, Jalaun, and Etawah where free distribution of quinine continues. The condition of people is much improved; fodder is sufficient except in one tahsil of Gorakhpur. Prices are tending to fall in Hamirpur and Jalaun, otherwise they are stationary. A further decrease has taken place in the numbers on gratuitous relief. The numbers on relief are now:—Allahabad Division—on works nil, on gratuitous relief 89,000; Agra Division—on works nil, on gratuitous relief 9,000, total 98,000. In Gorakhpur on works 1,179, on gratuitous relief 87, total 1,266; grand total 99,266.

Punjab.—The rainfall figures of the week indicate the cessation of the monsoon; the rainfall in Delhi, Sialkot, Rawalpindi, and Mianwali was slight. Prices of food-grains are unchanged in several districts, but their tendency to fall is noticeable. Harvesting of certain autumn crops has commenced in Gurgaon, Ambala, Amritsar, Shahpur, and Multan. Ploughing and sowings of spring crops continue. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are generally good and the outturn is also expected to be good. The standing crops have been damaged by floods in Ferozepore, Lahore, Amritsar, and Shahpur, and by excessive rain on low-lying lands in Jullundur; insects are also attacking cotton in Lyallpur and Multan, the new cotton pods in the former are however reported to be healthy. Cattle are in good condition. Fodder is sufficient. There are no complaints regarding the water-supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—There was no rain during the week. Rain is wanted for crops in the Bannu district. The condition of the standing crops on irrigated and unirrigated areas is good except in Swabi where it is slightly below average. Harvest prospects and probable outturn of autumn crops are fair. Spring sowings have commenced. The canal water and Kilapani supply are normal. There is no irrigation from hill torrents in Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of cattle is good except in certain villages of Peshawar and the Tochi portion of Dera Ismail Khan. Stocks of food-grains are sufficient. Fodder is procurable. Prices are fluctuating. Prices:—wheat $14\frac{1}{16}$ to $17\frac{3}{4}$; maize 15 to $17\frac{5}{16}$; gram $16\frac{1}{4}$ to 18; and bajra 12 to 16 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Slight rain during the week. Prices are rising. Prices:—wheat 11 to 24 and maize 12 to 28 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient except in the Ramban and Kishtwar tehsils.

Kashmir.—The weather is bright and pleasant. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—Rainfall in cents:—Bikaner 155, heavier in districts; Marwar from 52 to 182 in four districts; Udaipur 33; Kishangarh 23; one district of Alwar 25; rain is also reported from Shekhawati in Jaipur, but the amount is not stated; there was no rain or practically none elsewhere. The standing crops are thriving but slight damage has been caused by locusts in Tonk, Jaipur, and Kishangarh. The maize crop is being harvested in places. The condition of cattle is good and pasturage is sufficient. Prices are falling rapidly in most stations and are steady in others and in Ajmer-Merwara.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Merwara—on works 2,991, on gratuitous relief 3,333, total 6,324; relief works are now confined to the Todgarh tahsil in Merwara. Native States:—Marwar—on gratuitous relief 460; Tonk—on works 7, on gratuitous relief 215, total 222; Kishangarh—on gratuitous relief 580; Dholpur—on works 355, on gratuitous relief 3, total 358; total Native States 1,620. The public health is generally good. Prices:—Merwara $15\frac{1}{4}$, Marwar $18\frac{3}{4}$; Tonk $21\frac{1}{4}$; Kishangarh 20; and Dholpur 16 seers per rupee. Prices are about normal in Marwar, Tonk, and Kishangarh.

Central India.—Rainfall general but none in Bundelkhand during the week. Harvesting of autumn crops and ploughing for spring crops are in progress. The standing crops and probable outturn are fair to good. There has been slight damage to crops by locusts in parts of Gwalior; by insects in parts of Malwa; and by excessive rain in parts of Bhopawar. Pasturage is good. Prices are high in Gwalior and Baghelkhand; normal in Bhopal; and have fallen in parts of Malwa and Bhopawar.

Central Provinces.—With the exception of a slight shower in Drug and Buldana the week was rainless. A little more rain was required in Nagpur and Bhandara and in parts of Drug and Raipur and has been received since the end of the week. The weather is now clear and the mornings cool. Weeding and ploughing for spring cultivation continue in most districts. Harvesting of rice has commenced in Damoh, Narsinghpur, and Balaghat; minor millets are being reaped in Chhindwara; early rice in Bhandara and kodon (millet) and rice in Raipur are in ear; sesamum in Hoshangabad and Raipur, cotton and sesamum in Yeotmal and Amraoti are in flower; gram is being sown in parts of Hoshangabad and Yeotmal, sesamum in Wardha, linseed in Raipur, and spring juar in Chanda; sowing of sesamum is finished in Chanda and Bilaspur and is nearing completion in Drug, where sowings of second crops in rice fields has begun. Sesamum is in flourishing condition in the Baihar tahsil of Balaghat; juar is still unobtainable in Narsinghpur; in parts of Akola crops damaged by excessive rain show little improvement; slight damage by rain to crops in Yeotmal is also reported; the standing crops elsewhere are in good condition and prospects are good. Fodder and water are sufficient. Wheat in Saugor and Balaghat, rice in Chanda, juar in Betul, and gram in Bhandara and Buldana are cheaper; gram is dearer in Seoni; elsewhere the prices of food-grains are steady and still continue equal to the scarcity level in Wardha, Chanda, Balaghat, Drug and Bilaspur.

Bombay.—There was good rain during the week in the Konkan, Poona, Sholapur, Satara, the Karnatak, Baroda, Kathiawar, and Kolhapur; and slight rain in Karachi, Gujarat, Khandesh, Nasik, Ahmednagar, Palanpur, and Rewa Kantha. More rain is needed in parts of Nasik, Ahmednagar, and Dharwar. Cotton sowing still continues in places. Slight damage has been done to crops by locusts in Hyderabad and Thar and Parkar; by grasshoppers in Sholapur; by rats in Karachi; by insects in Upper Sind Frontier and Khandesh; by floods in Hyderabad; and by excessive moisture in Karachi, Ahmedabad, Baroda, Palanpur, and Cutch; the standing crops are generally in good condition elsewhere. Harvesting of autumn crops has commenced in Karachi, Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar, Gujarat, Konkan, Deccan, Belgaum, Mahi Kantha, and Rewa Kantha. Sowing of spring crops continues in parts of Broach, the Deccan, Karnatak, Baroda, Cutch, Mahi Kantha, Rewa Kantha, and Kolhapur. The supply of water for drinking and irrigation is adequate. Agricultural stock is insufficient in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, Sholapur, and Bijapur, but is improving in condition; abundant green grass is available everywhere. The stocks of grain in the markets are adequate. Prices are falling. The quantity of grain purchasable per rupee is in the Deccan 18 to 47 per cent; in the Karnatak 22 to 35 per cent; and elsewhere 10 to 30 per cent. less than the normal. Demand for labour in fields is adequate and numbers on relief are diminishing. Public health is generally good. State relief has been stopped in Poona and Satara. The numbers on relief for the week ending 15th instant were :—British districts :—Deccan—on works 3,141, on gratuitous relief 15,161, total 18,302; Karnatak on works 4,919, on gratuitous relief 11,672, total 16,591; Native States :—on works 871, on gratuitous relief 1,746, total 2,617.

Hyderabad.—Rainfall—33 cents. Prospects are favourable. The autumn and early rice crops are fair to good and are being weeded. Lands are being prepared for spring sowings which are in progress. Prices :—wheat 8¼, coarse rice 7½, and juar 16½ seers per rupee.

Mysore.—Rain generally good throughout the State. The standing crops are in good condition and the prospects of the season are fair. Cattle are healthy and water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall—one inch 91 cents. Picking of cardamom continues. Prices of food-grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall of the week was heavy in Madras, Chingleput, Cuddapah, and Nilgiris; fair in Guntur, Trichinopoly, Tanjore, Tinnevelly, Malabar, and South Canara; and good elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of Ganjam, Vizagapatam, the Deccan, South Arcot, Salem, and Tinnevelly. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair but require more rain in parts of Coimbatore and Tanjore. Harvests continue with outturn poor to normal and bumper. Pasture is sufficient except in Tinnevelly. Fodder is scanty in parts of the Circars, Bellary, Anantapur, and Tanjore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in ten districts; has fallen in eight; and has slightly risen in five. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows :—Ragi is stationary in four districts; has fallen in thirteen; and has slightly risen in four. Cholam is stationary in three districts; has fallen in eight; and has slightly risen in three. Cumbu is stationary in four districts; has fallen in nine; and has slightly risen in two.

The number of persons in receipt of relief during the preceding and present weeks in each Province or State is shown in the following table:

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

TELEGRAPH ESTABLISHMENT.

Simla, the 25th September, 1906.

RESOLUTION.

For some time past the organisation and work of the Telegraph Department in all its branches have been occupying the close attention of the Government of India. From the time when construction first began in 1850-51 the history of the Department covers a period of a little more than half a century, during which Telegraph Officers have rendered admirable services to the State, and have shown themselves second to none in public spirit and esprit de corps. In the Mutiny of 1857 their work was of incalculable value, and in more recent times they have again and again proved their devotion to duty and their power of overcoming the gravest physical difficulties during the Afghan War, in Burma, in frontier expeditions and in Tibet. In the less trying circumstances of the every day work of the Department their achievements have not been less excellent. In fifty-five years the number of miles of open line has risen from nothing to 64,730, the number of miles of wire from nothing to 243,840, and the number of paid messages now exceeds ten millions in the year. Successive reductions of the charges for all classes of telegrams have placed telegraph facilities within the reach of all, and the Government of India believe that the efficiency of the service is thoroughly appreciated by the public. It is a record of which the Department may well be proud, and it may be confidently anticipated that the future will not be unworthy of the past.

2. But, if this is to be accomplished, it is essential that the Department should not be handicapped by obsolete methods or faulty organisation. The continuous growth of the Department yearly increases the strain on every branch of the service, magnifies the scale of operations, and tests the adequacy of the established methods of work and administration. The expansion of the work, which has always been rapid, has in recent years become enormous. Traffic has gone up by leaps and bounds, and with commercial and industrial development and the spread of education the rate of progress must be expected to increase in the future. The organisation which was suitable in the infancy of the Department, and has proved itself equal to the care of its vigorous youth, cannot be expected without modification to meet fully the requirements of its maturity. Mere multiplication of establishment without an effort to understand what the conditions are, and to provide for them appropriately is no remedy, and must in the end be absolutely fatal both to economy and efficiency. New conditions call for new methods, fresh problems demand appropriate solutions, and traffic on an unprecedented scale must be disposed of by other methods than have hitherto sufficed. It is for this reason that the Government of India deem it necessary to review the work of the Telegraph Department in all its branches and to examine the manner of recruitment, the mode of work, and the distribution of responsibility amongst the various authorities. From the need of a periodical examination of its organisation and duties no service is exempt, and in the case of the Telegraph Department the increase of work renders it imperative that the task should be no longer postponed, if it is to do justice to the reasonable expectation of the public and to its own past history.

3. One particular respect may be mentioned in which the need for reform is specially urgent. So long as the Department was comparatively small, it could be administered conveniently and efficiently from one centre under the immediate personal control of a single head; but the time when this could be done is already past. In the year 1904 when an increase of establishment in the Director's office was applied for, the Government of India were impressed by the immense volume of the work with which the Direction was burdened, and the number and variety of the questions (some of them of the most trivial character) with which the Director General was expected to deal. An experienced officer of the Accounts Department, Lieutenant-Colonel Waller, was deputed to inspect the head office and to formulate proposals for the relief of the head of the Department from all questions of a routine character, and all matters of minor importance, the disposal of which might safely be entrusted to subordinate authority. Lieutenant-Colonel Waller in his report entirely confirmed the impression which the Government of India had already formed that the Direction was over-burdened and in urgent need of relief, and he also drew attention to the defective organisation of the Department, by which no less than twenty-eight separate offices were immediately subordinate to the Director-General. He therefore advocated the grouping of the Telegraph divisions in several great circles of control, and the creation of a grade of officers intermediate between the Director General and the Divisional Superintendents, to whom much larger powers could be delegated than could safely be entrusted to Superintendents. These recommendations were approved by the Government of India, and a small Departmental Committee was constituted to prepare a detailed scheme of decentralisation. The proposals of the Committee were considered to be generally suitable, but, before final orders could be passed, it became necessary to postpone a decision, until the prior question of the amalgamation of the Post Office and Telegraph Departments had been settled.

4. The decision arrived at with regard to amalgamation was made public by the Hon'ble Mr Hewett in his speech in the Budget Debate on the 28th March 1906, and to the conclusions then expressed the Government of India adhere. Amalgamation could only be justified if it could be shown that it would result in a financial saving without loss of efficiency; or that it would secure increased efficiency with a similar standard of expenditure. The organisation of the two Departments at the present time is entirely different, and without a radical change in the Telegraph Department amalgamation could not possibly be attempted. Reorganisation must therefore in any case precede amalgamation, and may in view of the special conditions prevailing in India render it unnecessary, provided that the work of the two Departments be properly co-ordinated. In the work of co-ordination progress has already been made, and will be continued under the control of the Department of the Government of India to which both services are subordinate; and the principle that post and telegraph offices should be combined, wherever possible, should be steadily enforced. Not fusion, therefore, but co-ordination is the policy which the Government of India have adopted as suitable for the present time and as conducive under existing conditions to efficiency and economy.

5. The scheme of decentralisation submitted by the Departmental Committee provided for the constitution of six circles each in charge of a single officer, for the delegation to these officers of large powers and for the reorganisation of the staff of the Direction and its office establishment. Some system of this kind the Government of India regard as indispensably necessary, not only in order to leave the Director General free to devote more time to the more serious problems of administration, though the importance of this can hardly be overrated, but also to afford an opportunity to the officers of the Department to acquire a sound training in administrative work, which under the present system they have small chance of obtaining. The scheme which has been prepared has been drawn up on thoroughly sound lines, and will, the Government of India think, be found to be generally suitable, but it is not possible to proceed at once to its introduction. In certain minor respects it requires further examination in the light of what has occurred since the Committee sat. It is thought, for example, that if possible, Telegraph and Postal Circles should be coterminous, not merely because amalgamation must remain a possibility of the future, but also because, if the system of combined offices is to be extended, it is essential to harmonious working that the jurisdictions of the various Divisions of the two Departments should not overlap.

6. But there is another and more cogent reason for postponing the introduction of the scheme. Facts which have recently come before the Government of India, and especially those elicited in the enquiries made regarding the question of amalgamation, point to the conclusion that decentralisation by itself will not suffice to place the Department on a sound basis, and that more comprehensive measures are called for. There is reason to believe that, on the one hand, highly paid officers, who have received an elaborate technical training, are sometimes employed in work of a routine character, which could equally well be performed by officers without special training, and on lower pay, while, on the other hand, the system is not fitted to turn out men with the requisite experience and training in matters where special knowledge is essential. The work done by a Telegraph Officer during the earlier stages of his career (e.g., when he is in charge of a sub-division) is exactly the same as that performed by Sub-Assistant Superintendents whose qualifications are far inferior. It would appear therefore that for sub-divisional work proper the special technical training which officers of the superior staff receive is not required. On the other hand although Assistant Superintendents have every chance of making themselves experts in construction work, they seldom have an opportunity to acquire by practical experience a full knowledge of the vitally important matter of traffic working, nor have they been always encouraged to devote themselves to the scientific study required to qualify them for dealing with modern developments of telegraphy. It ought therefore to be considered whether the present distribution of duties amongst the higher officers of the Department might not be improved with advantageous result both to economy and efficiency. It should be decided how many officers are required for strictly scientific work, how many for construction and maintenance, and how many for traffic. To the total number thus arrived at must be added the proper proportion of junior officers, who may be considered as still under instruction, and it has to be determined how they can be most usefully employed both in the interests of the Department and with a view to their own training. The decentralisation scheme necessarily involves some readjustment of the higher appointments and the time is opportune for a complete settlement of the whole question.

7. The organisation and duties of the Upper Subordinate Establishment are inseparably connected with those of the Superior Staff, and any radical change in the one involves some corresponding modification in the other. Sub-Assistant Superintendents are at present recruited by promotion from the ranks of the Signalling Staff; and they are employed partly in traffic work in the larger offices, partly as sub-divisional officers, and partly on construction, while a few are attached to the offices of Divisional Superintendents and Sub-divisional officers. Their duties are thus somewhat various and call for qualifications of diverse kinds, but it is not clear that they receive any systematic training to fit them for their work. The Government of India believe that considerable improvements might be effected in their recruitment and training, and that the question should be fully considered. Any scheme of reform must necessarily include a consideration of the duties which this class of officer may properly be called on to perform.

8. In an earlier paragraph reference has been made to the important bearing which a proper control over traffic working has upon the efficient and economical administration of the Department. The object for which the whole system ultimately exists is the prompt transmission of messages at as low a cost as possible, but the problems of traffic working are essentially of an administrative character, and as already pointed out, Telegraph Officers have not at present sufficient facilities for becoming experts in this particular. Experience in other countries has shown that, when the increase of messages reaches a certain stage, it is absolutely necessary in the interests of economy to employ special officers, working directly under the head-quarters office, to make detailed examinations and to devise improvements in this branch of work. The Government of India are disposed to consider favourably the employment of special officers of this kind in India, and in order that full advantage may be taken of the experience gained elsewhere, it has been suggested that, as a beginning, an expert Traffic Officer should be obtained from England for a limited period to inspect the system in this country and to advise Government as to its improvement. The Government of India are inclined to believe that the introduction of new ideas by this means would prove advantageous to the Department but it will suffice at present merely to note the suggestion as one which should be further considered.

9. Intimately connected with Traffic Administration is the question of the organisation of the Signalling Establishment. This question was considered by the departmental committee which sat in 1904, and definite proposals were submitted to Government; but the difficulties connected with the subject are very great, and no final decision has yet been arrived at. Meanwhile the rapid growth of work has made further postponement a direct invitation to serious failure. In 1902-03 the increase in the total operations over the previous year was 5 per cent., in 1903-04, 7·6 per cent. in 1904-05, 24·17 per cent. (this enormous rise being no doubt due to the reduction in the rates) and in 1905-06, 14·97 per cent. Nor is there any reason to think that the movement has spent its force. Large additions have from time to time been made to the Signalling Establishment, but it is obvious that, unless the Department is to be worked at a loss, the process cannot be continued indefinitely. The growth of work must be partly met by a rise in efficiency, and an improvement in the outturn of the individual signaller. That the present average outturn, in spite of some improvement which has taken place recently, is far below what it might be, and is absurdly low when compared with the results obtained in other countries does not admit of doubt. The Government of India understand that in Belgium telegraphists serving on a line constantly worked can produce on the Morse apparatus thirty or thirty-five telegrams an hour, and that smart operators may do even forty-five and fifty. In England the standard average of twenty-four telegrams per operator per hour is insisted on, and if that is not reached explanations are called for. On some circuits of course the rate goes below twenty-four, but on a constantly fed main wire a standard of forty or fifty messages an hour is frequently attained. In India the average outturn in combined and departmental offices together does not amount to six messages per hour, while from figures submitted by the Director General it appears that in fourteen of the principal Departmental offices the average outturn per diem amounted in 1905 to fifty-six messages per man or seven per hour. It is possible that widely different conditions may make the English standard impossible of attainment in India, but that an improvement can and ought to be made is clear.

10. In order to improve the outturn of work a system has been tentatively introduced in some of the larger offices, by which all signallers, who exceed a certain minimum number of messages in a day, receive additional remuneration in proportion to the excess number of messages disposed of From this system of "pie money" or from some similar system, the Government of India look for important results. When a signaller's earnings are directly dependent on the amount of work he does, it is reasonable to expect that he will exert himself and endeavour to do his best. On the other hand when the idle and industrious are paid alike, no man has any motive to do more than his neighbour, and an inevitable tendency exists for all to sink to the same dead level of production. The "pie money" system has already produced a decided improvement where it has been brought into force, but there are a number of details which cannot be settled without further examination, e.g., the standard number of messages which a signaller may fairly be expected to attain before extra emolument is earned, and the precise form of the system which will be best suited to the needs of the Department. It will be necessary to consider how far signallers should be remunerated by fixed salaries and how far by earnings proportionate to the amount of work done. A scheme by which all signallers would receive a fixed subsistence allowance, and additional remuneration for each message despatched, would have distinct advantages, for the earnings of every man beyond the fixed minimum would be automatically regulated by the amount of work done, and signallers would have every incentive to exert themselves to the utmost. An additional advantage would be that the present cumbrous and inconvenient classification of signallers as Superior, Good, Average and Indifferent would be got rid of and the necessity for periodical testing examinations removed. The Government of India are unable to say at present how far it would be safe to go in this direction, but the matter merits full investigation.

11. There are other questions connected with the organisation of the Signalling Establishment besides that of the mode of remuneration. It has been found increasingly difficult to obtain recruits in sufficient numbers, or of the standard of physique and education which is desirable, and it appears clear that an effort must be made to widen the field of recruitment. Two measures have been suggested with this object, of which one aims at the reduction of the number of general service men in the Department (i.e., those liable to service in any part of India), and the establishment at the Presidency towns and possibly at some other large centres, of purely local non-pensionable services, while the other contemplates the employment of female telegraphists. Both these suggestions are worthy of serious consideration, and it may, the Government of India think, be possible to give effect to them.

Finally the rate of expansion which has prevailed recently in the Department has forced on the notice of Government the necessity of devising some scheme for the automatic increase of establishment in proportion to the actual increase of traffic, provision being made for the increase of controlling establishment in defined proportion to the increase in lower grades. Government are not always in a good position to decide whether an increase is required or not, and so far as possible the system should be made self-regulating, if this can be done with due regard to the interests of economy.

12. In connection with the relations of the Telegraph Department to the Post Office allusion has already been made to the question of combined offices. This is a matter which the Government of India regard as of the greatest importance to economical administration. They consider that the principle of combining Post and Telegraph offices wherever possible should be steadily enforced; new departmental offices should be opened only when the necessity cannot be avoided, while in the case of existing offices, it should be considered to what extent combination can be effected. It will be necessary however to examine the matter carefully, and to lay down the principles which should regulate the policy of Government in dealing with individual cases.

In another respect the relations of the two Departments might be closer, viz., the accounts system. In most European countries, though the extent to which the Departments are amalgamated varies, it has been found possible and desirable to effect a complete combination of the accounts administration. It is not possible to say at present whether this would be practicable in India, and whether the advantages to be derived from the amalgamation, if feasible, are sufficient to make the change advisable. But the Government of India consider that the matter should be fully investigated.

13. The questions which have been raised in the foregoing paragraphs are of very considerable importance, and demand full examination. The Government of India have therefore decided to appoint a Committee to consider them and certain other minor matters which have not been specifically referred to, and to advise Government as to the course which should be followed. The Committee will consist of the following gentlemen :

President :

SIR LEWIS TUPPER, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., I.C.S.

Members :

MR. L. A. S. PORTER, C.S.I., I.C.S.

MR. E. A. LEACH, Indian Telegraph Department,
Deputy Director-General of Telegraphs.

MR. W. MAXWELL, I.C.S., Postmaster-General, Punjab.

MR. R. O. LEES, Indian Telegraph Department.

MR. P. T. R. KELLNER, Public Works Department, Accounts.

Secretary :

MR. G. RAINY, I.C.S.

14. The points which the Committee will investigate are the following :

(1) Whether the scheme of decentralisation drawn up by the Departmental Committee of 1904 may be adopted as it stands, or whether any, and if so what, modifications are necessary.

(2) What alterations should be made in the staff and office establishment of the Direction, if the decentralisation scheme is adopted.

(3) Whether the existing organisation of the Superior Staff of the Department and the distribution of the work is satisfactory, and if not what alterations should be made : in particular whether a clearer distinction should be made between (a) administration, traffic and inspection on the one hand, and (b) construction and engineering on the other ;

(4) Whether the existing system of recruitment, training and duties of the Upper Subordinate establishment is satisfactory and if not what changes should be made.

(5) Whether an expert Traffic Officer should be brought out from England to examine the traffic working of the Department and to make suggestions for its improvement.

NOTE.—If the Committee find they are in a position to recommend the immediate appointment of an expert they should submit detailed proposals to Government at as early a date as possible in anticipation of their report.

(6) What measures should be taken to promote closer and more intimate relations between the Post Office and the Telegraph Department in the matter of combined offices, and what principles should govern (a) the opening of new departmental offices, and (b) the combining of offices already separate.

(7) Whether the accounts and audit system of the Telegraph Department should be amalgamated with that of the Post Office.

(8) Whether any and if so what changes are required in the existing organisation of the Check Office in view of the expansion of message traffic, and in particular.

(a) Whether any part of the work can be transferred to any Accounts Department, and

(b) Whether any part of the work can be decentralized and transferred to the circle officers whom it is proposed to create.

(9) What changes should be made to improve the existing organization of the signalling establishment and in particular—

(a) Whether strictly local and non-pensionable services should be formed in the Presidency towns and other large centres.

(b) Whether female signallers should be employed in the Department and if so to what extent and under what restrictions.

(c) What alterations should be made in the present mode of classification and remuneration of signallers, and to what extent their earnings should be regulated by their actual outturn of work by the general introduction of ' pie-money ' or some similar system.

(10) Whether a scheme can be devised for the automatic increase of the signalling establishment in proportion to the actual increase in traffic, the strength of the controlling establishment being increased in fixed proportion to the increase in the lower grades.

(11) Whether any and if so what changes are called for in the existing stores system of the Telegraph Department.

(12) Whether it is advisable to decentralize the work of the Department to a larger extent in great cities.

The Committee are not limited by the terms of the reference to the specific questions indicated, but are free to take up any matter connected with the main object of their appointment, which is to submit proposals for the improved organisation of the Indian Telegraph Department in all its branches. Any defects in working or suggestions for improvements which may come to their notice should be carefully considered, and so far as necessary, appropriate proposals should be made.

15. The Committee, or as many of their number as are able to take up their duties by that date, will assemble at Simla on the 28th September. From the first of November onwards the head-quarters of the Committee will be at Calcutta but from two to three months will be spent on tour. The members will visit important mercantile cities and other places at their discretion, where their enquiries and inspections are likely to be useful. The Government of India trust that Local Governments will afford them all the assistance which they may require, and comply with any requests for information and advice which may be addressed to them by the Committee through their Secretary. In addition to Telegraph officials the Committee will be at liberty to take the evidence of members of mercantile firms by which the telegraph is largely used, who may be willing to give evidence as also of officers in Government offices who have any considerable experience of the despatch and receipt of telegrams. The Committee should submit its report in six months or earlier if practicable.

ORDERED that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations, to the Home, Finance and Public Works Departments, to the Director General of the Post Office in India, to the Director General of Telegraphs and to the President and members of the Committee.

ORDERED also, that it be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India, for general information.

W. L. HARVEY,

Secretary to the Government of India.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to applications for leave to file specifications and for registration of designs under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), or in continuation of such applications, should be addressed to the Patents Secretary, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

The Office of the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, will in future be open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Cheques and money orders will only be accepted if made payable at Calcutta to the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's Office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy, respectively. A consolidated index for the year 1905, entitled "Inventions and Designs in 1905," is also on sale, price one rupee. It contains a chronological list, subject-matter and name indexes of exclusive privileges for inventions, which have been obtained or applied for in that year, together with lists of designs applications.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October 1895 in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitors' room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified: or, if the 10th day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

The Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888), with the notifications and rules issued under its provisions and the notices of the office of Inventions and Designs, to which is added an explanatory memorandum for the guidance of persons applying for protection of Inventions and Designs. Royal 8vo. volumes, paper cover, 13 annas or 1*s*. 1*d*. Postage extra. To be had of the Superintendent, Government Printing, 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, or of the Superintendent, Patents Branch, Department of Commerce and Industry, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.
